BAD MEN ARRESTED

HAD PLANTED A COUPLE OF 45-COLTS AND CARTRIDGE BELT NEAR N. P.

UNDOUBTEDLY INTENDED TO HOLD UP N. P. SOUTH BOUND PASSENGER

From Tuesday's Daily—

Chief Eck, Capt. Vonderbeck and Officer Nelson are thought to have made the most important arrest for many months when two men were arrested while returning to a "plant" at 7:30 last evening under the grand stand in the base ball park. Yesterday afternoon Charley Handy, son of Agent Handy of the N. P. happened under the Grand Stand which is located but 400-feet from the N. P. depot and behind a big stump found two 45-Colt revolvers with a cartridge belt full of cartridges.

He notified Chief Eck and he stationed Capt. Vonderbeck and Officer Nelson to watch the "plant". They hid under the grand stand and at 7:30 two men stealthily approached the plant but were ordered to hold up their hands at the point of two guns and did so.

One gave the name of H. Garrity of Miles City, Montana and the other [illegible] was Robert Wade of Pittsburg [illegible]. They were searched and it was a peculiar coincidence that Wade had $9.40 and Garrity $9.20 in cash, looking as tho they had recently made a "cut" of a haul.

There is no doubt in the minds of the police but what it was the intention of the two men to board the N P. passenger which was just about due an[illegible] the train between here an[illegible] Both are bad looking cu[illegible] both kept out of sight tod[illegible] ne remembers of having [illegible] n the streets, and both me[illegible] nervous when questio[illegible] ir intentions and were the[illegible] d for.

The two men were put in the sweat box this morning but both were too wise to say anything of themselves Both stated that when put on trial before the court they would say what they had to say to the court.

When brought before Judge McLean this morning both men asked the court to try the case at once. They were charged with carrying concealed weapons just as an excuse to hold them, and Judge McLean stated that it would be impossible to hear their case before Thursday Jan. 2, before which time it is hoped that the identity of the two men can be established.

HELD FOR TRIAL WITHOUT BAIL

PRELIMINARY EXAMINATION OF "GOLDTOOTH MURPHY HELD YESTERDAY

STORY OF THE F[illegible]N EAST GRAND FORKS TOLD WITNESSES

Historical Society

From Tuesday's Daily—

The preliminary examination of Michael Murphy, or as better known "Goldtooth" Murphy, on the charge of stabbing Frank Whittaker, was held yesterday before Judge Sullivan at East Grand Forks. Geo. Finlayson appeared for the prosecution and F C. Massee appeared for the defendant who was taken over from the county jail by Deputy Sheriff Daniels.

A large number of witnesses were examined during the hearing, which occupied the entire day, and the story of the trouble in the morning, before the stabbing, as well as of the crime itself, was brought out. The evidence of the witnesses for the state was to the effect that Murphy persisted in interfering with one of Whittaker's friends in the saloon and tried to get him away from the others. Whittaker objected to his interference and pushed him away once, rebuking him at another time.

Later it appears that Murphy walked into the saloon from the rear and stepping up to Whittaker stabbed him twice, and then turning, left the place by the rear door and disappeared before he could be overtaken. No defense was interposed, and Murphy was held for trial without bail. He was brought back to the county jail last evening.

O'BRIEN CONFESSED HE MURDERED LE CLAIRE

O'Brien's Confession.

"To J. C. Crawford, Pinkerton Dtective:

"On Sunday, Dec. 22, LeClaire and I went to Gretna twice and drank each time. Coming back the second time both of us were [illegible]reling about who was the best man, and LeClaire said he could [illegible] three O'Briens, and I got mad.

"When we left Cook's shops, I made an excuse to go out to the closet, and I got a hatchet, and we started for the rink.

"When we got down there he made some remarks about fighting me, and he put his foot behind me and threw me over. I got up and he hit me, and I hit him with a hatchet, and after I seen what I done I hit him again, and took his pocket book and threw it in the river. After I realized what I had done, I threw the money in the river.

"I got the hatchet from behind the house where the ice is kept. "I threw the body over the bank, and followed the body down the bank. I think I had hold of him by the collar, and dropped him right in at the head of the dam in the river.

—James O'Brien.

"Witness:

—J. H. Anderson,
—J. C. Fielding.
—George Roadhouse.

Of His Own Free Will.

"I, James O'Brien, do voluntarily make a statement in my own handwriting and of my own free will, before witness, J. C. Fielding and Geo Roadhouse, that the contents of the foregoing statement of how I, James O'Brien, killed Arthur LeClaire on Sunday, Dec. 22, 1907. I have written the above statement for the purpose of telling the truth on my own part, and have not shielded anyone, as there nobody implicated but myself.

(Signed) —"James O'Brien.

"Dated Sunday, Dec. 29, 1907.

"Witness:

—J. C. Fielding.
—George Roadhouse.

The above is the complete confession of young O'Brien:

James O'Brien, of Neche, made a complete confession of the murder of Arthur LeClaire the Great Northern fireman, Sunday. The 16-year-old slayer gave up the details of his crime to J. C. Crawford a Pinkerton detective, who has been working on the case. The confession came after he had been confronted with his bloody clothing, the hatchet with which te crime was commited, a bloody scarf and other evidences of his guilt. When the news was broken to the father of O'Brien, for years a resident of Neche and custom officer there. He broke down completely. Fred LeClaire father of the murdered boy, called on him in an endeavor to console him.

Detective Crawford, 18 years in the business, had quite a time getting the murderer to confess. He worked various schemes, and was finally successful, after picturing to the boy the certainty of his conviction, and calling his attention to the great expense with which his father would be burdened in case he fought the case in the district court.

Neche, N. D., Dec. 31—Following the inquest in Le Claire murder case Saturday, in which Mrs. Timothy O'Brien described a hammer owned by the family in terms which corresponded with those describing the one with which the murder was committed, her son James was arrested on a charge of being the slayer of Arthur Le Claire. In earlier testimony young O'Brien had been called on to describe this same implement, but had done so in entirely different terms than those used by his mother. His father had corroborated his testimony, and both had sworn that the hammer had been lost for more than a month.

Stains on Overcoat.

The overcoat worn by James O'Brien is said to have blood stains in the lining. O'Brien said on the stand that he never had the nose bleed nor any fight recently.

O'Brien, who is only sixteen years old, was a lifelong chum of La Claire, and is the last person known to have seen him alive. He has been under police surveillance since the crime.

A PLUMMER MAN'S BBIDE

MILWAUKEE GIRL WILL SHARE FORTUNE WITH YOUNG FARMER

ROMANTIC ENDING OF A COURTSHIP CARRIED ON BY MAIL—SHE CAME

From Tuesday's Daily—

If all went well Miss Jessie Perry of yyesterday, is Mrs. John A. B. Anderson today, the wife of a young farmer near Plummer. Miss Perry passed thru the city yesterday enroute from Milwaukee to her new home, and expected Mr. Anderson to meet her at the depot and the wedding was to have taken place at once.

The newspapers did it. A romantic courtship by mail abetted by a private detective in Milwaukee is involved in this bit of fiction-like fact.

Miss Perry wrote the one appeal that went home to the Plummer man. She said she was a good girl, tired of city life and with a longing in her heart for the blissful and peaceful atmosphere of a country home.

"Dear Miss Perry," wrote Plummer "pack your trunk and come at once."

Miss Perry "came."

DEVOURED BY WOLVES

TERRIBLE TALE COMES FROM INTERIOR OF OTTERTAIL COUNTY

FATHER FOUND TORN BODY OF SON WHO WAS ENROUTE FROM SCHOOL

From Tuesday's Daily—

'Sheriff Albertson returned from a trip to Sebeka Friday, where he went to serve some papers and states that reports were current there of a ghastly tragedy that had just occurred in the timbered country eighteen miles to the eastward of the village. The children of the vicinity have very considerable distances to go to and from school and ordinarily several of them go together. In this instance, a boy of eight had been kept after school for a short time, and his companions went on, leaving him to come home alone.

"He failed to arrive and as darkness came on, his father took a lantern and started out in search of him. He had gone some distance when he heard the growling of wolves in a clump of timber not far away, and going in the direction from which the sound came, was horrified to see the mangled remains of his little boy with two large wolves standing over them.

"The child was dead and partially devoured. Mr. Albertson did not learn the name of the boy. He states that while the story seems almost incredible he was assured that it was true. The country is sparsely settled and wolves are numerous there. Mr. Albertson, who had occasion to drive some distance into the country, could hear their howling every little while, and quite a number were being killed. The liveryman with whom he travelled,

AMERICAN FLEET SETS OFF

SAILS FROM PORT OF SPAIN ON SECOND LAP OF LONG JOURNEY.

Port of Spain, Trinidad, Dec. 31. — The American battleship fleet weighed anchor at 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon and steamed for Rio Janeiro. Long before the hour set a myriad of small craft, chiefly launches and steam yachts, moved up and down along the lines of anchored warships, the merry parties aboard shouting farewell to the departing visitors. Thousands of residents climbed the surrounding hills to view the great white ships as they moved outward on their journey, while boat loads of excursionists went to the small islands in the gulf and others to the floating dock to catch the last glimpse of the ships that were so royally welcomed to this port almost a week ago.

An average of from ten to eleven knots an hour will carry the fleet to the end of the second lap of the 14,000-mile journey in about twelve days, and it was announced by Admiral Evans before his departure that he expected to reach Rio Janeiro on Friday evening, Jan. 10.

During the week of their visit here the American officers and men received every courtesy at the hands of the residents

NEW PROHIBTION LAW GOES INTO EFFECT NEW YEAR'S—10,000 OUT OF JOBS.

Atlanta, Ga., Dec. 31.—With the advent of the new year the law preventing the manufacture and sale of intoxicating liquors passed by the last session of the legislature becomes effective; making Georgia the first of the Southern states to be placed in the prohibition column.

The law prevents the keeping or giving away of liquors in public places and imposes a tax of $500 on clubs whose members are allowed to keep drinks in their individual lockers.

There is some agitation to have the law declared unconstitutional. The action may be brought in the United States court within a month.

It was said that Atlanta alone would lose in license taxes $135,612 and that the property value of saloons and breweries here which will go out of business on Jan. 1 is from $1,000,000 to $1,500,000. For the rest of the state the property values involved are about $5,000,000.

It is estimated that 10,000 persons will lose their employment when Jan. 1 rings its bell on the sale of intoxicating liquors.

That the prohibition law will be enforced there is no question. Gov. Smith and the city court officials have been frank in their statements that they intend to enforce the laws.

NO DAMAGES FOR ANGUISH

SUPREME COURT RULES THAT MALICIOUS INTENT MUST BE ESTABLISHED

RELATIVES WAITING AT DESTINATION ALLEGED MUCH MENTAL SUFFERING

From Saturday's Daily—

The supreme court, in an opinion filed yesterday disposes of the case of Jennie D. Beaulieu, respondent, vs. the Great Northern Railway company, appellant. The result is an affirmation of the district court of Red Lake county. Justice Jaggard, however dissents and gives his position in a lengthy statement attached. He makes the point that there is substantial grounds for damages for mental anguish, tho the others hold malicious conduct must be specified in the complaint to entitle the plaintiff to such.

The case went to the supreme court on a demurrer made to the complaint by the railway company, which was overruled by the lower court. The case will now go back for trial on its merits.

The trouble in controversy was the body of a young child shipped over the Great Northern from Cass Lake to Ogahmah the point of burial. The body was to be transferred to the Soo at Erskine but this the company failed to do, and the casket was carried thru to Crookston. As a result the parents and others in waiting were put to much inconvenience and anguish. The mother thereupon sued for $3,000 damages. The court in disposing of the question of mental anguish, says:

"Damages for mental anguish can be recovered in an action for breach of contract only in those exceptional cases where the breach amounts in substance to an independent willful tort.

"In an action for damages for breach of contract by a railway company to transport a corpse over its line to a particular point, delivering it there to an intersecting carrier, to be conveyed to its place of destination, the breach consisting in the negligence of the company's agents and servants in carrying the corpse beyond the connecting point, thus causing a delay of 24 hours in the funeral arrangements, it is held, that in the absence of willful or malicious misconduct on the part of the company or its agents, damages for mental anguish cannot be recovered.

"The complaint construed and held not to state a cause of action within this rule, tho it does state a cause of action for nominal damages."

FIDDLING HIS WAY INTO PEN

RUSSELL McKNIGHT RETURNS STOLEN COAT INADVERTANTLY YESTERDAY

WANTED WORK OF A FARMER WHOM HE ROBBED THE DAY BEFORE

From Saturday's Daily—

Russell McKnight and his pals may have inadvertantly fiddled their way in to the state penitentiary. The story runs this way:

Thursday night Peter Peltier, residing 6 miles southeast of the city, furnished music for a dance at the home of his brother, John Peltier who resides on the Roberge farm west of Crookston. Enroute home Peter tied his horse in front of Johnson's feed store on South Main street, and left his overcoat and a $65 violin in the buggy. When he returned to his rig the coat and fiddle were missing. Peter went home without them.

Yesterday afternoon a stranger applied at Peter's home for work. Mrs. Peltier at once recognized Peter's stolen coat which the stranger wore. With rare presence of mind she tipped the deal off to another brother of Mr. Peltiers who resides across the road, and then directed McKnight to her brother-in-law who hired him at once.

Sheriff Gonyea was notified at once and Jailer Ball was sent out last evening and brought McKnight in. He was arraigned in justice court this morning and the hearing postponed for ten days.

The violin has not been located as yet. McKnight, however, is said to be one of several men who have been working for the G. N. and who came from Barnesville Tuesday to get their pay checks. Last night several of them went to South Crookston and got in a row. It is reported that a violin was smashed during the rumpus and Chief Eck is investigating this report today. It is supposed that McKnight or his pals also stole the violin.

HIRED HORSES IN RECORD TIME

ED HENRY GOT EIGHT CARLOADS FOR LUMBER CAMPS IN ONE WEEK

There is renewed activity among the loggers of Northern Minnesota during the past ten days, and the demand for teams is very brisk. A month ago the farmers who were accustomed to send their teams to the woods in the winter could get little satisfaction from the big lumbermen, and it was thought that the cut would be so light that little work would be provided over and above what the logging companies and sawmill owners could handle with their own teams.

Since the money situation is becoming more settled, however, there is evidence that the cut of logs will be greatly increased. Ed Henry, representing Ross and Ross of Kelliher has been in this section for the past week and has picked up six carloads of horses and left last night to get two more carloads at Willmar. Other loggers are also after additional horses, and there will be work for many more men and teams than was expected earlier in the winter. The snow fall has made conditions ideal for logging, and if the weather continues favorable there will be nearly double the amount of logs banked for the coming summer cut than was originally planned by the saw mill men.

The demand for teams will mean a big saving for the farmers who send horses to the woods, as a vast quantity of grain and hay will be saved and the farmers will have an abundant stock left for next spring and early summer as thus far there has been very little of either grain or hay fed, as until the day before Christmas stock was running loose, the cattle of many farmers never having been housed up to that time this winter.

Mr. Henry secured one carload of horses at Angus, two in Western Polk, one at Ardock, one at Emerado one from the Steenersons at Climax and two at Wilmar. This is record time to secure close to 200 heavy horses.

STRANGE MAN FOUND AT MIDDLE RIVER WITH THROAT CUT

WILL BE EXAMINED AS TO SANITY AT WARREN, MINNESOTA

From Saturday's Daily—

A strange man who appears to be somewhat out of his head was found in Middle River yesterday morning with a fresh gash in his throat from which blood had stained his clothes and the sidewalk. He was first discovered at about seven o'clock when Len Olson let him into Hjertos & Dalquist's store.

He claimed to have walked into town, but tells conflicting stories as to where he came from. He says his name is Heron, that he is crazy, tired of life and inflicted the wound in his own throat.

He claimed to have hid $30 in the woods five miles out from town. By direction of the county attorney received by phone the man will be taken to Warren by Constable Hanson this afternoon.

A PLACE FOR PENDERGAST

LIKELY TO SUCCEED COL. TROWBRIDGE AS CUSTODIAN OF OLD CAPITOL

L. G. Pendergast of Bemidji will likely succeed to the custodianship of the old capitol made vacant by the death of Col. C. T. Trowbridge. There are a number of candidates for the place.

It was said today that Mr. Pendergast has been summoned to St. Paul by Gov. Johnson for a conference and that the place would be tendered him. Like the late Col. Trowbridge, Mr. Pendergast is an old soldier and if any man is named, it will be a Grand Army man.

Mr. Pendergast was a candidate for custodian of the new capitol and his failure to land the place was reported at the time to have caused strained relations between the administration and himself. As Gov. Johnson's running mate in the 1905 election, he believed that he was entitled to some of the spoils, and when they were not forthcoming, he made no concealment of chagrin.

His appointment as custodian of the old capitol it is now believed will smooth over the trouble. The place pays $1200 a year.

ONE BOX OF CUTICURA CURED THEM ALL

"I have five boys, from five to eleven years of age, who were affected some time last winter by some kind of skin disease. The worst parts of the body were around the arms and hands, where small pimples formed and itched. They suffered for two months so that they could not sleep at night. I noticed an advertisement about the Cuticura Remedies and we made a trial of one or two cakes of Cuticura Soap and a box of Cuticura Ointment which gave great satisfaction. I washed their bodies with Cuticura Soap and then applied Cuticura Ointment every other day. Since then they have all been healthy. A. E. ANGRY FARMERS: DYNAMITE DAM

OTTER TAIL LAKES LOWERED BY THE TREMENDOUS OUTBURST

DAM WAS CONSTRUCTED AT OUTLET OF THE LAKE PLEASANT

A message has been received from Sverdrup, Otter Tail Co., stating that the dam at the outlet of Lake Pleasant has burst and that it has been blown by dynamite. The dam was put in last fall and raised several lakes, and residents of the neighborhood had threatened to blow it up. There has been a tremendous outpouring of water, and the channel has been cut sufficiently deep to lower Lake Pleasant and Lake Anna, both of which are meandered lakes below their natural level.

A somewhat similar dam at Otter Tail lake was destroyed by indignant farmers a few years ago, and altho many of them were known no prosecution followed.

Years Record.

This is the last day of the old year. It has brought many good things for Crookston and the Red River Valley. The year has been the most prosperous enjoyed by farmer, merchant, mechanic, professional men and all kinds of labor for several years. Wages have been high, specially the latter part of the year, and the prices received from crops and other produce has brought more money into this section than for many years past.

In the city many desirable things have come to pass. The adoption of the charter amendments has made it possible to continue the municipal improvements, work on which in many instances was made impossible under the new charter because its provisions tied the hands of the city council.

The solid foundation upon which the prosperity of Crookston and the Red River Valley was never more strikingly illustrated than during the recent financial flurry, the effects were not felt here at all practically. Conditions were never more favorable to Crookston than at present. With the close of a prosperous and successful year it should be the single purpose of everyone to boost for Crookston and the Valley. Let the optimism felt here be diffused in all directions. Let the advantages of this section become known to the home seekers of other sections of the country. In conversations, and in your letters be a booster. If a united front is shown, the effects will be felt the coming year as never before.

The Journal has enjoyed the most prosperous year in its history and this is due to its rapidly growing circulation and advertising patrons. The Journal desires to extend to all most hearty wishes for a happy and prosperous New Year.

Christmas Aftermath

One cannot at this season overlook the aftermath of Christmas, an oscasion which cost the people of Crookston and vicinity a little item of $500,000 or so—cash or on 'charge" accounts. This aftermath is aptly put into verse by Wilbur D. Nesbit, poet, novelist and dramatist of Chicago in this fashion:

Let us pipe a little carol, clothe our thoughts in this apparel,
Garb our dreams in rhyming raiment if you please;
We have warbled of the holly in a manner blithe and jolly
And have praised the mistletoe in joyful lays;
We have told about the tingle of the time in lighted ingle
And the mystic spell that throbs through us and thrills—
But full soon we shall be yelling of the mysteries of spelling
When the Christmas bells are changed to Christmas bills.

In this connection it is very probable that those who have bills coming in for money spent for Christmas gifts many of which may not be paid for several months to come, will at odd times make a solemn vow that next Christmas they will buy only what they have the cash to pay for, and if this one resolution is kept it will not be necessary to make any others. The person who buys things on credit to give away is taking the wrong tack. As a rule it is pretty poor policy to buy anything on credit, and the system keeps the noses of more people on the grindstone all their lives than any thing else in the world, but to buy a present and have it charged is the heighth of folly barring exceptional circumstances.

AFTER CANADIANS—R. S. Pershing of Oklahoma City, Okla., was in the city yesterday confering with G. A. Brodal the local agent of Texas lands for which they are jointly arranging for a series of excursions to the southland. Mr. Pershing's territory is among the dissatisfied settlers in western Canada. He left for Saskatchewan this morning.

FARMER WHO FIGURES—Louis Wentzel is in the city today with a load of pork and beef for which he found a good market and fair price. Mr. Wentzel diversifies in his farming and keeps a complete set of books so that he knows what each animal or field costs and what they produce. He keeps four cows from which he has sold $116 worth of butter besides what he used for himself and the milk for the growing stock. 45 hens netted him forty-five dollars and he still has the increase and all he wanted for his family use. The other stock and grains have not been footed up yet as he has only disposed of part of them.

O'BRIEN CONFESSES HE MURDERED LE CLAIR

was discovered.

James O'Brien was born here and has lived in this vicinity all his life. He never has borne a bad character.

He has shown no signs of weakening since his arrest. Entering a rig to drive to the jail at Pembina, he said: "Wonder why you would not have a brass band out to see me off." Timothy O'Brient, the father, in tears, bade him good-by, saying, "My son, your mother and I know you are innocent."

Was a Pallbearer.

The father found such a hatchet at home as he and James had described at the inquest, square head and claw gone. The entire family is heartbroken and there is much sympathy for them.

James O'Brien sent to Winnipeg for flowers for Le Claire's funeral and was a pallbearer. He was one of the first to reach the river when the report of the murder spread. He offered to help chop the ice to get the body out.

Taking only the 450 state banks included in both the call of Dec. 3, 1907, and that of Nov. 12, 1906, which makes a just and fair basis of comparison of true condition, there is a net increase in round numbers, of $1,800,000 in cash on hand, $2,000,000 in loans and discounts, and $3,500,000 in time certificates of deposit, with no shrinkage whatever in any principal item of banking resources. In other words, notwithstanding the recent monetary flurry, Minnesota state banks make a better general showing of resources and prosperity at this time than at this time last year or any previous year.

POST OFFICE DEPARTMENT PUTS NEW RULING IN EFFECT ON JAN. FIRST JOURNAL WILL REMAIN AT $3 PER YEAR BUT MUST BE PAID IN ADVANCE

From Thursday's Daily—

The new ruling of the post office department which will make it necessary to affix a one cent stamp on all newspapers mailed which are delinquent for over three months after the first of January is explained on the editorial page of this paper. As is well known the price of paper has advanced by leaps and bounds, and nearly every daily paper in the country has advanced its subscription price from 10 to 30 per cent.

The Journal, however will remain at the same old price, $3 per year or 30 cents per month, but under the new ruling this must be paid in advance, or not allowed to run in arrears more than three months.

The Journal is therefore compelled to insist on all subscriptions being paid up, and to be on the safe side they should all be paid in advance. $3 will pay you for a year in advance, and $1.50 will pay for six months in advance either by mail or by carrier in the city.

Subscribers who are in arrears more than 3 months under the new interpretation of the post master general will have to pay over $3 additional to the regular subscription price of the paper. Avoid this penalty by keeping paid up.

TRAGEDY IN BEMIDJI RESORT

BULLET FIRED PROMISCOUSLY BY JOHAN JOHANSON STRIKES HIS PARTNER IN BACK

While giving strenuous demonstration of the reckless use of fire arms in a resort in the west end of Bemidji Christmas Eve, Johan Johanson a common laborer, hit his partner Charles Hill in the back between the shoulders with a bullet from a 38-calibre revolver and that Hill was not instantly killed was probably due to the fact that the weapon, from which the bullet was fired was a poor make, and also that Hill was wearing a heavy coat and three thick shirts.

A complaint was made against Johanson, charging him with assault in the first degree and his case was continued until Jan. 3 he being committed to the county jail awaiting preliminary hearing on Jan. 3.

Creamer of Crookston at Great Northern depot in Minot Sunday night, and who was rounded up by the police yesterday plead guilty to the charge of grand larceny before the court at Minot this morning and was bound over to the district court. "No use denying the fact," said Knuteson. "I stole the grip and soaked it for a quarter."

DANGEROUS SHOE PEG

CAUSES DEATH OF J. P. BAUER, WELL KNOWN RESIDENT OF WADENA

A peg sticking up out of the sole of his shoe, boring a small hole in his foot caused the death of J. P. Bauer, a well known resident of the town of Bluffton last week.

The wound inflicted by the peg led to blood poisoning, which ended fatally. When medical aid was summoned Mr. Bauer's life could not be saved.

He was a poor man of about 60, with a large family of children who are left practically destitute. Friends in Wadena contributed $75 towards their relief.

Two well known young men from Angus who were in Crookston the fore part of the week agreed to settle a difference with their fists. It was understood that whoever wanted to quit after the battle started should cry "enough!" The bigger man got his antagonist down and was hammering him soundly when the man underneath yelled 'enough!" The big fellow paid no attention to his cry and kept on pounding him. Again and again the man underneath gave the signal to stop, but no heed was paid to him.

An onlooker asked: "Why don't you let the feller up? He's yelled ''nough!' "

"He's such a liar you can't believe him," said the victor. Officer Phillips rushed to the scene and sent the belligerents to the station.

CONFLAGRATION AT GREENBUSH

TWO SALOONS, HARDWARE STORE, BANK AND GENERAL STORE DESTROYED

LOSS WAS TOTAL BUT ALL WERE WELL INSURED EXCEPT HARDWARE STORE

From Friday's Daily—

This morning, Greenbush, one of the lively towns north of Thief River Falls was visited by the most disastrous fire in its history, two saloons, a bank, a hardware store and a general store being totally destroyed, and the household goods of the proprietors who resided in the same building was also all burned.

The fire started in the rear of Kukowski's general store which is located in the Kukowski Block, and the entire block was soon reduced to ashes. Andrew Larson's saloon occupied the other half of the first floor and was also completely destroyed with contents.

The fire jumped across the street to the State Bank of Greenbush and that building was also burned to the ground Cashier T. Lundervall resided in the rear and saved a little of his furniture.

The saloon of Sloninski and Bazel adjoining the Kukowski block next caught fire and was soon in ashes. The two proprietors reside upstairs and there was no time to save a single piece of furniture.

T. E. Thompson's hardware was next in the path of the flames which spread rapidly fanned by a high wind, and there was no time to save anything. His loss was total and his loss will be the heaviest as he had but very little insurance.

One other vacant building was also destroyed, the loss being light. The individual losses could not be learned but will aggregate fully $50,000. All covered by insurance with the exception of Thompson. Peter Dock, who occupied a suite of rooms in the Kukowski block lost all his household furniture with no insurance.

The fire department responded at once but could do nothing to stay the progress of the flames as the valve controlling the water from the elevated tank refused to work and no water could be secured. Fortunately no one was injured.

DON'T PROPOSE TO PROPOSE

Women members of Mrs. M. Russell's Widows and Widowers' club of Chicago do not propose to propose next year, which will be leap year They served notice to the effect upon the widowers of the club at the meeting held yesterday afternoon at Mrs Russell's house, 315 East Forty-first street.

The notice came in the form of a secret ballot whereon the members wrote their opinion in the matter and the result was unanimous. Even the widowers who were allowed to vote held to a man that it was not a good custom which upon second thought is not remarkable considering that each of the men had been married at least once before and realized that matrimony is not to be idly undertaken as a matter of compliment to any woman who might ask for one's hand; for, of course, it would be embarrassing to any man of ordinary sensibilities to refuse.

The proposed proposition was characterized by some as "not to be thot of" and "unsexing."

The meeting yesterday was the second of the club's gatherings and was attended by more than sixty members They were all happy altho there was no skirt dancing last night. In fact, Mrs. Russell says that there was none at the first meeting of the club, held a week ago, and that the reports of such proceedings were erroneous.

SMALL POX REGULATIONS

GOING INTO EFFECT JANUARY 1ST CONCISELY EXPLAINED BY DR. DAMPIER

PATIENT QUARANTINED BUT OTHERS CAN EXPOSE THEMSELVES IF THEY CHOOSE

From Friday's Daily—

The following clear explanation of the new small-pox regulations adopted by Minnesota State Board of Health which will become effective on Jan. 1st is very timely and should be carefully read as a great many people have an entirely mistaken concepton of the significance of the new rules. Dr. Dampier, the city health officer writes the Journal as follows:

"Editor Journal: Altho the new regulations of the State Board of Health regarding control of small pox have been published in the newspaper there seems to be a general impression that there is to be no quarantine of small pox after Dec. 31, 1907 and that a person with the disease can mingle with the public at his own pleasure and convenience. I wish to correct that impression and state the facts as they will be.

"Beginning Jan. 1st 1908, every physician must as heretofore report to the health officer at once every case of small pox he is called to attend. If the health officer knows or has reason to believe there exists a case of smal pox not reported he must investigate for himself. Every person with small pox must be confined to his home and a card placed on the house by the health officer. The card is only a warning notice and the other occupants of the house and the public may come and go as they please, but the person with small pox must not leave the house until after his complete recovery, the contents of the house fumigated under the supervision of the health officer and the card removed. A person with small pox in a hotel or a common lodging or boarding house must be removed therefrom as heretofore.

These are the new regulations and they place no restraint upon anyone except the patient; however, even if the law does permit them to do so, everyone will probably be just as well pleased if people from a house with small pox do not necessarily associat with the general public. A little care in that respect can do no harm.

—C. E. Dampier,
Health Officer.

ENGINEER RALPH WOULD AMEND STEENERSON BILL

BELIEVES BILL SHOULD EMBRACE PROVISION FOR TAXING HOMESTEADS FOR DRAINAGE—MR. RALPH TELLS OF WORK BEING DONE BY DRAINAGE BOARD

George A. Ralph, official engineer for the Minnesota State Drainage Board has read the bill for drainage in Minnesota, which was introduced in congress a few days ago by Congressman Steenerson and says of the bill:

"I think the Steenerson bill is all right, but there is a very urgent amendment needed with reference to allowing the assessment of the cost of building ditches against land holders under the homestead law.

"In many instances in northern Minnesota the work of constructing ditches that would have been a great benefit to the homesteaders was hampered and delayed for the reason that right-of-way could not be acquired thru the homestead, neither could the homestead land be assessed for any part of the cost of construction.

"As these assessments may be spread over a series of years (the first installment being payable in five years after the ditch is constructed) such assessment would be no hardship to the homesteader. On the contrary, the assessment would be a great benefit, as it would permit the building of roads and the development of the country, which under the present laws cannot be drained, and they could not be ditched as equitably.

"As to the work being done by the state board we are preparing to let contracts for the construction of about a dozen state ditches, the contract to be let in the middle of February. These ditches will all be drainage channels, varying in length from ten to twenty miles and will drain a large area. As these ditches will have highways along the banks constructed from the earth excavated from the ditch, it will not only be a great benefit to adjoining land owners but will also connect the isolated settlements which are now cut off by the intervening swamps.

"The open winter which we are having is very favorable to our work, as we are enabled to make surveys much more cheaply and rapidly thru swamp country over frozen ground than we can when the swamps are full of water."

IS BILLION FEET LESS

THE ANNUAL CUT OF HARDWOOD HAS MATERIALLY DECREASED

MINNESOTA HAS A WEALTH OF HARDWOOD IN ITS NORTHERN FORESTS

Altho the demand for hardwood lumber is greater than ever before, the annual cut today is a billion feet less than it was seven years ago according to a government report. In this time the wholesale price of the different classes of hardwood lumber advanced from 25 to 65 per cent. The cut of oak which in 1899 was more than half the total cut of hardwoods, has fallen 36 per cent. Yellow poplar which was formerly second in point of output, has fallen off 38 per cent and elm has fallen off one-half. The cut of softwoods is over four times that of hardwoods, yet it is doubtful if a shortage in the former would cause dismay in so many industries. The Big Fork country is covered with hardwoods, and when the market developes, its future wealth will be greatly increased.

NORMAN COUNTY BIG DITCH

CONTRACT HAS BEEN LET FOR TEN MILES OF DITCH NUMBER 35

At a meeting of the Norman county commissioners held last week the contract was let for county ditch No. 33. This ditch has its source at the south line of section 36 in Halstad township Norman county and traverses a distance of nearly ten miles in a northwesterly direction, emptying into the Red River. The contract for the work of excavating was let to John L. Baker, of Willmar. Mr. Baker has examined the proposed work very thoroly and will use a small dredge to dig the ditch. He is confident that there will be plenty of water to float the dredge and that he will have no trouble in constructing the ditch in this manner.

From Friday's Daily—

Chief of Police—Hans Ellingson.

Patrolmen—J. J. Clynch, Martin Murphy and Chris Nelson.
City Attorney—D. T. Collins.
City Recorder—C. P. Zimmerman.

The much discussed question of the personnel of the executive officers o the city of East Grand Forks under the coming administration has been finally settled at a secret conference between Mayor Elect Dunlevy and th members of the new council, at which the various preferences were harmonozed and a complete slate arranged after an animated discussion. The session was entirely executive and all present were bound to secrecy in the matter, but unofficially the list as finally agreed upon was as above given excepting that Hugh Quigley was slated for assistant chief of police. It was afterwards learned however, that Mr. Quigley would not care for the position, having desired the appointment of chief and Mr. Lukkason was substituted.

TRIBUNAL NAMED TO TRY F. B. HART

Governor Johnson Tuesday announced the personnel of the court which is to try Attorney Francis B. Hart of Minneapolis on a charge of publicly insulting the supreme court of Minnesota by writing letters to Chief Justice Start and Governor Johnson, criticising certain decisions of that tribunal. The members of the court as announced are:

F. C. Brooks, Minneapolis, chief justice; N. R. Brill, St. Paul; W. S. McClenahan, Brainerd; Nathan Kingsley, Austin; and Myron D. Taylor, St. Cloud. They are judges of the district court in their respective counties. They will sit as a substitute supreme court as the judges of the regular supreme court felt themselves disqualified to act as their decisions were in question. It is the first time in the history of Minnesota that a supreme court has stepped aside to allow a substitute court to sit in its place, and an occurrence rare in the judicial history of any state.

The charges against Mr. Hart, who is a prominent member of the Minneapolis bar, were made by Eli Southward, secretary of the state board of law examiners, and Chief Justice Start asked Governor Johnson to appoint the court. The court will assemble on Jan. 2, at the regular time for the opening of court, and assume all the functions of the state supreme court for this particular case.

FOND FAREWELL TO ALL PASSES

LEGISLATORS AND SHIPPERS GET NO FREE RIDES AFTER JANUARY 1ST

With a new year less than a week distant there is not even local gossip that any changes will be made Jan. 1 in the official staffs of any Northwestern railroad.

The most important change, apparently, that January will bring to the relations between the Minnesota roads and the public will result from the enforcement of the legislative prohibition of passes after the beginning of 1908. Passes will still be issued in this state to railroad employes and their families and to a few other classes of less importance. But no passes can be given to shippers, legislators or public officials. None can be issued in return for advertising or as a matter of courtesy. The chief losers of transportation will be the legislators and the public officials, all "accommodation" having been withdrawn from most other classes by the majority of Minnesota railroads when the federal restrictions upon the issuing of interstate passes went into effect a year ago.

The same state law will prohibit the making of free or special rates by various other public service corporations besides the railroads. The telegraph and telephone companies, the express and the sleeping car companies, must accordingly discontinue the favors they have granted heretofore.

STRENUOUS TASK OF ROAD MAKING

TWO WEEKS SPENT IN HEWING WAY THRU DENSE CEDAR SWAMPS

H. A. Tofsley, one of the prominent farmers of Hammond Township returned last evening from a month spent in assisting in cutting a road thru from Graceton to his claim which lies about eight miles south of Graceton and adjacent to the claims of about a score of others from this city and vicinity. Mr. Tofsley states that the work of cutting the road was strenuous. It took a large crew two weeks to complete the task, and the operation cost Mr. Tofsley one horse of a team he took up to tote supplies etc., with. The crew camped out every night, and the horses would break thru the muskegs and this with scrambling thru windfalls and over stumps proved too much for the nag.

The homesteaders are all erecting comfortable log houses and those who are married will move their families to their timber claims early next spring. There will be quite a Crookston settlement in that district next summer, and all will have neighbors so close that they will feel quite at home.

CASH BASIS IS RESUMED

TWIN CITY BANKS ARE DOING BUSINESS AS BEFORE MONEY TIGHTNESS

BANKS THERE ISSUE FORMAL STATEMENT OF RESUMING CURRENCY PAYMENTS

From Thursday's Daily—

St. Paul and Minneapolis banks are now back on practically a cash basis altho in St. Paul there has been no by the banks. shrdluetaoinshrdluuu definite announcement of the fact by the banks. In Minneapolis, however concerted action has ben taken by the banks.

The money stringency while a menace to the Northwestern banks affected this section of the country to a less extent than any other part of the United States. When the banks put on the "lid," following similar action by the banks in other large cities, the bankers, of course, were compelled to do a great deal of explaining to their customers, but once the situation became thoroly understood, depositors appeared to be thoroly satisfied and much business which had been done on a cash basis was carried on thru the medium of bank credits.

There was not a time during the entire period of stringency when the St. Paul and Minneapolis banks were not in excellent condition. Clearings have shown a steady increase over the figures of a year ago, and the fact is notable that for a considerable period, when the weekly clearings of practically all the banks of other large cities showed large decreases, the figures for the St. Paul and Minneapolis banks showed gains, some weeks small, and other weeks in very substantial amounts. This fact has been commented upon as indicating substantial business condtiions in the Northwest.

In Crookston the cash basis was never abandoned but partially and for several weeks past business has been transacted the same as at any other time as the Crookston banks were in excellent condition. The banks of this city and the Valley generally felt less inconvenience during the flurry than any of the financial institutions located in any other part of the country.

CONTRACTORS MUST PAY COST

WHEN CONDITION OF WORK ON STATE DITCHES IS MISREPRESENTED

At a meeting of the state drainage board Tuesday a resolution was adopted compelling contractors of state ditches to pay any inspection expense incurred by the board when work reported by the contractor to be completed was found not to be so.

On the statement of the contractor that the ditch was completed the board made the usual tour of inspection and found that the ekBav s sh sh sh hssh hs shrdlusshrd ditch was far from being completed. In consequence the state was put to considerable expense and this the board decided should not happen again.

DIED BY HIS OWN HAND

TED SMITH, FORMER PROMINENT RESIDENT OF BEMIDJI SUICIDES

ENDED LIFE IN SPOKANE WHERE HE WAS IN BUSINESS—A SPIRITUALIST

From Thursday's Daily—

The Spokane Review has the following account of the suicide of Ted Smith, a prominent resident and president of the first city council of Bemidji and was well known in Crookston and thruout the Northwest.

Leaving a note to his wife that he was going to join relatives who 'passed over' two or three years ago, Ted Smith a spiritualist living on Moran prairie, shot and killed himself yesterday morning at 5:30 o'clock. His wife, Mrs. Cora Kincannon Smith, is well known in spiritual circles in this city, and was formerly a lecturer on the subject in Pacific hall.

Smith arose about 5 o'clock yesterday and built a fire in the kitchen stove and then went back to bed. An hour later he dressed and wrote the note to his wife, which he left in the kitchen. After 8 o'clock his wife and her mother, who believed he had taken the car and gone downtown, noticed his hat and coat in the house, and went out to the barn to see of he was still there.

His wife found the body lying beside a pile of wood in a shed near the barn

"It was known that he had been unable to raise sufficient money to complete the payment on the bar fixtures in the Spokoma bar, which he owned and for several other small debts, but as he had refused only a week ago $8500 for his property on Moran prairie, he was considered well to do. He came to Spokane about two years ago from Minnesota, where, it is reported, he was mayor of a small town in the Northern part of the state for two terms.

The message that he left to his wife was as follows:

"Darling Cora—Forgive me for this act. I long to be in the other world I know that Mal and Ed will help me I will make conditions to come and see you as soon as possible, my only love.—Teddy.

"Love to all. Have George Armstrong say a few words for me. Dan Sounwine will help you."

"Mal" and "Ed" to whom he refers are a sister of his wife and her husband who died in Minnesota two or three years ago. Armstrong of whom he speaks, is a spiritualist in this city and Sounwine was one of his business associates.

Mr. Smith was 47 years old and a native of England, where he is said to have a sister who is wealthy."

Ted Smith was one of the first white men to locate in the vicinity of Bemidji. He went there prior to the advent of the railroad, and was prominently identified with the growth and development of the city, until three years ago.

Mr. Smith was a member of Bemidji first village council, being eelcted president and being known as "the mayor." He conducted a saloon and was one of the most prominent residents of the early days in this city. Together with his wife, he moved to Spokane, Wash., three years ago and has made his home in that city ever since.

TURKEY FASTS FOR 35 DAYS

JOS. BALL DISCOVERS THAT HIS NEIGHBORS ARE GUILTLESS

HAD ACCUSED THEM OF THE THEFT OF A 28-POUND GOBBLER

Jos. Ball, a well known land man of Crookston has solved a mystery the clearing up of which lifts the veil of suspicion from several prominent citizens who had been openly accused of thievery. Mr. Ball had secured a 28-pound turkey for his Thanksgiving dinner and was cramming it with nuts and other delicacies. About a week before Thanksgiving day the turkey disappeared, and all search was fruitless. He accused Atty. W. A. Marin, Will Lowe and other neighbors but they denied the charge.

The incident was being forgotten when Sunday Mr. Ball was in his stable and in moving some hay found the turkey, which appeared a little dopey at first but soon was as spry as ever. The only difference was that the turkey had lost just 10 pounds during its enforced fast. The turkey had been covered up with a load of hay for a period of 35 days, but will be refattened again and sacrificed later on.

THOUGHT SHE OUGHT TO HAVE AS MUCH AS MAN LOSING HIS LEG

Hamburg, Germany, Dec. 30.—Frau Bie was awarded by the arbitration court $3,750 for the loss of her husband thru an accident on board a ship Not long afterwards on the same ship a stoker met with an accident which cost him a leg, and the same court awarded him $5,000. Indignant, Frau Bie went to th ecourt to complain because a man who only lost a leg ot so much more than she was allowed for the loss of her husband.

The judge, a bland and wily old gentleman, said:

"My dear lady, that poor stoker can hardly buy a new leg even with $5,000 Now, a good-looking woman like you with $3,750, can easily get a new husband, younger and perhaps more loving than your late husband."

The widow wiped her eyes and smiled. She had not thought of that.

County Commissioner Rindal is attending the county board meeting today and speaking of the big celebration held in the town of Rindal last Saturday celebrating the completion of the new creamery that takes the place of the one burned last fall, he says it was the largest gathering of farmers ever held in that section.

Supt. Robertson of the state Agricultural school at Crookston was the principal speaker. He dwelt mainly on the subject of clover for the dairy. Other speakers and special music completed the program. Over 400 people were fed at the dinner given.

The association is now eight years old. It started in the creamery business with a debt of $3,000 which it wiped off over four years ago. It has made money from the first day it began to operate a plant, and is now bringing in gratifying returns to all interested in it. The old frame building was burned to the ground last August and has been replaced by a modern brick structure, 30 by 78 feet, costing, with machinery equipment, $6,000 This building can compare favorably with anything of its kind in the state. The first churning will be done on Thursday January 2.

Ole K. Ashland a former resident of this city is here today renewing acquaintances, and getting in touch with civilization again. Mr Ashland has spent the winter at the headwaters of the Roseau river hunting and trapping and reports good returns and has become so enamored with the free open life of the woodsman that he has taken a claim in the wilds and will become a permanent resident there. The lands in the heavy timber is fast settling up but as the growth is so heavy it will take many years for the country to develop into wheat and small grains Cattle, sheep and goats are being raised to a certain extent.

RIVARD BLOCK IS IN ASHES

SOUTH CROOKSTON VISITED BY A BAD FIRE EARLY SUNDAY MORNING

BUILDING AND CONTENTS AND VIAU BLACKSMITH SHOP ALSO BURNED

From Monday's Daily—

Sunday morning about 5 o'clock while E. Rivard stepped out after some fuel his restaurant in South Crookston caught fire and in a very short time the entire block was reduced to ashes, the fire spreading so rapidly that Mr. Rivard could not get all the cash from the till, about $9 going up in smoke.

The restaurant was located in Mr. Rivard's building, in which his saloon was formerly located also. The saloon had been closed for some time past but the fixtures were all there and all is a total loss.

The fire also destroyed O. Viau's blacksmith shop adjoining, which has been vacant ever since Mr. Viau moved to his present location on North Broadway, but the loss will not be heavy as the building was not substantial and contained only a few pair of bobsleighs and a few cutters, none of them new.

Mr. Rivard's loss will be about $3,000 with $1,500 insurance on the restaurant stock and supplies and building.

Mr. Viau's loss was but a few hundred dollars.

The fire department responded promptly but the fire had gained such a headway that all that could be done was to protect surrounding property. M. Sullivan's barn was threatened several times but was saved.

The class prophecy, written and read by Miss Matheson was one of the finest numbers on the graduating program. Miss Matheson will probably not return to Crookston till next spring. This is but another instance where a student from Crookston has reflected credit upon herself and her home city.

BIG PROTEST AGAINST DITCH

RUSSIA FARMERS CONTEND THAT PROPOSED NEW DITCH WILL FLOOD THEM

COUNTY COMMISSIONERS HAVE ABOUT 50 FARMERS BEFORE THEM TODAY

From Monday's Daily—

The board of county commissioners are in session today holding a hearing on Ditch No. 72, which would be 16½ miles long thru the towns of Godfrey Grove Park and Onstad. None of the farmers who are assessed for the ditch or thru whose farms the ditch runs are opposed to its construction, but the farmers of Russia are here enmasse to protest against the ditch, claiming they will be flooded.

The proposed ditch would connect with Ditch No. 12, which connects with another ditch which empties into Burnham Creek, and these would not be large enough to take care of the additional water from ditch 72.

About 50 farmers are present, R. J Montague appearing for those favoring the ditch, and J. E. O'Brien being spokesman for the Russia farmers The matter may be solved by enlarging the other ditches to take care of the water from Ditch 73.

ACTION POSTPONED UNTIL APRIL 6

ON THE ESTABLISHING OF DITCH NUMBER 72 BY COUNTY COMMISSIONERS

The county commissioners adjourned last night after one of the most strenuous short sessions ever held, the commissioners' room was entirely too small to hold the crowd, and it was suggested by several an adjournment should be taken to the court room or the auditorium. The arguments pro and con had many points in them that were of such merit that the commissioners considered better to delay action until April 6 and Co., Engineer Hinds will see if he can discover a more feasible way to take care of the water that this new ditch number 72 would discharge into the town of Russia. The following composed the Mentor delegation, N. Z. Horton, George Dennison, Webster Farrel, Ed. and J. E. Tice, A. Anderson, Emil and Oscar Bakken of Grove Park township, E. B. Knutson, and J O. Brodden of Godfrey, Nels Grundyson and Alfred Olson of Tilden, N. S Byington of Beltrami. The county board meet again on Jan., 6.

A GASOLINE STOVE LEAKED

SERIOUS CONSEQUENCES MIGHT HAVE FOLLOWED ACCIDENT SATURDAY NIGHT

SAD ENDING TO CHRISTMAS ENTERTAINMENT WAS NARROWLY AVERTED

From Monday's Daily—

Saturday evening what might have been a calamity in Crookston was narrowly averted by cool headed work in extinguishing a fire in Woodmen Hall where the Scandinavian Workingmen's association were entertaining the young folks with a Christmas tree and a short program.

Mrs Bergen was making the coffee for the refreshments on a gasoline stove, and did not notice that it was leaking till a considerable amount covered the floor and ignited after evaporation. For a moment the room was a sheet of flame, but Mrs. Bergen did not lose her head and springing to the stove turned the gasoline off and several men threw water on the flames which were soon extinguished.

At the time of the fire 200 people were in the hall, over half of them children, and 15 minutes later there were 400 crowded in the hall for the festivities and as the stove was but a short distance from the only exit, the only means of escape would have been cut off and had the fire proceeded a stampede would have been followed by most serious results.

A Fine Program

The fire, however, did not interfere with the joy of the little folks as well as the older ones who were entertained by fine selections by the Viking Chorus, a beautiful vocal solo by Miss Aamoth and a good address by Rev. T. T. Ove. After this Emil Anderson attired as Santa Claus gave all the little folks sacks of candy, nuts, apples etc., and all departed happy as clams.

That diabetes, Bright's disease may be the fatal end,

You will gladly profit by the following experience.

'Tis the statement of a Crookston citizen.

Mrs. E. P. Spink, of 509 Broadway, N., Crookston, Minn., says: "My husband was troubled for years with a peculiar weakness of the back. It seemed as if some derangement of the kidneys had almost paralyzed him and caused him a great deal of suffering and annoyance. This condition resisted every treatment until Doan's Kidney Pills were procured at Wallace's drug store. The way this remedy took hold of his case was simply remarkable, as it helped him from the first. A continuation of their use brought renewed strength to the parts affected and benefitted his entire system."

RAILROADS HAVE ADVANCED RATES

INCREASE GREATER UNDER HEPBURN ACT THAN IN ANY SIMILAR PERIOD—SOME SIGNIFICANT FACTS ARE BROUGHT OUT IN THE ANNUAL REPORT OF COMMERCE COMMISSION

Washington, Jan. 8. — There has been a greater increase of railroad rates in this country since the Hepburn act took effect fifteen months ago than in any similar period heretofore. The increase is still going on. The reductions of rates effected by the commission have been insignificant compared with the increases enforced by the railroads.

These charges have been made repeatedly in the last few months. In its annual report, issued yesterday, the interstate commerce commission, without referring directly to these allegations, vigorously recommends that it be given power to prevent increases of rates. The commission has no such power. The railroads may make any increases and the commission can only act on them upon complaint made and after they are in effect, reducing them after hearing and decision that they were unreasonable.

The commission asks power to suspend any proposed advance until after a hearing and determination. Bills have already been introduced to confer this power, and the commission strongly emphasizes the need of it.

MOVE IN LID FIGHT

Hotel Charter Is Attacked in Windy City.

Chicago, Jan. 8.—A new move was made in the Sunday closing cases yesterday when State's Attorney Healy filed quo warranto proceedings against the Northern Hotel company, which operates the Great Northern hotel, to oust it from its corporate rights because liquor was sold in the hotel last Sunday. The proceedings are based on the theory that the state will not allow a corporation, which is a creature of the state, to violate state laws. It will thus afford a means of determining judicially whether the statute forbidding the sale of liquor on Sunday applies to Chicago, a municipal ordinance being in conflict with that law.

GEO DIXON IS DEAD

Former Pugilistic Star Victim of Long Fight With Drink.

New York, Jan. 8. — The greatest fighter of his time and the winner of several hundred fistic encounters, George Dixon, the negro pugilist, familiarly called "Little Chocolate," died yesterday in the alcoholic ward of Bellevue hospital, the victim of a long fight with drink. Idolized in his prime by thousands as a pugilistic hero, George Dixon passed away practically penniless and without friends. Dixon was thirty-seven years old, and for many years held the title of featherweight champion.

SIGNS COME OFF CITY SIDEWALKS

CHIEF LOWE ENFORCES THE ORDERS OF CITY COUNCIL DESPITE SOME PROTESTS

As a result of a resolution passed by the city council, Chief Lowe yesterday notified all business men to remove from the sidewalks all the boxes and signs. The list also included wooden boxes and other obstructions that may have been left on the sidewalk. Some of the owners were inclined to protest against obeying the order, but the chief insisted that the obstructions be removed from the sidewalks without delay. The crusade was a result of a theatre company placing signs on all the principal corners of the city. There is an old ordinance relating to the matter, but there has been no demand for its enforcement until of late. A war on billboards has been suggested but the council will probably do nothing in regard to this nuisance.—Grand Forks Herald.

PROGRAMS ARE OUT

FOR THE FOURTH ANNUAL EXHIBITION OF R. R. V. POULTRY ASSOCIATION

EXHIBITION WILL BE HELD IN OLD SAUVE HARDWARE BUILDING

From Tuesday's Daily—

The programs are out for the fourth annual exhibition of the Red River Valley Poultry Association which will be held in Crookston Jan. 29-30-31 and Feb. 1st, and are very neat and attractive containing the list of premiums and other information for the benefit of the public and exhibitors.

Senator Stephens generously donated the old Crookston Bank Building for the use of the association but it was a trifle small for the purpose and Oliver Tvedten today very obligingly tendered the use of Mrs. Tvedten's building on North Broadway, formerly occupied by Sauve's hardware store to Secretary Lewis who will arrange the building for the show and it will be an ideal place for the exhibit

Secretary Lewis today received word from both the Great Northern and Northern Pacific express companies. The latter company grants a rate of one and one-half to Crookston on slatted coops, and half fare back home and on cloth coops double rate to Crookston and free fare home. The rate of the G. N. is the same with the exception that cloth coops will be charged a half rate for fare home.

Everything now points to the best exhibit ever held by the association.

They had proceeded about a third of the way across when the boat capsized, throwing the occupants into the water.

STANDARD OIL INTERVENED

Washington, Jan. 8.—On behalf of the Standard Oil company, Attorney F. D. McKenna of this city yesterday filed a petition in the supreme court of the United States for leave to intervene in the case of the Great Northern railway, involving the Elkins law imposing fines for granting or accepting rebates, which was repealed by the Hepburn railroad rate law of the last congress. The same question is involved in the case in which Judge Landis imposed a fine of over $29,000,000 on the oil company, and consequently the decision in the Great Northern case will have a direct bearing on the Standard Oil company's case.

The petition was granted and a brief will be filed in the case on behalf of the Standard. Attorney General Bonaparte made no objection, but said the government did not concede that the two cases are parallel.

The Great Northern company was indicted Nov. 8, 1906, for giving rebates. Besides objecting to the sufficiency of the indictment on a technical ground, the company contends that the original provisions of the Elkins law, under which it was indicted, were repealed by the Hepburn act.

The contention of the government is that the original provisions of the Elkins law, so far as necessary for the prosecution of offenses committed thereunder prior to the passage of the Hepburn act, were saved by section 13 of the Revised Statutes.

GRAFT IS ALLEGED BY GOVERNMENT

FORMER CHEMIST IN BUREAU OF PRINTING IS ONE OF THE ACCUSED—MADE $75,000 OUT OF DEAL—INK MANUFACTURER ALSO INDICTED FOR CONSPIRACY TD DEFRAUD

Washington, Jan. 8.—Allegation of fraud and graft in supplying the bureau of engraving and printing with black dry color used in the manufacture of ink, resulted yesterday in the indictment by the federal grand jury here of Edwin M. Vandyck, formerly a chemist and inkmaker employed in the bureau, and Victor Bloede, president of the Victor Bloede company, manufacturers of fine inks and colors. Vandyck and Bloede are charged in the indictments with conspiracy to defraud the government, the allegation being that they entered into an agreement by which Bloede was to pay Vandyck a percentage of the money his company received from the government for the black dry color furnished to the bureau of engraving and printing.

Gets $75,000 Out of It.

Vandyck, it is alleged, in his position of chemist and inkmaker of the bureau, had to pass upon the samples of the color submitted by various manufacturers. It is charged that he fraudulently favored the Baltimore company, and that as a result of the conspiracy he was paid by Bloede in the course of several years between between $70,000 and $75,000.

The indictment purports to give details of the transaction between Vandyck and Bloede as to payments made the former. It appears that Vandyck received his commission in the form of checks, which after being indorsed he would return to the Bloede company and receive in lieu thereof New York drafts.

Something Just as Good.

Attorneys for both Vandyck and Bloede appeared before Justice Stafford yesterday and agreed to $10,000 bail. The attorneys asserted that the indictments were of a technical nature, and that the alleged fraud did not involve necessarily a loss to the government. They claimed that the bureau received the best colors obtainable at a price 10 cents less per pound than it had paid prior to the making of contracts with the Bloede company.

The Vivina was unable to ascertain the name or to read the signals of the supposed Mount Royal. Officers of the Canadian Pacific railway at Liverpool are confident that the steamer sighted is the Mount Royal and have decided to send the steamer Lake Manitoba in search of her, assuming that she is crippled by reason of broken machinery.

MARRIAGES VS DIVORCES

POLK COUNTY HAD 14 WEDDINGS FOR EACH DIVORCE IN YEAR 1907

NOT AS MANY LICENSES ISSUED THIS YEAR AS PRIOR YEARS

From Saturday's Daily—

According to statistics compiled from the records in the office of the Clerk of Court for Polk county, there were 270 marriages and 19 divorces in the county in 1907.

This does not show up very well as there has been a decrease in the number of marriages as compared with the two previous years. The number of licenses issued in 1905 were 282 and in 1906 the records show 272 ten less, and two more than the present year.

The divorce records show 18 in 1905 21 in 1906 and 19 in 1907, a percentage of about one divorce to every fourteen marriages.

As a revenue producer the marriage license business is of no small importance. Each license issued represents $2 turned into the county treasurer, less small fee paid outside deputies of the district court. The licenses issued in the past three years represent $824 that has been turned into the county treasury by persons procuring permits to wed.

The largest number of licenses issued during any one month this year was 40. These were issued in November. It is popularly supposed that June is the "marrying month" of the year but in this instance Cupid seems to have been working hardest in the winter. Only 8 licenses were issued during September last, while 30 were issued in June. The month of March shows only 17 licenses issued.

MISS ELIZABETH HILL RECEIVED A DECIDED SCARE LAST EVENING

MONEY RETURNED TO HER BY MANAGEMENT LATER IN THE EVENING

From Saturday's Daily—

She dropped the purse while attending the Lyceum Theatre and did not miss it till some time after she left the place In the meantime Miss Ella McKinnon on leaving the theatre notified the management that a pocket book was lying on the floor underneath a seat. Messrs. Nault and Simmons investigated and found the purse and were surprised to discover the big roll of bills and certificates it contained.

Shortly afterwards Miss Hill returned looking for the purse, but not expecting to find it. Was she tickled when it was restored? Well her face looked like it, as she was so excited she could hardly speak.

Moral: Leave your money in the bank or carry it in your sock.

ANNUAL ROLL CALL AT BAPTIST CHURCH

WAS HELD LAST EVENING—A PROGRAM RENDERED AND REFRESHMENTS SERVED

The annual roll call of members was held last evening at the Baptist church with the largest attendance noted for many years past. The reports from the different societies were read and showed great activity along all lines of work. One of the most important reports was that of the church treasurer which showed all bills paid to date. The report of the Ladies Social Circle, of which Mrs. Thomas Casey is president showed that the society had cleared nearly $500 the past year, certainly a most creditable record.

Each member as their name was called responded with a verse of Scripture and interspersed during the evening were several special selections by the choir together with congregational singing.

After the services refreshments were served by a committee consisting of Mrs. Chas. Babcock, Mrs. E. W. Jones and Mrs. Milburn Griffiths. The church was very prettily decorated for the occasion and the evening was enjoyed by all present.

Following the other events, the organization of a men's club was suggested and a committee consisting of Rev. Markham, Chas. Lohn, M. L. Griffiths, C. H. Babcock, Geo. Judson and O. H. Richardson was named to arrange for a program to be given in the church in the near future at which the formal organization will be effected by the election of officers and the adoption of a constitution.

The Baptist church was never in a more flourishing condition, the attendance at services on Sundays being the largest in the history of the local church.

"David Vannet was born in Scotland, July 18, 1849 and was therefore 59 years old. He was married in Scotland to Mary Lamb and in 1874 came to America. He entered his career in railroading, working up from a common laborer on the section at Audobon on the Northern Pacific to section foreman at Glyndon; he then went to the Great Northern as section foreman and soon after was given charge of the yards at Barnesville. Soon after he was promoted to roadmaster on he Great Northern with headquarters at Crookston. From there he went to the Northern Pacific as roadmaster and lived at Fargo until he was transferred to this division living at Grand Forks a short while and then moving to Fertile where he has resided fifteen years. He was very popular in railroad circles and was considered one of the ablest roadmasters on the Northern Pacific and had he lived a few years longer was sure of a promotion.

"Mr. Vannet was immensely popular in Fertile where he has lived so long He has been a member of the board of education for a number of terms and has always identified himself with the best interests of our little city. He was a member of the Congregational church and lived a true Christian life. He was greatly attached to his home and was a kind, loving and dutiful husband and father. VALLEY CITY HOPES TO ORGANIZE AN ELK LODGE

Valley City Times Record: For some weeks there has been a quiet movement on foot to secure an Elks lodge for Valley City. As soon as the Pettibone Directory company had completed their new directory and the city council adopted the figures 5,686, as the population of the city, a few members of the B. P. O. E. got together and named a committee to solicit membership. It is understood that the committee has met with encouraging success and that the requisite number will be secured for the installation of a lodge. Five thousand is the number required in a town before the order can be established and the city has long since passed that mark.

If the lodge is organized the next thing in order will be a building for its home.

KILLS DRAINAGE PLAN.

Land Owners Object to Expense of Large Iowa Project.

Burlington, Iowa, Jan. 4.—The board of supervisors yesterday knocked out the project of draining the low lands in the northern part of the county, delaying an improvement that meant the expenditure of $250,000 and an improvement estimated at $1,000,000 increase in the value of the land. The action of the board was taken because of strenuous protests from land owners, who objected to the expense.

ROOSEVELT AFTER ROAD

SOO LINE URGED TO EXTEND FROM THIEF RIVER FALLS

PROJECT IS PRESENTED TO BUSINESS MEN AND IS STRONGLY ENDORSED

From Friday's Daily—

W. F Hunt of Roosevelt is agitating his scheme of building a railroad from Thief River Falls to Roosevelt eighty-two miles due northeast. Such a road would tap a section rich in natural resources and would probably prove a profitable investment. Mr. Hunt's idea is to interest the officers of the Soo road and to secure either a promise from that company to construct a line as a branch of its system or to furnish all the materials and equipment at a very low figure. In case this does not prove satisfactory to the company, he believes it would be easy to secure the necessary amount by popular subscription.

At present shipments from Thief River to Roosevelt must be sent by way of the Soo and Canadian Pacific to Winnipeg and thence down on the Canadian Northern to Warroad. From the latter place it is necessary to haul them overland to Roosevelt, which tho a small village, is the distributing point for a large territory. The time required to forward a shipment is in some cases two weeks.

Last Thursday evening a mass meeting was held at Thief River Falls and Mr. Hunt outlined his plans, which met with approval. A committee of five leading business men was appointed to sound sentiment. This committee will also take the matter up with the Soo railway company and will report at a later date.

G. N. LUCK AGAIN SAVES DEATH

ENGINE CRASHES INTO REAR OF FREIGHT DEMOLISHING TWO CABOOSES

Passenger train No. 6, eastbound, on the Great Northern, crasned into the rear of a freight at Ashby, twenty miles south of Fergus Falls. The passenger does not stop at Ashby, and was going through at a high rate of speed. The freight train was sidetracked, but there was something wrong with the switch and the passenger followed it up on the siding. The engine crashed into the rear of the freight and two cabooses were demolished. Fortunately neither was occupied. The wreckage took fire, but the blaze was soon extinguished. The engineer and fireman of the passenger train escaped with slight injuries.

DOCTOR'S ORDER WAS: 'CUTICURA'

For a Bad Case of Eczema on Child —Suffered for Three Months— Disease Reached a Fearful State —Pain and Itching were Terrible.

CURED AFTER OTHER PRESCRIPTIONS FAILED

"When I was small I was troubled with eczema for about three months. It was all over my face and covered nearly all of my head. It reached such a state that it was just a large scab all over, and the pain and itching were terrible. I doctored with an able physician for some time and was then advised by him to use the Cuticura Remedies which I did and I was entirely cured. I have not been bothered with it since. I used Cuticura Soap and Cuticura Ointment but do not know exactly how much was used to complete the cure. I can safely say that Cuticura did a lot for me. Miss Anabel Wilson, North Branch, Mich., Oct. 20, 1907."

ITCHING CURED

With Cuticura Remedies in Three Days After Six Months of Suffering.

"I suffered fully six months. The trouble began on my arms in little red pimples and it was not long before it was all over my body, limbs, face, and hands. It was so bad that I could not rest night or day and during the six months, I did not get a good night's sleep. I doctored for three or four months and spent at least twenty dollars trying to find a cure but none could be found. Then I saw the Cuticura Remedies advertised, and the next day I purchased some for seventy-five cents at the druggist's. I used them and I was relieved of the itching in three days, and I have never had a sign of any skin disease since. The Cuticura Remedies are the only remedies to use for skin diseases, they have cured me and they will cure others in the same way. J. W. Bloom, R. R. POLK SCHOOLS GET $16,351

AUDITOR HOFFARD RECEIVED A DRAFT FOR THAT AMOUNT YESTERDAY

CROOKSTON HIGH SCHOOL WILL GET A SUBSTANTIAL SUM

From Thursday's Daily—

State Treasurer C. C. Dinehart has completed negotiations with the Twin City banks for financing the payment of the state aid to schools amounting to $856,889. This money was payable in October, but owing to the financial stringency negotiations for loaning the necessary money to make the payments fell through.

The warrants were drawn by State Auditor Iverson's force and were ready for distribution on Oct. 21, when word was received that the banks would not be able to carry the loan. As a result the warrants were held until Tuesday when the loan was negotiated. The warrants went out as a New Year's goft to the school districts.

County Auditor Hoffard received a draft for $16,351 yesterday to be distributed among the schools of Polk County today. The money was hardly expected at this time, as the legislature in granting the aid anticipated the receipt of the taxes for this purpose which will not be received by the state till about March 1st, and had the loan not been negotiated the money could not have been received by the schools till after March 1st. Mr. Hoffard did not receive a statement from the state treasurer regarding the amount the various schools of Polk Co., will receive but will receive this in a day or two.

The Crookston high school will receive several thousand dollars of the money.

CROOKSTON GETS $2,900 CASH

THIS SUM RECEIVED AS SPECIAL STATE AID BY RECENT APPORTIONMENT

The Journal yesterday stated that something over $16,000 had been received by County Auditor Hoffard as special state aid to High, Normal and Graded Schools. Of this sum the Crookston high school gets $2150 and the Normal department gets $750. East Grand Forks and Fosston gets $2150 each, Fertile $1684, McIntosh $1485, Carman $570 and Fisher $575.

The Northwest and the Bank Clearing

For the fifth successive week the northwest draws the attention of the financial world by persistently recording an increase in bank exchange figures while the rest of the United States is falling off. It is most remarkable exhibit, says the Minneapolis Journal.

Saturday's weekly summary again shows that of the first twenty-seven cities arranged according to size, every one shows a loss excepting only Minneapolis and St. Paul. Gains here compared with last year are 1.4 and 1 per cent for the two cities, which means full maintenance of comparative banking activity, while in he other twenty-five cities decreases range all the way from 5.4 to 61 per cent. New York, Philadelphia, San Francisco, Cleveland, Louisville, Indianapolis, Los Angeles and Salt Lake City show greatest losses.

The fact is that the country back of Minneapolis and St. Paul is the most prosperous section of the United States. The reason is plain. The crops last year were smaller, but the market prices have been so much higher that the seven principal crops of Minnesota, North Dakota and South Dakota, had a farm value $60,000,000 greater than in 1906."

And this is why Crookston as the center of the Red River Valley is beyond the reach of financial troubles experienced in the East. We have the produce to sell and are getting the money for it.

Wanted; Some Winter Weather

Duluth News Tribune: It would seem like "the sarcasm of destiny and the irony of fate" that Duluth should ever need to manufacture ice in competition with nature. Yet the ice consumers would look forward to the hot months of next summer with much more equanimity if there were artificial ice factories in the city.

The health department has forbidden the harvesting of ice in the bay even for refrigeration and it is right in doing so. But this will largely increase the demand from other sources and there are but two close at hand—Lake Superior and Spirit Lake.

The latter will soon be out of the markett by reason of the location on its shores and the encroachment upon its shallows of the steel plant. To the novice that might not be considered a material loss, with Lake Superior left to draw upon, but ocasionally it is magnificent in promises while grudgingly shy in performance.

Just now it is as open as in the month of July and the weather man gives little comfont for th efuture. When it does close, it is as fickle as a bachelor girl wedded only to her own whims and loving only independence. It may be frozen one day and open the next; the ice going as the winds not the ice men, listeth.

No dependence can be placed upon it and a magnificent crop of crystal water moves before a southwest wind from Duluth to Two Harbors and on to Thunder Bay and the open lake, as if drawn out by a vast fleet of tugs. There still may be an abundance of ice this winter and next and there may be an ice famine.

No man knows which, and as the city grows and the waters of the bay and river become more and more polluted by industries and sewerage, the problem of the ice supply will grow.

So while the artificial ice sounds strange in the ears of Minnesotans, and sort of unreal, like forordination and peridition, it may and doubtless will be a fact before many years, and now would find a ready market for domestic consumption. In the meanwhile Duluth's sign is out.—"Neededd, Some Winter Weather."

STATE PRESS

Deficient in Patriotism

The governor of Nevada pleads for the retention of United States troops at Goldfield on the ground that the state has no milita. If he state is too poor in purse to maintain a few companies of militia or the people of the state are too few in numbers or too deficient in patriotism or state pride to furnish the number of state guards the state should have, it is high time that Nevada should cease to be a state and that it should be annexed to one of the adjoining states or territories that is able and willing to protect its own citizens when their persons and property are threatened by the lawless element. — Warren Register.

Uniform Credit System

The Kenyon Commercial Club at a recent meeting discussed the subject of a uniform credit system and is formulating some kind of an agreement which will be adopted by the business men of that city. It will be only a matter of time when the cash buyer will get a discount from the prices paid by the once-a-year-and-thendoubtful customer And there is no good reason why this should not be so.—Fertile Journal.

Not Whiskey

A woman died the other day in Ohio at the age of 106. For a wonder she never ascribed her long life to drinking bad whiskey, but to a free indulgence in apples. That is a pleasant variation from the old stereo typed story.—Badger Herald Rustler.

This is leap year and the unmarried man who remains unscathed by cupid's arrows till another year is ushered in, must be very heavily armored.—Warren Sheaf.

A Good Fellow, Nit

We have among us a few "fast" young men who are always spoken of as "good fellows" and in some respects they are; but it is well to remember that they are not "good fellows" who indulge in pleasure at the expense of what their duty demands of them. There is no lack of time for pleasure and there are ways of enjoyment for everyone; but in the long run the young man will find it neither pleasurable nor profitable to win admiration for companionable qualities from the idle, the dissolute and the vicious. There is nothing new in all this—it is an old, old story—yet every day young men are seen going to the bad thru the allurements of so-called good fellowship, and the public teacher cannot too often or too strongly admonish the youth of the folly of such a course.—Shevlin Advocate.

Calls It Sentiment

After all there is more or less sentiment in the advocacy of Gov. Johnson as good presidential timber. Aside from the fact that as a democrat he was elected governor by a large majority in a state which gave Roosevelt 100,000 majority there is nothing in particular about his statesmanship executive ability or fitness which could not to be found in thousands of other Minnesota citizens.—Roseau Times.

VANDALISM RIFE NEAR BADGER, ROSEAU COUNTY

Nels Torreson's house, town of Stafford was set fire by some vandal Christmas eve, and had it not been for the prompt action of Guy Jaenicke it would now be in ashes. Young Jaenicke who happened to be passing noticed the fire and immediately set to work single handed to put out the blaze. He succeeded in doing so but was badly burned about the hands and face. The house which was unoccupied at the time had been used as a carpenter shop and the floor was covered with shavings. In these the fire was burning when discovered and the damage is confined to the walls ceiling and floor, which were badly scorched. The same evening the barn doors at A. A. Johnson's had been opened, presumably, by the same parties and the stock the next morning were found nearly froze and one cow was found with an ear nearly cut off.

A THRILLING CLEARWATER COUNTY WOLF STORY

The Clearwater Crystal is responsible for the following narrative:

"It is told of a farmer from Pine Lake that in order to get to town early he started out before daybreak but forgot to grease his wagon. When he got into the hills on the range line the wheels began to creak. The farmer thinking there were a hundred wolves after him, whipped up the horses and drove like a madman until the hubs were so heated that the old dry grease melted and stopped the noise. He drew a sigh of relief and promised he would not be caught out that time of night again."

INDIAN AGENT BEAULIEU MOVES MORE INDIANS

Indian Agent Theodore H. Beaulieu left Saturday morning for the White Earth Indian Reservation with eleven Indians—men, women and children. One of the party was old Chief Ney-Gwon-Ay-Be, the oldest chief of the Mille Lacs Lake band and one of the most stubborn. He has up to this time persisted in living in the land of his fathers, and Mr. Beaulieu feels highly pleased that he has convinced the old gentleman that White Earth is a much better place for him than Mille Lacs Lake. Ney-Gwon-Ay-Be is 85 years old and can well remember the time when he helped lead the Mille Lacs band against the waring Sioux fighting side by side with the early pioneers of Minnesota. There are still about 250 Indians at the lake, which Mr. Beaulieu expects to have transported to White Earth in the next few months.—Mora Times.

BANK OF LENGBY FOLLOWS THE LENGBY STAR

It is a matter of regret that the Bank of Lengby, which has been a valued addition to the business institutions of the place for the last two years, has been closed to business with the ending of the old year. It is understood that the new law placing private banks under state supervision and practically compelling all such to suspend or incorporate as state or national banks, has been the cause of the business being discontinued the stockholders not feeling warranted in taking the latter step at the present time. However, it is confidently expected that Lengby will have a state bank established here in the not far distant future. The Lengby Lumber, Brick & Fuel Co., will retain the building for their offices and the bank fixtures remain as before.

TEMPORARY ASSISTANCE FOR FIRE SUFFERERS

On Monday a safe was removed to Greenbush from the Scandinavian American bank of Badger to be used by the State Bank of Greenbush. YOUNG TRAPPER SHOT THROUGH THE HAND

The young man was in the act of arranging a trap when the gun was discharged the bullet entering the palm of the hand and coming out at the base of the thumb. As the bullet was of the steel jacket variety and his hand was so close to the muzzle when the gun was discharged the wound is not considered a very serious little one, only a flesh wound resulting.

GAME WARDENS WOULD MEET

MEN WHO LOOK AFTER INTERESTS OF FISH AND GAME

WOULD KNOW EACH OTHER—PLAN OF MUNCH AND RUTLEDGE

From Wednesday's Daily—

Game wardens of the state are planning to hold a convention at St. Paul for the purpose of getting acquainted with one another and getting together on questions of mutual interest. The agitation was started recently by the Warden Wm. Munch of Crookston and Warden A. G. Rutledge of Bemidji and on their suggestion it is likely that Carlos Avery, executive agent of the state gamme and fish commission will call a general conference of all the game wardens of the state to be held at the capitol some time soon.

Minnesota is known to have as good service for protection of game and regulation of hunting and fishing as any state in the union, but at present the wardens are not acquainted with one another to any extent and each man is obliged to do his work independently and without knowing, except in a general way, what the others are trying to do.

It is generally believed among the wardens that they could work to much better advantage if they could know one another personally and could have some sort of general understanding as to their methods. Mr. Avery also believes this to be the case and it is understood that he will take steps to arrange for a convention.

Mrs. A. Rogers Takes Poisonous Draught in Little Falls Jail.

Little Falls, Minn., Jan. 4.—Mrs. A. Rogers, who has been lodged in the county jail here for the last few weeks on a charge of passing a forged check at the Buckman hotel here, awaiting the action of the grand jury, drank one-half ounce of carbolic acid yesterday morning. She had been using the compound as a medicine. She is said to be a morphine fiend and just ran out and lost control of herself before getting more. Sheriff Long's wife gave her fresh cream, which induced vomiting, and three doctors were called. She is better.

LOOKS GOOD TO APPLICANTS

CONGRESSMAN TAWNEY OF MINNESOTA SAYS THOSE WHO HAVE MADE

APPLICATION FOR OREGON R. R LANDS HOLD PRIOR RIGHT

From Thursday's Daily—

The following from the Umpqua Valley News, Roseburg, Oregon of Dec 26th 1907 will be of special interest to those who have filed here or contemplate filing:

"The matter of filing applications for railroad land of late has been going on and there has been much said relative to this procedure to get possession of the land at the price of $2.50 per acre, as is declared by many the only price the railroad company can demand from those who wish to purchase. Attorney C. I. Leavengood of this city, is in receipt of the following communication from F. P. Rolfe of the Potlach Lumber Co., of Idaho which throws considerable light on this matter and will be of interest to the many who have made application for railroad land. The communication is as follows:

"'Potlach, Ida., Dec. 18, 1907. Mr C. I. Leavengood, Roseburg, Or.—Dear Sir: I will say for your information a son of Congressman Jas. A Tawney, of Minnesota, is here at Potlach and is one of the filers on O. & C. railroad land. He wrote his father at Washington telling him what he thought his chances were. Congressman Tawney immediately went to the land department and took the matter up with the Commissioner and writes his son that there is not a shadow of a doubt but he will get the land and that application for purchase now made will give such applicant a prior right of purchase. Says it will take time, but that the matter is now in litigation and that we will win.

"'Congressman Tawney is a power in Washington and will help our cause greatly. Looks good. Yours truly

—F. P. Rolfe.'"

This will interest quite a number of parties from here that have applied to purchase this land.

C. R. STONE KNOWS THAT ADVERTISING PAYS WELL

STONE'S MUSIC HOUSE OF FARGO DID $415 WORTH OF ADVERTISING WITH THE CROOKSTON DAILY JOURNAL IN 4 MONTHS AND IS PLEASED WITH RESULTS—SOLD PIANOS IN ALL PARTS OF THE UNITED STATES FROM VERMONT TO WASHINGTON — SOLD MORE GRAND PIANOS DURING THE CONTEST THAN DURING THE THIRTEEN YEARS PRECEEDING — 125,000 000 VOTES WERE ISSUED DURING THE CONTEST

The great voting contest inaugurated at Stone's Music house of Fargo, N. D., four months ago came to an end at midnight Tuesday night. It is a daring remark, but this enterprise undertaken by C. R. Stone is reputed to have been the greatest commercial venture of the kind ever undertaken by a commercial house in the United States or any other country.

The advertising was done through the newspapers in four states. Three hundred of the best newspapers of North and South Dakota and Minneapolis and Montana were the mediums of reaching from 3,000,000 to 7,000,000 people every week, but the advertising went further than in the states mentioned. It went all over the United States as results demonstrated

The Crookston Daily Journal was one of the Minnesota mediums selected and while we do not know what Mr. Stone paid others, he did $415 worth of advertising in the Journal, during the four months and he is well pleased with the results.

"Does advertising in newspapers pay, Mr. Stone?" inquired a representative of the Call of C. R. Stone of Stone's Music House yesterday, after commenting on the great voting contest which closed at midnight, New Year's Eve, and was decided a little later when the votes were counted.

"Does advertising in newspapers pay? I know it pays. Why, I believe that my business is the best advertised in the United States. I am perfectly satisfied with my experiment," said Mr. Stone with enthusiasm.

Mr. Stone stated that he sold more grand pianos during the contest than during the thirteen years preceding. He sold four grand pianos in one afternoon during the contest, he sold seven pianos in the state of New York, two at Springfield, Vt., several in Iowa, two in Michigan, one in Ohio one in Indiana, three in Kansas, seven in California, two in Seattle more than forty in Montana and a great many in other sttaes principally North and South Dakota and Minnesota. Perhaps the fact that during the month of December alone, the last month of the contest more than $62,000 in cash were taken in by Stone's Music House may assist in clearing the minds of others.

The fact is that the big advertising campaign paid and paid well. Mr. Stone's music business is the best advertised in the United States. Of course it cost a good deal of money.

The winners of the 14 pianos and the number of votes received are as follows:

Fargo College Conservatory of Music, Fargo, N. D.	3,871,100
Miss Milla Amundson, Ortonville Minn.	3,246,700
Dr. C. S. Putnam, Fargo, N. Dakota	3,244,800
St. John's Academy, Jamestown, N. D.	3,058,900

Mildred Reineke, Fargo	3,016,400
Ursuline Nuns, Grand Forks	3,013,300

Mrs. Levina Battey, Minot, N. Dakota	1,673,600
Mrs. C. L. Prescott, Minot	1,584,100
Mrs. J. W. Salten, Walton, N. York	1,571,600

Mrs. W. E. Porter, Tolley, N. Dakota	1,384,000
J. C. Heusten, Fargo	1,294,400

The judges of the contest were Mayor Elliott, W. A. Scott, John P. Edwards and J. J. Jordan, editor of the Fargo Call.

MOLLERUD WAS ROBBED

MAN FROM FERTILE HELD UP BY TWO NEWLY MADE FRIENDS IN FORKS

EXCITING TRIP COST HIM $65—STOPS PAYMENT ON DRAFT FOR $85

From Friday's Daily—

Ingebert Mollerud of Fertile, who was robbed of $65 and a bank draft for $85, returned home from Grand Forks last night a sadder and wiser man. He was decoyed from the G. Northern depot by two strangers who offered to buy a drink. A little later he rushed into an East Grand Forks Minnesota Point saloon and reported that he had been robbed.

One of his comrades got a half Nelson on him while the other robbed him. A fairly good description was secured of the men, but no arrests have been made. Mollerud was on his way to his claim near Minot. He intends to get some more money and leave for there in a few days. Payment on the draft was stopped.

MADE $1500 ON $38 INVESTMENT

The Grafton News and Times tells of a farmer who estimates that he cleared at least $1500 by the use of printer's ink. He had an auction sale and was not satisfied to get along with 100 or 200 hand bills. He advertised for weeks in the local paper, winding up with a half page ad. and distributed 500 extra copies of the paper. He also gave a big free dinner. There was 3,000 people at the sale and he took in $4,500. His advertising cost $38.

ATTENDED BIG MEET

SUPT. ROBERTSON AND PROF. HARRINGTON OF AGRICULTURAL SCHOOL

RETURNED FROM MEETING OF EDUCATIONAL ASS'N AT ST. PAUL

From Friday's Daily—

Supt. Wm. Robertson of the State Experimental farm and Prof. Harrington of the Agricultural high school returned this morning from St. Paul where they attended the meeting of the Minnesota Educational Ass'n. for two days. They report the gathering a very large one, and both were enthusiastic over the character of the work being done there by the various sections. Yesterday they attended the superintendent's section and of their part in the meeting the St. Paul Dispatch of last evening says:

"L. P. Harrington of the Crookston School of Agriculture, who has done so much for rural school agriculture in McLeod county, had fewer difficulties to contend with, apparently, perhaps because he had appealed directly to the boys themselves. That Crookston is a good, wide field for thought and energy also appeared in Prof. William Robertson's address, and his urgent proposal that 'if teachers really want industrialism in the schools, let them demand it.

"Minnesota always gives what she is asked for hard enough. A summer school for teachers and superintendents at the School of Agriculture, St. Anthony Park, where a full equipment and experimental work in process provided already more than half what was needed. A few instructors for four weeks, and the thing was done."

Prof. Robertson advised that this school be modeled somewhat after the annual 'short course for farmers.'"

THE HEAVY PERSONAL PROPERTY TAX PAYERS

SEVEN CONCERNS IN CROOKSTON PAY HALF THE PERSONAL PROPERTY TAXES IN CROOKSTON — PERSONAL PROPERTY TAXES NOW DUE AND WILL BE DELINQUENT MARCH 1ST — LIST OF LEADING TAX PAYERS IN OTHER COUNTY TOWNS ALSO GIVEN—AN OPPORTUNITY GIVEN TO MAKE SOME INTERESTING COMPARISONS

Jan. 1, 1908, the 1907 personal property taxes became due, and tax notices will be issued to all the taxpayers in the county by the county treasurer as soon as possible.

Personal property taxes will become delinquent March 1, 1908, when a 10 per cent penalty will attach. If by April 15, 1908, the 1907 personal property tax is not paid, together with the penalty, the tax will be turned over to the sheriff, who will proceed to collect the tax, penalty and costs by distress and sale.

The total valuation of personal property in the city of Crookston for 1907 is $473,641 and the amount of personal property tax levied is $26,032.57.

According to the figures on the county treasurer's books there has been but little increase in personal property taxes over 1906.

Crookston has the reputation of having a large number of wealthy citizens or those in well-to-do circumstances. As a general rule the person who pays a personal property tax of $40 or over is considered eligible to that class, and the Journal today following its annual custom, publishes in full the list of Crookstonites who will pay a personal property tax of $40 or over. There are a large number whose personal property tax is slightly under the amount named.

The heaviest personal property taxpayer in Crookston or Polk County is the Crookston Water Works Power and Light Co., whose tax for 1907 was $2814 which is about $600 more than their 1906 tax.

The Merchants National Bank is the second heaviest personal property payer in the city or county the tax amounting to $2296. The third on the list is the Crookston Lumber Co., $2290, the Fourth the First National Bank $2263, the fifth the Scandia-American bank with $1597, the sixth the Finch, Winslow, Carlisle Co., $840, and the 7th Wright Ruggles & Co., with $672.

The total personal property taxes paid by the above seven firms amounts to $12,772, practically one half of the personal property taxes paid in the city, and as there are 724 personal property tax payers on the list, the balance or 714 have to pay the other half. There are 27 others who pay from $30 to $40 each, so that the balance pay very little. The rate in the city is 54 mills, with a ward tax running from 1 to 4 mills.

There are 85 in Crookston who pay $40 or more in personal property taxes and the list follows together with a list of the heaviest tax payers in the villages of the county:

LOBSKAUS FROM THE ROSEAU BACKWOODS

A Correspondent of the Journal Gets Busy with his Quill and makes Public a Few State Secrets Regarding Recipe for a Famous Dish and Adds a Few Remarks About Other Things Including Currency-Phobia.

Recipe for Lobskaus

Take some remnants of "Lutefisk", some "Gammelost"—Kruct and a pair of wornout rubbershoes, grind it fine on a Republican organgrinder and mix the grist with any old offal from a dinner table such as meat, pork, beans, potatoes, chicken bones and Limburger cheese, then take one part of Republican prosperity, one part of Democratic tariff, and one part of Socialistic expectation and soak it thoroly in half a gallon of Prohibition whiskey knead the whole thing, grist offal and all to a pliant dough and fry it in campaign fat, and it is ready to be served.

Do you remember how to prepare Lobskaus, Mr. Editor? If you or your readers have forgotten it, you better—for good and sufficient reasons stated below reprint the recipe. It is to be found in your issue of Feb. 9th, 1907. Not only are Lobskaus good for the health in general, but it is the best remedy for the main prevailing disease called currency-phobia caused by the present panic.

For some time I was afflicted with the disease myself and wrote to an expert specialist in currency-phobia located in New York and inquired, if he would be kind enough to furnish me with a diagnosis of the malady, and a direction as to its treatment, and what, in his opinion, would be the most effective remedy for the same. I received the following answer, which is self-explanatory:

"My dear sir: Your esteemed favor of recent date relative to currency-phobia is at hand and in answer to the same will say that most marked and peculiar symptom of currency phobia is a disagreement with John Pierpont Morgan regarding currency reform and a desire to reform our financial system contrary to the sound and infalable judgment of Wall Street captains of finance. The most effective remedy is Lobskaus taken in liberal doses night and morning together with some Morgan pills, and during the treatment care should be taken so the patient reads nothing but the big dailies inspired by Wall Street If this direction is religiously followed the cure is certain. To cite one instance may be sufficient to prove this assertion. Before Congress assembled I was called in to treat the president as he was quite seriously affected, and after being treated as herein prescribed he was perfectly cured as shown in his last message. He dropped all ideas of his own as far as currency reform is concerned. Yours truly, —Specialist.

Upon receipt of the above letter I immediately applied to myself the prescribed remedy and I was cured in a remarkable short time. And when two such strenuous persons as the president and myself were cured there is no reason why the same treatment should not cure others, and being of a philanthropic heart and mind myself, I give the information for the benefit of a suffering public. And to show how hard my own case was I will herewith make public a letter I wrote the president under date of Nov. 16th—two weeks before congress assembled.

"Your Excellency, Theodore Roosevelt, President of the United States Wash., D. C.,—Being a great admirer of you personally, a warm friend of your policies, and a well wisher for your future achievements and success I herewith take the liberty of making a few suggestions, which if adopted I believe would not only stop the panic but tend to hasten the fulfillment of your highest expectations as a result of your policies.

To be plain, brief and concise I will confine my suggestions to two main propositions, namely, the distribution of government funds, and the basis for our future currency. Mr. President, I noticed the other day that you had ordered your secretary of the treasury to deposit still more of the government's money with banks and to place such money where it would do the most good. Now, it is a common knowledge that such deposits generally go to the biggest gamblers in Wall Street—to those very fellows who nourish and feed the panic-dragon for the very purpose of scaring the timid confidence-ghost out of the country whenever it suits their purpose. We farmers of the northwest are unable to see wherein gamblers are more deserving of government favors than we are, and in so far as placing government where they would do the most good I respectfully submit that nowhere could they do more good than being placed among the bachelor farmers of the wild and wooly west. Bachelordom, Mr. President, is the most complete form, shape and manner of the dreadful calamity you yourself have named race-suicide, and believe me, we bachelors are not race suiciders from choice. The world has not come our way—to use a common expression—and we need a helping hand. If the secretary of the treasury would distribute, say a few thousand dollars with every bachelor, I believe it would do more good for the country in general than anywhere else. It would enable them to do a little gambling in the matrimonial line, and instead of enforced race-suicide they would cheerfully comply with the Scriptural injunction to became fruitful and replenish the earth.. Our money basis should be the very best.

Now that the gold standard has been weighed and found wanting, and the chimera called confidence has proven itself to be like the Irishman's flea when you try to put your finger on it it is not there and, as is well known, the gamblers of Wall Street have for several years been clamoring for a set currency, it is time that our financial system be reformed in a sensible, wise and statesmanlike way. Some months ago, in a most eloquent and patriotic speech, you stated, Mr. President, that the very best asset any man possibly could have was a large family of boys and girls. Altho a bachelor myself, I agree with you, and if we are going to have an asset currency I believe it is pertinent to ask, why not base our currency on the very best asset any man can have? In the first place the very best ought to be good enough and furthermore, if we take a new start and practice in actual life our highest ideals and most beautiful theories, we would, as a nation, before long be leading a truer and nobler public life. But this is not all. I believe it to be self-evident that the very best asset as a basis for our currency would be the surest and most effective remedy for race-suicide. If a man could issue—say a thousand dollars on each one of his boys and girls, every marriageable man would take a hustle on himself and court a girl, and nobody would evermore think of curtailing the number of his family. It is true that boys sometimes run away with girls, but even so the tendency would only be to increase the basic asset. It would be a gain instead of a loss, and no panic could result from it as the case is now, whenever confidence takes a flight.

Hoping, Mr. President, that my suggestions will receive due consideration at your hands, and that you can see your way clear to embody them in your message to the coming session of congress, I remain, sir, your most obedient servant.

—Bachelor.

DEATH CLAIMS MINN. PIONEER

G. P. BITZER DIED AT HOME OF DAUGHTER, MRS KAUFMAN AGED 65 YEARS

New Years day brought sorrow instead of gladness to several homes in Minnesota, when G. P. Bitzer the father of Mrs. Jacob Kaufman of East Grand Forks died at his daughter's house yesterday afternoon. "Grandpa" Bitzer was born in Germany and was 65 years old at his death. He immigrated from the old country at the age of 37 and settled in Minneapolis where he lived until he went to East Grand Forks. The deceased leaves a wife and four children. Mrs. Bitzer is living with Mr. and Mrs. Kaufman. REGISTER'S REPORT SHOWS GRATIFYING CONDITIONS

RECEIPTS OF THE OFFICE ARE $1560.25 OVER AND ABOVE THE SALARY OF REGISTER OF DEEDS STAIR, DEPUTY THOMPSON AND ALL CLERKS—THE NUMBER OF MORTGAGES FILED IN PAST YEAR ARE 600 LESS THAN FOR 1906

The annual report of Register of Deeds Stair was completed the last day of the old year, which indicates keeping work up to date, and an inspection shows most gratifying conditions. The total receipts of the office are $1647.75 less than the year previous, and this is due principally to the fact that there were 600 less mortgages filed last year than in 1906 which is certainly a most pleasing indication. In all there were 1710 less papers filed last year than the year before, but the loss in fees on the mortgages alone would total about $800.

The total receipts of the office were $1560.25 over and above all salaries, and this amount goes into the general fund of Polk County. The report in full is as follows:

MORE EVIDENCE OF PLAN TO HOLD UP N. P.

THREE MEN SLEPT IN CULVERT AT CROSSING AND BOARDED N. P. SAME NIGHT GARRITY AND WADE WERE ARRESTED—GOT OFF AT HAROLD STATION AND NOT FINDING PALS CAME BACK TO CROOKSTON—GARRITY AND WADE LET OFF WITH FINE

That H. Garrity and Robert Wade who were arrested Monday evening while visiting a "plant" of revolvers and cartridges under the grand stand at the ball park near the N. P. depot were connected with a gang of train robbers who had intended holding up the southbound N. P. passenger the same evening is now certain from later developments.

When the N. P. passenger train arrived at Harold station, which is the first station east of here about 6 miles and where no agent or operator is located, on Monday evening, Section Boss Carlson who wa sstanding in the small shed in which the hand car is housed noticed three men get off the blind baggage. They appeared to be looking for some one, and after the train pulled out hesitated for some time and after walking about for some time and giving several shrill whistles started back towards Crookston on the railroad track.

Two miles and a half south and east of Crookston the N. P. crosses the G. N. and all trains stop there. The sewer pipe culverts are four feet in diameter, and Section Boss Bergstrom who runs between here and Harold station on Tuesday noticed fresh tracks leading to the culvert, and investigating found a bed made of hay inside the culvert, and which had been recently occupied.

On Monday evening no tickets were sold from here to Harold station and the conductor took none up for that point, so that it is certain that the three strangers who were seen to get off the blind baggage had boarded the train at the crossing and had intended co-operating with the pals who were arrested here, and when the latter did not show up they drilled back to the city to see what had happened.

Tuesday three strangers were seen hanging about the Great Northern depot by Agent Bell and he reported the matter to the police, but when the police put in an appearance the men were gone, and as the train for Fargo had just pulled out it is thought they headed in that direction. Garrity and Wade will be given a hearing today but the case will undoubtedly be adjourned in order to give time for further investigations.

Another clue was the finding yesterday of a freight bill, or rather a copy of a freight bill made out at West Union, Ia., or Decatur, Ill., and which Agent Handy says are a part of the office records of the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul there, and must have been stolen. The bill was dated June 12 last. It was found tied around the branch of a tree near where the Colts revolvers were planted, and being a large piece of yellow paper made a very noticeable signal, and is believed to have had some significance to some members of the gang of robbers. Garrity and Wade were put in the sweat box and both closed up like clams, refusing to say a single word of any kind whatever.

Garrity and Wade were arraigned before Judge McLean this afternoon and discharged after paying a fine of $1 and costs each for loitering about public buildings.

OLD INDIAN SKULL IS FOUND NEAR EBRO

The coroner and sheriff at Blackduck were notified last night that the head of a man was sticking out of a swamp near Ebro. Early this morning they drove down to the swamp and found a skull of what the doctors here think is an Indian. As the trunk of the body could not be found, it is thought that the head drifted in from an adjoining lake.—Bemidji Pioneer.

ORDER IS REVERSED

CONGRESSMAN STEENERSON ARGUES SUCCESSFULLY IN BEHALF OF

ABOUT 100 HOMESTEADERS IN THIS SECTION BENEFITTED BY ORDER

At the conclusion of an argument made by Congressman Halver Steenerson in Washington Saturday, Secretary Garfield reversed an order of the general land office whereby about 100 settlers in northern Minnesota, whose homestead entries were held for cancellation will be granted patents. The secretary ordered that the lands be patented to entrymen who had complied with all requirements of the department prior to last January. At that time a ruling was made requiring 14 months continuous residence on homestead lands.

Fred Lidgell, who was one of the entrymen, had resided for 8 months on his land and had also been credited with the usual six months constructive residence, and when his entry was rejected on the ground that he had failed to live on the land for 14 months he took an appeal with, 100 others. Congressman Steenerson told Secretary Garfield this morning that unless the ruling was reversed he would take the matter before congress About 16,000 acres of land are effected.

ENDS FAMOUS IDAHO TRIALS

ACQUITTAL IN PETTIBONE CASE MARKS LIMIT OF STATE'S EFFORTS.

Boise, Idaho, Jan. 7.—The end of the prosecution of the men charged with the murder of Former Governor Frank Steunenberg, with the exception of the cases of Harry Orchard and Jack Simpkins, came Saturday with the acquittal of George A. Pettibone. Charles H. Moyer, president of the Western Federation of Miners, who was under indictment with Pettibone and Haywood for the murder of Gov. Steunenberg, was formally released Saturday afternoon and in a few days he will return with Pettibone to Denver.

The case of Orchard, the self-confessed assassin of Steunenberg, is in the hands of Prosecuting Attorney Vanduyn of Canyon county. No statement as to the future procedure in the case has been made, but it will be called during the next term of the court at Caldwell, when it will probably be disposed of finally.

Simpkins, a member of the executive board of the Western Federation of Miners, who is charged with complicity in the crime, is a fugitive from justice and the charge against him will stand.

The verdict freeing Pettibone was reached after fourteen hours' deliberation and was received without any demonstration in the court room.

Pettibone, pale and emaciated because of his long illness, merely smiled as he heard of his freedom, and a moment later he was surrounded by his attorneys and friends.

A THRILLING PHENOMENON

FALLING STAR SATURDAY CAUSED CONSIDERABLE CONSTERNATION

LIGHT AS DAY FOR A FEW SECONDS—ALL OBJECTS GIVEN BLUISH TINGE

One of the most thrilling phenomenon ever witnessed in this section startled people of Crookston who happened to be out-of-doors Saturday evening last about 15 minutes of eight o'clock.

It was in the form of a falling star, or some other heavenly body, and those who witnessed it thought it was about half of the milky way falling earthward. It was as light as day for a period of about 30 seconds, though it is very probable that the real time that elapsed was not more than four or five seconds.

The streak of light appeared in the western heavens, slightly south of west, and increased in breadth till those witnessing it were seized with a terrible fear. Finally when apparently close to the earth it burst like a Roman candle, and a second later prevailed.

The specially awesome feature was that the brilliant light gave everything a bluish tint, and while buildings could be distinguished at a long distance everything looked as tho it had received a recent application of indigo water

Hack horses standing on the street reared and snorted, and J. L Anderson a farmer enroute home after a visit to the city lost control of his team which ran madly for about two miles toward home after being startled by the strange occurrence.

A number of people in the city were badly frightened, never having witnessed anything like the demonstration in the heavens before. The light was so brilliant that it was blinding for a few seconds and a very peculiar thing about it was that the star or whatever it was seemed a bright red while the reflection gave everything a distinct blue tinge.

A stranger in the city, who had witnessed a falling star or meteor, portions of which fell on his farm, was of the opinion that the heavenly body landed less than ten miles from Crookston, but no trace of anything of the sort could be secured thru inquiry of the farmers along the rural telephone rural routes leading from this city in that direction.

$36,000 FOR POLK CO. FARM

RICHARDSON FARM SOLD BY GEO M. HARDING OF CROOKSTON FOR $45 PER ACRE

MRS. LILLIAN M. RINGSDORF OF HURON S. D. WAS THE PURCHASER

From Tuesday's Daily—

Yesterday a deal was completed for the sale of the L. B. Richardson farm north of Fisher by Geo. M. Harding, real estate dealer of this city, to Mrs. Lillian M. Ringsdorf of Huron, S. D. wife of Warren M. Ringsdorf, the couple formerly having resided at Green Bay, Wis.

The farm consists of 800. acres of land and good buildings, and was sold for $45 per acre, making a total of $36,000, and the deal was spot cash.

Mr Harding worked on the deal for some time and finally landed it. It is one of the biggest deals made in sev- months in which Polk county dirt is involved.

The Richardson farm is one of the best in the county, and good buildings are located on it. Mr. and Mrs. Ringsdorf will be in Crookston in a short time and will operate the farm themselves tho they may not remain here all the time.

The people who realize that Polk County lands will never be cheaper are the ones who are buying now. There is no question but what there will be a substantial advance in prices during the coming summer, and much of the land now for sale will be withdrawn from the market.

JOHN BAILEY GIVEN THAT VERDICT AGAINST GRAND FORKS LBR. CO., TODAY

SUED AS GUARDIAN OF MINOR SON WHO HAD LEG CUT OFF JULY 9

From Tuesday's Daily—

A jury in the district court which retired this morning at 9:30 returned at 9:30 with a verdict of $7,500 in favor of John Bailey and against the Grand Forks Lumber Co.

Bailey sued as guardian of his son Barney, a minor, who was employed in the sawmill of the defendant company at East Grand Forks and had his leg cut off below the knee in an accident while operating a jump saw at 1 o'clock on the morning of July 9 last.

The plaintiff claimed that the saw was not protected by proper safety appliances and the jury took the same view of the case. The insurance company which assumes all such risks for the lumber company will probably appeal the case to the supreme court.

Rental Case On

Following this case the suit of Lockwood vs. Abrahamson was called. The plaintiff sued to recover the value of this share of the crop raised on the farm which he rents to the defendant in the town of Kertsonville. The defendant put in a counter claim, contending that the roof of the barn fell in injuring some livestock and that the roof of the house leaked and rain damaged his furniture. Loring and Clough represent the plaintiff and E. O. Hagen the defendant. This case will go to the jury this afternoon.

G. N. Flowage Case

When the above case is disposed of a jury will be called in the case of John Black, a farmer living near Benoit who is suing the Great Northern for damages he claims to have sustained from land over-flowed for lack of culverts under the G. In connection with this and other G. N. Cases which will be called at once. Claim Agent Jorden is here together with Atty J. D. Mason of Fergus Falls, Dr. Gilbert of Cass Lake, Agent E. E. Chamberlain and Wm. Eckstein of Cass Lake.

TWO JURORS ALSO ARRESTED

Judge Morris Discharges Jury and Continues Case Until June Term of Court.

St. Paul, Jan. 15. — Sherman S. Smith of Minneapolis is accused of tampering with the Wood jury in the United States court. He is held by Judge Morris under $5,000 bail to answer a charge of contempt of court. Two jurors in the case, Lyman Bachellor of Madelia and E. C. Benedict of Salem, Clay county, were also placed under like bonds on the same charge. Mr. Smith denies the charge.

The three men will appear before Judge Morris at 10 o'clock this morning for examination.

Sensational Finish.

This action brought to a sensational close the case against allged officers of the Wisconsin Grain and Stock company, which has been on trial in the United States district court for more than a month, and which has attracted wide attention. Judge Morris dismissed the jury and continued the case over to the June term of court. When the case is taken up again it will be a new case, and the ground covered at the present trial will have to be gone over again.

The defendants in the case are L. A. Wood, G. W. Wood, F. C. Wood, F. B. Wood, Charles Kelly and Paul Foss, who are charged by the government with being connected with the Wisconsin Grain and Stock company. The concern was a commission company, and the government charges that they used the mails for the purpose of fraud.

Sherman S. Smith, who is accused of tampering with the jury, was on the special venire summoned for this case, but he was not accepted as a juror. He is a prominent Republican politician of Minneapolis.

Affidavits Presented.

When court opened yesterday afternoon the jurors were excluded from the room while District Attorney C. C. Houpt presented affidavits to the court in support of a petition to attach the persons of Smith and the two jurors. The affidavits were by Postoffice Inspector Ketcham, Lawrence Ritchey of the secret service and George Hammond of Nelson, B. C., who was a witness in the Wood case. Warrants were immediately issued. The specific charge on which the warrants were issued was contempt of court.

Fair Trial Not Possible.

There was a hasty conference of counsel for the defendants, after which Gov. Lind announced that they were unanimously of the opinion that the case sould not proceed. Whether the charges were true or false a fair trial would, he thought, be out of the question while some of the jurors were under suspicion. Judge Morris thereupon ordered the clerk to "withdraw a juror," the legal practice for securing a mistrial, and continued the case to the June term.

Butte, Mont., Jan. 15.—At a meeting of the miners' union resolutions were adopted asking President Roosevelt to pardon Joseph Shannon of the Montana state union of the Western Federation of Miners and former legislator, who is now confined in the county jail at Helena. EVERY RESIDENT OF TOWN MOURNS

City Has Population of 2,500 and Almost Every Family Is Affected

Boyertown, Pa., Jan. 15. — When nightfall put a stop to the work of recovering the dead from the ruins of the Rhoades Opera House where last night's holocaust occurred the official roll victims numbered 167. It is the belief of those who had charge of the gruesome work that all of the dead have been removed and that the total list of victims will not go above 170.

Later reports show that panic did not start until actor raised curtain to see cause of trouble with calcium lights and overturned footlights which started fire. The work of rescue is gruesome.

To add to the terrible disaster the fire apparatus became disabled and the structure was left entirely to the mercy of the flames. It is almost certain not a vestige of the bodies of the unfortunates who were overcome by the smoke and perished will ever be found.

Assistance was asked from Pottstown, but before the fire apparatus from that city reached this place the entire center of the structure was a roaring furnace. Had the women and children heeded the warning of the cooler heads in the audience the horrible loss of life might have been avoided, but there was the usual panic and stampede which invariably follows such a catastrophe.

Trampled Under Foot.

The flames spread rapidly and communicated to other parts of the theater. Men, women and children rushed for the many exits, and the weaker sex and the children were trampled and maimed in the rush to gain the streets.

Boyerstown is a borough with a population of about 2,500, and is located about midway between Pottstown and Reading.

Seventy-five Injured.

It is estimated that at least seventy-five persons were injured by being trampled on either the stairway or by jumping from the windows of the burning structure. Of this number at least a score were fatally injured. At least a half a dozen succumbed to their injuries after being hurried to one of the temporary hospitals.

THREATENS TO KILL PRIEST

St. Paul, Jan. 15.—A Black Hand letter sent to Father A. D. Majer, pastor of St. Adelbert's Catholic church, Charles and Gaultier streets, has aroused the members of the parish, and if the writer can be discovered they promise a rough time for him. The letter threatens the life of the priest unless he stops collecting money for the support of the church. The letter is written in Polish and evidently by an illiterate person.

Father Majer announced to his congregation on Sunday that he had received an unsigned letter, in which it was stated that "the Black Hand would finish him" unless he stopped collecting the customary church dues. The announcement created a furor among the parishoners, who hold Father Majer in the highest esteem. Feeling was running high yesterday that any one should dare to make threats against their priest, who has been in charge of the parish for twenty-five years.

There is nothing either on the envelope or on the paper to indicate the identity of the sender. Some believe that the writer is a member of a band designed against the church. Others, however, hold to the opinion that the writer is simply some one who is antagonistic to the church and wishes to make it uncomfortable for Father Majer, although not from any personal motive.

WINONA INSTRUCTOR PRINCIPAL WITNESS

Nature of New Evidence Promised by the Defense Startles the Court Room.

TO PROVE THAW WAS INSANE

Jerome Shuts Out Story of Relations Between White and Mrs. Evelyn Thaw.

New York, Jan. 15—The attorneys of Harry K. Thaw, at the trial yesterday began relentlessly to build up a case of legal insanity which they have interposed in his behalf as a defense for the killing of Stanford White. The two principal witnesses were Prof. Charles H. Koehler of Winona, Minn who acted as instructor to Thaw in Wooster, Ohio, university in 1886 and Mrs. Amy Grosette, of San Mateo, California who attended Thaw as a trained nurse at Monte Carlo in 1897. They both told of the young man's eccentricities and declared that his manner always was irrational.

After the state had presented its case and Assistant Attorney Garvan had characterized the killing of Stanford White as "a premeditated, deliberate and cowardly murder," Martin W. Littleton, for the defense, made the opening plea for the prisoner. His promise of new evidence was sensational and held the supreme attention of all in the court room. Mr. Littleton promised to forge a chain of circumstances and to produce a line of testimony which will prove Harry K. Thaw insane at the time of the homicide.

Has New Evidence.

Evidence of hereditary insanity and of strange, unusual acts of Thaw, not even hinted at during the first trial, was told of by Mr. Littleton, who said that physicians and nurses who had attended Thaw were hurrying here from Europe; that teachers of the defendant from childhood would be on hand to give their impressions of "the wide-eyed, distant boy." In conclusion Mr. Littleton challenged the district attorney to produce a single reputable physician who would say Thaw was not insane at the time he killed the noted architect. Mr. Littleton's speech fairly bristled with surprises.

Springs Sensation.

He startled the court room by declaring that when Evelyn Nesbit had told him her story in Paris in 1903 Thaw "drenched himself with poison" and would have died but for the heroic work of three physicians who labored over him all of one night. Mr. Jerome had his surprise to offer, too, and when Mr. Littleton started to launch into the relations of Stanford White with the girl whom Thaw married, the district attorney was on his feet with an objection. Justice Dowling sustained him, and the name of the architect was not linked again with that of the defendant's wife.

Keep Evelyn's Story Out.

Littleton touched but lightly upon the girl's story as she told it to Thaw, but, careful as he was on this point, he again drew an objection from the prosecuting officer. Again Justice Dowling sustained the objection.

It was reported at the beginning of the trial that Mr. Jerome would fight this year to exclude the testimony of young Mrs. Thaw. Mr. Littleton spared neither Thaw nor his family in his recital of the defendant's life history. During the speech Thaw sat wide-eyed and pallid, looking fixedly at his counsel. The outline of the defense was generally considered as reflecting a determination on the part of Thaw's attorneys to prove him insane in 1906 regardless of all consequences.

DEBATE ON BOND ISSUE

Further Controversy Postponed Until Secretary Cortelyou Is Heard From.

Washington, Jan. 15.—The recent issue of bonds by the secretary of the treasury for the purpose of relieving the financial stringency was the subject of an animated debate in the senate yesterday. It resulted in an agreement to postpone further controversy until a statement can be received from Secretary Cortelyou.

The senate passed Senator Tillman's resolution calling on the interstate commerce commission for information concerning purchases by railroad companies of stocks of competing roads.

TRAPPERS FORTUNATE

FUR BUYERS SAY THEY ARE MEETING WITH MUCH SUCCESS

D. L. HAWKINS FINDS MANY HOMESTEADERS IN THE BUSINESS

D. L. Hawkins, a Minneapolis fur buyer, passed thru Crookston yesterday, returning home from a trip thru the Northern Minnesota forests. He started in at the Big Fork river, went to Rainy River and came down thru Warroad, Roseau and Greenbush, traveling most of distance by dog team. Mr. Hawkins bought up quite a bunch of pelts and found the trappers enjoying a very sucessful season.

"The fact that there is not much snow in the woods is of assistance to the trappers," he said. "They can carry on operations more easily, and with less loss than if the snow were two or three feet deep. When there is a snow storm every few days, as is the case some seasons, the traps become quickly buried. Most of the men in the business are meeting with fair success thru Northern Minnesota, and some of them will make good stakes before the season is ended.

"It is not so easy to pick up good furs cheap as it was a few years ago. More buyers are in the field, and the greater the competition the more one has to pay for raw material. I have always made it a practice to pay a fair price, but others were not so scrupulous and in the old days they treated the Indians shamefully, often buying a $10 pelt for perhaps a dollar or giving something in exchange of less value than a dollar. The Indians and white men alike are now pretty well educated up to the market price on furs, and there is no opportunity to cheat, even if one wants to.

"Quite a number of Indians are engaged in trapping thru the northern part of the state. While there are numerous professional trappers there are also many amateurs who live on homesteads and trap a little as a side line. They pick up enough money in this manner to carry them thru the summer. One advantage about the business is that living expenses are next to nothing, especially with the professional, who moves about from one place to another. He carries with him only the actual necessities of life, such as corn meal, flour, salt and coffee. All his meat he shoots himself. The simple fare, and being constantly out of doors, keeps him in perfect health, and it really isn't such a bad sort of a life as one might suppose.

"While there are districts in Northern Minnesota where trapping is still pretty good, it will not be many years before fur-bearing animals are so scarce as to make trapping decidedly unprofitable, except in the cases of homesteaders, who, as I say do it as a pastime."

WOOD OWNERS WERE UNWISE

TWIN VALLEY COMMENTS ON THE DROP IN WOOD PRICES

HIGH PRICES EDUCATE HOUSEHOLDER TO USE COAL INSTEAD

It appears to us that those who are responsible for quoting and selling popple wood for $4.00 and $4.50 per cord in the Twin Valley market are doing the wood business here a permanent injury, says the Times of that place. Many have already begun to burn soft coal and more are preparing to do so. We believe we are safe in saying that at least one third less wood will be consumed in the village hereafter than has been in the past if the price of popple wood is to be above $3.00 per cord. $3.00 is all it is worth. If one hires it sawed and split it will cost another dollar and we are confident that two cords of it are not the equivalent of a ton of soft coal which costs in Twin Valley at present about $8.00. It is really too bad that the coal-using idea was ever forced upon us by such high prices for wood for there are thousands of cords left within a few miles of the village wood that is dead and down and going to decay, that the owners should be marketing in the village. Now that the coal idea has taken root there will be less and less demand for this class of wood and it is doubtful if it will, to any great extent, ever be marketed.

WHOLESALE WOOD THEFTS

J. D. BACON IN CITY ENROUTE TO CANADA TO STOP BOLD WOOD STEALING

THIEF WAS PROMINENT AND JUSTICE DID NOT WANT TO ISSUE WARRANT

From Friday's Daily—

J. D. Bacon proprietor of the Hotel Dacotah at Grand Forks was in the city Wednesday evening enroute to Winnipeg where yesterday he joined ex-Sheriff A. F. Turner, his partner in the ownership of some timber lands located near Winnipeg. They have held the land for several years and last winter considerable timber was stolen from it and as it is close to market it is valuable. This winter they got a tip that some one was cutting the timber again, and about ten days ago the two made a trip and caught a wealthy business man red handed. He had 250 cords cut on the land and about 50 cords hauled to town, and had a big crew of choppers and teams at work.

The Canadian agreed to stop work at once and allow the real owners to sell the wood. Messrs. Bacon and Turner thereupon sold the wood to two Norwegians and returned to Grand Forks. The Norwegians hired teams and proposed to haul the wood away but when they arrived on the grounds they found a horde of half breed choppers who threatened to make cordwood of the Norwegians also if they did not make themselves scarce.

Mr. Turner thereupon returned to Canada and consulted an attorney. They went to a justice of the peace and tried to secure a warrant for the arrest of the timber thief but the justice refused to issue one. Mr. Bacon was advised at Grand Forks of the situation and phoned the Canadian attorney at once, but was advised that the timber thief was a very prominent man and it might be unwise to arrest a man of wealth and prominence. This did arouse the ire of Mr. Bacon who is a North Dakota State Representative and he said some things over the phone that would have resulted in his arrest for les majeste had he been across the border. However he induced his attorney to force the issuance of a warrant and yesterday went up to see what manner of laws Canada has that a thief could steal with impunity because he was rich and influential.

He vowed that he would get justice before returning, or that there would be a vacancy in the North Dakota legislature.

From other sources it is learned that the timber lands of many Americans is being plundered this winter especially, because so many Americans have returned to the States for the winter and left their property unguarded and that the Canadians many of them, stand together and do not consider it out of the way to pilfer wood from a foreigner's lands.

IN THE REALM OF INSURANCE

Minnesota Insurance Department Bulletin No. 4—John A. Hartigan, Ins. Com.,—Published to protect Journal Readers against fake Insurance.

St. Paul, Minn., January 1, 1908:

The Fidelity Mutual Aid Association of San Francisco, Cal., has reinsured with the National Casualty Co., of Detroit, Mich., and has withdrawn from this state. The reinsurance became effective October 24, 1907.

The Attorney General has rendered an opinion to this department to the effect that co-partnerships or corporations may not be licensed as insurance agents or brokers. Licenses will be issued to individuals only.

The following companies withdrew from the state Dec. 31st 1907:

The United States Life Insurance Co., of New York; the Michigan Mutual Lige Insurance Co., of Detroit, Mich., and the Des Moines Life Insurance Co., of Des Moines, Ia.

The National Mutual Fire Insurance Co., of Omaha, Neb., which was refused a license by this Department at the beginning of 1907, has just gone into the hands of a receiver.

Laws enacted by the Minnesota Legislature of 1907, becoming effective on January 1st, 1908, require that:

Life insurance policies must contain the entire contract and no inducement of any kind may be offered with the policy.

No company may issue a deferred dividend contract.

Life insurance companies must apportion accumulations to existing policies by classes.

No form of life insurance policy may be issued in this state that has not been approved by the Insurance Department.

The above laws do not apply to assessment life companies of which there are still a few in the state.

Commissioner Rittenhouse, of Colorado, expresses so well the policy concerning unauthorized companies, constantly urged by this Department, that we quote from his last bulletin as follows:

"In order to get the full protection of the insurance laws, of the insurance department and of the courts, the people of this state should do no business with companies that are not licensed to do business in the state."

Every agent of any company organized outside of the state has a license from the Insurance Department and every prospective policy-holder should insist upon seeing it before paying any money or signing any contract.

Any interested person may learn the standing of any domestic or foreign company at the cost of a one-cent postal card inquiry addressed to this department.

COMMERCIAL CLUB OF THRIVING TOWN PROPOSES TO DO SOMETHING

HELD ROUSING METING WEDNESDAY EVENING — OTHER NORMAN COUNTY ITEMS

Special to the Journal:

Ada, Minn., Jan. 10—The Commercial club held a rousing meeting Wednesday night in the city hall, nearly every business man was present. The principal question before the club was the widespread differences in the prices of grain between Ada and the twin cities which is about 16 cents, while 10 cents would give the elevators a good margin. A committee consisting of C. J. Lofgren, A. L. Hanson and Jason Weatherhead were appointed to investigate the cause.

The question of our merchants giving the creameries a boost by paying 10 per cent more than their face value for creamery checks in trade was discussed. Some had already agreed to do this and as it is desired to act in harmony it was decided that the merchants should confer with the local creamery people at the annual creamery next week.

It was also agreed to boost the village and surrounding country and see that actual settlers be secured on the vacant lands

A Good Suggestion

St. Paul lines are now seriously considering a reform which if adopted will prove an important curb to the activities of Chicago catalogue houses Heretofore catalogue-house freight shipments into the northwest amounting to many thousands of packages, have been loaded in full cars and forwarded to Saint Paul, the individual shipments being unloaded into the warehouse here and then forwarded individually to consignees. This means that such houses have paid a car-lot rate over three-fourths the distance the shipment to the northwest goes, and the usual less than car lot merchandise rate for the distance from St. Paul to destination. It is now proposed to charge 3 cents per 100 pounds for distributing such shipments in warehouses, which means additional freight of $30 per car on catalogue-house shipments. Several Chicago houses are shipping as high as 20 cars a day of such freight.

The proposed new rule will also operate against the practice of loading cars at the catalogue houses in Chicago, switching them to local freight houses and there distributing their contents for shipment to destinations without cost.

Will Protect The People

The recent order of the state board of health in practically abolishing all quarantine regulations will probably not affect the people of Crookston, as last night an ordinance passed its first reading which will in all essential features put baack in force the old regulations in this city.

The City Council in its action last evening is following a course similar to that being pursued by other cities. Duluth has recently passed an ordinance in which the quarantine regulations will continue as stringent, or more so, than the old regulations enforced by the state board, and the city council of Crookston is taking the same course.

One of the chief objections made by those who favored the old regulations is that they were a dead letter to a greater or less extent. Such an argument is a very poor one for their abolishment. Because a law or regulation is not enforced is not a good and sufficient reason why it is not a good one. There are a great many laws that have been winked at, but which are nevertheless among the wisest and best on the statute books. There is no question in the mind of the average man but what reasonable quarantine regulations are beneficial, and protect the general public against that class of people who have no regard for the safety of others.

In its action in protecting the people of Crookston the city council of Crookston will receive the hearty support and co-operation of the vast majority of thinking citizens.

Need o Industrial Training

Minnesota is not in the front rank of states in regard to child labor legislation but it has a creditable place, according to Miss Jane Addams of Hull House, Chicago, who yesterday gave an interesting talk on "The Waste of Child Labor" before the Women's club in Minneapolis.

Miss Addams made a strong plea for the industrial or trade school. "If the state keeps the child in school when he might be earning money, it should prepare him for the work he will do. Industrial training means an increase in wages," she said and told of the Manhattan trade school for the daughters of immigrants in New York. The girls worked in sweatshops for $1 and $2 a week. In order to obtain their parents' consent for them to attend the school they were paid the same wages during the first year, but when it was discovered that the training they received enabled them to earn from $8 to $10 after they left school, there was no trouble in obtaining pupils. "A trade education is necessary for both the consumer and producer," said Miss Addams. "This is an industrial age, and in order to get the best there is in it we must know the technique of industry."

"It is the member of the family who the house and where the holder of the purse is a little child the family relation is turned upside down. The parent loses control over the child who supports him, and a child is still a child, whether a wage earner or not and is incapable of carrying the adult responsibility that is thrust upon him

The objection of the self-made man who began work at 10 and climbed the ladder of fortune, and who would not have the law rob other boys of a similar chance, was met by the statement that industrial conditions are vastly different now from what they were in the days of apprentices. "Look out for this statement," warned Miss Addams. "It is one you will have to answer from your own prominent men."

Child labor is not skilled labor and it lessens the value of its product. A ton of cotton made into cloth in Alabama, is not worth, by many times, what the same woven by adults in Massachusetts would bring. Miss Addams told pathetic incidents of the small workers, many of them mere babies, who are losing health and life in the factories of the South.

"The street is better for the child than the factory," she declared. "It gives the child freedom and outdoor life and teaches him self-reliance."

A Little Advice

A little advice to bachelors: Don't grab at the first bunch of skirts that throws itself at you. Find out if she can cook, wash dishes, bake bread, keep the house clean, etc., or if she is only one of those dear little dolls that can do nothing but spend money on dress and gad about the streets. If you're looking for a wife get a woman, not a doll. Do this and you will be happy ever after.—Clay County Herald.

Common Sense Rare

It was Barnum who said that people like to be humbugged. We are constantly having proofs of that. The get-rich-quick schemes, lotteries and fake enterprises owe their existence and sucess to the gulibility of people. The exercise of a little common sense would convince them that all these schemes ar frauds. But fortunately, common sense is somewhat rare.—Badger Herald Rustler.

Why Not?

The doctor could save the service a lot of money by extending to it the benefit of his discoveries as to infectious diseases and the usefulness of quarantine.—Duluth News Tribune.

Stand on High Ground

The only way to life a man up is to get above him. You can push him up from beneath, but you can lift him up only when you are on a higher level. MIND DISTROYED BY BANDIT'S BLOW

Jack Ward Is Now Running Wild In Forest- Posse Is Trying to Find Him

Jack Ward, demented and haunted by wild fears of capture for some fancied crime, is wandering somewhere in the woods near Zim while his brother Frank and a posse of lumbermen from the camps are searching the country in vain for him.

Information of insanity was filed with the probate judge at Duluth yesterday by the brother and a warrant for the unfortunate man's arrest requested. The letter from the brother stated that the insane man fled from the lumber camps where he had been employed last Friday and thus far no word has been received of his capture

It is stated that Ward was held up and robbed of $450 at Grand Forks N. D., last fall after having completed a successful season in the harvest fields and was struck on the head by his assailants. He never recovered his mental faculties and has been growing steadily worse for some time until Friday when he fled into the forest.

The sheriff will be advised if the man is located and a deputy will go after him. His case is said to be a violent one with little hopes for recovery.

STRUCK BY ENGINE—The developments in the case of the death of John Olson near Winger show that he had been out with a number of convivail spirits and they imbibed too freely and Olson left the party to walk up the track to the Ostby home where he was staying. The question was: Resolved, that the federal government should subsidize the southern states for the education of the negro, it being granted that such subsidies would be constitutional, and that the south would not object." Fergus Falls had the affirmative.

BUT THE CHECK CAME BACK

F. B. HARRIS WILL HAVE TO DIG UP A FEW BASE BALL SHEKELS

Atty. W. B. Brown of Warren and a good 32nd degree fan he is, spent Sunday in the city enroute to Roseau where he is attending court. When preparing for the trip he put on a vest which he had not worn since July 10th last, and in one of the pockets thru which he fumbled he discovered a check for $16 with the signature of Fred B. Harris attached thereto. It seems that Mr. Brown had his ball team here last summer, and was given the check by Fred Harris for expenses It being early in the base ball season Brother Brown was flush, and needing not the coin, he shoved the check in his pocket where it has remained ever since.

His season as manager of the Warren team cost Mr. Brown about $400 shekels out of his own pocket and the $16 check looks like a draw back that he had not expected—in fact it looks to him like clear velvet.

In the mean time Mr. Harris had squared up everything in the base ball line, and there is no question but what the $16 check will be a painful reminder of the honors heaped upon him when he was made treasurer of the Crookston All-Star aggregation of ball tossers. We have not interviewed the man of Belle fame as yet but predict that he will smoke a LaZinda on top of two Belles when that check gets back and is charged to his account at the bank. And Brown laughed when he thought of it.

BRAKEMAN IS MADE TARGET

OF THE BULLETS FROM A GUN IN THE HANDS OF A DRUNKEN ROUSTABOUT

QUICK ACTION OF SHERIFF BAILEY PREVENTS MURDER AND AVOIDS HANGING

From Friday's Daily—

While aboard the M. & I. northbound passenger train last evening between Blackduck and Funkley, Harry Smith, a resident of Cass Lake who has a stone and timber claim near Little Fork, pulled a revolver from his pocket and fired a shot at Frank Coppersmith, the brakeman, who was but a short distance from Smith the bullet missed the intended mark.

Sheriff Bailey of Beltrami county happened to be on the train and seeing the man draw the gun struck his arm when he fired sending the bullet thru the ceiling, Smith was immediately taken prisoner by the sheriff and taken to jail at Bemidji on the next train.

Smith had come over from Cass Lake in company with other residents of Cass Lake who have claims near Little Fork. He boarded the M. & I. train at Bemidji and from the time he entered the car attempted to have trouble with nearly everybody whom he met.

The brakeman on the train, spoke quietly to Smith and asked him to cease his troublesome talk and quarreling. Smith would not be quiet, but became more boisterous than ever, and every time the brakeman went thru the train, attempted to have trouble with him.

Coopersmith finally told Smith to behave himself or he would treat him as he deserved. Coppersmith turned his back on Smith and started to walk for the door, when Smith drew a revolver from his pocket and attempted to shoot Coppersmith. But for the prompt action of Sheriff Bailey, Coppersmith would undoubtedly have been seriously wounded.

BACK WITH TWO LAND SEEKERS

JOS. BALL RETURNS FROM TRIP TO ILLINOIS—IS OPTIMISTIC

Jos. Ball returned last evening via Grand Forks from a trip to Illinois where he has been for the past few days and accompanied by two land seekers in the persons of Jas. McKibbin and E. F. Hewen of Hebron, Ill.

Mr. Ball states that there is a great deal of inquiry for Valley lands in the central states at the present time and he is looking for a heavy movement in the spring. He says the people there realize that an opportunity to purchase land in this section at present prices is apt never again to present itself, and that those who keep posted on land values propose to make hay while the sun shines and get in on the ground floor.

RETURNED FROM THE BIG WOODS

HAVE HORSES WELL INSTALLED AND SAW A GREAT DEAL OF COUNTRY

P. S. Quigley and M. Quirk returned last night from Northome where they had been to see their teams properly placed in the lumber camps. Messrs. Quirk and Quigley beside the visit to the lumber camps took especial interest in investigating the country from a farmer's standpoint, but as these gentlemen come from the town of Tynsid, a garden spot in the Red River Valley, their comparison would be hardly be fair to the big wood country when they state there is no place like the Valley.

Beltrami County is entitled to recognition and Mr. Kaiser would meet with the approval of the people of that county without question.

DUNHAM STILL UNDER COVER

Nothing has yet been heard from E. A. Dunham since he took French leave of Crookston the morning of January 2nd after having forged the name of Conductor Gould to checks amounting to several hundred dollars and cashed them at the various places of business about the city. It is practically certain that he is some where in Canada and the police are hot on his trail. As he has never done anything but work on a railroad in the capacity of brakeman or tend bar in recent years the officers know in about what company they will find him. Chief Eck is sending out cards all over the country with Dunham's picture attached and developments are expected soon.

RATES ARE TOO HIGH

CROOKSTON INTERESTED IN A HEARING TO BE HAD AT DULUTH SOON

RECENT ACTION OF ROAD RAISING RATES ON LOGS IS QUESTIONED

The railroad and warehouse commission has arranged for a hearing at Duluth on Jan. 29 on the question of the reasonableness of the existing rates on ties and other forest products The hearing is called on the complaint of Joseph W. Reynolds who has complained to the commission that the present rates on such products on the Great Northern are excessive. The present rate on this class of products is the same as that which applies on lumber shipments, and the claim is made that a distinction should be made between the rates on finished lumber and on ties, logs and such rough products of the forest. It is urged that the cost of loading lumber is greater than that of ties or logs and that the danger of damage in shipments is much less in the case of the latter.

The main reason for the closing down of the Crookston saw mill the coming summer is the prohibitive rate charged for railing the logs in. Were the rate reasonable there is no question but what the Crookston Lumber Company would have planned to run the local mill the coming season with the usual shift.

For this reason the outcome of the hearing at Duluth will be watched with greater interest by the people of Crookston, and should the commission decide that the rates charged are exhorbiant it is within the realm of possibilities that an order for a lower schedule may be made in time for the Crookston Lumber Co., to reconsider the decision to close the local mill for the season.

BOTH OWE COMPLETE RECOVERY TO CUTICURA

"In 1884 my grandson, a babe, had an attack of eczema, and after trying the doctors to the extent of heavy bills and an increase of the disease and suffering, I recommended Cuticura and in a few weeks the child was well. He is to-day a strong man and absolutely free from the disease. A few years ago I contracted eczema, and became an intense sufferer. A whole winter passed without once having on shoes, my ankles and nearly from the knees to the toes being covered with virulent sores. I tried practitioners, specialists, dermatologists, etc., to no purpose. My daughter-in-law reminded me of having prescribed Cuticura for my grandson more than twenty years ago. I at once procured the Cuticura Remedies and found immediate improvement and final cure, till to-day, though well along in years, I am as though I had never had that disease. I am well known in the vicinity of Louisville and Cincinnati, and all this could be verified by witnesses. M. W. LaRue, 845 Seventh St., Louisville, Ky., April 23 and May 14, 1907."

The agonizing itching and burning of the skin, as in eczema; the frightful scaling, as in psoriasis; the loss of hair and crusting of scalp, as in scalled head; the facial disfigurement, as in acne—all demand remedies of extraordinary virtues to successfully cope with them. That Cuticura Soap, Ointment, and Pills are such stands proven by testimonials of remarkable cures when many remedies and even physicians have failed. One set is often sufficient to cure.

Cuticura Soap (25c.) to Cleanse the Skin, Cuticura Ointment (50c.) to Heal the Skin, and Cuticura Resolvent (50c.) (or in the form of Chocolate Coated Pills, 25c. per vial of 60) to Purify the Blood. Sold throughout the world. Potter Drug & Chem. Corp., Sole Props., Boston, Mass.

ANNUAL MEET AND BANQUET

OF THE TWENTY-FIVE THOUSAND CLUB WILL BE HELD THURSDAY JAN. 23

CHAS. KIEWEL MAKES VALUABLE SUGGESTION REGARDING COLD STORAGE PLANT

From Saturday's Daily—

At the meeting of the directors of the Twenty-five Thousand Commercial club last evening at the city hall club rooms considerable routine business was discussed.

It was decided to hold the annual meeting on Thursday evening, January 23, in the dining room of the Odd Fellows Hall at which time the officers will be elected and the work of the past year gone over.

The election will be followed by a banquet, tickets for which will be sold for 50 cents and a committee will make the canvass for their sale in a few days. Following the banquet there will be a smoker at which there will be a program of addresses covering a number of important subjects.

The secretary read a letter from Chas. Kiewel which opens the way for the erection of a cold storage plant here at a minimum cost. Mr. Kiewel stated that his cold storage plant had a capacity far exceeding the needs of his business, and that connection could readily be made at small cost with the proposed cold storage plant. The machinery of the plant is very costly and this scheme makes the cold storage available with only the cost of the building and the actual cost of the "manufacture" of the required amount of cold for the proposed plant.

The Kiewel plant is also located close to the G. N. tracks where the railroad facilities could not be better. The matter was referred to the cold storage plant committee of which J. H. Stair is chairman for further consideration.

His next step, admittance to practice before the highest tribunal in the country, the United States supreme court, cannot be taken under the rules of that court until the expiration of five years. Mr. Chapin has been patiently anticipating the possession of the certificates which he now has, for some time.

All of Atty. Chapin's former friends and schoolmates at Euclid will be pleased at the success he has attained in his chosen profession.

DOTSON'S WORK VERY COARSE

WEDNESDAY RINDAL VOTES DOTSON SLICE OF PUBLIC MONEY

FRIDAY THE TIMES TROTS RINDAL OUT AS CANDIDATE FOR SHERIFF

From Saturday's Daily—

"You scratch my back and I'll scratch yours". Wednesday County Commissioners Rindal was enthusiastic in his support of the high bid of the Times' combine for the county printing, voting to make a present of $2,000 or $3,000 of the county money to the Times et. al. and Friday the Times trots out Mr. Rindal as a candidate for sheriff of Polk County. The only course now for the people of Polk Co., is to fall in line and vote for the man Dotson was paid to bring out with the peoples' money voted to him by Commissioner Rindal.

We have seen coarse pieces of political work but this really takes the premium over anything of the kind ever sprung on a long suffering public.

The Journal will now, watch the people of Polk County fall all over themselves in fighting for a chance to vote for Commissioner Rindal for sheriff of Polk County because Mr. Dotson intimates that he must really be elected as he has agreed to deliver the goods.

SPECIAL MEETING FOR MUNN

STATE BOARD OF PARDONS WEIGHS MUNN'S LIFE JANUARY 21

LETTERS ASKING FOR CLEMENCY FROM EX-GOVERNOR OF WISCONSIN

From Tuesday's Daily—

The state board of pardons will meet in St. Paul on January 21 next for the purpose of determining what disposition will be made of the case of Martin S. Munn, sentenced to be hanged in Bemidji next month. The meeting of the board will be a special adjourned session from the regular meeting which was held yesterday in the capitol.

The reason of adjournment for the purpose of considering the case of Munn arises from large correspondence from all parts of the northwest addressed to the Minnesota state board of pardons appealing for mercy to the condemned. It is well known about the capitol that such letters have been received from prominent men in the northern portion of the state and especially from men of the highest public note in the state of Wisconsin from which Munn came. No other than a former governor of Wisconsin signs among these letters.

If extenuating circumstances in the life and actions of the condemned make any recommend of clemency in his case his sentence will undoubtedly be commuted. That is all that his two brothers and other friends are holding out hope of.

Attorney E. D. Clough of Crookston, the leading attorney in the behalf of Munn returned from St. Paul last Saturday night where, it is understood, he appeared before the board and directed its special attention to the case of his helpless client. While he will make no definite statement as to the progress of the case, he undoubtedly has some assurances of Munn's escape from the gallows.

Martin S. Munn was convicted at the last term of the Beltrami county court for the murder of August Franklin at Beaudette in a restaurant which both men owned jointly. Alleged relations of Munn with Mrs. Franklin was the apparent grounds of the jury's extreme action.

SECOND BRILLIANT METEOR SEEN HERE

LOCAL POLICE HAVE EVIDENCE THAT THEY DID NOT "SEE THINGS"

Last Saturday Capt. Vonderbeck and Officer Lalonde reported having seen a very brilliant falling star between 4 and 5 o'clock Saturday morning, so bright that it cast a shadow from them while they were standing directly underneath an electric street lamp. Naturally some of their friends accused them of "seein' things" but they were not the only ones who witnessed the brilliant spectacle as the following from the Grand Forks Herald of this morning will bear witness:

"Engineer A. F. Mallick of Jamestown reports seeing a very brilliant meteor at 4:54 Saturday morning while pulling N. P. train No. 6 a mile east of Sterling. The meteor which was as white and brilliant as an electric light and half the size of the moon was moving from north to south and leaving a broad and exceedingly brilliant trail. The earth was lighted up for eight or 10 seconds. Gradually the meteor died out as it approached the earth."

CONTEST CASE IS DISMISSED

On Tuesday last two contest cases were scheduled to come off before Carl S. Dahlquist a notary of Beaudette. The land involved is located some twenty odd miles up the Rainy from there and is in the Cass Lake land district. It is not far from the Long Sault rapids.

The parties to the contests were Otto Gunderson against Mike Maruskv, and Hannah Stokke against Harry Maruska. Attorney C. R. Middleton had been retained to represent the contestants. A few days ago, Joseph Maruska, of Angus, Minn., appeared for his two sons and conferred with the contestants and their attorney, and it was agreed to settle the controversy without suit. The result was that the contestants withdrew their charges and Mr. Maruska went up river to the claim.

AWFUL GASH IN SCALP

ALPHONSE PFAFF FELL FROM G. NORTHERN BRIDGE AND CUT HEAD

GASH 5 INCHES LONG IN SCALP AND BACK SEVERELY WRENCH—BROUGHT HERE

From Monday's Daily—

Just before noon today, Alphonse Pfaff who resides in Sampson's addition fell from a G. N. bridge between here and Eldred striking his head on a jagged rock sticking up from the ice about 12 feet below and inflicting a terrible wound about 5 inches long in addition to sustaining a severe wrench in his back.

Mr. Pfaff is section foreman on the Great Northern between here and Eldred and had but one man working with him. He bled terribly and it was with much difficulty that the other man assisted him to the Carlson farm a mile and half from the bridge, and about 10 miles from this city.

Mr. Carlson hitched up his horse and buggy and drove the injured man to this city and Dr. Just dressed his wounds and it is believed he will recover nicely unless there are internal injuries. At a hasty preliminary examination Dr. Just was of the opinion that the skull was not fractured.

Mr. Pfaff was very weak from the excessive loss of blood, but displayed great nerve. Had it not been for a most vigorous constitution he would have collapsed immediately after the accident.

The two men were levelling up the track on the bridge when Mr. Pfaff's foot slipped and the plunge below resulted. That the injured man escaped breaking his neck or skull was almost a miracle, striking as he did upon the frozen stream below.

Mr. Pfaff is a married man and resides at 402 Waadland Avenue Sampson's addition.

HACKS ORDERED INTO ALLEYS

EAST GRAND FORKS NEW MAYOR WANTS VEHICLES KEPT OFF DEMERS AVENUE

There was consternation among the East Grand Forks hackmen yesterday when they were notified of an edict of Mayor Dunlevy that hereafter hacks when not in service shall not stand on DeMers avenue as in the past, but confine their presence to the alleys. The order went into force last evening. A similar regulation was in force some months ago but the order was finally rescinded after repeated appeals from the hackmen.

EARLY BIRD REPORTED

MOURNING DOVE IS SEEN EATING WHEAT NEAR MILL IN WALHALLA

Walhalla, N. D., reports Dr. Graham as seeing a wild mourning dove on the road between the mill and bridge eating wheat. The latter bird is one of the first to migrate to the south on the approach of winter.

If it wasn't for the easy marks in this world there wouldn't be so much "doing."

WILL CONFORM WITH FEDERAL

COMMISSIONER E. K. SLATER WILL REVISE PURE FOOD LABELS

JAM AND JELLY LABELS WILL BE SAME AS PRESCRIBED BY FEDERAL LAW

E. K. Slater state dairy and food commissioner has prepared a set of new rules and regulations relating to the manufacture and labelling of food products offered for sale in this state which will go into effect about the first of February. The purpose is to secure uniformity in the regulations of the state and the federal government in order to avoid unnecessary restrictions and expenses upon the manufacturer.

Under the present regulations the requirements of the state law differ in some respects from the federal requirements which makes it necessary for manufacturers from outside the state to affix two labels of goods shipped into Minnesota, altho the labels vary only in a minor and unimportant feature. By adjusting such differences to the federal regulations it is hoped that a greater uniformity will be reached.

Under the present Minnesota regulations jams and jellies when containing products other than the fruits or fruit juices and cane sugar, must be labeled "mixed" or "adultered" where as the federal law requires them to be Similar differences occur with reference to other products and in the case of jams and jellies, the state regulations are made to conform with the federal regulations.

SPORTSMEN PLAN TO PURCHASE LARGE COLONY TO LIBERATE AT MAPLE LAKE

CONDITIONS ARE IDEAL — SUGGESTED THAT HUNTERS SUBSCRIBE $5 EACH

The sportsmen in this city and surrounding territory are interested in a plan suggested by W. M. Ferguson, the northwestern representative of the Peters Cartridge Co., to raise a substantial sum of money by contributing from $5 to $10 each into a pool for the purchase of a substantial colony of Mongolian Ring-necked pheasants to be liberated near Maple Lake where the conditions are ideal for their thriving.

A short time since the game and fish commission liberated six birds in that vicinity but for satisfactory results the hunters think a much larger number should be added at once, and with that end in view a subscription will be taken up in the near future with the object in view of having first class pheasant shooting within the next few years.

A number of enthusiastic hunters who were chatting at the Hotel Crookston last evening were heartily in favor of the scheme and each evinced a willingness to contribute from $5 to $10 each to a fund for the purchase of the ring-necked Mongolian pheasants which it has been proven are best suited for this climate, prolific breeders and have beautiful plumage.

Near Maple Lake there is just enough brush for good cover, and protection in the winter, with abundant grain fields for feeding. The Journal will be glad to receive any suggestions along this line from other hunters who would care to assist in improving the conditions for the sportsmen of this section.

A singular fact about Paraguayan laces is that the designs are borrowed from the curious webs spun by the semitropical spiders that abound in that country. INVENTORY COMPLETED

GUY A. AUBOL COMPLETES INVENTORY IN HIS DISTRICT

Guy A. Aubol of Crookston deputy revenue collector for this district of Minnesota has completed taking inventory of all cigar factories and tobacco factories in the district upon the order of the internal revenue officials.

The orders received by Mr. Aubol were to complete taking inventory of all factories before Jan. 20th. There are twenty-four cigar factories and two tobacco factories in the district. As these factories are scattered over a wide territory, the task of completing the inventory of each before Jan 20, was a difficult one, but Mr. Aubol "hustled" and finished his work within the time prescribed in the order.

Mr. Aubol was obliged to cover some 2000 miles in traveling over the territory covered by the factories, and was at his home in Crookston but once since he commenced the inventories.

BANKS ALL FLOURISHING

SPIRIT OF THRIFT IS GROWING AMONG ALL CLASSES IN CROOKSTON

A GENERAL DISPOSITION EVINCED TO SAVE EARNINGS IN CROOKSTON

One of the most important features of the banking business of Crookston is the large number of people who are carrying savings bank accounts. The large financial institutions of the city all have savings departments and all are flourishing.

Men, women and children have been induced to deposit their small sums with results that in every case are gratifying not alone to the depositor [illegible]t to the institution.

[illegible]here is an old adage that if the [illegible]es are taken care of, the dollars [illegible] take care of themselves, and this i[illegible] true today as when it was first ut[illegible]d.

[illegible] city of Crookston stands high in t[illegible]ist of cities that are making reco[illegible]n the matter of acquiring savin[illegible]. The depositors range from the boy who is just starting his career as a paper merchant to the man and woman who have incomes and who desire to set aside for a rainy day a certain portion each month. A late topical song strikes the right key for the person with a disposition to save. It is, in effect, that every little bit added to what you now have makes a little bit more.

Money has muscle and brains doubly discounted in the matter of making more money. If one gets enough of it to make a start and uses the ordinary judgment with which human beings are endowed, and is patient, he is sure to succeed. He may meet with reverses, but his experience is valuable. If he has been honest and industrious and energetic he will find people ready and able to help him back on to his feet again, and if he does not, he will, if he is made of the right kind of mettle, fight his way back with such legitimate means as may be at his command. The chances are that if he meets with one failure, the experience of that will prevent a second one.

HOMESTEADER WAS GENEROUS

A. F. RAUCH LAYS FLOOR IN HIS NEIGHBOR'S CLAIM CABIN

A good story is being told on Adolph Rauch, who with E. J. Keating, A. G. Sandberg and Nels Anderson returned Monday evening from their timber claim south of Graceton. It seems that Mr. Rauch purchased lumber at Graceton for a floor for his cabin, and hired a man to haul it out. The team returned to Graceton and Mr. Rauch was busy laying the floor with two men when a man appeared at the door.

"What are you doing?" he asked.

"I am laying a floor in my cabin" replied Mr. Rauch.

"What is your name?" inquired the stranger.

"Mr. Adolph F. Rauch of Crookston Minn.," was the reply.

"Well, have all the fun you want, but you are laying a floor in my cabin," said the stranger.

An investigation followed, and after sizing up the surroundings Mr. Rauch discovered that the cabin was not his own. It was built by the same parties, was the same size, constructed of the same material, located the same distance from the road and on the same kind of a little ridge, but Mr. Rauch's cabin was a half mile further on. As the team had been sent back to Graceton, Mr. Rauch and the two men had a nice job of tearing up the floor which had been half laid, carting it on their backs for a half mile and relaying it where it belonged.

Mr. Rauch is not telling the story himself.

PETER TASDALE WAS FOULLY MURDERED

Brother-in-law of Nels Peterson the Victim of A Terrible Tragedy on Ranch Near Great Falls. No Details Received of Affair. Motive Supposed to be Robbery. Mr. Peterson Left to Investigate and Take Charge of Property Last Evening. Accompanied by Brother of the Dead Man. Details are Lacking.

A message was received here Sunday by Neys Peterson to the effect that his brother-in-law Peter Tasdale had been foully murdered in his cabin on his ranch near Great Falls, Montana, and Mr. Peterson left last evening for the scene of the tragedy accompanied by Ole J. Tasdale, brother of the murdered man, who resides at Morris, Ill.

The message contained no details of the tragedy, but stated that some relative of the deceased should go to Great Falls at once and take charge of the stock and ranch owned by the murdered man.

Peter Tasdale has visited Crookston several times and has many friends in this section, and the receipt of the news of the circumstances which surrounded the awful crime here did not even intimate whether the murder had been committed with a knife, gun or what, and it is not known what the motive was, but it is supposed to have been robbery, as deceased was well-to-do.

A WILD BUFFALO IS KILLED BY FARMER

Story from Kenmare Tells of Wild Buffalo Being Killed Near There After It Attacked Cattle.

Kenmare, N. D., Jan 15—After a wild buffalo that had strayed over the Canadian boundary had battled with his Red Poland bull and nearly killed it, tore down a portion of a barn in its frenzied rage and attacked a big Percheron mare, J. A. Englund killed the Buffalo with two well aimed shots from a rifle. The Englund cattle herd had been grazing on the Des Lacs bluffs, each evening being brought to the farm. The buffalo joined the herd and when Foreman Sanders rounded up the bunch in the evening he failed to notice the buffalo until the herd was brought home and was being placed in the different corrals. Sanders sought Englund to tell him about the buffalo and when they returned they found that there was a fierce battle in progress between the buffalo and the farm bull. Using pitch forks the men tried to separate the animals. Finally Sanders jabbed the prongs into the buffalo's neck and succeeded in driving him away from the bull which was nearly dead from the attack. When the buffalo partially wrecked the barn and attacked a horse Englund decided to kill him. Englund has communicated with the Canadian authorities, owners of the buffalo, concerning the matter, and has told the game warden of the circumstances.

FIVE WERE INDICTED FOR THE ILLEGAL SALE OF LIQUOR

THREE LENGBY SALOON KEEPERS AND TWO RESIDENTS OF TABOR DREW A BATCH OF 31 INDICTMENTS—FOUR OF THOSE INDICTED ENTERED PLEAS OF GUILTY AND WERE FINED FROM $25 TO $50 EACH—GRAND JURY MADE FINAL REPORT AND RECOMMENDED SOME IMPROVEMENTS IN COUNTY JAIL—JOHN LEE CASE STILL ON BEFORE JUDGE WATTS

From Tuesday's Daily—

The bastardy case of Miss Casperia Eggerness vs. John Lee of Liberty township which was started yesterday afternoon before Judge Watts is still dragging on today. It will probably reach the jury some time before adjournment this afternoon.

In the case of Erickson vs. Propp of Fertile in which $80 was claimed for rent the jury late yesterday afternoon returned a verdict for $45 in favor of the plaintiff.

Thirty-one Indictments

The grand jury turned in a batch of 31 indictments last evening just before 6 o'clock reported no further business for consideration and was discharged by Judge Watts. Carl Lindberg, Ole Lindberg and J. N. Hengstrom three saloon keepers of Lengby drew 18 indictments between them for selling to minors, keeping open after hours and on Sunday, Frank Novak who holds a government license in Tabor township was indicted under four counts and Anton Sireck of Tabot who holds only a government license was indicted under nine counts, both being guilty of having retailed liquor and having sold to minors. Novak at once entered a plea of guilty and was fined $25 and costs, and the others will probably do the same and be sentenced under one count with the others held in abeyance during strict compliance with the laws in future.

Today, John Vig, the Fosston attorney, entered a plea of guilty on the part of the three Lengby saloon keepers and each was fined $50. Anton Shirack is expected to appear this evening and enter a plea of guilty also.

In its report the grand jury recommended replacing the chain hangers supporting the steam pipes in the basement of the old part of the jail by more substantial brackets, and recommended making other improvements to the steam pipes in other parts of the jail. They also reported that the jail stairway to the cellar should be rebuilt.

They reported that after a careful inspection of the court house, jail and sheriff's dwelling they found everything in a gratifying condition, showing care and efficiency on the part of the officials. The jury was discharged and most of them left for their homes last evening and this morning.

POLK SHOULD GET BUSY

STATE ROADS SHOULD BE DESIGNATED AT AN EARLY DATE

GEO. W. COOLEY WRITES LETTER COVERING THE PROPOSITION

George W. Cooley, secretary of the state highway commission, has sent out circular letters to the boards of county commissioners of the various counties of the state, warning them to at once decide upon new roads which they might contemplate building and thus make early application for state aid.

The state highway commission will hold its regular annual meeting in St. Paul on Tuesday, March 3, for the purpose of alloting to the different counties such amounts from the state aid funds as it deems advisable. This fund will be so distributed that any one county may receive a maximum of 3 per cent or a minimum of one-half of 1 per cent.

The total fund will approximate $75,000 so that the maximum may run as high as $2,250 while the minimum will average about $387. Whatever the amount received it will be entitly expended on roads to be designated as state roads.

Section 16 of Article IX., of the constitution provides that the state shall only pay one-third of the cost of such road work so the county must contribute twice the amount contributed by the highway commission; that is to say, if the state aid allowed any county is $1,000, the county must appropriate double the amount of $2,000 all of which is to be expended under proper supervision on some designated state road under the rules and supervision of the state highway commission.

Application must be made by the counties immediately and rules governing the expenditures will be sent out until Feb. 1.

SENTENCE IS COMMUTED

PETER MATHIESON WILL NOT HANG—SPEND LIFE IN STATE PRISON

MARTIN S. MUNN'S PETITION FOR COMMUTATION IS DENIED

From Wednesday's Daily—

The efforts of the Danes in the state and of many other states in behalf of Peter Mathieson who was sentenced to hang February 7 in Bemidji culminated yesterday in the commutation of his sentence to that of life imprisonment. The case in the last week has been pushed by many prominent Danes and tho the result was unexpected in this city yet a great deal of pressure has been brought to bear on the board of pardons.

Mathieson was convicted last January of the murder of his comrade March. Mathieson's story was that a Johan Johanson near Tenstrike in gun in their shack was accidentally discharged when he went to pick it up from the table. There were several contradictions in his story but it was claimed by his intercessors that these were due largely to his inability to understand the English language. Mathieson was found guilty by the jury although the evidence was purely circumstantial. His cause was immediately taken up by many prominent Danes in the state and his countrymen in other states have also become interested. Among those who appeared in the hearing before state board of pardons were Ex-Governor John Lind, Dr. John Johnson, the Danish consul stationed at St. Paul; C. C. Rasmussen, president of the principal Danish publication in the state; H. S. Swenson, a prominent Danish attorney of Minneapolis, and Rev. S. E. P. White of Bemidji.

By order of the governor the gun with which the alleged killing was done was brought to Minneapolis as an exhibit before the board of pardons The weapon was shown to be faulty in construction and the probable truth of Mathieson's story claiming that the discharge was accidental was demonstrated. Gibson and Torrence of Bemidji the attorneys for Mathieson, have worked hard in his behalf and the success in securing commutation of his sentence has been largely due to their untiring efforts.

E. D. Clough of Crookston also appeared before the board in behalf of his client Merton S. Munn, who was sentenced to hang at the same time as Mathieson. The board, however, denied his petition and unless something intervenes the execution will take place on Feb. 7.

Felicia packed into a little trunk her one white party dress, a pretty gray dinner gown, a half dozen shirt waists and an extra hat, and away she went to town to visit her cousin, Mary Barnes.

Mary's brother Roger met her at the station.

"Mary is planning no end of things for you," he told Felicia when he had settled her in the carriage. "She is going to give a luncheon and a tea and a theater party and a dance, and half of her friends are enlisted to make you have a good time. It will be a lively existence for you, little girl."

"Oh," Felicia leaned forward, "I shall love it! My greatest excitement for a year has been a church social or a sleigh ride, and I am longing for society."

"Mary spells society with a big 'S,'" Roger told her. "She is a slave to it, and she needs a rest. She is as thin as a wafer and as pale as paper."

"But think what a lovely time she has!" Felicia said, all pink and white with enthusiasm.

"Humph!" Roger said. "You don't know when you are well off, little Felicia."

But Felicia fell on Mary's neck when she reached the great stone mansion.

"I can stay two weeks," she said. "The school board gave me a vacation, and I am going to have the time of my life."

"Indeed you are," Mary said and carried her away to a delectable bedroom, where rose leaves drifted across the wall paper.

"I'll get into my kimono, and then we can talk," Felicia said joyously as she opened her little black bag. But Mary shook her head dubiously. "The girls are coming for luncheon in just a half hour. There are ten of them, and the table decorations are to be in pale pink, because that is your favorite color."

"What shall I wear?" Felicia asked. "I have a gray gown and a white one, and the white one is for evening."

"The gray will be all right with a ducky little knot of pink carnations and lilies of the valley. The florists are doing them that way now, and Roger can get you some."

Roger got the flowers, but the gray gown was not gorgeous, and beside Mary's shimmering chiffon creation Felicia felt depressingly shabby.

But the luncheon was exquisite, and the girls were friendly, and Felicia did not have much time to think of herself, for there was a tea on immediately after, and she was carried off by Mary and Roger, wearing a long and splendid wrap of Mary's, for her own simple tailor made jacket was out of the question.

"No one will notice that it is mine," Mary assured her, "in the crush," so Felicia, feeling very elegant, swept through the crowded rooms and talked as fast as she could to dozens of people and came out breathless.

"Wasn't it awful?" Roger asked her. "I shouldn't have gone a step if it hadn't been for you."

"It was delightful, Felicia gurgled—"the pretty women, the lights, the music, the ices and everything."

"Humph!" Roger grumbled, and Felicia made a little face at him and said, "You're an unsociable bear, Roger," and Roger said, "Oh, it's such a waste of good material for you to spend your time with such people when you might be talking to me, Felicia."

Felicia opened her eyes wide at that. "Do you like to talk to me, Roger?" she questioned, and Roger laughed and said, "Yes, but you don't deserve it." And Felicia, feeling very much flattered, leaned back in the carriage and peeped at Roger now and then, while Mary mapped out the programme for the next day.

"We will go to the hairdresser's early. Roger, don't you think Felicia will look dear with her hair marceled?"

"I think Felicia looks dear with her hair any way."

"O-o-o-h," murmured Felicia from her corner.

Mary laughed and went on.

"There are the Deering luncheon and three teas and the art exhibit and the Colburns' dinner and a box party after, and then the cotillon."

"Oh, stop!" Felicia pleaded, looking at her cousin with startled eyes. "Do you expect me to do all that in one day, Mary?"

"She does," Roger asserted, surveying his country cousin with melancholy eyes. "and where, oh, where in all that programme will you have a minute to spend with me?"

"I am not worrying about that," Felicia told him, dimpling, "but what am I going to wear, Mary? What am I going to wear?"

"There's your white dress," Mary said slowly.

"But I can't wear that one dress to a luncheon and three teas and a theater party and a dance. What are you going to wear, Mary?"

"My pale blue broadcloth will do for the luncheon and the tea and the view. Then I shall wear white lace to the dinner and the rest of the evening."

"When in all that rush will you find time to change?" was Roger's question.

Mary leaned back in the corner of the carriage. She was very pale, and there were dark circles around her eyes.

"Oh, I don't know; I don't know," she said. "Sometimes I feel as if I were on a treadmill and no one would let me stop."

Felicia looked at her with startled eyes.

"Why, I thought you liked it," she gasped.

Mary straightened up at that.

"Oh, when I get into it," she said, trying to speak lightly, "it's not so bad, but I have felt the strain this winter awfully."

Between rushes that night Roger caught Felicia for a moment alone in the library. "Mary is dreadfully blue," he told her. "She broke her engagement with Bob Carruth in the summer, and she hasn't seen him since, and she misses him."

"What did she break it for?" Felicia asked.

"He wanted her to go south with him and settle in a little town where he could practice medicine, and she wouldn't give up society, and now I think she regrets it."

"Oh," said little Felicia, "if I loved a man I would go to the end of the world with him!"

"Would you?" Roger asked.

"Yes."

"Well, I am leaving for Japan next week," ingratiatingly.

Felicia gazed at him with intense indignation for a moment; then she turned her back on him. "Silly!" she said.

When Felicia went to bed that night she was so tired that she could not sleep. The next morning she was as pale as Mary. For a week the two girls dragged their engagements, finishing up on Saturday night with another cotillon.

"Felicia wore her white dress. It was mussed, and she knew that she was not looking her best, but she was so tired that she did not care. Roger had sent her a bunch of violets, and her dance card was filled with names, but the fact gave her no satisfaction.

The fourth dance was Roger's.

"Enjoying it?" he asked briefly as he swung her out into the floor.

"Oh, I am so tired I shall drop," she said. "Can't I go home, Roger?"

She looked so like a little weary child that Roger laughed.

"Baby," he teased and then tenderly, "I'll hunt Mary up, and we will cut the rest of it."

In the carriage Mary collapsed. "I didn't dream I was so tired," she sobbed, with her head on Felicia's shoulder, and Roger, surveying the pair with twinkling eyes, said, "Let me prescribe."

"Well?" came back in muffled agreement.

"You pack your trunk, Mary," he planned, "and go home with Felicia. It's lovely in the country now, and I'll come up and bring Bob Carruth with me."

Mary sat up, with her face ablaze.

"Bob Carruth?"

"Yes. I had a letter from him yesterday. He's coming up for a visit."

Faint pink tinged Mary's cheeks.

"Do you think he will want to see me, Roger?" she asked wistfully, and Roger said gently, "I know he will, Mary."

So Felicia packed her little trunk, and Mary packed a larger one, and away they went to the country, where the trees were crimson and gold and brown and where the air was like wine. And there Bob Carruth and Roger followed them.

"So she is really going to marry him and live in a country town," Roger commented, and he and Felicia followed Mary and her lover along a path that seemed to end in a golden sunset.

"Yes," Felicia said.

"And you are going to marry me and come and live in the city," Roger ventured.

"I haven't promised yet," said little Felicia. "I am afraid that some day I should be saying, 'Give me again my hollow tree, my crust of bread and liberty.'"

"You aren't afraid of anything of the kind," Roger told her. "You know we would live happy ever after."

"Oh, well, if you are so sure," said Felicia as she tucked a confiding hand through his arm and looked up at him with happy eyes, "I guess I shall have to say yes, Roger."

The Bellbird.

The most remarkable thing in connection with the bellbird is its powerful voice. It utters a clear metallic note that can be heard at a distance of three miles. Its noise is like that produced by a blacksmith striking his anvil. Sometimes it repeats its notes in quick succession, sometimes at fairly long intervals. There is no mistake about the voice of this bird; it is loud and piercing and would be heard above the din produced by every inmate of the zoo raising its voice at once.

Except for a space of naked skin on the throat and around the eyes, which during the breeding season is of green color, this bird is pure white. The contrast between the sexes in the bellbirds is extreme, for, while the male is pure white, the female is brownish green. Darwin refers to the bellbird when he points out that "white is a very rare color in terrestrial species of moderate size and inoffensive habits."—Pall Mall Gazette.

In a Bad Way.

There is a Pennsylvania divine who is not averse to telling a good story at his own expense.

Once in addressing a mission meeting in Philadelphia which was attended mainly by sailors the good man had sought to adapt his remarks to his hearers by using nautical similes, and in so doing he ventured somewhat beyond his depth.

"And now what shall we do—what shall we do?"

"Nothin' doin', cap'n!" sang out one of the sailors. "Ye're in bad! Ye're goin' in starnforemost!"

ASKS TIDINGS OF HER SON

PATHETIC CASE OF MOTHER OF FRANK HENNINGER, CONVICT

ASKS FOR HIS ADDRESS WHICH IS STILLWATER—CARE STATE PENITENTIARY

If Mrs. Jennie Henninger who gives her address as Rural Route No. 2, Canfield, Ohio, discovers where her son Frank is her grief will be greater than it is now. The aged lady wrote Postmaster Steenerson in order to get some trace of her son, over whom she was worried because she had not heard from him during the past five weeks.

As a matter of fact Frank Henninger was arrested Dec. 7, last for stealing a diamond ring from the A. P. Sandberg home in this city, where he roomed, and after pleading guilty and restoring the stolen property was sentenced to the state penitentiary at Stillwater by Judge Watts of this city on Dec. 13 and is now serving his sentence.

The old lady's writing is hard to read, and her son's identity could not have been established had it not been for the fact that she stated in her letter of inquiry that her son was the young Great Northern brakeman who had snatched the little child of G. C. Bales from beneath the wheels of a moving train just in time to save it from a horrible death on Dec. 2nd last. Henninger was the brakeman, and he is the man now serving time at Stillwater for grand larceny.

Postmaster Steenerson wrote the old lady last night to the effect that her son's present address was Stillwater, Minn., but did not say care of the penitentiary.

The letter brought tears to the eyes of those who read it. She referred with great pride to the heroism of her son in rescuing the little child. She said that Frank was the eldest of a family of 21 children, and that she was greatly worried that he did not write to her.

Under the circumstances people who have learned of the case have started a movement for the circulation of a petition for the pardon of Henninger, and it will be very liberally signed here, and it may be that the aged mother waiting at home, may never know of her son's disgrace.

FURTHER QUEST FOR IRON ORE

N. P. MEN BEHIND NEW MOVEMENT IN THE CUYUNA RANGE

$10,000 IN CASH JUST PAID FOR THE RIGHT TO EXPLORE FIFTEEN FORTIES

One of the heaviest options for leases on the Cuyuna range has just become known. On Dec. 24 the Northwestern Improvement company paid to the Minnesota Park Region Land company of Brainerd $10,000 in cash for the privilege of exploring fifteen forties between Brainerd and Klondike. The privilege carries with it an option for a royalty lease.

The Northwestern Improvement Co. organized by Northern Pacific interests to develop the iron deposits along the road, last summer paid $40,000 for the fee on a tract of land which a few years previous was sold by the agent of the company to Cuyler Adams for $200, one-tenth only being paid down. The company has two drills at work on the newly leased land and has a year in which to prove the deposits.

SUPREME COURT DECISION

AN IMPORTANT NORMAN COUNTY CASE IS DECIDED

Sophia Walker, plaintiff, Ingval H. Aamoth, intervenor, respondent, vs. Charles H. Sanders, appellant.

Syllabus: First—Any person having such an interest in the subject matter in litigation between others that he may gain or lose by the judgment therein, may intervene and become a party to the action in the manner pointed out by section 1505 revised laws of 1905.

Second—Plaintiff brought this action to set aside a deed theretofore executed by her to defendant on the ground that it was obtained by fraud and fraudulent representations. After the commencement of the action she conveyed by warranty deed the property thus transferred to defendant to the intervenor, and he was permitted by the court to intervene in the action and join plaintiff in contesting the validity of defendant's deed. Held, under the statute referred to above, that he had the right to intervene and the court's granting leave to do so was proper.

Third—The right of substitution and the consequent complete elimination of a party to the record, arises only in those cases where the whole beneficial interest in the cause of action is assigned and transferred pendente lite.

Fourth—If by the terms of such an assignment the plaintiff retains any substantial interest in the further prosecution of the action, or may become liable to assignee if the action fails intervention by the assignee and not substitution is the proper remedy.

Affirmed. —Brown, J.

Ballet Shoes.

Ballet shoes fit like a stocking. They are of leather, with a thin leather sole about an inch wide and with the uppers sewed so that they come under the foot. The ballet dancer wants no rubber heels, instep arch supports nor any other of the foot supporting or reforming devices which are commonly used by ordinary mortals. The toe dancer desires a hard box toe on her ballet shoes, but the ordinary dancer seeks only shoes that will give perfect freedom of movement of the joints and muscles of the feet. It is a rule of good dancers, a shoe man of experience says, to wear shoes that will allow for space between the toes. It is a point of good fit that all persons should heed, he says. High heels are put on to stage shoes for effect, not to promote good dancing. Many stage shoes are made with short fore parts and high heels to make the feet look smaller and the person taller.—Boston Globe.

What Did He Mean?

Mike Maloney's wife was an invalid, and the doctor had been doing all sorts of things for her, changing the medicine so often that poor Mike's income would scarcely reach and make both ends meet, and at last the doctor said that his wife must go to a warmer climate.

Mike listened to that advice for several months, and finally when October came the doctor told Mike one Saturday evening after all of his week's wages had been spent that his wife positively must be sent "to a warmer climate without delay."

Mike left the room for a few minutes, and when he returned he was wiping his eyes with his left hand, while with his right hand he brought an ax, which he gave to the physician, saying:

"I hate to do it, doc. You please do it for me."—Kansas City Independent.

Practical Help For Deafness.

I have proved that this is really practical.

Get a common pasteboard mailing tube such as pictures or music is mailed in and hold it to the ear closely. The result is wonderful. A very deaf person can hear distinctly everything that is said by any one sitting on the other side of the room. At first thought one is inclined to ridicule so simple a method. I bought a good long one, large enough to fit over the ear, for 10 cents. One can get them at any business stationer's. I tried it on grandmother, who is very deaf. She could hear well and, what was more remarkable, could also hear with her very deaf ear, with which she has not heard a sound for seven years. Try it! That's all I have to say.—Harper's Bazar.

American Woman In German Eyes.

American girls, whether born or merely brought up in America, evidence the same independence of judgment and the same complete self reliance. It is hard to say whether this is the result of the education in the public schools and colleges or in their freedom from that condition of legal and social subserviency to which the gentler sex is doomed in older countries.—Max von Brandt in Berlin Deutsche Revue.

French Superstitions.

The French superstitions regarding deaths and funerals are all but numberless. "If you meet a funeral while driving, you will have an accident before your drive is over unless you turn back," they say. Many a gambler en route for Monte Carlo will not gamble that day if he meets a funeral. Others will bet only at rouge et noir and persistently on the black. The peasants have at least a hundred superstitions about bees. They believe (and did not Virgil, too, or did he but chronicle it of his contemporaries?) that bees are bred of dead men's bones and flesh. This seems to be one of the oldest of the current French superstitions, for on a very old tomb at Arles (found in the world famous Alyscamp) is this inscription: "This Has Become the Home of Unhallowed Bees."—London Answers.

VALUABLE FOX HIDES ON BATTLE RIVER

PETER SYVERSON TRAPS 2 SILVER GREYS, 2 CROSSES AND 2 RED FOXES

Peter Syverson who lives on the Battle River, near Saum postoffice (some 15 miles from Kelliher) is the most fortunate trapper in Beltrami county.

Mr. Syverson was in Bemidji yesterday, and he had with him the skins of two silver grey foxes, the hides being in excellent condition, and the color of the hair being of an exceptional brilliancy. In addition to the two silver greys, Mr. Syverson also had two cross foxes and two reds.

It is estimated that Mr. Syverson will realize about $575 from the fox hides which he secured. The silver grey skins are said to be worth at least $250 each; the cross skins will bring $30 each, and the two red skins are worth probably $20.

Mr. Syverson will go to St. Paul, where he will personally deal with hide and fur companies in order that he may secure the highest market price for his hides.

The trapping of two silver grey foxes was an exciting venture. Mr. Syverson dug his trap from a hole where it had been drawn, and in the bottom of the hole were two silver grey foxes an exceptional catch for a northern Minnesota trapper.

Very Sympathetic.

The manager of a shop in Lewes stood in the doorway the other day when a man with a wooden leg and a crutch came along and said:

"I want you to do me a favor. I want to leave my leg with you for a few minutes and go around to the next street and work a house for half a crown. I've an idea that the folks are very sympathetic. If I go with one leg I am sure of it."

"Very well," said the shopkeeper. "Just leave your leg here, and I'll take care of it."

The wooden substitute was unstrapped and handed over, and the cripple used the crutch to help himself down the alley.

Five minutes later he rang the doorbell of a house in the next street, to have it opened by the man he had just seen.

"Wh-wh-what!" he gasped.

"Very sympathetic family lives here," quietly replied the other. "You seem to have met with a sad loss, and I'm anxious to help you. Here is a wooden leg which may fit you."

The leg was handed over. The man sat down on the steps and strapped it on, and as he got up and stumped through the gate he said to himself:

"I've heard of coincidences since I was a youngster, but this is the first one that ever hit me with both feet at once."—London Answers.

When Goethe Dictated.

In Wilhelm Bode's "Studies With Goethe" an interesting chapter is made up from the recollections of his last secretary, Christian Schuchardt. Of Goethe's method when he dictated "Wilhelm Meister" Schuchardt says: "He dictated with a certainty and rapidity which made one fancy that he was reading from a printed book. If this had been done in quiet and without interruption, I would not have marveled so much. But while the work was proceeding there came the barber, the hairdresser—Goethe had his hair singed every other day and had it dressed daily—the library servant, often the former secretary, his clerk, all of whom had access to his study unannounced. Friends called, the barber gossiped, the librarian told about books newly received, some member of the family would enter and join in the conversation, and finally, when all was again quiet, I would read the last sentence, and the dictation would proceed as though there had been no interruption."

MINNESOTA PIONEER DEAD

JOHN CARDLE SR., PASSES AWAY AT HIS HOME IN ST. PAUL AFTER SHORT ILLNESS

SPENT MUCH TIME IN CROOKSTON LOOKING AFTER FARMING INTERESTS

John C. Cardle, Sr., 75, pioneer settler and father of 11 children 10 of whom are living and prominent in social and business life of the North west, died Monday in his apartments Dakotah flats St. Paul, after a short illness.

Mr. Cardle, with his son, James Cardle owns a fine farm three miles southeast of Crookston in which he had become greatly interested.

Mr. Cardle was the head of a family of four generations and his death was only the second in 50 years, a son having died just five months ago.

Mr. Cardle was born in Castle Douglas, Scotland, in 1824, and came to this country in 1852, and a year afterwards settled in the Northwest which was still a wilderness.

Up until 10 years ago, when he moved to St. Paul, Mr. Cardle resided at Blue Earth. He was one of the most prominent and respected of Minnesota's pioneers.

FIERCE PRAIRIE FIRE

BARNESVILLE, MINN., THREATENED BUT STRENUOUS EFFORTS SAVE TOWN

A prairie fire has been raging near Barnesville, Minn., since Sunday afternoon. It started a few miles south of that town and continued without doing much damage until Monday afternoon, when the wind arose and swept the flames towards Barnesville. Many hay-stacks were burned, but by strenuous efforts the town was saved.

At 5 o'clock Monday afternoon, the wind again changed and drove the flames away from the town. The fire is still burning but the town is not now believed to be in danger.

NOTED RESORT IS DESTROYED

CARRIE BARNEY'S PLACE, KNOWN AS "225" AT EAST GRAND FORKS BURNED

ADJACENT BUILDINGS HAVE A NARROW ESCAPE—PROPERTY LOSS $13,000

From Friday's Daily—

Thirteen thousand dollars went to blazes in East Grand Forks last evening in one of the most spectacular fires seen in the city in many a day. The sporting house in the hollow known as "225" and conducted by Mrs. Carrie Barney was completely destroyed together with practically all of its contents, the inmates losing everything except the clothes they wore. The adjacent buildings also had a very narrow escape from destruction, which was averted only by the fact that there was little or no wind at the time and the effecive work of a number of volunteer firemen.

The fire had its origin in the basement and when discovered about 7 p. m. the flames were eating their way up through the south side of the building and the large structure was evidently doomed.

Within two or three minutes after the fire was discovered, however, the basement of the building was a mass of flames and flames were shooting out of the roof on the south side of the building and the inmates were obliged to flee for their lives, without stopping to secure any of their effects. One of the girls succeeded in escaping only by jumping through a window and in doing so her hand and arm were severely cut and lacerated by broken glass and she is now under a physician's care.

Finding that the burning building was doomed the firemen devoted their energies to saving the adjacent buildings which were threatened by the flames both on the south and the west of the Barney building and but a short distance away. The fire engine was taken down on the river by way of the old crossing near the Bruce avenue bridge and Engineer Powers had it in operation in short order. It was necessary to lay over 1500 feet of hose in order to reach the fire and a team was dispatched for a second lot of hose. A second line of hose was laid By this time the entire structure one of the largest buildings in the city, was burning fiercely and the flames were shooting up a hundred feet or more in the air. Very fortunately there was little wind to carry the burning embers to other buildings or the city would have had the worst conflagration in its history, as there were numerous other frame structures close by which could not have been saved.

The burned building was one of the old landmarks of the city. The original building was erected in 1889 and has been enlarged from time to time until it was perhaps the largest frame building in the city. The resort was conducted for a long time by the notorious Lou Livingston and has been the scene during its history of numerous orgies and escapades. The building was owned by Mrs. Carrie Barney and was valued at $8,500. Max Rabinovitch held insurance policies to the amount of $5,000 as security for a loan The furniture was valued at $4,500 and was insured for $1,500.

The property of the inmates destroyed by the fire is estimated at $1,500 more. It was reported there last evening that a well known travelnig man is minus a $200 diamond stud he left in the place in his hurried exit

DECLARES THE REWARD IS DUE

Editor Journal: As I have been returned to the city—and alive, having been transported the entire distance from Euclid in safety, the reward offered for my return has been declared valid and due. In consequence thereof, an order has been issued as follows:

To Ed Murney, Harry Chapin, Mark Keeley, and all others who so generously subscribed to said reward:

You are kindly requested to deposit the amounts respectively named, and as much more as possible, into the hands of Jay McCaffrey, a duly authorized receiver, whereby all bills of expense incurred in this transaaction may be promptly and 'satisfactorily "liquidated."

The form of above order was copied from the dairy of a squaw from New Jersey, who recently perished during one of the cold blizzards prevalent in southern California. Yours truly,

GOVERNMENT INVESTIGATES

CROOKSTON CLAIM HOLDERS WILL BE WATCHED BY UNCLE SAMUEL

REGISTER MONTAGUE ASKED FOR INFORMATION BY INSPECTOR COLTER

The business men of Crookston who have filed on claims near Roosevelt Williams and Graceton within the past few months will need to watch their knitting pretty close as the government inspectors are getting a line on them and there is no question but what all who have filed will have to live up to both the letter and the spirit of the law or they will not hold their claims.

Following is a letter received by Register Montague of the land office here this morning, which needs no explanation:

Department of the Interior, General Land Office, Duluth, Minnesota, January 14, 1908. Hon. R. J. Montague, Register, United States Land Office, Crookston, Minnesota. Dear Sir: Information has reached me that ten or eleven business men of Crookston, Minnesota have made homestead on public lands in the vicinity of Roosevelt and Williams, Minnesota, and I have to request that you carefully examine your records and forward to me the names and address, together with the business and occupation of each of these persons, as well as a description of the lands entered, showing the number of the entry and the date of filing. Very respectfully,

—L. J. Colter,
Chief of Field Division No. 8.

A COMBINED SUMMER SCHOOL

RED LAKE AND MARSHALL COUNTIES TO HAVE A JOINT MEETING AT T. R. FALLS

The Summer schools of Red Lake and Marshall counties will be combined this year the joint session to be held in Thief River Falls beginning the middle of June and continuing for six weeks.

At the schools of the past, there have been approximately one hundred teachers for each county hence it is fair to presume that there will be at least two hundred in attendance at the Upper Falls during this summers session.

NO PRECEDENT FOUND FOR LABOR

The Washington correspondent of the Minneapolis Journal sends the following to that paper: There are reasons for believing that former chairmen of the house militia committee have not worked very hard. Representative Steenerson of Minnesota is now getting comfortably located in that chairmanship and is planning in a month or two to move over into the new house office building, where he will have two large rooms, one for committee purposes, and the other for his personal use.

"In taking inventory of stock the past week, he has discovered that none of his predecessors provided for a single book shelf, and that the committee did not possess a single volume of law, or other kind. Apparently, this chairmanship has heretofore been something of a sinecure, but the house would better watch Mr. Steenerson's smoke. If he doesn't make the committee work and give a good account of itself, it will be because he doesn't know how.

He is now planning to have book shelving built in the new offices, and on these shelves he will stack all the volumes he can lay his hands on in which national guard matters are discussed. He thinks he sees an opportunity for the committee to get real busy and no doubt he is right about it. The new committee rooms which are on the north side of the new office building, are finished and furnished, but Mr Steenerson wants to stay away from them until the walls have had a chance to dry."

STATE LIBRARIAN JOHN E. KING SAYS DEMOCRATS WILL RALLY

TO SUPPORT OF JOHN A. JOHNSON FOR PRESIDENTIAL NOMINEE

From Friday's Daily—

State Librarian John E. King arrived in the city this morning from Moorhead and will spend a few days in this section of the state. Mr. King is a strong Johnson man and expressed his views to the Journal in the following words:

"Governor Johnson has insisted that he is not a candidate for president, but nevertheless the governor's friends are determined that the delegation to the Denver convention from Minnesota shall be made up of his friends.

"The Hudson-Manahan campaign for Bryan is really directed at Governor Johnson. They hope to run the convention and secure control of the state organization.

"However it is questionable if they can carry a single county of the state. Governor Johnson's friends are becoming awakened to the scheme of these plotters, and whenever his interests are at stake Minnesota democrats can be depended upon to stand in solid phalanx back of the man who has done so much to make his party respectable and respected."

CONVICTED MURDERER WILL PROBABLY BE PARDONED SOON

Peter Neilson Mathiasen under sentence of death for the murder of Johan Johanson near Tenstrike, may escape the gallows.

Atty. Torence who defended Mathiasen said two of the jurors did not believe Mathiasen guilty and only returned their verdict in the belief that Mathiasen would not be hanged when the jury recommended clemency.

Mathiasen claimed that he shot Johanson accidentally.

The case was continued until Tuesday next.

Col. Goethals on the Canal

The meeting of the House Committee on Interstate and Foreign Commerce last week was enlivened by the apperance of Col. Goethals the present chief engineer of the Panama Canal. He was called on to tell of the progress of the work there and the prospect for its completion. He made quite a good impression on the members of the committee as many of them said afterwards and left the impression that the canal was in good hands and was liable to be completed without unnecessary delay.

Col. Geothals is rather a big, gruff man but one of the sort you feel you can tie to. He was kept under a battery of questions for more than an hour and answered them all to the satisfaction of the questioners. He said frankly that he thought the canal would cost $300,000,000 to complete He said that the matter of the lock versus the sea level type had been thoroly thrashed out and that the best engineering talent was on the side of the lock canal. He said the width could be made whatever the government wished, and incidentally a bill has been introduced increasing the width to 110 feet tho the recommendation of the president in his message was for a width of 120 feet. This of course is a mere detail. Probably 110 feet will be sufficient for all practical purposes since while the construction of trans-Atlantic liners is increasing constantly in size, the size of ships using the canal is likely to be limited by the size of the harbors they can enter and there are few ports that traversing ships will ever enter where the depth is enough for a ship of 100 feet beam.

Col. Goethals said that the number of men on the canal pay roll varied from 30,000 to 40,000 that there was more labor available now than the commission needed and that as the depth of the canal prism in the Culebra cut increased, it would be neecsary to reduce the force at work. He was confident that the work in this great cut could be finished in between three and four years.

The scanitary work of the Canal Zone is in good shape and there is nothing in the way of the completion of the canal.

The Battle of The Trusts

New York Journal of Commerce: The relation of trusts to prices is a question that will devolop largely in public notice during the current year. The claim is put forward by corporate managers in various sections of industry that they have the market so well under control that they can to a consideraable extent regulate prices. Now, while this power may constitute an element of strength in times of panic, it were futile to imagine that any trust, no matter how powerful, could permanently frustrate the natural law of supply and demand. Either prices will have to be reduced when depression comes, or output will have to be curtailed sufficiently, to insure the absence of a surplus. Which course are the trusts going to pursue in this connection? Apparently the United States Steel Trust the greatest of all our combinations, is bent upon keeping down its production. But while this will check overproduction it means that a less quantity of goods will be sold. Would it not be preferable to allow prices to recede in harmony with the value of other commodities and thus facilitate a resumption of enterprise? It is unnecessary at this late date to explain that the crisis was the culmination of inflated values all round, and that the sooner there is a return to a sane level just so much the sooner will activity become normal.

Will the labor trust follow the example of the trusts managed by the capitalists and refuse to allow prices to decline? Mr. Gompers emphatically declares that this course will be rigidly pursued. Can he be greatly blamed for essaying such a suicidal policy when he sees other trusts attempting to do the same thing? The year 1908 will be called upon to settle momentous problems not heretofore brought to the front. The common people will watch with interested concern the impending combat between trade trust and the labor trusts. It need only be added that any effort to stem inexorable economic laws is likely to fail whether put forth by capital or labor.

Insurance of Bank Deposits

In discussing the proposed legislation in connection with the insurance of bank deposits the Grand Forks Herald says:

"It is said that the insurance of bank deposits does not meet with much favor in congress, the great city banks having been able to impress on many members their view that to insure deposits would be to place a premium on dishonest banking. The evils of dishonest and unsafe banking can largely be guarded against by proper methods of inspection. The present system of bank inspection is largely a farce, anyway.

"Every banker who knows that there are men engaged in the work of examining banks whose word and judgment they would not accept as to the value of a peanut stand. Such a man enters a bank, checks a joke or two, looks wisely at the books, signs his name and departs. The bank has been "examined."

"This is not intended as a thrust at examiners as a class, or at any particular individual. It is simply one of the faults of the system that because we have not yet been able to divorce ourselves from some of the old traditions and because the government does not insist in all cases on the highest class of expert work in bank examinations, men entirely unfit are too frequently placed in these positions because of political pull, and the whole system of bank examinations is brought in dispute. It may seem a little hard to the banker who has built up a good name for his institution by following the best practices to be placed on the same level in the matter of solidity with his less scrupulous neighbor. But the source of a panic is a general feeling of insecurity and in a panic the sound institution as well as the unsound one may go to the wall."

When the practical work for the needed reform of the money system of the United States was concentrated in Chicago last week, the chances brightened that something would be accomplished in time for consideration of the present Congress. The departure to Europe of Chairman A. B. Hepburn of the currency commission of the American Bankers' Association signified that a Chicago man, Joseph T. Talbert, vice-president of the Commercial National Bank, would become a leading force in the effort to reach an agreement getween differing factions among the bankers. Mr. Talbert was authorized by Chairman Hepburn to act and speak for him, a fact which is significant of the willingness of the New York interests to come to an agreement with western interests upon a measure. Already the country has so far recovered from the financial pinch caused by the rigid financial system of bond-secured-currency that even bankers are losing sight of the damage which that system recently caused. The faults in the present system are illustrated by the case of the National Bank of Commerce of Kansas City, which on October 15th was the largest bank in the western cities with $37,000,000 on deposit. When the Wall Street smashes startled the country the deposits of this bank were reduced $20,000,000 in sixty days. Then the Comptroller's call for a statement, with the result that a receiver was asked for as the best means to prevent a run, $7,000,000 in cash and $10,000,000 in good securities being turned over to a receiver. The bank and its depositors were needlessly hurt. The proposals of Alexander H. Revell of this city for the insurance of bank deposits by the government and that of Arthur E. Stillwell of Kansas City for a central bank of issue were interesting and significant of the principal plans which will be urged upon the present congress.

STATE PRESS

Listen to Payne

Fergus Falls Wheelock's Weekly: Those who believe the newspapers united, are strong enough to pry loose the paper trust from its protective tariff on wood pulp, have doubtless failed to see the comment of Chairman Payne of the ways and means committee of the house. He remarks that it would be a good thing if some of the newspapers were to suspend publication: The tariff is too sacred a graft to be lightly attacked, even for the benefit of the Republican editors who have helped to elect its defenders and beneficiaries.

West Must be Heeded

Anoka Union: The time is coming when national legislation will cease favoring the East instead of the West. The West is getting so powerful and wealthy that its demands must be heeded by congress.

THE GREAT GAME OF POLITICS

This is the way the Grand Forks Herald puts it:

"There are two announced candidates in Minneapolis for the position of delegate at large from the state of Minnesota to the republican national convention, Lowry and Heffelfinger. Mr. Lowry was asked some time ago as to his views on policies and candidates and he dodged every time. He didn't know whether he approved of the president's course or not. He wasn't sure whether he would approve a progressive policy or the reverse. He could not say what his attitude toward Taft or any other candidate might be. Heffelfinger knows where he is at, and is not backward about expressing himself. He is in favor of what the president has done in important national matters in the past and he wants it kept up. He is outspokenly and enthusiastically in favor of the nomination of Taft. The situation so far as these two candidates is concerned seems to be reasonably free from complications. As between the two, if the people of Minnesota want a progressive policy and a man who will carry it out, they will support Heffelfinger. If they don't know what they want, and don't care what they get, Mr. Lowry will probably suit them first rate.

There is on unconfirmed report going the rounds of the press that R. C. Dunn may become an active candidate for the republican nomination for governor, and further that there is an understanding with J. F. Jacobson, which may result in the Madison man's support for Dunn.

Fertile Journal: If they nominate Taft it will be just like Roosevelt running again.

Cannon Falls Beacon: A. J. Rockne of Zumbrota is mentioned for attorney general at the next year's election. We happen to know Mr. Rockne and there isn't a more earnest lawyer or better practitioner in the state, and on this the Princeton News comments as follows: Nor was there an abler man in either branch of the legislature during the last session. Mr. Rockne is to be reckoned with in the future politics of the state. A forceful personality is bound to make room for itself near the top, and it is no flattery of Mr. Rockne to say that he possesses these qualifications.

The Young announcement is taking well. Only verbal comment has been heard as yet, and it is impossible to say how it will strike the more enthusiastic Jacobson supporters. However, the tone of it is such as to disarm criticism. It does not invite a pre convention struggle but a calm, deliberate choice by republicans in the interests of party success. If that attitude would only be maintained by all aspirants, the situation would convey excellent hopes of success in the coming campaign.—Minneapolis Journal.

Park Rapids Clipper: Hon. J. F. Jacobson could render the state valuable service as a member of the legislature and as a candidate for that position would eliminate himself as an agreed element of discord in the gubernatorial situation.

International Falls Border Budget: It makes no difference. The stiffest backed republican in the state is proud of the praise Governor Johnson is receiving from those Eastern Democrats.

Crookston has to Bow to the Inevitable—Scores of Citizens Prove It

After reading the public statement of this representative citizen of Crookston given below, you must come to this conclusion: A remedy which cured years ago, which has kept the kidneys in good health since, can be relied upon to perform the same work in other cases. Read this:

John Dunn, Sr., of 336 Central Ave., Crookston, Minn., says: "It is more than five years since I first recommended Doan's Kidney Pills but I can endorse them more confidently today than before. Before I used this remedy I had suffered for about ten years with pains and aches in the back and about the kidneys. The kidney secretions were highly colored and too frequent. Doan's Kidney Pills which I got at Wallace's drug store removed these symptoms and I was pleased to testify to the facts in a testimonial published in the local papers. The gratifying results before described have proved of a permanent nature, and I have been recomending Doan's Kidney Pills ever since.'

DECISIONS OF INTEREST

As Compiled by the West Publishing Co.

Right of Wife to Sue for Alienation of Husband's Affections. Oregon like many other states, has a statute removing all disabilities upon a wife which are not imposed or recognized as existing as to the husband. Under this statute the Supreme Court of that state in Keen vs. Keen, 90 Pacific Reporter, 147, holds that a wife may maintain an action for an alienation of her husband's affections. As supporting authorities the court cites Postlewaite v. Postlewaite, 1 Ind. App. 473, 28 Northeastern Reporter, 99; Beach v. Brown, 20 Wash. 266, 55 Pacific Reporter, 46, 43 L. R. A. 114, 72 Am. St. Rep. 98. As to the state authorities on this proposition the court says: "In a few of the states it has been ruled by the courts of last resort that such an action cannot be maintained; but where modern legislation recognizes the doctrine that the wife has rights which the court should respect, reason and a great weight of authority uphold the principle that for the loss of consortium, which includes the husband's society, love, and assistance, the law now affords her an adequate remedy."

Validity of Labor Law. The validity of the New York law prohibiting the employment of females, regardless of age, in factories between 9 p. m., and 6 o'clock a. m., came up for final determination by the state courts in People v. Williams, 81 Northeastern Reporter, 778. The Court of Special sessions of the First Division of the City of New York (100 New York Supplement, 337) held the law unconstitutional as infringing the constitutional right to contract. This decision was affirmed by the Appellate Division by a divided court (101 New York Supplement, 562, 116 App. Div. 379). The Court of Appeals now affirms the decision of the court below, and holds the law unconstitutional on the same grounds as the Court of Special Sessions. The court says that the courts have gone very far in upholding legislative enactments framed clearly for the welfare, comfort, and health of the community; but when it is sought as here, arbitrarily to prevent an adult female citizen from working at any time of the day that suits her, it is time to call a halt. Such a law arbitrarily deprives citizens of their right to contract with each other.

Testamentary Capacity of Spiritualist. The Michigan Supreme Court in O'Dell v. Goff, 112 Northwestern Reporter, 736, holds that mere belief in spiritualism is not evidence of insanity, but, on the other hand one who thinks so persistently on the subject as to become a monomaniac, incapable of reasoning, does not possess testamentary capacity; and, where a believer in spiritualism has such confidence in spiritualistic communications thru mediums or otherwise that he is compelled to follow them blindly, his free agency is destroyed and a will made under such circumstances cannot be admitted to probate, whether such conclusion be based on incapacity or undue influence.

Additional Compensation of Expert Witness. The right of a physician called into a case as an expert to additional compensation is often insisted upon, and sometimes questioned. In Burnett v. Freeman, 103 Southwestern Reporter, 121, the Kansas City Court of Appeals collates numerous authorities on this proposition, and comes to the conslusion that such an expert is not entitled to additional compensation for his services in a case.

Goats As Fixtures. To lawyers in common-law states the decision of the United States Circuit Court for the Eastern District of Louisiana, in Morton Trust Company v. American Salt Company, 149 Federal Reporter, 540, appears to be rather novel. It is there held that goats placed on land for the sole purpose of destroying brush and weeds thereon and keeping down the grass are fixtures. This decision is, of course, based on the civil law, and in the opinion the court notes that in France it has been held that cows attached to dairy farms are fixtures or immovables.

GREAT GATHERING OF MINNESOTA SONS

FOURTH ANNUAL BANQUET TO BE HELD AT NORTH YAKIMA TONIGHT

Sons and Daughters of Minnesota, resident in North Yakima and vicinity, will hold their fourth annual banquet at Tieton hall North Yakima tonight. The society there of former residents of the North Star state has a membership of over 500 and expects to greatly increase the length of the roll this season. Their prosperity is well known and their enthusiasm for the Yakima valley together with their joyful way of expressing it have become proverbial so there is little doubt that the attendance and enthusiasm at the anniversary will be great

The time for this annual meeting was chosen so as to furnish a full moon for those who drive in from the country.

The committee on entertainment has prepared to accommodate 600 people in Tieton hall and that the program in preparation will afford the company an enjoyable time and an excellent chance for renewing old acquaintances and getting the latest news from the old home in Minnesota.

At the beginning of the meeting a short time will be devoted to social intercourse. At 8:15 p. m. all will fall in for the opening grand march which will end up with "Happy is the Miller".

M. L. Matterson and Bert Bivins the latter a pioneer and well known former resident of Crookston, have been chosen as leaders in a 15 minutes old-fashioned spelling match. Words for the match will be taken largely from the geographical names in Minnesota.

A male quartette of Minnesotans will furnish a few breezy selections and a unique feature of the exercises will be a balloting contest on Minnesota's favorite sons.

The roll call of the counties will also afford an excellent opportunity for people to meet and know those from their particular section of the state.

The election of officers will take place at 10 o'clock and will be at once followed by a banquet.

REPORT MADE AGAINST PLAN

TO DIVERT THE WATERS OF THE RED RIVER INTO THE MINNESOTA RIVER

SECRETARY TAFT AND GEN. McKENZIE OPPOSE THE IDEA

Secretary Taft yesterday transmitted to congress a report of Maj. Shunk corps of engineers, on the preliminary examination authorized by the river and harbor act of 1907 of the Bois De Sioux river, Lake Traverse and Big Stone lake and the portage between said lakes and said river, with a view of diverting the flood waters of the Red River of the North into the Minnesota river. After an examination of this proposition, Maj. Shunk reports to Gen. McKenzie, chief of engineers that the flood waters of the Red River of the North ought not to be deflected into the Minnesota river and in this view Gen. McKenzie concurs, as also does Secretary of War Taft.

SHOWERED WITH MANY HONORS

SENATOR A. D. STEPHENS HAS A LONG LIST OF HANDLES TO HIS NAME

Senator Stephens would make the ordinary titled gentlemen of England Germany or France look like 40 cents should he ever give his signature in full. It would look like this, Andrew D. Stephens, State Senator from the 62nd district, Cashier of Merchants National Bank of Crookston, President of the First National Bank of Fosston, President of the First National Bank of Bagley, President of the State Bank of Little Fork, President of the Bank of Mentor, Vice President of the Lumbermans National Bank of Bemidji, the Merchants State Bank of St. Hilaire and director in all the above and the First State Bank of Shevlin and the State Bank of Middle River.

Now if the genial senator would only sell his titles to some marriageable young man, a trip across the Atlantic by one ambitious mother and her daughter with a trunk full of bonds would be unnecessary. Titles? Well we guess we got 'em here as long as the best of 'em.

PRINTING SCRAP IN THE COURTS

INJUNCTION PROCEEDINGS STARTED IN RED LAKE COUNTY YESTERDAY

TO RESTRAIN CO. OFFICIALS FROM GIVING PRINTING TO PLUMMER PIONEER

Special to the Journal—

Plummer, Minn., Jan. 15. — Sheriff Nelson this afternoon served papers in injunction proceedings on Chas. W. Latta, publisher of the Plummer Pioneer, the proceedings being brought by Harry Ives, publisher of the St. Hilaire Spectator, to restrain the county officials from entering into a contract with the publisher of the Plummer Pioneer for the county printing for the ensuing year. The papers were served yesterday morning on the county auditor and members of the county board.

When the question of letting the county printing came up before the board on Wednesday last there were two bids submitted. One was by Mr. Ives and it provided for the publication of the tax list, financial statement and commissioners' proceedings in the St. Hilaire Spectator, the Red Lake Falls Gazette, and the Press and News at Thief River Falls, the price asked being legal rates less ten per cent. The other bid was by Mr. Latta and provided for the publication of all publications in the Plummer Pioneer and the mailing of a copy of each legal publication to every taxpayer in the county applying for same free of charge.

In this bid the price asked was 8 cts per description for the tax list and 40 and 20 cents per folio for all other notices. After a lengthy discussion and consideration of the bids a motion was made that the latter bid be accepted and the Plummer Pioneer designated as the official paper for the ensuing year, provided Mr. Latta would agree to mail a copy of all such legal publications to every tax payer in the county, as shown by the tax roll, on the day of publication. This motion was declared carried and the Pioneer duly awarded the county printing. On Thursday Mr. Latta signed the contract demanded by the board and it was filed with the auditor by the county attorney.

The grounds on which the restraining order is asked are that the county board had no right to take such an action and that the Plummer Pioneer is not a legal weekly newspaper. In the latter contention the plaintiff takes the ground that the Pioneer, which is a six-column folio paper does not comply with the requirements of the statute because it is not all printed in Plummer. The plaintiff also claims that the Pioneer has not two hundred and forty paying subscribers in the immediate vicinity of Plummer and Red Lake County.

Mr. Ives' paper, the St. Hilaire Spectator, is a seven column folio, half printed at home and is considered by many to have about the same circulation as the Plummer Pioneer.

The ruling of the court will be of interest to publishers thruout the state In many counties the printing is done by papers the size of the Pioneer and if the court should knock out the six column folio as a legal sized newspaper it will probably drive many of the small publishers out of business. The court will also have to decide what is meant by the term "paying subscriber." Unless the subscribers who may be a little in arrears and those paying considerations other than strict cash are ruled out the Pioneer will easily be able to establish its list as being ample to meet the requirements of the statute.

DOUBLES HIS GUARDS.

Series of Robberies Near Rockefeller's Home Causes Extra Precautions.

New York, Jan. 18.—Twice within a week there have been robberies at Pocantico Hills, near the estate of John D. Rockefeller. The residents of the district have formed a vigilance committee and it is stated that Mr. Rockefeller has doubled the guards that always patrol the grounds near his house. Several dogs are also used at night about the house as guards.

Jury Has Walsh Case.

Chicago, Jan. 18.—Eight hours after the jury which is considering whether John R. Walsh was guilty of misapplication of funds of the Chicago National bank had retired, no word had come to the waiting attorneys and court house attaches that a verdict was in prospect. The twelve men began their deliberations on the evidence shortly before 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon.

IN CASE OF GLIDDEN VS. CARPENTER — THRESHING BILL CASE ON

GRAND JURY DELVING INTO LENGBY AND TABOR LIQUOR SALES

From Friday's Daily—

In district court this morning the jury in the case of Glidden vs. Carpenter, to collect for the storage of some machinery at Hallock brought in a verdict of $40 for the plaintiff. The plaintiff was represented by P. H. Konzen of Hallock and the defendant by A. A. Miller.

The case of Jacob O. Jorgenson vs John N. Stallmo for the collection of a $400 thresher bill is now on, being an appeal case from the municipal court of East Grand Forks, and following that the case of Stallmo vs. Jorgenson, an appeal case from Fisher for $50 worth of grain sold to the defendant.

Grand Jury

The Grand Jury finished the investigation of the Murphy stabbing affray at East Grand Forks last night. Murphy is the man who slashed Frank Whittaker's throat with a knife a few weeks ago. Today the grand jury is investigating some liquor sales in Tabor township and Lengby.

From Thursday's Daily—

The repeated reports of cases being settled or continued is becoming monotonous to the interested court room spectators. On account of the Minneapolis Brewery vs. Sullivan case being continued until the next term the court had nothing further scheduled for today and the jury was excused until tomorrow morning.

The first case on for Friday is Jacob O. Jorgenson against John N. Stallmo appealed from the municipal court of East Grand Forks, and is for $400 claimed to be due on a threshing bill

In the following case the same litigants are involved except that Stallmo is the agressor and sues Jorgenson for a grain bill of about $50 this is also an appeal case, from the Fisher justice court. The other case on the calendar for tomorrow is Glidden vs. Carpenter transferred from Kittson County to this court and is for a small amount claimed by Glidden for storage of machinery.

Grand Jury

The grand jury is today examining a long list of witnesses from East Grand Forks on the Mike Murphy stabbing affray, and will probably take the rest of the day. The witnesses who are here in this case are Frank Whittaker, Dr. W. C. Wilson, Frank Davis Vincent Hogan, Harry Hutchins, Mel Hagnes, Wm. Riley, Thomas Conlin, John Dudley, Harry Fralik, Daniel Myron, John Kelly and Henry Bergen.

The report published in the local papers that a fraud order had been issued in connection with those who were securing filings for the lands in Oregon granted to the Oregon and California R. R. Co., proves to have been without foundation. No fraud order has been issued and no application has been made for one acording to a letter received today by Ole Tiegen from the post office department.

Mr. Teigen also received the last report of the Commissioner of the General Land office in which the following reference is made to the disputed land which must be sold for $2.50 per acre.

"The grant to the Oregon and California Railroad Company under the act of July 25, 1866 (14 Stat., 239), embraced 3,821,901.80 acres. The prescribed conditions of the grant not having been met by the company, the time for performance was extended by the act of April 10, 1869 (16 Stat., 47). Altho the company failed to comply with the terms of the grant within the time specified, it complied with them substantially before a forfeiture, and title to all the lands consequently vested in the company (see Schulenberg v. Harriman, 21 Wall., 44), subject only to the covenant expressed in the proviso of the act of 1869, which declares—that the lands granted by the act afore said shall be sold to actual settlers only in quantities not greater than one quarter section to one purchaser and for a price not exceeding $2.50 per acre.

"There have been patented out of this grant 2,765,657.10 acres, leaving 1,056,244.70 acres yet to be patented. In view of the fact that the grantee has not complied with the foregoing proviso, and of the contemplated action of the Department of Justice to institute proceedings in the courts to protect interests of the government this office has declined to further consider pending selections of the railroad company awaiting the result of the action of the Department of Justice."

DAN CUPID TRIUMPHED

JESSIE PERRY OF MILWAUKEE WEDS FAR-FAMED PLUMMER BACHELOR

HAPPY CULMINATION OF "WIFE WANTED AD" IN MILWAUKEE NEWSPAPER

From Thursday's Daily—

A romance that commenced some months ago by the publication of a letter from a lovelorn swain in a Milwaukee newspaper, culminated happily at Plummer today by the marriage of John A. B. Anderson of this place to Miss Jessie Perry of Milwaukee.

Some months ago Anderson wrote to a friend in Milwaukee and his letter breathed the loneliness of a bachelor of thirty-five years old who was holding down a nice quarter section of land on the recently opened portion of the Red Lake reservation. Anderson is a scant five feet in height, but he longed for loving human companionship with all the ardor of a giant. He stated in his letter that a wife was worth more than $5,000,000 to a lonely man on a farm and intimated that, if he had it, he would willingly pay that amount for some nice woman to love for life.

The friend in Milwaukee gave the letter to the Free Press which published it in full giving the name and address of the writer. The letter was widely copied and Anderson was deluged with letters from women who wanted to marry him. He received letters from all parts of the country but Miss Perry's was the first letter to reach him.

Maybe that letter caught him at the psychological moment, for of all the applicants for his hand and heart Miss Perry held a leading position in the race all the time. Photographs were exchanged and after a lengthy correspondence and mature deliberation by Anderson he decided to marry Miss Perry. He wrote to her to "Pack her trunk and come at once."

That was nearly three weeks ago, but it takes time for a woman to prepare for an event of that kind and it was not until Tuesday night that Miss Perry arrived at Plummer ready and willing to be married to the man of her choice. Her coming had been wired ahead and a crowd of about two hundred people, mostly bachelors, were at the depot to sustain the waiting bridegroom and welcome the bride. As Miss Perry descended from the train she was greeted by a hearty cheer and her waiting spouse was quickly found. Arm in arm they made their way to the hotel where a crowd of the idly curious loitered for some time discussing the happiness of the couple and the merits of judicious advertising.

They repaired to the office of a Plummer justice of the peace, John A. Retisten, and were quietly married. They will spend the honeymoon on the bridegroom's homestead where they will revel in a full measure of love and the groom will teach the city bride the mysteries of raising little chickens and things which will delight her heart.

A curious circumstance is that in Mayfield township, in which Mr. Anderson resides there are still about 25 bachelors remaining. Every one of these has a good quarter section of land, and they are all prosperous and steady. What a beautiful place for the leap year maiden seeking for happiness, or the widows of Vinton, Ia., who have declared their purpose to marry. "Widders" are said to be very satisfyin', have had some experience, and are not so hard to please.

From Friday's Daily—

John A. B. Anderson, the Plummer man who was married at that place Wednesday morning to the Milwaukee maiden, Miss Jessie Perry, is now a grass widower—his bride, married at noon, took the train for her Beer City home without waiting to see her new husband's farm. The wedding dinner was hardly finished at the Plummer Hotel when the bride gave Anderson to understand that she did not care to remain and share his future lot and talked to him with such good effect that he was willing to let her go back and feel thankful that she did. Before they separated a stipulation for divorce was signed by both parties and it is said that Anderson gave her $25 to pay her car fare home.

Mr. Anderson is somewhat reticent in talking about the failure of his matrimonial venture, and feels his disappointment keenly. He is a good hearted simple minded fellow and his faith in feminine human nature has received a horrible jolt. In time he will get over his disappointment but it is a safe bet that he will never again undertake to secure a partner through the aid of any Milwaukee agency.

Many a young man has acquired that tired feeling and a rich father-in-law about the same time.

ITCHING HUMOR ON LITTLE BOY

His Hands were a Solid Mass, and Disease Spread All Over His Body —In Four Days the Child was Entirely Cured—Mother Strongly

RECOMMENDS CUTICURA SOAP AND OINTMENT

"One day we noticed that our little boy was all broken out with itching sores. We first noticed it on his little hands. His hands were not as bad then, and we didn't think anything serious would result. But the next day we heard of the Cuticura Remedies being so good for itching sores, etc., that I thought I would get them. By this time the disease had spread all over his body, and his hands were nothing but a solid mass of this itching disease. I went to the drug store and purchased a box of Cuticura Soap and one box of Cuticura Ointment, and that night I stripped my little boy and took the Cuticura Soap and lukewarm water and washed him well. Then I dried him with a soft bath towel, and took the Cuticura Ointment and rubbed him thoroughly with it. I did this every evening before I put him to bed and in three or four nights he was entirely cured. You have my permission to publish this because anybody who suffered as my baby did ought to know of the Cuticura Remedies. I will surely and gladly recommend the Cuticura Remedies, for they are a godsend to all suffering with skin diseases. Mrs. Frank Donahue, 208 Fremont St., Kokomo, Ind., Sept. 16, 1907."

HORRIBLE DEED OF TWO FINLANDERS

One of the most dastardly and horrible deeds ever committed in the annals of this country occurred Tuesday, when two Finlanders cut and stabbed one of their chums in frightful shape. After cutting his face right and left with a sharp knife they cut off part of his tongue and then pursued by an angry mob they took flight and so far have not been captured.

The injured man was brought to the Cass Lake hospital and is in a terrible condition. The affair occurred near the logging camp at Schley on the reservation. The man is so severely injured that he is unable to tell his name. No motive is known for the cowardly act.

FIRST BUSINESS CHANGE IN TWIN VALLEY FOR 1908

The first business change in the village in 1908 that we learn of is the transfer of P. O. Hanson's hardware store and stock to J. S. Sundberg of Minneapolis in exchange for Oregon timber land. The deal which was being negotiated for the past month or two was completed the first part of last week. Mr. Hanson's store building is an excellent one being a part of the new brick block put up a couple of years ago. The store is well stocked and Mr. Hanson has been enjoying a good trade hence Mr. Sundberg comes into possession of an excellent property and we wish him the best of sucess among us. We understand that he takes possession immediately. The land falling to Mr. Hanson consists of 800 acres of heavily fir timbered in southwestern Oregon. Mr. Hanson will go out to look it over soon, after which he will devote his time in agricultural pursuits on his farm adjoining the village to the southwest.—Twin Valley Times

WINTER COWS PAY NEAR MIDDLE RIVER

The experience of C. A. Anderson, living three miles south of town, in the winter management of his cows, ought to be an object lesson to many other farmers. Mr. Anderson's cows all of them came in in the spring and had they been fed on dry feed as many cows in this section are, they would all of them have been dry this winter. But Mr. Anderson raised several hundred bushels of beets and turnips which he is feeding his cows during the winter and is consequently getting a creamery check of about $25 each month instead of nothing. The cow can be depended on to do her part every time if the farmer will do his in the matter of feeding and caring for her.—Middle River Pioneer.

Penned and Pilfered

Sam Felsing is telling one on himself. He says he hates to do it, but it's too good to keep.

"I was bowling along out on the Experimental Farm road one day last fall," he said, "and came up with a man who was walking in the middle of the road. A dog followed him at a distance of about ten feet and looked thoroly devoted to the man ahead.

"As my machine over took the pair the dog started suddenly to cross the road. He was hit by the car and instantly killed. I got out at once and approached the owner of the pup expecting trouble. 'Very sorry, old man', I said, 'but it can't be helped now. Will five dollars fix it?'

" 'Oh, yes,' the fellow replied, sort of meditatively, 'five dollars will fix it, I guess,' and I peeled off a greenback, thinking I was getting off mighty easy.

"Well, just as I was getting into the car again the fellow who still stood poking at the carcass of the dog in a meaning sort of way, looked up innocently and remarked: 'wonder whose dog it was anyway!' "

There are several firms in New York and other large cities that make a business of buying up guns and war material that have been discarded by Uncle Sam. The goods are then catalogued and sold to the people, and in the catalogues are listed every thing from a 22 calibre revolver to the largest cannon. Is there another government on the earth that would allow such goods to be sold within its borders? Well, hardly, and still our country is just as safe, notwithstanding the mixed nationalities comprising its population, for those guns, when bought by the people, would be used only in defense of themselves or of their country.

Attempts are now being made to organize new camps of Sons of Veterans and to this end calls have been issued from the state headquarters asking all sons and grandsons of Union soldiers to take an interest in the matter and take steps to organize camps wherever there are enough qualified persons to warrant such actions. It will not be long before the brave and noble army that saved the union will have dwindled to insignificant numbers, or have faded away altogether, but if the right spirit of patriotism prevails among the people an army four times as large as the Grand Army of the Republic has ever been, should be ready to take its place, or better still should already have taken it, and should continue to teach those true principles of fellowship which have made the Grand Army of the Republic so dear, not only to the hearts of its members, but of the entire people. To those who are entitled to wear the badge of the Sons of Veterans, and do not do so, can only be ascribed a painful lack of patriotism and should the organization be allowed to entirely die out then indeed, can it be truthfully said, that in the hearts of Americans sentiment is dead, and commercialism has taken its place.—Barnesville Record Review.

Forecasters state that this warm winter up to date has been caused by an "Atlantic high". They point out that a great volume of heavy air over the Atlantic off the southeast coast of the United States has set up atmospheric currens that have deluged the country with warm air from the gulf. They guess that in some way this Atlantic "high" has so disarranged things as to turn the storm centers from their usual path so that the cold waves that ordinarily would follow them have not materialized. This reason looks as good as any. Why are arrangements not made to keep the Atlantic high right where it is until April 15th? By that time the backbone of winter will be broken. Do you remember how the first robin makes a sound like the joyful noise?—"A. J. R." in Minneapolis Journal.

NEW SCHEME PROPOSED

PLANNED TO CONSTRUCT TRUNK ELECTRIC LINE THROUGH CROOKSTON

THE PROMOTERS ARE AT GRAND FORKS IN CONNECTION WITH THE DEAL

The Grand Forks Press says:

"This morning at 10 o'clock President W. C. Webber of the Seattle Electric line and Travelling Auditor Trano of the same road, discussed with the board of directors of the Commercial Club the feasibility of the electric line coming thru this city instead of following the original route planned on by the company.

Local Line

"They also discussed the installation of a local electric spstem of street cars, to be operated in connection with the through line, but to be installed as quickly as possible so as to be in operation by the time the electric trunk line reaches this city.

"The directors gave the matter careful consideration and seemed very favorable towards the proposition, which has good backing in a financial way.

"The original route of the line was to have followed the N. P. quite closely, but a letter from The Press and several other letters from local parties interested the company in the possibilities of deviating from the route. This deviation would take the line thru a new territory in Minnesota, direct to Crookston, from there to this city, and then south to Carrington and Bismarck, the route between this city and Carrington being problematic, but likely to touch the cities of Mayville Sherbrooke, Cooperstown and Carrington, making a direct line from Carrington to Bismarck; thence going west along the original proposed route.

"The proposed route as outlined above would open up a vast territory to this city, and would enter a field that is not at present well supplied with railroads.

"The fact that this city has no complete local electric line at present is one of the strong inducements that are being held out to the company, and will do much towards inducing them to adopt the proposed route to this city and then southwest.

"President Webber and Travelling Auditor Trano may spend a few days in the city looking up the matter, and as the surveying party is being organized now, so as to start work from the twin cities by the first of February it is likely that a definite announcement as the exact route will be made within a few days or a week.

"Last evening a number of prominent citizens of East Grand Forks and this city met Messrs. Webber and Trano at their hotel, and talked over the matter.

"To a Press representative today the gentlemen stated that they were highly pleased with the reception they have received in this city and are very favorably impressed with new route and the opportunity in this city for an electric line, forming a loop, and crossing the river to the east side.

Line Coming

"President Webber after the meeting with the board of directors of the Commercial club, announced that he was so well pleased with the attitude of the club and the people of the city that he would go to the dictorate of the company, and recommend that the trunk line be constructed thru this city, and that a construction crew be sent to this city the first thing in the spring for the purpose of starting actual work on the local line.

"In the meantime if the directorate accepts his recommendations, arrangements will go forward for the obtaining of a franchise from the city, as well as rights of way for the trunk line, and the approaches to the points on the river where a bridge would have to be built across the Red River

"Mr. Webber will take the matter up at once as surveying work is to be commenced February 1, and if the directorate aacepts his recommendation will send the engineer a Mr. Towns, formerly of the Great Northern, to this city to attend to the preliminary work, and select the rights of way and approaches for the bridge.

MRS. MATHIEU IN A RUNAWAY

QUITE BADLY HURT WHEN SHE WAS THROWN FROM THE SLEIGH

Last Monday afternoon Mrs. Jas. A. Mathieu who resided here several years ago when her husband was connected with the Crookston Lumber Co., while out for a drive with her children and their nurse had an extremely serious mishap by the overturning of the equipage while driving around a corner in Rainy River.

It appears that one of the horses being a new one lately purchased by Mr. Mathieu is somewhat fractious and tho Mrs. Mathieu being a proficient driver and horsewoman, did not slacken the speed sufficiently in making the turn which owing to the new horse crowding in too much was too short for safety, and consequently the sleigh tipped over. The children and nurse were thrown off the vehicle and fortunately without injury to any one, however Mrs. Mathieu clung to the reins attempting to stop the team from a run-a-way, and in consequence was dragged a considerable distance when she finally realized the futility of her efforts and let go her hold. By this time the horses were thoroly excited and madly tore thru the streets until the entire sleighs and harness were a complete wreckage. The sleigh was of the large Russian type and but lately received as a gift thus the loss will be more deeply felt. Tho apparently unhurt at the time by her experience Mrs. Mathieu has since been confined to her room necessitating the call of Dr. Oppliger who upon examination found that his patient had, aside from a severe shaking up also sustained a sprained shoulder but which it is hoped will not incapacitate her for long.

PAUL KOPANG APPREHENDED

YOUTHFUL FORGER LOCATED BY CHIEF ECK AT WINNIPEG

SHERIFF GONYEA WILL LEAVE IN THE MORNING TO GET HIM

From Monday's Daily—

Chief of Police Eck received a message this morning from Chief McRae of Winnipeg to the effect that Paul Kopang had been arrested and would be held till officers from here went after him. Chief Eck notified Sheriff Gonyea who will leave on the Flyer tomorrow morning and return with Kopang tomorrow night.

It will be remembered that Kopang was the young man employed by Ben Rosenberg last fall, and shortly before the holidays after he had been discharged he forged two checks in favor of himself for $23.75, both drawn on the Merchants National Bank with the name of Ben Rosenberg signed to them. One check he cashed with Ed Erickson, the butcher, and the other with J. A. McCaffrey.

The forgery leaked out the next day as Mr. Rosenberg did his business with the First National Bank instead of the Merchants. Kopang headed for Dakota, but later wound up at Winnipeg.

M'COSKER GETS PROMOTION

JOINS HOUSE STAFF OF McDONALD BROS., IN CHARGE OF SALES FORCE

Announcement was made this week that Terry McCosker of Grand Forks, will hereafter be connected with the house staff of McDonald Bros., Minneapolis, in charge of the sales force.

Mr. McCosker has just completed his twentieth year in the service of McDonald Bros., as road salesman. When he went with the firm 20 years ago his territory comprised much of the country north and west of Minneapolis to the Montana line. During the past few years his work has been largely in northern Minnesota and North Dakota.

McDonald Bros. established their wholesale enterprise in Minneapolis about a quarter century ago. When Mr. McCosker first became connected with the house, the northwest could be covered with a comparatively small force of salesmen. Today the house employs a large staff of salesmen in the big territory between the Great Lakes and the Pacific coast.

Mr. McCosker has a wide acquaintance among traveling salesmen as well as retail merchants throughout the northwest. He was for some time at the head of the United Commercial Travelers in the northwest and has always been active in the work and councils of that organization.

WANTS THE DEED TO HIS FARM

AN INTERESTING CASE FROM OSLO IN THE PROBATE COURT

Some 17 years ago Ralph Sherlock of East Grand Forks bought some railroad land near the present town of Oslo on long time. He had some crop misfortunes and not having the means to make his payments obtained the money from John McCabe of Manvel securing the latter by having the deed made out in his name. Some years ago McCabe moved to California and before his departure discussed the matter with Sherlock, and informed him that he would deed the land back to him on the payment of $1,500 the amount he had invested in the land. Sherlock who has since been relying on his agreement has since been looking forward to securing the deed.

He has made extensive improvements on the land and the quarter section is now valued at $4000 to $5,000. McCabe died a short time after moving west and left his money and property to the Catholic church, Bishop Shanley and various clergymen but making no provision for his natural heirs. It appears that a Los Angeles attorney was appointed executor and has instituted proceedings in Marshall county, as it is supposed with a view to securing title to the land occupied by Sherlock. None of the legatees named in the will have received their share of the estate and Mr. Sherlock will petition the probate court for an order requiring the executor to comply with the agreemnt made with Mr. McCabe and deed the land to Sherlock on the payment of $1,500. The matter will come up for hearing February 7 at Warren. Bronson & Collins appear for Sherlock.

DISTRICT COURT DOINGS

CASE TRIED AND VERDICT RETURNED IN DISTRICT COURT IN 35 MINUTES

GRAND JURY INDICTMENTS INVALID BECAUSE ONE JUROR HAD NOT BEEN SWORN

From Saturday's Daily—

A record for quick work in a district court was made here today before Judge Watts which probably was never equalled in the state in the case of Stallmo vs. Jorgenson, an appeal case from Fisher started to recover $50 for grain sold the defendant. The jury was impanelled, the case tried and a verdict returned in just 35 minutes. The plaintiff was given $14.

Several Indictments

The Grand Jury which reassembled Thursday this morning returned several indictments as follows: Mike Murphy for assault with intent to kill having carved Frank Whittaker's neck at East Grand Forks last month; Dave Goodrie for indecent assault at East Grand Forks; Hoken Evenson an East Grand Forks rounder for grand larceny in the 2nd degree for flim-flaming C. J. Sundell a laborer out of $175 in an East Grand Forks saloon.

All these indictments were dismissed however, shortly after returned as it was discovered that one member of the jury had not been sworn which would invalidate the indictments. Other indictments against the same parties will be returned this afternoon.

Indictments are expected today against saloon keepers of Lengby and Tabor for selling liquor to minors and there are quite a number of people implicated judging from the horde of witnesses summoned. It is also expected that Nels Hanson will be indicted for indecent assault. He is the hack driver who insulted Mrs. Chas. McCarty here Thursday and ducked to Fargo before he was apprehended. Mrs. McCarty may, however refuse to prosecute because of the undesirable publicity.

With the new criminal cases it will take Judge Watts ten days or two weeks to clear the criminal calendar beginning next Monday. The civil calendar is about wound up, a vast number of cases having been settled or put over the term.

From Monday's Daily—

The district courts attention till the middle of the afternoon was taken up with the case of Erickson vs. Propp from Fertile. The case was to collect $80 claimed to be due as rent. The defendant claims that he had to make certain repairs on the roof which should be deducted for the rent of the building which is used as a machinery warehouse. This case went to the jury at 3 o'clock this afternoon and the jury is still out.

The next case taken up was that of Casper Aggerness vs. John Lee, both from Liberty Township, relative to the parentage of a child. The case has been tried in justice court, was appealed to the district court last spring and the jury then disagreed.

The grand jury have returned two indictments but they are not for publication till the parties wanted are apprehended.

He left Deerfield in 1843 and came to Rice county, Minn., where he located at Faribault and was engaged in the manufacture of brooms. He served in the civil war and made an excellent record. FARM FOR INEBRIATES

CROOKSTON WILL CONTRIBUTE $360 FOR LAST YEAR UNDER STATE LAW

LAWS OF 1907 PROVIDE THAT 2 PERCENT OF LICENSES BE THUS EXPENDED

From Monday's Daily—

Section 19 of chapter 288 of the laws of 1907 which was effective April 1st of last year, provided that 2 percent of all money received for liquor licenses be voted to the establishment and maintenance of a state farm and hospital for inebriates.

This is now due from the various cities of the state and city clerk Childs has received a requisition from the state auditor for Crookston's share which amounts to $15 each for the 24 licenses granted in Crookston last year or a total of $360.

This is to be paid in two semi-annual installments, and total fund available will be very large judging from the amount contributed by the city of Crookston.

WILL BE WAR IN TWENTY YEARS

IF OLD THEORY OF MALE BIRTHS OVER FEMALE BIRTHS IS TRUE

The statistics of births and deaths of Brainerd as given by the Dispatch of that place is as follows: The total number of births during the year was 177 of which 105 were males and 72 were females. There is an old traditional theory that when the birth rate of boys exceeds that of girls there will be a war about the time the boys come of age. Under that theory the year 1927 should be a sanguinary one. The total number of deaths in the city of Brainerd was 161.

It cannot be helped to note the difference of birth and death rate between that city and this as the population is about the same. Crookston reports 229 births and 100 deaths, Brainerd reports 177 births and 161 deaths.

HACK DRIVER NELS HANSON LEAVES TOWN FOR HIS HEALTH

If Nels Hanson a hack driver had not succeeded in getting out of the city last evening before it became generally known that he had frightened Mrs. Chas. McCarthy, Manitoba Street nearly to death Thursday evening he would have received a pretty rough course of treatment. Mrs. McCarthy came down town shortly after six o'clock, quarantine for smallpox having just been raised at her home. She was taken suddenly ill however and decided to take a hack home. Nels Hanson was the driver, and instead of taking her home drove to the out skirts of the city, stopped the hack and got in the carriage himself. Mrs. McCarthy screamed and Hanson was frightened into driving the woman to her home. He kept in hiding yesterday and last evening took a train out of town, heading for Fargo, and it will be conductive to a continuance of good health on his part if he stays out for some time to come.

GREAT NORTHERN BEING GIVEN HEARING

Is Charged With Discrimination in Lumber Rates. Claimed that it Forces Sales of to Itself.

Duluth, Jan. 29—Ira B. Mills, G. F. Staples and F. E. Young, members of the state railway and warehouse commission, are today conducting a hearing in Duluth, at the Spaulding hotel, on the complaint against the Great Northern railroad, brought by shippers of forest products out of Northern Minnesota, charging that the road discriminates in shipping rates on ties and certain other products again producers in favor of brokers, that it forces sales by producers to the road by charging them excessive freight rates, and that it charges prohibitive freight rates on cord wood.

Mr. Reynolds for shippers contended that a different classification of rates should be provided for lumber ties, posts, poles, pulpwood, etc., instead of having all come under one rate.

SLAVE TALK IN SENATE

Charged That Actual Human Slavery Is Maintained in Philippine Islands.

Washington, Jan. 28. — Greatly to the surprise of every one, the subject of slavery was introduced in the senate yesterday. Secretary Taft was directly charged with having a knowledge of slavery in the islands. The debate was made pertinent by the sections of the bill revising the criminal code of the United States, which provides penalties for dealing in slaves.

Mr. Hale asserted that such provisions should be stricken out, as he regarded slavery as obsolete in the United states and he could see no reason for referring to it. Senator Heyburn, in charge of the bill, declared that not only is there immoral traffic in white slaves, but that coolie labor in the form of practical slavery does exist, and added that actual human slavery is still maintained in the Philippine islands.

Mr. Lodge made an attempt to disprove the charge of slavery in the islands.

At 4:50 p. m. the senate adjourned.

The street railway systems of the District of Columbia and the financial question occupied the time of the house of representatives yesterday.

MAY BE FIRED FOR UNION IDEAS

Law That Protects Members of Labor Unions Declared Void by Supreme Court.

IS CONTRARY TO CONSTITUTION

Employer Has Perfect Right to Discharge Man Because of Union Affiliations.

Washington, Jan. 29.—The constitutionality of the act of congress of June 1, 1898, prohibiting railroad companies engaged in interst commerce from discriminating against members of labor organizations in the matter of employment, was called into question by the case of William Adair vs. The United States, which was decided by the supreme court of the United States yesterday favorable to Adair. The opinion was by Justice Harlan and held the law to be repugnant to the constitution.

Has Right to Fire Man.

The court held that Adair, as master mechanic of the Louisville & Nashville Railroad company, had a right to discharge an employe because he was a member of a labor organization, just as it was the employe's right to quit such employment because of his membership in such organization. Such a course the decision added, might be unwise, but regarded as a mere matter of right there could be no doubt. Congress could not under the constitution authorize a violation of contracts under the guise of protecting interstate commerce.

Justice McKenna delivered a dissenting opinion favorable to the law, in which he said the court's decision proceeds along very narrow lines.

Lower Court Overruled.

The case came up to the supreme court on a writ of error from the United States district court for the Eastern district of Kentucky, where Adair had been fined $100 for threatening to discharge from the employ of the company a locomotive engineer named Coppage because the latter was a member of a labor union.

In his decision Justice Harlan held it was Adair's right to serve his employer as best he could, so long as he did nothing forbidden by law as contrary to public welfare.

Justice Holmes also expressed the opinion that the law should be construed as constitutional. He thought that the right to make contracts had been stretched to the limit by the court's decision in this case. That congress had a right to so legislate as to encourage labor organizations was another suggestion of Justice Holmes.

HINDUS MOBBED

Driven Out of California Town — Complain to British Consul.

Marysville, Cal., Jan. 29.—A mob of twenty citizens of Live Oak, a town nine miles north of Marysville, in Sutter county, made a raid on two houses occupied by seventy Hindus who had been discharged from the employ of the Southern Pacific and ordered the Hindus to leave town. They were then driven to the edge of the town and told to continue. The leader of the Hindus came to Yuba City and swore to complaints charging the members of the mob with grand larcency, alleging they stole $1,950. Two were arrested. The head Hindu also took the matter up with the British consul at San Francisco, threatening international complications. The members of the mob say no money was taken.

$75000 LOSS CHICAGO FIRE

Half Million Dollar Loss and More Than a Score of Firemen Are Injured.

FIERCE GALE FANS FLAMES

Hotel Florence Destroyed — Another Fire Causes $75,000 Loss in Wholesale District.

Chicago, Jan. 29. — More than a score of firemen were hurt and as many more escaped injury or death after thrilling experiences in a fire which destroyed the Mayer building, a seven-story brick structure, and the Hotel Florence, 163-167 Adams street, shortly after 3 a. m. yesterday. The loss will amount to half a million dollars. One fireman is reported missing. Hotel guests and night workers fiel scantily clad into the blizzard.

Fanned by a forty-mile gale, the fire scattered burning embers about the southern portion of the loop district. Twenty guests of the hotel were roused from their beds by policemen and firemen. All of the inmates are believed to have escaped.

Skyscraper Stands Test.

Adjoining the burning structure on the east is the partially completed sixteen-story building of the Corn Exchange National bank. The new skyscraper was given a severe test, but with the exception of some temporary woodwork resisted the flames successfully.

The fire started in the rear of the second story of the Hotel Florence. Before it was discovered it gained considerable headway and shortly after the firemen arrived the second and third floors and a portion of the rear wall fell. A six-story building adjoining the hotel on the west caught fire and was partly gutted. It was occupied by six printing and two tailoring concerns.

Two hours after the first alarm had sounded the flames were under control.

Firemen in Collision.

Fire in the wholesale machinery district last night caused damages of $75,000. The flames were confined to a five-story structure which housed half a dozen firms. While driving at full speed to the fire the horses of an engine and truck company collided. The drivers escaped injury by jumping, but the engine apparatus was so badly damaged that it had to be returned to quarters.

JAP TRY TO GET PLANS

Unknown Men, Supposedly Japanese, Make Night Attack on Frisco Armory.

San Francisco, Jan. 29. — Bullets fired with deadly intent by national guard sharpshooters yesterday morning frustrated a second attempt to rob the armory of Companies K and M, Fifth infantry of the national guard. In the building, which is located at Buchanan and Waller streets, are kept valuable military maps of San Francisco coast defense and topographical plans of the peninsula. That the attack on the building was not a burglars' ordinary operation seems apparent from the persistency of the mysterious visitors. Early Saturday morning and again in the darkness of Sunday morning two men tried to gain an entrance into the premises. Fearing that a third attempt might be made, the officers in command ordered the guard of soldiers doubled last night. Armed men watched the premises from nightfall Sunday until dawn yesterday morning.

From the descriptions of the trespassers furnished the officers of the regiments by the sentries, the authorities are working on the theory that Japanese spies were seeking to gain entrance to the secrets of the armory.

CZAR IS PLAINTIFF

Sues in Manitoba to Recover Money Stolen by Former Treasurer.

Winnipeg, Jan. 29. — One of the most extraordinary lawsuits that has been instituted in Manitoba has begun in the prothonotary's office in Winnipeg. The plaintiff is the czar of Russia and he is suing for an immense sum of money taken from his faraway province of Turkestan by the erstwhile treasurer of the department of the interior of Turkestan.

The alleged faithless steward of the czar is Stefan Proskurekoff. During his tenure of office he received sums amounting to 340,000 rubles and over, or over $160,000, and stole or embezzled and appropriated the money for his own use.

DEFECTIVE PAGE

Penned and Pilfered

Miller S. D., is somewhat troubled in mind over queer lights that appear on the prairie this winter. They have been explained on the principle of the ignis fatuus as due to decaying vegetable matter, but others hold that the ig. fat. is not working when everything is frozen up. The lights are, however, no new thing. Deputy Sheriff Ober tells the Miller Sun that he has noticed them many times. Mrs. Bradford, a school teacher, met one of these jokers west of the city at one time. It jumped up from the darkness in front of her horse and the animal became unmanageable.

It doesn't cost anything to keep your fingers crossed when you pass one of these lights on the prairie.—A. J. R. in Minneapolis Tribune.

Winner of a debate on capital punishment after a meeting of his parish debating club on Saturday night, Seth Schuyler, 18 years old was found hanging dead in his bath room the next morning in his home in New York. He had wound a silk muffler around his neck and hanged himself to a gas bracket. The police theory is that he committed suicide in a fit of despondency. The grief-stricken members of his family refuse to accept this view, and his boy friends assert their belief that the young man came to his death in trying to discover experimentally the sensations a victim of an execution by hanging may feel. Peace to his ashes. Moral: Don't monkey with the hangman's rope. All necktie parties should be official.

A little boy whose interest in religion had waned somewhat, was met on the street one day by his pastor.

"Johnny, why haven't I seen you at church lately?" asked the minister.

"I don't like to go now. You swear too much in the pulpit."

"Why Johnny," gasped the surprised churchman, "you're mistaken. I never swear."

"Oh, yes you do," persisted the lad.

"Well, my young friend, suppose we put it to the test. Now you come to church next Sunday and if you hear me swear, I'll give you an apple pie; and if you don't hear me, you are to give me one and come to church regularly afterwards."

To this Johnny agreed.

When the Lord's Day came, Johnny was on hand, way down front. The sermon was about half thru, and the good clergyman had committed no offense until, unsuspectingly, he uttered the words, "And it is by God we live and by God we die"—whereupon Johnny, jumping to his feet, cried out, "And, by God, you lose your apple pie."

SCHEME FOR RESERVOIRS

OTTER TAIL COUNTY LAKE REGION MAY RECEIVE ATTENTION

WIDESPREAD INTEREST TAKEN IN FEDERAL PLAN TO PREVENT FLOODS

The following from the Morhead News will be of interest here as it indicates that the government is likely to make reservoirs of the lakes of this vicinity other plans for preventing floods in the Red River Valley having been rejected:

"The two reports which have been made to congress this session on the improvement of the Red River of the North have gone into such detail on the possibility of preventing disastrous floods in the Red River valley, that it is not unlikely that some comprehensive scheme of improvement will be worked out in the near future says a dispatch from Washington.

"Gen. McKenzie chief of engineers of the army has endorsed the report and recommendations of Maj. Shun, of St. Paul, that the feasibility of a system of reservoirs on the upper portion of the Red river be fully investigated and estimates made of the cost of such improvements. While it is admitted that such cost will run into millions of dollars, the situation thruout the Red River Valley indicates that such expenditure would be well made, if it stopped the spring overflow of the rich farming lands along the river bottom.

"The Red river has carried four disastrous floods since farming possibilities of the region were first developed. At these times the river swelled up well over the "bank full" mark, and flooded grain lands for miles on either side of the river. In the 1897 flood the actual damage without taking into consideration the depreciation in value of the lands over flowed was placed at $4,531,693.

"Since 1897 the value of Red River Valley farms has increased materially, and another flood as great as that of 1897 would undoubtedly destroy more millions of dollars' worth of crops and farm property than the 1897 flood did.

"The government engineers stated in the report made to congress early in the session that it would be impracticable to straighten the Red River by cuting canals thru the bends, thereby giving greater velocity to stream. This would prevent flooding at some points but would pile up great floods of water on the northern portion of the river, flooding lands there and flooding the Canadian shores of the river.

"In the second report made to congress this week, the plan to divert the flood waters of the Red River into the Minnesota river is also declared to be impracticable. The plan of general reservoir system is the one which the government engineers have finally decided will solve the flood problem if it can be solved; and their recommendations for a more thoro investigation of the project are likely to have considerable weight with congress.

"The engineers believe that a system of reservoirs constructed by damming up the outlets of the lakes and natural depressions, from which the river takes its course, would serve to catch and hold the flood waters to such an extent that they could be released gradually, and the danger of an overwhelming flood averted."

LIFE SPARED BY PARDON BOARD.

Sentence of Peter Neilsen Mathiasen is Commuted.

St. Paul, Jan. 23.—Peter Neilsen Mathiasen will not be hanged for the murder of his friend, Johan Johansen. The pardon board yesterday commuted his death sentence to one of life imprisonment. The principal argument in Mathiasen's favor was made by Former Governor John Lind of Minneapolis, who insisted that the evidence showed quite conclusively that the shooting was accidental. The tragedy occurred in Beltrami county.

ADA BASKETBALL TEAM DEFEATS HENDRUM BUNCH

The Ada High School basket ball team took the honors in the game played against Hendrum at the opera house last Saturday night after a spirited contest. The first half was an even contest, both teams playing fast ball. When time was called at the close of the first half the score stood 12 to 13 in favor of the visiting team. In the second half Ada went in with a determination to win and luck seemed to be with them in the change of positions of baskets. Hendrum did not put up as good a game as in the first half and at the close of the game Ada was the winner with a score of 36 to 28. Another game will be played at the local opera house Saturday evening of this week between the Ada and Fergus Falls teams.—Norman Co. Herald.

HOLD DOWN CLAIM AND DO SOME LOGGING

The Arthur Zaiser family have removed from our midst. Mrs. Zaiser and the baby have gone to Crookston and will remain until spring under the parental Eickhoff roof while the genial Arthur has braved the forest and will "do time" on his claim up in the Bigfork valley. A company has been formed with both Arthur and H. H. members, and the object will be to do logging. A mill is to be erected in the near vicinity of Arthur's claim and will be operated in the interests of the homesteaders of that locality. Success to the promoters is the wish of all friends.—Red Lake Falls Gazette.

NARROWLY ESCAPES DEATH BY SCALDING

Engineer Ohland and his fireman, William Lake, were badly scalded about the face and hands and had a narrow escape from being cooked to death by steam when blowing out a boiler in a plant in Cavalier. Some scale plugged up the boiler and the engineer tapped it with a hammer. This loosened it and it let out steam with tremendous force, filling the pit back of the boilers with hot steam. As the two men had no other way to escape except to crawl over the boilers, their position was a dangerous one. While climbing over Lake fell back twice but he was assisted each time by the engineer until they reached a place of safety.

DANFIELD SECOND IN BIG EVENT

COUNT WHITESTONE SECOND WINNER OF NATIONAL CHAMPIONSHIP

W. M. Ferguson received a telegram last evening stating that Count Whitestone 2nd had captured the national championship stake in the grand final event of the field trials held near Grand Junction, Tenn. This is considered the prize par excellence of the circuit which concludes with the Grand Junction field trials. The prize is a beautiful $500 silver cup and the national championship. Count Whitestone 2nd is a descendant of Count Whitestone and is owned by a Mississippi man.

But the most interesting feature of the event to local sportsmen is the fact that the runner up in this event was Danfield, once owned by Clarence Shepard of Grand Forks and winner of the North Dakota field trials held near Berwick, N. D., last fall. This is another Grand Forks dog to win national honors.

ICEMEN ARE WORRYING ABOUT THEIR HARVEST

The local ice men are considerably worried over the present outlook for ice, and unless there is some genuine winter weather soon, the city may have something of a famine in this line next summer. The ice harvest began a few days ago, with the ice about half as thick as usual. To put up ice of this thickness is considerably more expensive per cubic foot than to put up the ordinary three foot cakes. Ice always melts to some extent in the ice houses and the thinner cakes will naturally disappear more rapidly than the cakes of larger size, so that there is going to be quite a loss on this score. One ice house was being filled Monday, and the water was running out of it in streams. Worse than this, cakes of ice that were left exposed for any length of time became honeycombed and brittle and the work was given up temporarily. It has since been resumed but the ice men are hoping for thicker ice It will take some steady cold weather to send the frost down.—Fergus Falls Journal.

SOLD VALLEY FARM AT $40 PER ACRE

J. R. Miller this week disposed of his 480 acre farm near Borup to parties from Farmington Minn. The price paid for the land is $40 an acre, which shows that Norman county real estate has considerable merit in the eyes or real judges of real estate. Indications are that there will be considerable activity in real estate in this section during the coming spring and fall. G. L. Thorpe recently disposed of a half section in town of Mary and several other deals have recently been made. In Norman county.

MAY BECOME COPPER KING

MAYOR McPHEE AND JAKE VOLLAND INVESTIGATING COPPER MINE

WILL LOOK OVER PROPERTY NEAR HINKLEY AND MAY PURCHASE

Mayor J. D. McPhee of this city and Jake Volland of Ada left Tuesday night for Hinkley, Minn., where they will spend a day or two investigating a copper mine which has been represented as the real thing by the owners.

If the mine proves what is claimed for it, Crookston and Ada may be the homes of two copper kings in the future, and it is possible that F. Augustus Heinze and other would-be copper kings may look like 30 cents worth of the cheapest kind of dog meat in the course of a very short time.

People buying anything in the copper line hereafter, should insist that it bears the stamp of the McPhee-Volland mine. All others will be base imitations.

LAND QUESTION UP AT JIMTOWN

TURK WHO PROVED UP LAND IS TURNED DOWN ON NATURALIZATION PAPERS

An unusual question has arisen in the case of Moustafa Malmond Mounnauar, a Turk, who has taken a claim ten miles from Jamestown. On July 3, 1905, he filed on a claim and on Sept. 9, 1907, made final proof. He paid $400 for the land and took a receipt therefor, the proof being sent to the general land office in the usual way. Several days ago he appeared in Jamestown and made application for citizens papers. From the Washington department an order now comes to resist the naturalization of the applicant, supposed to be a Turk.

Now the question as to what effort this will have on his claims to his homestead arises. If the effort to deny his naturalization is successful and he is denied citizenship and the issuance of his intention was unwarranted, it looks as tho Mounnauar will be out his land. It is said that there are many such cases in North Dakota and the outcome will be watched with interest.

THE BEST FOR MANY YEARS

RAILWAY MEN SAY WEATHER CONDITIONS ARE BEST FOR 24 YEARS

ALL TRAINS ARRIVED PRACTICALLY ON TIME TO JAN. TENTH

With practically summer weather conditions prevailing thus far this winter operating officials of the lines in the northwest are comparatively free from troubles in the handling of trains They are now enjoying a breathing spell which they have not known in years, for on the one hand there are no snow blockades to combat nor on the other are they bothered with a car shortage. On the whole the operating officials are spending a calm existence and getting a respite which will put them in fine trim when the rush time comes on again.

Railroad men say that not in 24 years has the operation of trains been carried on in January under such favorable weather conditions. The snowplows have been called out only a couple of times during the entire winter, and then they had only a little skimming to do. Occasionally a snow bank slides down the western mountains, but at no time this season have they been bad enough to impede traffic. The snow has had little chance to accumulate, but has melted quickly so that washouts have not ben known this winter.

Comparing conditions with what they were a year ago, the railroads of the northwest are operating under the best of conditions. It was costing some of the lines almost more to keep their lines open last January than the revenue they were getting for moving the traaffic. In addition the employes and officials were exposed to numerous hardships while this winter they have almost been able to run around in their shirtsleeves.

Trains on Time

The favorable conditions under which operating officials are working is shown in the manner in which the trains are running. Transcontinental trains are making as good time as they do in the summer, while in some respects it might be said that they are running better.

The Great Northern has issued a statement showing the performance of its passenger trains for the period from Jan. 1 to 10, which speaks eloquently of the good work being done by the operating department under present conditions. The record for the period follows: Train No. 1 arrived at Spokane on an average of only three minutes late; Train No. 3 averaged 17 minutes late; at Seattle Train No. 1 arrived on time every day while No. 3 averaged 36 minutes late at St. Paul, Train No. 2 averaged but one minute late: Train No. 4 was late only one day, and that was only five minutes; Train No. 8 arrived from Winnipeg an average of 20 minutes late.

GRAND RALLY OF THE COMMERCIAL CLUB

Annual Banquet and Election of Officers Last Evening Was A Largely Attended and Enthusiastic Affair and Assures Another year of Progress. H. C. Misner Elected President With Balance of Officials All Live Ones. Splendid Addresses Given by Prominent Business and Professional Men Who are Optimistic Regarding the Future.

THE NEW OFFICERS

President—H. C. Misner.
First Vice President—J. E. O'Brien
Second V. Pres.—J. W. Wheeler
Secretary—J. F. Moore
Treasurer—Geo. S. Chesterman
Directors—J. D. McPhee, George H. Wright, Max Ericsson, Sam Rosenthal, Lewis Ellington, Chas. Kiewel, J. P. Dotson, O. Mercil, O. O. Christianson, W. A. Marin, J. N. Kirsch.

From Friday's Daily—

Over 100 members of the Twenty-Five Thousand Commercial club assembled in the armory of Co. I in the Odd Fellows block last evening and marched in a body to the banquet hall in the basement where the ladies of the Presbyterian church had spread a bountiful repast. The dining room was appropriately draped with flags and bunting and the scene was an inspiring one.

Work Reviewed

At the conclusion of the supper, to which full justice was done the meeting was formally called to order by Vice President H. C. Misner who read a letter from President S. W. Wheeler who is out of the city, in which the work of the club during the past year was read and some valuable suggestions were made as to work that should be done in the future.

The New Officers

The election of officers was then taken up and the list above named, elected. The election of H. C. Misner as president was unanimous. Mr. Misner at first declined the honor, stating that he would be absent from the city for two months during the year but on motion of James E. O'Brien he was granted a two months leave of absence and finally accepted the position. Mr. Misner stated that he was thoroly appreciative of the honor done, him, and that he felt that he owed Crookston and vicinity a debt, having resided here for the past 29 years and realized that whatever success he has enjoyed was due in a great masure to his surroundings.

A committee of three, J. W. Wheeler A. D. Stephens and A. A. Miller was named by President Misner to nominate a board of directors, and their report in favor of the above named board was unanimously adopted.

Reason for Optimism

J. W. Wheeler was the first speaker called upon and made a few remarks which it would be well to remember. He spoke in a humorous vein at the beginning, saying that he had prepared no set address and as he came first he only represented the skirmish line or light artillery, and that the heavy guns would come later on. He complimented the Crookston papers on the wide publicity being given the advantages of this section of the country and believed that the tide of immigration was turning to the Red River Valley from both Texas and the Canadian northwest. What the valley wants, he said, is more people. and he believed the realization of this hope was near at hand.

Personal Sacrifice

Supt. McIntire of the city schools was slated for an address but was unavoidably absent, and James E. O'Brien was next called upon and made a short address that teemed with good suggestions. He spoke of the necessity of sacrificing your personal business and convenience at times in serving the public, and paid a high tribute to the class of men who labor for others with no hope of any further reward than promoting the general welfare of their fellow men. He believed that the future had great things in store for Crookston, and urged the necessity of the maintenance of a solid front for progress on the part of the people of this city.

Old Times Recalled

Postmaster Elias Steenerson was the next speaker and he told several stories of the early days and referred to the rapid manner in which the city was striding forward. He emphasized the necessity of harmony and unity of purpose if the best results were to be obtained and illustrated his remarks with several stories. He spoke of the advantages Crookston held over other cities by location and that there was every reason to feel optimistic over the outlook for the future.

Good Suggestions

Atty. Geo. J. Cannon made a very enthusiastic address in which he referred to the importance of Crookston as a commercial and financial center, and the wonderful natural advantges possessed. He paid a high tribute to the pioneer captains of industry and believed they were entitled to every credit for the way they had fought for Crookston's advancement. He believed the commercial club could accomplish still greater things and urged faithful and conscientious support on the part of every citizen.

He advocated the establishment of club rooms as a means of making the work of the club more effective, and bringing all members closer together.

From Newcomer's Standpoint

Alderman Geo. H. Wright was the next speaker and his remarks were along a most happy line. As one of the comparative new comers to Crookston, he desired to express how he appreciated the welcome he had received, together with encouragement on every hand. He said it was certainly a pleasure to live in such a city and that it would be a hard experience for him to leave Crookston. He paid a high compliment to the old timers of Crookston who had laid the foundation for the city that has come to pass, and spoke of the manner in which the vitality a man gives to his home city outweighs any gift he can make in cash contributions.

Ex-secretary Spoke

Thomas R. Brown made an interesting address regarding the work that could be accomplished by a commercial club and discussed briefly some of the things that had been done by the Crookston Commercial club. He also devoted some attention to a discussion of the value of an electric street car line and a system of interurban lines, and what a powerful factor they would be for the rapid up-building and general development of Crookston. He believed that the future of Crookston was assured, and that now as never before it was necessary for a general getting-together of all interests to boost for Crookston.

On the Right Tack

Atty. A. A. Miller made one of the most earnest and inspiring addresses of the evening. He stated that no city could be better than the aggregate of citizens and that every resident of Crookston should indulge in a little introspection occasionally. He stated that he believed more farmers brought to this vicinity would be better for Crookston than the bringing of manufacturing industries here, tho both would help. He spoke of the fertility of the Red River Valley and the advantages offered to the young man who had no capital but who had stick-to-itiveness that would always result in success. All that was needed was bull-dog tenacity and any one could make a success of life here and in a few years be independent. He said all pessimists should take a back seat. He did not believe in the giving of bonuses to secure new industries. The pioneers started here and were successful, and they received no bonuses other than the bonus of a healthful climate and a rich soil. He spoke from experience as he came here 20 years ago Feb. 1.

A Pioneer's Views

Capt. M. R. Brown made a characteristic address. He has been a resident of Crookston for 30 years during which he said there had been years of prosperity and very few of adversity. He said all that was necessary was the proper development of the natural resources of this section, and the future growth and prosperity of Crookston was as certain as that night will follow day.

String of Good Stories

Prof. Wm. Robertson of the State Experimental Farm made a splendid address illustrating with a string of good stories which kept his hearers in an uproar. He spoke of his appreciation of the backing the Commercial club had given him since his arrival and the consistent work which had been done in promoting the school of Agriculture. He gave one little couplet which illustrated his ideas. It ran something like this:

Optimist and pessimist
  Difference something droll,
Optimist sees the doughnut,
  Pessimist sees the hole.

Knockers Should Help Boost

W. A. Marin made a very pointed address in which he said that the knockers should attend the meetings of the club and help those who are trying to do something for the city. The ones who are not satisfied with present conditions, he said, should be the very ones to help make improvements. He said the club members should help themselves if they expected to be helped. He specially urged the importance of attending the meetings.

The Lawmaker

Senator A. D. Stephens made the closing address and as usual his remarks contained many sound, sensible suggestions which if followed would result in a bigger and a better Crookston. He said a good crop meant more to Crookston than an advance in land values. He said Crookston had the capital, and what was needed was skilled mechanics. He suggested that every member of the club should think of some small industry or factory to be started in Crookston and then with the assistance of the club try and land it.

Special Features

During the evening those present were highly entertained by solos by Mr. Ross Chesterman accompanied by Miss Meda Chesterman, solos by Mr. Lucius Miller accompanied by Miss Slocum and selections by Miss Ida Clapp accompanied by Miss Verroneau, and instrumental selections by Miss Fern Lancaster.

Retiring President's Letter

Whitewater, Wis., Jan. 13, 1908.

H. C. Misner, V. P.,
and Members of the "25,000"
Club, Crookston, Minn.

Gentlemen—I regret very much that I will be unable to attend the annual meeting and banquet of the "25,000" Club. Let me assure you of my great interest in the club, and the welfare of Crookston.

When I am on the road, I talk Crookston, its advantages and its future, day and night. We have the best city of its size in the United States, Loyal citizenship is what every town needs for success.

Our Honorable Mayor in his letter to the Minneapolis Journal voiced my sentiments when he said that every citizen should join the "Booster" club in 1908. This would mean a larger and better Crookston in a few years. The "Club" has acomplished a great work since its organization, and I wish to thank the members for their loyalty to the club while I was its President.

What Has Been Done

I wish to enumerate a few things to refresh our memories of the work accomplished: First, the Library is being built, the Euclid Road is built, the state has completed one half mile of what they call experimental road north to the Experimental Farm. We secured a state road through the county, and quite a little work has been done. The Great Northern has given us permission to use the old grade from Shirley to Wiley for road purhis aid in a most efficient manner in trying to secure an appropriation of $100,000, and we succeeded in getting $97,500. With all due regard to the great ability of our Senator to get what he goes after, it would have been impossible for him or anyone else, to have gotten what he did, had the club and the citizens not come to his aid with the needs and the cramped condition of our school with a petition signed by several thousand farmers asking that we have due consideration.

poses. Several miles of road out of Crookston were kept in first-class condition by the Club last year.

Boomed Agricultural Road

When the first agricultural building was completed at Crookston, the club hired men to go and solicit scholars, they filled the building beyond its capacity, and when our Honorable Senator went to St. Paul they came to

Support is Due

When the new building is completed we owe our support to Prof. Robertson in assisting to fill the new agricultural school building, and our good will and support to Senator Stephens when he goes back to the Senate in such a way that he may feel honored, and encouraged to ask for double the amount and get it. "In union there is strength." I believe we have been paid a hundredfold for the money and time expended through the club.

Good Advertising

There have been thousands of letters sent out from the club setting forth the advantages of Crookston as a wholesale and manufacturing center The value of this cannot be estimated at present, and the publicity that our esteemed newspapers have given the club without cost would sweep like wild fire over the country. Let the people know what we have. These are only a few things that have been accomplished but I do not wish to take up too much of your valuable time.

Good Suggestions

However, permit me to make a few suggestions: First, elect a good, live president that can be at home most of the time, and will devote some of it to the interests of the club. Then select a good set of directors that will work in harmony with the president. The secretary is the most important officer; he must be a hustler, an originator, and a good "mixer."

Secretary's Work

Let him constantly make suggestions to the directors, and when they find them practical, carry them out as nearly as possible. Permit me to express at this time my appreciation for the loyalty of the directors of the club during my term of office, and also of the members in general. I must also at this time decline to be a candidate for another term should the members see fit to honor me in this manner. I shall be away most of the time this year, and could not do justice to the office, but whether I am at home or abroad, I will consider it a privilege to boost, in any way I am able. One more suggestion. I think one of the most important things the club has got to consider this year is a cold storage plant. Endeavor to interest some one in the live stock business. Nothing would tend to build up Crookston, more rapidly.

Wishing you a pleasant and profitable meeting I remain, Yours truly,

—S. W. Wheeler.

FEDERAL PRISONER RUNS.

Alleged Mail Sack Thief Escapes at Fergus Falls.

Fergus Falls, Minn., Jan. 24.—A. R. Applin escaped from the county jail in this city yesterday and efforts to locate him have thus far been unavailing. He was allowed to bring in wood for exercise under the eye of a deputy, and the deputy lost sight of him for a minute, whereupon he made a break and escaped. Applin was charged with stealing a mail sack from the station platform at Staples and appropriating its contents.

Same Hand Cut in Same Mill.

Perham, Minn., Jan. 24.—N. G. Bolton, proprietor of a portable saw mill located in the timber west of here, had his right hand nearly severed at the wrist while at work yesterday. The hand will be saved, but it will be badly crippled. Part of the same hand was cut off in an accident in the same mill five years ago.

Japs Can't Go to Hawaii.

Honolulu, Jan. 24.—Japanese Consul Saito has received a cablegram from Foreign Minister Hayashi notifying him that beginning Feb. 1 the only Japanese laborers who will be permitted to emigrate to Hawaii are those who are returning and who are immediate relatives of those already there.

Burglars Get Little.

Breckenridge, Minn., Jan. 24.—The large harware store of Louis Gewalt of this city was broken into last night. The thief forced two doors in the rear to gain entrance. The cash in the till, amounting to little more that $3, a number of razors and pocket knives was the extent of the booty.

FOUND LIVING LIKE WILD MAN.

Mystery Envelops Recluse Sorrow Drives to Woods.

St. Cloud, Minn., Jan. 24.—A St. Cloud man with his hair a foot long, with a beard reaching down a foot in length, was discovered living in a hut about fifteen miles from Big lake by two homesteaders a few days ago. He claimed to hail from this city and apparently has gone almost mad over some terrible sorrow. He told of a vow that he had made never to speak to a living person. His hosts thought him demented and decided to take him to big Falls and turn him over to the proper authorities. He, however, overpowered them and got away. No one since has been able to find a trace of him.

MAY SAVE MUNN'S NECK

JUDGE WHO SENTENCED M. S. MUNN TO HANG IS NOW INTERCEDING

IN HIS BEHALF—E. D. CLOUGH IS THE MAN'S ATTORNEY

From Friday's Daily—

Altho the state board of pardons has declined to consider the application for clemency in the case of M. S. Munn sentenced to hang for the murder of August Franklin at Bemidji last fall, the sentence of the court may not be carried out.

Gov. Johnson yesterday received a telegram from Judge McClenahan who sentenced both Munn and P. N. Mathiasen, whose sentence was commuted in which the judge contends that of the two, Munn was the more entitled to the clemency of the pardon board, inasmuch as there was an element of self-defense entering into his case which was lacking in the case of Mathiasen.

It is probable that the communication of Judge McClenahan may result in the reopening of Munn's case.

E. D. Clough of this city was one of the attorneys for Munn.

TWINE TO SELL ONE CENT CHEAPER

Warden Wolfer of the state prison has announced that the prices for binder twine at the prison for the ensuing year have been made up, and that they will be one cent per pound less than in 1907 for all grades.

The new prices are lower than those fixed for this season by any other factory, and are even lower than the prices in other prisons. The prices the grades and the quality are all guaranteed for the season. The contemplated output will be 23,000,000 pounds.

For standard, 500 feet to the pound the price is 7 3-4 cents per pound; sisal 500 feet, 7 3-4 cents; standard Manila, 550 feet, 8 3-4 cents; Manilla 600 feet 9 3-4 cents; pure Manilla 11 cents.

PURDY MAY SUCCEED LOCHREN.

Federal Judgship, It Is Said, Will Be Vacated Before May 1.

Washington, Jan. 24.—Milton D. Purdy of Minneapolis is said to be slated for Judge Lochren's place on the federal bench. While no information is obtainable here giving a definite time for the resignation of Judge Lochren of the United States district court, the impression is general among Minnesota people here that it is the purpose of the judge to relinquish his office before May 1.

Gossip about the prospective change is induced here at this time by suggestions among Minnesota people here that it seems to be practically settled that Mr Purdy, at present assistant to the attorney general of the United States in the department of justice, has been slated for the position.

STEAM SHOVEL DYNAMITED.

Foreman of Construction Crew Is Fatally Injured.

Cleveland, Ohio, Jan. 24.—Mark Murphy, foreman on the shovel job in the work of construction of a spur track of the Pittsburg & Lake Erie railway, in the Newburg mill district, was probably fatally injured last night when a steam shovel was destroyed by dynamite. There is no definite clue to the perpetrators. The construction work is being done by non-union men, it is said.

Panic in Dance Hall.

St. Paul Jan. 24.—Fire in the kitchen of Hiawatha hall at 9 o'clock last night caused a panic among the dancers. The firemen prevented many young women being injured in their frantic efforts to escape down the stairway. The firemen soon extinguished the fire with chemicals.

Highwaymen Sent Up.

Custer, S. D., Jan. 24.—Pleading guilty to robbery and forgery, three prisoners in the circuit court were sentenced by Judge McGee to various terms in the state penitentiary. Abel Worth and Charles Ventling, who held up "Panner Joe," received respectively fifteen and four years.

Two Men Injured.

Zellenope, Pa., Jan. 24.—Two men were injured and considerable damage done when the Pittsburg Fulminite Powder company's building at Fombell, near here, blew up. The cause of the explosion is not known.

ASKS $14,000,000 for Census.

Washington, Jan. 24.—Director North of the census bureau yesterday asked the house committee on census for an appropriation of $14,000,000 to defray the cost of taking the census of the United States for 1910.

CUTICURA CURED MOTHER AND BABY

Southern Woman Suffered With Itching, Burning Rash—Drove Her Nearly Crazy—Her Baby Had Sore on Neck, and Two Other Babies Had Skin Troubles—Calls

CUTICURA A STAND-BY THAT NEVER FAILS HER

"I just can't say enough for the Cuticura Remedies, I can't find words high enough to express my thanks to God for hearing of the wonderful remedies. My baby had a running sore on his neck and nothing that I did for it took effect until I used Cuticura. My face was nearly full of tetter or some similar skin disease. It would itch and, after scratching, it burned so that I could hardly stand it. Two cakes of Cuticura Soap and a box of Cuticura Ointment cured me. Two years after it broke out on my hands and wrist. I cured it for a while, but it came again in the summer. Sometimes I would go nearly crazy for it itched so badly. I used ten dollars' worth of so-called blood medicines which did no good at all, then I went back to my old stand-by, that had never failed me. One set of Cuticura Soap, Cuticura Ointment, and Cuticura Resolvent did the work. One set also cured my uncle's baby whose head was a cake of sores, and I know of another woman's baby who was in the same fix and nothing else did any good. I speak a word of praise for Cuticura whenever I see a case that needs it. Mrs. Lillie Wilcher, 770 Eleventh St., Chattanooga, Tenn., Feb. 16, 1907."

What is Origin of Ground-hog Day

What is the origin of Ground-Hog Day? February second which falls on Sunday next or Candlemas Day was a favorite holiday, marked by public gaiety and ceremonies in Europe during the Middle Ages. It is still marked there by the closing of banks and offices, but not otherwise outside of the reading of church services. In the church calendar it is known as the Feast of Purification of the Virgin, and was first instituted by Pope Sergius, about the year 684 A. D. The popular name of the day is derived from the early custom of lighting up the churches with candles and carrying these in procession on this festival.

As to the weather superstition that gives to Candlemas the name of the "ground-hog day" that is a worldwide fable. In Germany it is the badger that breaks his winter nap on this day to essay the thankless task of weather prophecy; in France and Switzerland it is the marmot, in England the hedgehog. Observation shows that none of these small animals do thus observe the date fixed also that the weather on this date does not accurately foretell that of the following two months, as is supposed. But it is a general truth that in temperate latitudes, warm and sunny weather in the first half of February is apt to be followed by a change and a cool spring, and on this fact our ground-hog and badger stories are founded.

Crookston's Wonderful Health Record

Crookston's health record for last year is worthy of more than passing notice. The total death list was just 100, while the list of births was 230 an increase that should make Crookston a particular favorite with President Roosevelt and should make that bill for an additional $40,000 for the Crookston Government building go through Congress humming.

Healthfulness is one of the greatest advertisements a city could possibly have. and Crookston has it in a degree unsurpassed by any city in the United States. Of the depths a large number were due to the bringing here of desperate hospital cases from out side towns, where the condition of the patients in many instances were hopeless but where the only possible chance of life was an operation.

Would it not be a good thing for residents to remember and talk about it in conversation with visitors in the city, or when making a trip to other cities and towns?

It is a record of which we may well be proud, and which reflects credit upon the members of the medical profession, to whose skill in a material degree belongs the credit for the splendid showing of the small death record of a city with nearly 10,000 souls.

Just remember to toot your horn about this in the future, for the old saying "he that bloweth not his own horn, for him no horn shall be blown" is more truth than poetry.

A novel development in the plans of the administration for the preservation of the country's national resources is the suggestion that an annual convention be held at which judges, government officials and representative professional men shall have an opportunity to confer on questions of national business policy. This plan has been carried out with great success in Germany, where every year representatives of the government and prominent civilians meet for twelve weeks of lectures and study of institutions and commerce. The results of these conferences have proved an important factor in the recent industrial awakening of Germany, according to Prof. J. Lawrence Laughlin of the University of Chicago, who has just returned from an investigation of economic conditions in Europe. "The difference between Germany and the United States in this respect", he said "is as wide as the poles. In Germany the state not only fosters science and scholarship, but it wishes to use the result in the problems of government; in America a scholar is discounted as a theorist and is patronized by the merely rich. The old "Vaterland" is passing as a result of the steady social and industrial awakening throughout the country. The finest houses in the capital are those belonging to the men who have risen to fortune in the new industrial movement which has brought Germany into such intense rivalry with Great Britain and made it a factor in international commerce and trade." No details of the planned convention for this country have yet been worked out but it is thought to have the favor of President Roosevelt, as it is in line with his policy as expressed in parts of his last message urging a more scientific study of our natural resources and the most practical means of conserving them.

Saint Paul's bank clearings for the week show a total af $9,117,000 which is an increase of eight percent. Reports from responsible officers of leading northwest railways indicate a firm belief that the present lull will be followed very shortly by a marked increase of business, and that the falling off in traffic is certain to prove a blessing in disguise, since it affords a breathing spell in which to prepare for the spring rush. General business conditions are promising and there are no signs of apprehension.

Minnesota has never had better advertising than kind Nature has given the greatest state in the Union this winter. The official records of the St. Paul weather bureau show that Jan. 23 the mercury touched zero but once. On that date it dropped to seven degrees below, the coldest weather of the winter so far. State and eastern papers have been full of Minnesota banana belt jokes some of which had a foundation of fact. A St. Paul boy living on Monument Street caught a large butterfly only a week ago and the street cleaning brigade has worked summer hours thruout the present month. In Duluth there was not show enough for the ski tournament and but for a chance cold snap which permitted the construction of an artificial slide, there would have been no sport on the big hills. Even now the Mississippi is partially free of ice at St. Paul, and light overcoats are in common use.

An Associated Press dispatch from Ottawa says: "The Dominion government has decided to loan sufficient funds to the farmers of the new provinces of Alberta and Saskatchewan whose crops were a failure to purchase seed grain. The scheme will involve about $4000,000. The advances will be payable in three years at the usual government rates of interest." The United States never had to bolster up the farmers of Minnesota.

Secretary William Taft, who is prominently in the public eye as a candidate for the presidency, will visit St. Paul within the coming 2 months The big war secretary has advised the Roosevelt Club that he will be glad to come to Minnesota, and will accept their invitation within this period, altho he will not be able to definitely fix a date for the present.

The "grip" seems to have made its annual visit among some of the families in the city during the past two weeks and while the illness affects the old as well as the young to a certain degree few serious cases have been reported, outside of the doctors who are working overtime prescribing for the unfortunates.

FIRE DANGER FROM MATCHES

OFFICE OF THE STATE FIRE MARSHAL, ST. PAUL, MINN., JAN. 1908. PUBLIC BULLETIN NO. 4.

Reports made to this office show that ten per cent of our six million dollar annual fire waste and the loss of several lives is due to carelessness with matches. Six hundred thousand dollars a year is too much to pay for the privilege of using a poor match instead of a good one.

Nearly all fires caused by careless use of matches are due either to the explosive qualities of the head of the match, or to the fact that the wood in the stick continues to glow for an average interval of forty-eight seconds after the flame is out. In igniting, the head often explodes or the stick breaks; flaming chemicals fly and ignite waste paper, sweepings, lace curtains and clothing. After using a match a twirl or a toss given to it without looking to see if is still glowing will often place it where it may start a fire. And a large proportion of match fires result from one of these hot sticks being thrown upon inflammable substance. Matches lyloose in drawers or on desks or on the floor or walk are liable to take fire from rubbing or from a blow. On the mantel piece they are often ignited by heat from the grate or stove. In each one hundred matches-fires, forty one are from flying match-heads or glowing sticks thrown into rubbish, which fact says "Clean up the place."

The name "Parlor" is given to all matches except the 'Safety." They are made without sulphur, thereby avoiding the odor given out by the "Lucifer" match. Its head contains phosphorus, chloride of potash, rosin, whiting and powdered flint, held together by glue. Phosphorus ignites at 140 degrees Fahrenheit. The heat produced by the friction of the particles of flint in the head when it is struck ignites the phosphorus. The chloride gives up the 39 per cent of oxygen it contains, with explosive spluttering and intense heat which fires the rosin and they together fire the paraffin with which the stick is saturated and the stick itself. By substituting either saltpetre or sulphur for chloride a silent and slow match is made which does not snap and fly.

The use of the "parlor" match, and in fact all other matches except the "safety" should be discontinued and prohibited by law. This would be no hardship to the users or to manufacturers because "safety" matches which can be lighted only by rubbing them on the box or a special place prepared for that purpose are made on the same machine and at practically the same price as other matches. The exclusive use of the "safety" match would not only lessen the fire loss and reduce fire insurance premium rates about 10 per cent, but it would also serve to keep free from the ugly-looking scratch stains of the ordinary match. And no match should be used the wood of which is not impregnated or saturated with a saline acid or other solution to prevent the formation of a glowing coal following combustion.

The legislatures now in session in several states are considering the advisability of prohibiting the use of any other but the "safety" matches. Any manufacturer can make them without changing his machine and the increased cost to the consumer would be too small for consideration.

RULES IN EFFECT EASTFR SUNDAY

REGULATIONS REGARDING MARRIAGE OF CATHOLICS ARE CONSIDERED IMPORTANT

CATHOLICS MUST BE MARRIED BY A PRIEST TO BE RECOGNIZED

The Catholic church's new laws touching on betrothal and marriage are to be promulgated Easter Sunday in every Catholic diocese in the world and they go into effect at noon on that day.

Under these laws are marriage contracted between Catholics will be absolutely void in the eyes of the church unless it be celebrated in the presence of a duly qualified priest and two witnesses. At present the marriage of a Catholic pair by a non-Catholic clergyman or by a civil magistrate is valid, altho it is considered illicit and the persons contracting it render themselves liable to excommunication.

Protestants married by a minister will be regarded as lawfully married under the new law.

"In brief" said a Catholic clergyman, "marriages between Catholics in Protestant churches or registry offices will be for Catholic not only sinful, but invalid, and the persons who contract them will have only gone thru an empty ceremony and will be no more husband and wife than they were before. This law binds all Catholics, even tho they are apostateor excommunicated.

"But is does not affect those who are not and never have been Catholics. Consequently, Protestants and non-Catholics are outside of the scope of the law, in the eyes of the church. and such marriages are recognized by the Catholic church, all else permitting it, as real and true marriage."

The principles contained in the new laws have long been recognized in the church, it is explained and their recent promulgation is said to be due to the increase of marriage before civil magistrates in this country and abroad. Of course, this does not apply to Maryland, as only ordained ministers and those of the Society of Friends have authority to perform marriage ceremonies in that state.

MURDOCK McLEOD PERISHED IN FIRE, WHICH DESTROYED HOME

NEIGHBORS NOTICE HOUSE GONE FIND REMAINS IN THE CELLAR

From Tuesday's Daily—

News reached here yesterday of the tragic death near Calvin N. D., of Murdick McLeod in a fire which destroyed his home. Murdock lived with John McLeod and family who drove to a neighbor's in the evening leaving Murdock alone. While there one of the children became ill and they were compelled to remain away. Murdock went to Calvin and spent the evening there, returning home about 10 p. m.

In the morning neighbors noticed that the house was gone and went in search of John. They met him on the road and told him about the fire. He hurried to the scene and investigated with the result that the remains of Murdock were found in the cellar, burned to a crisp.

Tried to Put Out Fire

No one will ever know how the fire originated but everything goes to show that Murdock had made an attempt to fight the flames. It is surmised that while Murdock was inside fighting the flames he was overcome and perished. From childhood he had been afflicted with very poor eyesight. He was 40 years old.

The house was insured for $1,000. It was owned by John McLeod.

Judge Asks Questions.

The prosecutor contented himself with drawing from the alienists the fact that last year they swore it was during a "brain storm" that Thaw committed the homicide.

It was left to Justice Dowling to make a most important inquiry of the alienists. He desired to know the exact nature of "manic-depressive" insanity and if the attacks were likely to recur. He also asked if a person suffering from this form of insanity would be likely to commit assaults. He learned that it was a recurrent form of mental disorder, the attacks coming suddenly and without warnings, a period of insanity being followed by a mental outburst, then by a period of complete depression and then by another lucid interval. It seemed that the presiding judge was securing information upon which to predicate judicial action in the event of a verdict of not guilty on the ground of insanity or of a straight acquittal.

Calls It "Manic-Depressive."

An English physician, one of three men of medicine who testified, first gave the name of "manic-depressive" or "subacute mania" to Thaw's mental condition. Dr. Sydney Russell Wells of London made the diagnosis during an outbreak by Thaw in London in 1899.

Mr. Littleton's hypothetical question, which was answered by the three experts, was a complete resume of the evidence. The question contained some sixteen thousand words.

SHOULD PURCHASE STAMPS—Postmaster Steenerson desires to call tatention to the practice of some patrons of the rural delivery of placing loose coins in their boxes each time they desire to dispatch letters instead of supplying themselves with postage in advance of their needs. The postmaster, therefore urgently requests that patrons of rural delivery provide themselves and keep on hand a supply of stamps consistent with and in advance of their needs. It is also very desirable that rural patrons place in their mail boxes small detachable cups of wood or tin in which to place coins, when necessary, in purchasing supplies of postage stamps.

LORING IS IN WASHINGTON

IN CONNECTION WITH A CASE OF INTERNATIONAL IMPORTANCE

SCRAP OVER DAM CONSTRUCTION IN CONNECTION WITH RAINY RIVER

From Wednesday's Daily—

Dissensions between promoters of the plan for constructing a power dam across the Rainy river at the international boundary have arisen over the flooding of lands on the American side belonging to homesteaders.

Yesterday Representative Beede introduced a bill in congress to extend the time for the construction of the dam for one year, and representatives of both sides were present to present their side of the case. Hector Baxter of Minneapolis is representing the company constructing the dam and Charles Loring of this city law partner of Representative Steenerson is representing the homesteaders.

It is said there are international questions involved, as the dam is partially on Canadian territory.

It is said that this is one question that Ambassador Bryce will discuss with the Canadian government officials at Ottawa, where he went last week.

Atty. Loring went to Washington after a trip to St. Louis where he appeared as attorney before the U. S. Court of Appeals in an important case.

HOLD UP AT NOYES

TOOK PECULIAR REVENGE WHEN BARRED FROM THE UNITED STATES

HIGH JINKS STUNT PUT ON IN THE NORTH LINE TOWN

From Wednesday's Daily—

A few days ago American customs officers at Noyes, Minn., were held up by a drunken foreigner, heavily armed, and made to perform many curious calisthenic exercises, according to a story told by a party who came from there last night.

The immigrant was refused admission to the states by the custom officers at Emerson, the last station on the Canadian side and all his protests and assertions were of no avail and he was turned back. Enraged at his treatment he waited around an Emerson hotel a few hours, then walked to Noyes, on the American side of the boundary. Arriving there and armed with two revolvers, a Winchester and a long bowie knife he made the customs staff and several train hands, hold up their hands all the while shooting out nearby windows until there was not a whole pane of glass in the station or custom house. Then he scribbled upon their records with an indellible pencil, which he afterward sprinkled with water.

When the performance was beginning to pall upon the irate foreigner Station Agent McKay arrived upon the scene with a posse. The man saw them coming and surprising the party in the rear, captured McKay and locked him in the station, while the others scattered. He then broke open a safe but left the cash intact.

The last seen of the stranger he was headed for Winnipeg but the officials at Noyes were not over-enthusiastic in reporting the affair; in fact they are doing all they can to hush it up.

GREAT STRIDES IN NORTHWEST

NORTHERN PACIFIC TERRITORY SHOWS WONDERFUL GROWTH IN PAST YEAR

STILL BETTER SHOWING EXPECTED IN NORTHERN MINNESOTA

The marvelous growth of the northwest is shown by statistics which have been compiled by the emigration department of the Northern Pacific. The figures presented cover only certain sections but they are indicative to a greater or less degree of the wonderful development of the territory traversed by the Northern Pacific R. R.

"Minnesota has made considerable gain, but it can still make a better showing if the swamp lands in the northern part of the state are drained," said C. W. Mott, general emigration agent of the Northern Pacific. "If a comprehensive drainage system is inaugurated in northern Minnesota the population will be more than doubled. It will bring settlers from Indiana, Illinois, Michigan and Wisconsin, who have had successful results from the drainage system."

DEATH ENDED SUFFERINGS

MRS. ALBERT JANCE DIED AS RESULT OF ACCIDENT AT FISHER

PHYSICIANS COULD DO NOTHING TO RELIEVE HER SUFFERINGS

From Wednesday's Daily—

Yesterday afternoon at 2 o'clock Mrs. Albert Jance of Fisher died as the result of terrible burns which she received yesterday morning after pouring kerosene on a soft coal fire in the Jance suite of rooms over the Bank of Fisher building at Fisher.

An explosion resulted shortly after she poured the kerosene on the stove and when her screams attracted the attention of those in the bank, the mother urged those who rushed to her assistance to rescue her children in an adjoining room first which they did and were carried out uninjured.

The thoughtfulness of the mother probably resulted in her own death, as when the rescuers returned for her she was so badly burned that the physicians could do nothing for her, and after five hours of terrible suffering she passed away.

Fisher today is shrouded in sorrow Deceased was beloved by all who knew her and leaves two children, aged two years and three months respectively, and a husband to mourn her untimely death.

Deceased was 28 years of age at the time of her death, and during her residence in Fisher has been prominent in both church and social circles where her loss will be keenly felt.

The funeral will be held Friday afternoon at 2 o'clock, and many from this city will attend the services. The many friends of Mr. Jance, one of the leading business men of Fisher, join in extending heartfelt sympathy in his hour of bereavement.

INDIAN LEISURELY WALKED OFF TRAIN FROM DULUTH LAST EVENING

IN BACKING UP TO GET HIM THE TRAIN CAME NEAR RUNNING OVER VICTIM

From Saturday's Daily—

Last evening an Indian, who with a bunch of bucks coming in from the Cass Lake line, all of whom were comfortably jagged, leisurely walked off the rear end of the train beyond Mentor.

The conductor was at once notified stopped the train and backed it up and in the darkness came near running over the Indian who had stumbled to his feet and was coming down the track in a dazed condition.

He had a bad cut on his head, and was shaken up well, but by the time Crookston was reached he was fairly sobered up and continued on his journey to North Dakota. The experience would without a doubt have been fatal to a sober man.

TASDALE VICTIM OF AN ASSASSIN

LONELY RANCHER IS SHOT DEAD AS HE SAT BY THE FIRE

EVIDENCE THAT HE HAD ENTERTAINED TWO PERSONS BEFORE THE CRIME

The following dispatch from Fort Benton, Montana, gives additional details regarding the murder of Peter Tasdale an account of which was published in the Journal exclusively last Monday, and which is being investigated by Nels Peterson of this city, a brother-in-law of the deceased, and a brother from Morris, Illinois. The dispatch says:

Peter Tasdale an unmarried man of about forty years who lived on a ranch on Belt Creek in Chouteau county was found dead in his house last week. He was sitting in a rocking chair in front of a cook stove with a bullet hole thru his neck and a great pool of dried blood about him on the floor.

Investigation showed a clean-cut hole thru the window pane about six feet back of the body, thru which a rifle ball had passed. It is supposed he had been dead several days when found by George Hoefler a neighbor.

It was evident that he had just finished his supper and that two other persons had eaten with him. The officers have not been able to find out who was with him, and in fact have made no announcement of any clue. Tasdale lived alone and was not on friendly terms with some of his neighbors. His home is in a very rugged country in the brakes of Belt Creek, off the travelled road.

The body and premises evidently had not been searched for money and it is not thought that robbery could have been the motive for the killing.

The deceased was well fixed having property and livestock of the value of about $5000. Owing to the fact that the murder occurred at a point close to the line between Cascade and Chouteau counties, officers from both counties have been investigating.

REPRESENTATIVE OF DEPARTMENT OF JUSTICE IN CROOKSTON TODAY

APPLICATIONS FOR CITIZENSHIP PAPERS ARE ALL RIGIDLY CHECKED

From Saturday's Daily—

To become a citizen of the United States at the present time requires a pretty close record. A few years ago about all that was necessary was to mumble something about your intentions and your papers were issued in a rush, and the right to vote in most states went with the issuance of the first papers.

It is different now. In only a few states is the right of franchise extended unless the final papers are issued. It takes two years after the first papers are issued before the final papers are issued, and no person can receive final papers who has not been in the country for at least five years.

C. T. Moore, representing the department of justice is here from St. Paul today checking up the applications filed here and will conclude his work this evening. He has just come from North Dakota and states that eight out of 11 applications were recently rejected in one instance because of the illiteracy of the applicants, one of whom did not know who the president of the United States is.

Not only applicants, but the witnesses as well are all closely checked and Uncle Sam is determined to have everything straight.

Mrs. Elizabeth Anderson was called to the Great Beyond early Friday morning. Her husband the late Andrew E. Anderson died very suddenly three years ago at Alexandria, Minn., at which place their wedding occurred in 1880.

She had only been sick a week or ten days with throat trouble thought to be tonsilitis. She seemed no better Thursday evening so the doctor thought that if she had not improved Friday morning he would operate upon her throat but when he called Friday morning he found her dying. Death came peacefully. She leaves only nephews and nieces to mourn her death having no nearer relatives.

Her nephew Mr. Olaf Gilbertson of Alexandria came up Friday evening to take charge of her remains and property. Her remains will be laid beside those of her husband at Alexandria, Minn. Funeral services announced later.

HOME FROM TOUR OF THE WORLD

MISSES BROWN WILL VISIT HERE FOR A WEEK—RETURN TO MINNEAPOLIS

The Misses Margaret and Matie Brown returned this morning from a tour of the world and will remain in the city guests of Capt. and Mrs. M. R. Brown for about a week before returning to Minneapolis where they will open massage parlors as soon as they can secure suitable apartments in a desirable location. They left Crookston on March 20th, nearly a year ago going to Seattle via the G. N. and taking the boat at that point for the Orient.

Their special correspondence to the Journal during their tour was read by hundreds of friends thruout the northwest but to the thrilling stories and graphic descriptions given of manners, customs and conditions in foreign lands, an interview today added much more of interest which limited time makes it impossible to report.

They report a grand trip in every particular. The weather was ideal and the only rain they encountered was while in London and Paris. No storms were encountered during the ocean trips, tho the Atlantic was rough a part of the time on the homeward voyoge.

Both travelers agree that Japan and Switzerland were the two most interesting countries visited. The progressiveness of the Japanese excites the admiration of all visitors. During their entire trip they were both deeply impressed with the uniform courtesy extended to travellers by foreigners. A moment of hesitation on a street corner always resulted in a quiry from some one willing to direct them.

No inconvenience was encountered thru inspecting officers. The inspection in this country being more strict than in any country they visited.

The Misses Brown both return in the best of health and their visit here will be keenly enjoyed as both ladies have a store of experiences and impressions which indicates that they took the trip with a purpose beyond the whiling away of time. A number of social affairs are being planned in their honor, and their visit here will be all too brief to suit their relatives and friends, who would fain hear graphic recitals of an experience that falls to the lot of but very few—a trip around the world.

GRAND CELEBRATION BY BURNS CLUB AT MALLORY LAST EVENING

250 PEOPLE ENJOYED GREAT BANQUET AND EXCELLENT PROGRAM

The attendance was very large, nearly 300 people having gathered from the vicinity of Mallory, with large delegations from Crookston, Grand Forks and other points who are alwoys assured of a delightful evening.

Thomas R. Johnston of this city officiated as toastmaster as usual and his address was one of the best he has ever delivered, confining his remarks to "Scotchmen at Home and Abroad" and he certainly entered fully into the spirit of the occasion.

The supper was a most elaborate spread, and after the feast dancing and other special features were added to the regular program. The solos and quartette numbers by the Misses Hannah, Bryson, McDonald and Bain were thoroly enjoyed, as were the piano selections by Mrs. Thomas R. Johnston.

Space forbids making special mention of the various numbers on the program. All were excellent and were most heartily applauded. The numbers by Archie Millar of Grafton who is 88 years of age, but sings the old Scotch will all the spirit of youth were a special feature, and the Highland Fling by John McLeod of Grand Forks was done just as nimbly as he did it 50 years ago.

The delegation from Crookston including Mr. and Mrs. Thomas R. Johnstone and Jessie and Tom Johnstone, Jr., Mr. and Mrs. John Harper, Mrs. J. D. STRONGLY FAVORS GOVERNOR JOHNSON FOR PRESIDENT

MARTIN O'BRIEN, MEMBER OF THE DEMOCRATIC STATE CENTRAL COMMITTEE FROM THIS DISTICT MAKES A STATEMENT WHICH SHOWS SENTIMENT VERY STRONG FOR JOHNSON—A SPLENDID ENDORSEMENT OF MINNESOTA'S GOVERNOR

The following interview from Atty Martin O'Brien, member of the Democratic State Central Committee from this district, and who is in close touch with the rank and file of the party as any man could be, will be of special interest at this time:

"The sentiment in this part of the state amongst democrats is strongly in favor of Gov. Johnson for president This feeling seems more pronounced if possible in the old line of Bryan adherents than elsewhere. We all appreciate the high character and sterling worth of William J. Bryan, we have made two strenuous campaigns for him, and would gladly make the third if we thought it would be of avail but in view of past experiences and the fact that in our midst is a new personality, who combines in his makeup all that the rank and file of the people can desire in a president, one who has ever placed the man before the dollar, and who in his public life has proven himself a true and faithful servant of the people, who has stayed the hand of greed and predatory wealth, and answered unflinchingly every call to duty, while at the same time exhibiting a poise and spirit of fairness that has commanded the respect of even his most bitter enemies, the rank and file of the party seem to be almost unanimously for Governor Johnson and yet I believe, few of us realize the great genius of the man. I believe that at Denver we will see repeated the history of the Wigwam Convention of Chicago when all pre-convention signs indicated the nomination of William H. Seward on the first ballot, but in which the wonderful personality of the comparatively unknown Lincoln resulted in the nomination of one of the greatest characters in American history.

"We are approaching troublous times in the internal affairs of this nation, and the ship of state requires at the helm a just man with a clear brain and steady hand. We believe that Governor Johnson possesses these attributes, and is fully equipped to meet any condition, which may be presented, fairly, honestly and unflinchingly."

RELATIVES OF INSANE MAN ARE COMMUNICATED WITH

John Norman whose sensational disappearance from his home near McIntosh during the fall or early winter was noted in these columns has again been heard from by friends.

It will be remembered that after disappearing without saying a word to anyone or making any provision for the care of his stock or property he wrote back from Montreal that he was on his way to his old home in Sweden and requested that $50.00 or such a matter be forwarded to him at Gotheborg, as he was nearly out of money.

This request was complied with, but before the remittance reached him, Norman was taken into custody by the authorities at Gotheborg and adjudged insane. Inquiry revealed his citizenship and his relatives there were communicated with, with the result that he is now in an asylum at Jenteland, where everything possible will be done for him.

RED RIVER VALLEY WINS SOME PRIZES ON FLAX SEED

AND OATS AT THE MID-WINTER SEED GRAIN EXHIBIT

James A. Frank returned to Warren yesterday from St. Paul, where he took part in the Minnesota Mid-Winter Seed Grain Contest held in connection with the Minnesota Field Crop Breeders' Association and succeeded in winning for Marshall County the first prizes on flax and oats. As there were many contestants present from all parts of the state, the honor will be no small one, and demonstrates beyond a doubt the capabilities of Marshall County soil for growing perfect and well matured grains. Among other exhibitors from Warren and vicinity were L. Lamberson, Chas. Wentzel, Harmon D. K. Thomas, J. B. Bren, and L. O. Munger, Mr. Munger securing first prize on flax and Mr. Lamberson first and third prizes on blue stem wheat. Altogether $23 worth of prizes were secured by farmers in the vicinity of Warren.

CASE BEHIND CLOSED DOORS

CASE AGAINST DAVE GOODRIE TOO JUICY FOR THE PUBLIC

GRAND FORKS LUMBER CO., LOST IN THE HOLD BACK CASES TRIED

From Monday's Daily—

In district court this morning the case of the State of Minnesota vs. Dave Goodrie of Grand Forks for indecent assault is on trial the complaining witness being Miss Julia Roynstad, of Espevet, P. O. Chester Township, the alleged crime having been committed in a wine room in an East Grand Forks saloon.

The jury was secured just before noon today, and because of the nature of the case Judge Watts decided to hear the evidence behind closed doors and the decision of the court in this matter will meet with hearty public approval.

The jury in the case of Angus Wood of East Grand Forks vs. the Grand Forks Lumber Co., for the cellection of 'hold back" wages that is wages that were agreed upon if the full term of labor agreed upon was served, was decided in favor of the plaintiff, who was given a verdict of $24.50, the amount due for labor performed but no "hold back" money was allowed and the jury in the second case similar in character also returned a verdict for the plaintiff. The third case was settled on the same basis.

DEATH SENTENCE OF MERTON S. MUNN WAS COMMUTTED SATURDAY

WILL SPEND BALANCE OF HIS DAYS IN STILLWATER—HE WANTS NEW TRIAL

From Monday's Daily—

Following the telegram of Judge McClenahan, who had the bench in the two recent Bemidji murder cases the state board of pardons Saturday commutted the sentence of death by changing to life imprisonment in the case of Merton S. Munn for the murder of Franklin of Beaudette.

Following the commutation of the death sentence of Mathieson from that of death by hanging to life imprisonment obtained thru the influence of notable Danes in Nebraska, Iowa and Minnesota, Judge McClenahan wired the board from his Brainerd home, that if clemency was to be shown, the board had shown clemency to the less desirable of the two. The state board had just made a decision refusing to commute Munn's sentence.

A scaffold was being erected at Bemidji for the execution in February, but Sheriff Bailey happily ceased operations thereon when the unofficial news of the commutation of Munn's sentence reached the city.

The history of the case after it had passed the sentence of the court is interesting because of the fact that Munn received no support from outside influences of power or money. E. D Clough of this city and H. Taylor of Warroad, appointed attorneys of Munn, pursued their course for the commutation totally at their own expense and in behalf of the sentenced man. The two gathered whatever influence they could arouse in Munn's home town of Thorpe, Wisconsin, and appeared before the state board on January 21.

Naturally there has been some official correspondence between Judge McClenahan and E. D. Clough of this city with reference to the case and what statements his honor made are not known, but from the pleasant surprise of E. D. Clough last night when he received the news it is evident that he held only desperate hopes of any resulting action on his honor's part which represented the last chance for the life of Munn.

Merton S. Munn was born in 1876 of respected parents in Thorpe, Wisconsin. His father died when he was 12 years old. At the death of his father he went to work in a stave factory for the support of himself and mother. His mother married again and a few years later her husband deserted her, leaving he with two young children and Merton who was now nineteen years old. The mother taught school in the home town until her death a few years ago. When his mother died Munn left Thorpe. The impressions he left behind him in that little town are manifested in the appearance at St. Paul February 21 of a paid attorney from there together with a petition signed by every old settler of that town. Munn has no known living relatives with the exception of a half brother in Omaha and a half brother working at iron ornamentation in Minneapolis the last of whom has interested himself in the case.

When Munn heard of the refusal of the state board to grant commutation he collapsed but upon the action of Judge McClenahan he revived hope and now feels like a new man.

There will undoubtedly be a motion made for a new trial in the near future.

GOODRIE IS FOUND GUILTY

JURY WRESTLED WITH THE EVIDENCE FOR SIX HOURS BEFORE AGREEING

TO BE SENTENCED TOMORROW—TERM COMPLETED AND THE JURY DISCHARGED

From Tuesday's Daily—

Retiring yesterday afternoon at 5 o'clock, at 11 o'clock last night the jury returned a verdict of guilty in the case of the state vs. Dave Goodrie for indecent assault, the complaining witness being Miss Julia Roynstad of Espevet, P. O., Chester township, the crime having been committed at East Grand Forks last summer.

Judge Watts will probably sentence Goodrie tomorrow, and it is not likely that a motion for a new trial will be made.

This was the last case and the corridors of the court house will no longer resound with the hearty greetings of Bailiffs B. F. Zerracher of this city and Mike Herrick of East Grand Forks two of the jolliest jolliers going, and the gentle feet-steps of as good a lot of jurors as ever served Polk county, will no longer be heard in the house on the hill.

All jurors not serving on the Goodrie case were discharged yesterday morning, and the balance were discharged by Judge Watts last evening.

The work of the present session has been disposed of with great dispatch few of the cases dragging to a wearisome length but some time was lost because of the postponement of cases after they had been set and the settlement of others.

DIED FROM EXPOSURE

OLE S. HOEL WELL KNOWN FORKS NEWSPAPER WRITER FOUND DEAD

HAD BEEN IN THE HABIT OF FALLING ASLEEP IN OPEN AIR

From Tuesday's Daily—

Ole S. Hoel, aged 55, a well known newspaper writer was found dead near the east end of the Minnesota avenue bridge at Grand Forks Sunday afternoon about 1:30. His body was frozen and his position indicated that he had lain down and had soon perished from exposure. His body was taken to Norman's undertaking room and Sunday evening an inquest was held. A verdict that death was due to liquor and exposure was brought in.

It was shown by the evidence of James Jarvis a saloon keeper on Minnesota Point, that Hoel had been in the Jarvis saloon at 10:10 and had left for his home in Grand Forks. It appeared that Hoel's hat had blown off and that when he went to look for it he had become overcome by liquor exhaustion and laid down to die. The body was on the west bank of the river.

Good Editorial Writer

Hoel was known as a strong editorial writer and for a number of years he was employed on the Normanden leaving it about four years ago. He settled on a claim near Souris and with money secured from the sale of the land made a trip to Norway. He returned about a year ago but was so dissipated he could not secure a place on the Normanden. In December he was given the Keeley cure for the second time through the kindness of friends. He was given employment on the Normanden but soon began to drink and lost his place a couple of weeks ago. Since then he drank all the liquor he could obtain. When found he had no money and his watch was gone evidently having been pawned somewhere for liquor. Hoel had been in the habit of falling asleep in public places while intoxicated. He had been found in alleys in Grand Forks and had many narrow escapes from freezing to death.

The deceased had no relatives in United States so far as known. He has a sister in Norway who kept up a correspondence with him.

The funeral will be held this afternoon from the Arlington Park hotel.

HAVE HALF THEIR WHEAT

SHELLY BUSINESS MAN SAYS FARMERS HAVE MUCH WHEAT IN THEIR BINS

HENDRUM REVIEW SAYS LITTLE WHEAT IS BEING MARKETED ON HALSTAD LINE

From Tuesday's Daily—

James Hanson a prominent business man of Shelly, having a large hardware farm implement and furniture business is in the city today enroute to Fisher where he will spend a few days visiting with his sister, Mrs. H. A. Rosaan. In conversation with a representative of the Journal Mr. Hanson said:

"I do not believe that much if any over half of the wheat in this section has been marketed by the farmers. They want a dollar for their wheat or want the wheat, and they are holding on to it. This is the condition around Shelly and I believe that it is the condition very generally in this section of the country."

On same subject the Hendrum Review in its issue of last week said:

"Very little wheat is being sold at the towns between Moorhead and Crookston at present, whenever the price is below the dollar mark. All those who are holding grain yet seem to have their mind made up that is the minimum price they will accept for No. 1 northern. Week before last while the price was up there was a rush to market at every town along the line, but a week ago Saturday, when the price slumped two or three cents the movement seems to have ceased all along the line. The same thing must be true all over the northwest, because the receipts at the terminals get large as soon as wheat goets to $1.10 or over, while they immediately drop off when the price goes below that figure. While the Equity Society is at the bottom of this the action is not confined to members of that organization."

MINN. SOC. BANQUET AT YAKIMA WASH.

FORMER CROOKSTONITES TAKE ACTIVE PART—BERT BIVENS ELECTED PRESIDENT

The Yakima Democrat gives the following report of an event which occurred last week.

The banquet given Tuesday evening by the Minnesota Society of this valley was attended by 450 "Gophers." Jackson orchestra was in attendance. As the guests arrived the names of their native Minnesota towns were pinned on them and thus each one was enabled to find his own townspeople. At 8:15 the grand march began led by Miss Katherine Van Slyke and Albert Hoffman; at its close all united in singing "The Jolly Miller."

Mr. Nichols, Mr. Bivens and Miss McMurtrie were appointed a nominating committee to suggest names for the officers for the year. The male quartette composed of W. F. F. Selleck Harold Selleck, Milo Whitney and Rev. Whitney, sang several original Minnesota songs which received much applause. Mr. Bivens and Mr. Nichols chose up sides for an old-fashioned country spelling match. In the county roll call every county in the state had sent several delegates to this valley.

In a short business meeting following the program, Bert Bivens was elected president for the year, Miss Van Slyke vice president, Miss Maud Colton secretary, and Charles Druse treasurer. Delicious refreshments were served by the ladies at the close of the evening.

Washington, Jan. 25.—Rumors of an uprising or invasion in Honduras have reached the state department. Details are lacking, but it is believed that the leaders of the movement are persons who were driven out of Honduras into Guatemala during the last revolutionary outbreak. TIME IS THE TEST

The Testimony of Crookston People Stands the Test

The test of time is what tells the tale. The public soon finds out when misrepresentations are made, and merit alone will stand the test of time.

Crookston people appreciate merit and many months ago local citizens publicly endorsed Doan's Kidney Pills; they do so still. Would a citizen make the statement which follows unless convinced that the article was just a srepresented? A cure that lasts is the kind that every sufferer from kidney ills is looking for.

Mrs. Benj. Champagne of 322 Spendley St. Crookston, Minn., says: "I can just as enthusiastically endorse Doan's Kidney Pills today as I did six years ago. At that time they proved of great benefit to me in banishing a dull, annoying backache which clung to me despite my earnest endeavors to get rid of it. When Doan's Kidney Pills were brought to my attention I procured a box at the Wallace drug store. I found relief from the first dose, or two and soon the pains in my back were entirely removed. The difficulty with the kidneys was also ended and I was improved in every way. Up to date the relief has remained permanent."

Boycotted Firm May Recover Three Times Damages Under Anti-Trust Law.

JUSTICES ARE UNANIMOUS

United States Supreme Court Rules Penalty for Restraint of Trade Applies to Labor.

Washington, Feb. 5.—That section 7 of the anti-trust law, awarding to the complainant three times the amount of damage sustained by a combination in restraint of interstate trade can be invoked to prevent a boycott by organized labor was held yesterday in a decision by the supreme court of the United States in the case of Loewe & Co., hat manufacturers of Danbury, Conn., vs. Martin Lawler and 200 other members of the United Hatters' union of that city. The decision of the court was announced by Chief Justice Fuller and reversed the holding the United States circuit court of appeals for the Second district.

Decision Is Unanimous.

The opinion of the court was unanimous and no dissenting view was presented.

The suit was instituted by Loewe & Co. in the United States circuit court for the district of Connecticut. The company, alleging damages by a boycott against their factory to the extent of $80,000, asked for a judgment for $240,000, in accordance with the terms of the Sherman act. Not only the members of the hatters' union but the American Federation of Labor, of which the union is a subordinate organization, was included in the suit.

Declared a Boycott.

In the complaint it was alleged that that the labor organization had undertaken to compel the manufacturers to unionize their factory, and it was asserted that when they falied in this effort the union hatters withdrew and induced other employes to do so. This act was followed by the declaration of a boycott against Loewe's hats wherever they were found.

TALK POLITICS IN THE HOUSE

Three of the Giants Have Their Innings. The Widows' Pension Bill Is Passed.

Washington, Feb. 4.—Three of the giants of the house of representatives had their innings yesterday. Before the political question cropped out the house, with but one dissenting voice, passed a general widows' pension bill granting a flat pension of $12 a month to the widows of all honorably discharged soldiers of the United States who have not heretofore received the benefits of the pension law.

The political debate was opened by Mr. Townsend of Michigan, who claimed for the Republican party credit for all national legislation in the last fifty years of vital interest to the public. In this he was vigorously disputed by Mr. Cockran of New York, who afterwards launched into a discussion of the president's message of a few days ago. The president's utterances in that document, he declared, were such that neither party could ignore, for he had named the conditions for which both must contend.

Mr. Hepburn also defended the president's message.

Senator Piles of Washington yesterday delivered an eloquent appeal in the senate in favor of an appropriation by congress of $700,000 for a government exhibit at the Alaska-Yukon-Pacific exposition, to be held in Seattle next year.

The day was chiefly devoted to a consideration of bills on the calendar.

FISHER SWEPT BY A DISASTROUS FIRE

Four of the Leading Business Places Completely Destroyed by Fire Last Night. Nothing Was Saved.

General Store, Drug Store, Hardware Store and Saloon Went up in Smoke. Fairly well Insured.

From Wednesday's Daily—

At 11:55 last evening W. D. Hamilton, the well known business man of Fisher discovered fire in the hardware store of Ole Larson and Son at Fisher, and by 3 o'clock this morning four of the leading business places of that city, Ole Larson and Sons hardware store, Ole Gunstenson's drug store, Gunder Krostue's general store and Carl Vinje's saloon were ashes, practically nothing having ben saved so fierce was the progress of the flames.

The origin of the fire will never be known, but it is supposed to have started from a stove in the hardware store. No one had been in the store for several hours and the fire had a god start when it was discovered by Mr. Hamilton as he happened to look out of the window of his room where he was sitting reading.

The fire department was called out at once and did good work, but the conditions were too great to successfully combat the flaames until the three buildings were doomed. All were frame structures, located close together and burned like tinder.

Fortunately no one was injured during the progress of the fire. Practically the entire population turned out to the fire but there was no time to save practically any of the contents of the doomed structures and the loss is practically total, with the losses fairly well covered by insurance, tho every man burned out will lose more or less.

The approximate losses with insurance are as follows:

Gunder Krostue, loss on stock and building $8,000, insurance $2500.

Ole Gunstenson, loss on building and drug stock, $3000 insurance $1,000

Ole Larson and Son loss on building and hardware stock $7,500 insurance $5,000.

Carl Vinje loss on saloon stock $2,000 insurance $1500.

Mr. Falewsky loss on building occupied by Carl Vinje $2,000, insurance $1,000.

Mr. Felewsky is a wealthy farmer residing a few miles out of Fisher.

Several other buildings caught fire several times, but willing hands put out the incipient blazes and saved further devastation by the flames.

It is probable that all the concerns burned out will at once re-engage in business as soon as new quarters can be secured excepting Larson & Son who it is understood will not open up again.

Boycotted Firm May Recover Three Times Damages Under Anti-Trust Law.

JUSTICES ARE UNANIMOUS

United States Supreme Court Rules Penalty for Restraint of Trade Applies to Labor.

Washington, Feb. 5.—That section 7 of the anti-trust law, awarding to the complainant three times the amount of damage sustained by a combination in restraint of interstate trade can be invoked to prevent a boycott by organized labor was held yesterday in a decision by the supreme court of the United States in the case of Loewe & Co., hat manufacturers of Danbury, Conn., vs. Martin Lawler and 200 other members of the United Hatters' union of that city. The decision of the court was announced by Chief Justice Fuller and reversed the holding the United States circuit court of appeals for the Second district.

Decision Is Unanimous.

The opinion of the court was unanimous and no dissenting view was presented.

The suit was instituted by Loewe & Co. in the United States circuit court for the district of Connecticut. The company, alleging damages by a boycott against their factory to the extent of $80,000, asked for a judgment for $240,000, in accordance with the terms of the Sherman act. Not only the members of the hatters' union but the American Federation of Labor, of which the union is a subordinate organization, was included in the suit.

Declared a Boycott.

In the complaint it was alleged that that the labor organization had undertaken to compel the manufacturers to unionize their factory, and it was asserted that when they falied in this effort the union hatters withdrew and induced other employes to do so. This act was followed by the declaration of a boycott against Loewe's hats wherever they were found.

TALK POLITICS IN THE HOUSE

Three of the Giants Have Their Innings. The Widows' Pension Bill Is Passed.

Washington, Feb. 4.—Three of the giants of the house of representatives had their innings yesterday. Before the political question cropped out the house, with but one dissenting voice, passed a general widows' pension bill granting a flat pension of $12 a month to the widows of all honorably discharged soldiers of the United States who have not heretofore received the benefits of the pension law.

The political debate was opened by Mr. Townsend of Michigan, who claimed for the Republican party credit for all national legislation in the last fifty years of vital interest to the public. In this he was vigorously disputed by Mr. Cockran of New York, who afterwards launched into a discussion of the president's message of a few days ago. The president's utterances in that document, he declared, were such that neither party could ignore, for he had named the conditions for which both must contend.

Mr. Hepburn also defended the president's message.

Senator Piles of Washington yesterday delivered an eloquent appeal in the senate in favor of an appropriation by congress of $700,000 for a government exhibit at the Alaska-Yukon-Pacific exposition, to be held in Seattle next year.

FISHER SWEPT BY A DISASTROUS FIRE

Four of the Leading Business Places Completely Destroyed by Fire Last Night. Nothing Was Saved.

General Store, Drug Store, Hardware Store and Saloon Went up in Smoke. Fairly well Insured.

From Wednesday's Daily—

At 11:55 last evening W. D. Hamilton, the well known business man of Fisher discovered fire in the hardware store of Ole Larson and Son at Fisher, and by 3 o'clock this morning four of the leading business places of that city, Ole Larson and Sons hardware store, Ole Gunstenson's drug store, Gunder Krostue's general store and Carl Vinje's saloon were ashes, practically nothing having ben saved so fierce was the progress of the flames.

The origin of the fire will never be known, but it is supposed to have started from a stove in the hardware store. No one had been in the store for several hours and the fire had a god start when it was discovered by Mr. Hamilton as he happened to look out of the window of his room where he was sitting reading.

The fire department was called out at once and did good work, but the conditions were too great to successfully combat the flaames until the three buildings were doomed. All were frame structures, located close together and burned like tinder.

Fortunately no one was injured during the progress of the fire. Practically the entire population turned out to the fire but there was no time to save practically any of the contents of the doomed structures and the loss is practically total, with the losses fairly well covered by insurance, tho every man burned out will lose more or less.

The approximate losses with insurance are as follows:

Gunder Krostue, loss on stock and building $8,000, insurance $2500.

Ole Gunstenson, loss on building and drug stock, $3000 insurance $1,000

Ole Larson and Son loss on building and hardware stock $7,500 insurance $5,000.

Carl Vinje loss on saloon stock $2,000 insurance $1500.

Mr. Falewsky loss on building occupied by Carl Vinje $2,000, insurance $1,000.

Mr. Felewsky is a wealthy farmer residing a few miles out of Fisher.

Several other buildings caught fire several times, but willing hands put out the incipient blazes and saved further devastation by the flames.

It is probable that all the concerns burned out will at once re-engage in business as soon as new quarters can be secured excepting Larson & Son who it is understood will not open up again.

FIRST PLAN FOR READJUSTING WAGES OFFERED BY NORTHERN PACIFIC

CLAIM IT WOULD DEPRIVE THEM OF ALL OF THEIR RIGHTS

Representatives of the railroad telegraphers on the Northern Pacific are in St. Paul conferring with General Manager George T. Slade and other officials regarding schedules and and working conditions to be made when the federal law providing for a nine-hour day for railroad employes goets into effect.

The general board of the Northern Pacific division of the order of Railroad Telegraphers and composed of the fourteen division chairmen, and Som Johnson, general chairman, has held one joint meeting with the railroad officials at which a plan for readjustment was presented by the railroad.

This plan proved unsatisfactory to the men and they will submit a scheme of their own at a late date. Said an operator:

"It was proposed to make a reduction of 20 per cent in our salaries, but this was not so important as some of the changes in working rules. The proposed plan would do away with the seniority rule, that is, those men who have been the longest in the service should be given preference in promotion. While this rule is not laid down in black and white, it is generally followed.

"Telegraphers might also be required to scrub stations and clean platforms under the proposed arrangement. If we had accepted, it would have gone back to the day when we had no voice in working conditions."

BELTRAMI COUNTY TO SUE CLEARWATER COUNTY

The board of county commissioners of Beltrami county have passed a resolution instructing County Attorney Henry Funkley to bring suit against Clearwater county for the funds claimed to be due Beltrami. This suit is the outcome of a disagreement as to the apportionment of the funds which should have been made to each county when Clearwater county was set aside from Beltrami county, some five years ago. An attempt was made by the officials of Beltrami county to make satisfactory adjustment of the matter about two weeks ago, when the members of the Clearwater county board, together with the county auditor, and the county attorney of that county, were in Bemidji to consult with the local board of county commissioners.

No amicable agreement could be reached in the matter, and the county board of Beltrami county has decided to push matters in connection with the settlement hence the instruction to the county attorney to bring suit in the matter.

GRAVEL PIT ALMOST AS GOOD AS A GOLD MINE

A farm which Leslie Welter of Moorhead and his friends bought a few months ago is turning out to be almost as good as a gold mine. It was owned by a man who did not take the trouble to dig. On the farm tract, which is near Muskoda, there is a valuable sand pit, from which thousands of cars of sand have been shipped. The question arose to the mind of Mr. Welter, if sand why not gravel? Some digging was done with the result that an extensive strata of valuable gravel, just the thing for concreting, has been found and estimated to produce probably 10,000 cars of gravel.

Three tired citizens — a lawyer, a doctor and a newspaper man—sat in a back room recently in the cold gray light of early dawn. On the table were many empty bottles and a couple of packs of cards. As they sat in silence a rat scurried across the hearth into the darkness beyond. The three men shifted their feet and looked at each other uneasily. After a long pause the lawyer spoke.

The butcher offered her $1 for each pair for the first lot $1 for each in the second lot. Figuring that she would receive $25 for her chickens the woman receipted the offer. But the butcher only paid her $24 and when she said that the price was $25 he explained the matter thus —at $1 for each pair of chickens in one crate and $1 for each three in the other, she should receive $2 for 5 chickens and there were 12 bunches of 5 chickens each, in the entire lot 60, the price $24, paid was correct. Al tho the woman felt that the butcher had gained a dollar on the deal, she took the money and went home.

SWINDLED THE FARMERS

MAN WHO GAVE HIS NAME AS LOUIS MUNSEN OF CROOKSTON TURNS TRICK

BEAT FARMERS IN NORTH DAKOTA OUT OF A ROUND SUM OF CASH

From Friday's Daily—

According to the Minot Independent a fakir beat a number of farmers in the vicinity of Foxholm N. D. out of several hundred dollars.

About two months ago, a Norwegian, giving his name as Louis Munsen walked into the Foxholm country ment agent, authorized to dispose of dimension lumber, fence posts, telegraph and telephone poles, bridge timber and Indian relics, the latter being made at Red Lake, Minn. He quoted cheap prices, especially on the timber, dimension lumber being sold at $16 per thousand. He seemed quite independent and did not apparently care much whether he sold anything or not. Many bought from $5 to $25 worth of stuff, paying cash for the same. Munsen saying that the government did only a cash business. He sold buckskin mocasins at $1 per pair and buckskin underwear for $6 a suit. He had a lot of Indian goods with him for samples. He had a vast amount of paper money in one grip estimated to be three or four thousand dollars' worth and also had a large quantity of gold. He told the farmers that he kept away from the cities because he did not care to get held up. Munsen gave his postoffice address as Crookston, Minn. but letters sent here have been returned as no such person could be found.

No word has been received from Munsen and the farmers who bit are certain that they have been swindled One of the victims swore out a warrant for the arrest of Munsen and Sheriff Lee of Minot is now looking for him, tho he is no doubt far from Minot by this time. Munsen gave four names and operated close to Minot. He is about 45 years old and wore a light overcoat.

The victims have become wise and hereafter will have nothing to do with strangers travelling thru the country. Munsen of course claimed that the government could quote prices lower than the home merchant This is another argument in favor of dealing with the home man, who must do the square thing.

IN MOORHEAD ON MARCH 13 AND 14TH FOR ORGANIZATION

From Friday's Daily—

The Commercial club of Moorhead is endorsing and co-operating in the efforts which are being made by a number of educational men in this section of the state of Minnesota, for the organization of an association similar in its working lines to the Northwestern Minnesota Educational association, which usually meets in Crookston.

The inception for the move was brought about at an informal gathering of school men from Clay and adjoining counties during the meeting of the state educational association, at St. Paul in December. In the course of a few days President Richards of the commercial club will appoint a committee to take the initial steps in the arrangements for a big meeting of school men and women, in Moorhead, Friday and Saturday March 13 and 14. The proposed association will probably comprise an area covering Clay, Becker and adjoining counties.

Some idea of the scope of the association may be gathered from the fact that it means the massing of 125 school officers the body of rural school teachers and the superintendents of the county and bigger schols a total ensemble of nearly 500 men and women interested in the general welfare of the schools and educational institutions of the state.

A SAD ENDING—A sad story had a fatal ending at the county poor farm at Arvilla N. D., yesterday when a young woman giving her name as Miss Albright gave birth to a child and died shortly afterward. The unfortunate young woman had been at Larimore for a couple of weeks and seemed to seek to hide her identity by telling conflicting stories about her home and her relatives. After she was taken to the hospital at the poor farm, a young man who said he was from Wales, N. D., and was a brother of the young woman, called at the poor farm, but when he learned that the woman had been removed to the hospital, he departed, and so far has not been heard from. So far the relatives of the young woman have not been located, and it is probable that she sought to shield her name and her friends by her silence, as well as the author of her misfortune, as she stated to the attendants that the father of her child was dead. Is Up to the People.

In his message to Congress Theodore Roosevelt has put the issue squarely before the people. It is simply up to them. The Journal believes very firmly that persistent opposition to all corporations is foolish. The proper control of corporations on the other hand is most proper. There is no valid reason which can be advanced why the general prosperity of the people is not advanced when the legitimate corporations prosper to a reasonable degree.

In his message which stirred up a sensation in Congress yesterday, President Roosevelt among other things said:

"On behalf of all our people, on behalf no less of the honest man of means than of the honest man who earns each day's livlihood by that day's sweat of his brow, it is necessary to insist upon honesty in business and politics alike, in all walks of life, in big things and in little things; upon just and fair dealing as between man and man. Those who demand this are striving for the right in the spirit of Abraham Lincoln when he said:

" 'Fondly do we hope, fervently do we pray, that this mighty scourge may speedily pass away. Yet, if God wills that it continue until all the wealth piled by the bondsmen's two hundred and fifty years of unrequited toll shall be sunk, and until every drop of blood drawn with the lash shall be paid by another drawn with the sword, as was said three thousand years ago, so still it must be said, "The judgments of the Lord are true and righteous altogether. With malice toward none; with charity for all; with firmness in the right, as God gives us to see the right, let us strive on to finish the work we are in.'

"In the work we of this generation are in, there is, thanks be to the Almighty, no danger of bloodshed and no use for the sword; but there is grave need of those stern qualities shown alike by the men of the north and the men of the south in the dark days when each valiantly battled for the light is it was given each to see the light. Their spirit should be our spirit as we strive to bring nearer the day when greed and trickery and cunning shall be trampled under feet by those who fight for the righteousness that exalteth a nation."—Theodore Roosevelt.

It is up to the people now, to take a firm stand in relation to the activities of the great corporations engaged in interstate commerce. These roads are open.

First—To abandon all effort to oversee and control their actions and permit a return to utter lack of control which would obtain if they were left to the common law.

Second—To have the regulation undertaken by the nation.

Third—Or by the several states.

Of course, in any event both the national government and the several state governments must do each its part and each can do a certain amount that the other cannot do, while the only really satisfactory results must be obtained by the representatives of the national and state governments working heartily together within their respective spheres.

"But in my judgment," says President Roosevelt, "thorogoing and satisfactory control can in the end only be obtained by the action of the national government for almost all the corporations of enormous wealth—that is, the corporations which it is especially desirable to control—are engaged in interstate commerce, and derive their power and their importance not from that portion of their business which is intrastate, but from the interstate business."

Remain in the Country

"To succeed, shun the big city". was the counsel that reverses the prevalent ideas of the Ambitious Young Man, given by Samuel Alschuler of Chicago among reasons why cities as big as Chicago should discourage the influx of people. Not one in 10,000 who seek fortune or favor in a great hive of people realize their hopes. "Instead of flocking to cities young men ought to take up farming or trades," he said. "Those vocations should absorb just as keen men as the professions and the professions are overcrowded. There are 6,000 lawyers in Chicago and a tenth that number would be enough. Here in this city of over 2,000,000 people, most of us are not producers of wealth; we are packed into a limited area like so many ants. To farther crowd this area means to diminish the possibilities of all the rest making a living. This means that misery will result for the many. It is wonderful how the city draws the young people to it—and more wonderful how they manage to live when they get here. The nation of small cities is the better off but the rural population persists in flocking into urban life.

"The aim of industrial education which has taken a new impetus thruout the country is to raise the trades in popular estimation."

Millions For Hogs.

Thirty-six million dollars has gone into farmers' pockets during month of January as a result of the phenomenal shipments of hogs which have poured into Chicago, Kansas City and other points for the past few weeks, It is estimated that 4,000,000 hogs reached primary receiving points. This breaks all previous January records including the last one, which was made in January 1901. In addition to this another $4,000,000 worth of porkers were slaughtered on the farms. Taking the country as a whole it is the heaviest run of hogs in trade history. Iowa South Dakota Minnesota and Wisconsin have made the heaviest contributions to the movement and the receipts at Milwaukee and St. Paul show enormous gains. The cattle trade is in a rut at present and prices for sheep and lambs are low. The hog movement, however, proves the soundness of the livestock business in the west and successfully disposes of the theory that the present industrial depression is based on any real depreciation in value of the natural resources of the country.

The Trust Problem

Princeton Union: We have studied this trust problem and have come to the conclusion that the government is not equal to the task of dissolving the combines. So the only way we can see of getting even with the monopolies is to save our money and buy stock in them.

St. Cloud Journal-Press: The state papers are saying some kind things of E. T. Young, but the gubernatorial band wagon hasn't started yet. STEPHENS HALL—

The last of the masonry was completed this week when the imposing entrance was completed. This part of the stone work was not completed last fall with the rest of the mason work but the fine winter has permitted the work to be completed. The carpenters have all the time been busy on the wood work.

LITERARY SOCIETY—

The last Saturday night literary program was one of the best of the series every one taking part, doing very credibly. The question for debate was, "Resolved that character has more influence than money". The debaters were Miss Pederson, and Messrs. Regeimbaland Kelsven for the affirmative and Messrs. Ecklund, Monson and Olaf Nelson for the negative. The affirmative won. The new officers elected were Pres., Mons Munson; Vice Pres., Marius Sether; Sec., Miss Pederson; Treas. Louis Fosbakken; Sergeant at Arms, Mr. Monson.

NEXT SATURDAY NIGHT—

The literary exercises next Saturday night are expected to be very interesting it being the occasion of the annual debating contest between the agricultural school and the Crookston Business College. The question will be, "Resolved that George Washington did more good for his country than Abraham Lincoln." The school has the negative (Lincoln) side of the debate and will be represented by Robert Erlandson, leader, Marius Sether and Albert Petterson. The Business College colors will be borne by Frank Raff, leader, Bertha Fosse and Carl Frisvold, and they will try to convince the judges that Washington was the most useful.

The following program will also be rendered.

SABBATH SERVICES—

The Sabbath day services last Sunday were very nice the students were fortunate in having the privilege of listening to Prof. Squires of the University of North Dakota. Next Sunday Atty. A. A. Miller will favor the school with an address at the Sabbath services.

POLK COUNTY FARMERS' CLUB—

Preparations are being made to entertain the Polk County Farmers' Club when they meet in Crookston which will be the latter part of this month. This club is a state institution and is composed of agricultural school students; graduates and their wives and husbands. The meetngs will be held in the city but the school will give them a program entertainment also.

PREPARING TO ENTERTAIN—

The editors of the valley who have so kindly assisted the school in publishing its articles and giving publicity to its benefits to the farmer, will be invited in the near future to partake of its hospitality for one day. The day has not been definitely set but it is expected to be in the third week of February.

PART OF ROUTINE—

From time to time we will attempt to give part of the daily routine of the classes so as to inform the public as to our work. The industrial classes are in two grades B and C. Class C are the freshmen and are divided in two classes as to their proficiency to do the work, the boys' section of this class spends part of the afternoons of Tuesdays, and Fridays at carpentry, Wednesday and Friday at blacksmithing, and Thursday at mechanical drawing. The girls are meanwhile learning the art of cooking, sewing laundry and the other arts pertaining to the domestic sciences. Class B or the sophomores during these hours on regular days are churning, testing vegetable gardening and experimenting in dairy chemistry. The girls and boys all take this work and are appropriately gowned therefore. So if any one is interested in this class of work and knows when we are doing it, they are cordially invited to be present.

MANY SPEAKING DATES—

Prof. Robertson attended the farmers' meeting at Warren Tuesday and was on the program for a lecture, and next week will speak at McIntosh at a farmers' club meeting. Prof Harrington is scheduled to read a paper at the Douglas county teachers' and school officers' meeting that will be held at Alexandria on Feb. 15. The faculty of the Crookston school is recognized as very proficient and is constantly called upon to attend meetings which they are pleased to do.

POULTRY DEPARTMENT—

The hens and roosters are the pride and delight of every student and visitor on the farm and Mr. Brown the manager of this department is very solicitous of his pets and general satisfaction is manifest at the number of ribbons awarded to the farm exhibit at the recent poultry show in Crookston. The farm exhibit received ten prizes, six first, three second and one third. Barred Plymouth Rocks, White Leghorn, and Buff rpington chickens, and a few pens of ducks and geese were exhibited. Mr. Brown is at the present time receiving many inquiries regarding the care and breeding of chickens, also for remedies for the ailing, which tends to show there is an increased interest in this class of the farm product.

STOCK BARNS—

There is very little to be said regarding the stock this time of the year altho feed tests are being constantly conducted much to the enlightenment of th e students and the visiting farmers who are seeking the best results. Lambing season is at hand and there are already many of the little pets born, to increase the inhabitants of the barns. This may seem early but if the facilities for care taking are alright it is advisable as the lambs will come to maturity a season earlier.

KING AND CROWN PRINCE ARE SLAIN BY ASSASSINS

Portuguese Royal Family Attacked by Regicides While Driving in Street.

MANUEL IS PROCLAIMED KING

Second Son, Who Was Wounded by Assassins, Is Now Ruler; Country Overwhelmed.

QUEEN TRIES TO SAVE SONS

Heroic Act of Mother Is Too Late; Three Regicides Killed; Rumor of a Republic.

Lisbon, Feb. 4.—King Carlos of Portugal and the crown prince, Luiz Philippe, were assassinated Saturday while driving in an open carriage. All Portugal is overwhelmed at the tragedy.

Story of the Tragedy.

No more beautiful day could be imagined than that which hereafter will mark the date on which King Carlos and Crown Prince Luiz met their death at the hands of assassins. Returning from a sojourn at the king's estate at Villa Vicosa, accompanied by the queen, the crown prince and the infant Manuel, the sovereign seemingly was in a happy mood when he stepped into the carriage in waiting at the railroad station. Thousands of spectators, gayly attired, in combination with the bright decorations, set out to welcome the royal family, made an animated scene.

Take Escort by Surprise.

It was because of the beautiful weather that an open carriage was in waiting for the royal family, and when they took their places they were greeted with some lifting of hats, but mostly in silence. Then as the carriage sharply turned into the Rua do Arsenal there was a cracking of guns and a shower of bullets tore their way into the bodies of the king and crown prince and the little prince, who proved to be an easy target. The assassins, numbering six in all, boldly ran up to the sides of the carriage and poured in a hail of lead before the stupefied escort could intervene. The king and crown prince, half rising, fell back into the cushions, the blood gushing from their wounds.

Tries to Shield Her Sons.

Queen Amelie, uttering a scream that could be heard by all who had not become frenzied by the attack, threw herself toward her sons, shielding their bodies with her own. She frantically struck at the murderers with a bouquet of roses which she had been carrying, but even in the face of this the men fired again and again. As he saw his father and his brother fall, Prince Manuel whipped out a revolver and discharged it at the men, but he was himself struck on the right arm by a bullet from a carbine. A footman in the carriage also was wounded, and it was stated that a bullet grazed the queen's shoulder, but did not do her harm.

Three Regicides Killed.

Only mounted police accompanied the carriage, as the king had refused military escort. The attack came from the rear, for it was found afterwards that the king had been shot in the back of the neck, and it was so entirely unexpected that the murderers had employed their carbines and revolvers almost before the police knew what was going on and had turned to flee into the crowd that now, panic-stricken, had dropped back before their weapons. The guard charged upon them, pursuing them down the street and riddling three of them with bullets. Hundreds of the people joined in the pursuit and the others of the band of assassins were made prisoners.

Grief Is Heartrending.

The royal carriage had by this time been driven into the quadrangle and the gates of the arsenal were shut. The grief of the queen and Prince Manuel was heartbreaking.

The news of the assassination spread like wildfire and thousands of people, bewildered and terrified, poured into the streets. Soon the troops and police occupied all the prominent places and the people hurried to their homes and barricaded the doors and windows to await in fear the unknown future. The strictest measures were taken by the officers in charge of the troops to suppress the slightest sign of disorder, but their work was light. There have been no disturbances in Lisbon in the last twenty-four hours, and Sunday passed off only in the deepest gloom, with the populace mourning on every hand.

Queen Sits With Her Dead.

The bodies of the king and crown prince rest in the royal palace, and beside them the queen sat throughout the night, sometimes with her hand pressing the forehead of King Carlos and sometimes stroking the face of the dead crown prince. The condition of the newly proclaimed king, Manuel, is satisfactory to the physicians in attendance. His wounds are not severe, and if there are no complications, of which there are no signs now, he is expected to make speedy recovery. He carries his arm in a sling and declares that he suffers no pain.

The bodies of King Carlos and Prince Luiz were embalmed yesterday and will lie in state, according to the custom of the court. The funeral probably will be held on Feb. 10.

Work of Revolutionaries.

The republicans disclaim responsibility for the assassinations, which they lay at the doors of the anarchists, but the identification of a dead regicide as a cavalry sergeant is accepted by many officials as proof that the assassinations were the work of revolutionaries, who had successfully spread the propaganda, smuggled in arms and bombs, and who, headed by prominent republicans, plotted to proclaim a republic a fortnight ago.

THAW CRAZY

Not Guilty of Murder, by Reason of Insanity, Is the Verdict of the Jury.

IS RUSHED TO THE MADHOUSE

Court Rules Prisoner Dangerous Person and Commits Him to Matteawan Asylum.

New York, Feb. 4.—Adjudged not guilty of the murder of Stanford White by reason of insanity at the time the fatal shots were fired. Harry Kendall Thaw Saturday was held by the court to be a dangerous lunatic and was whirled away to the state hospital for the criminal insane at Matteawan.

The verdict came after twenty-five hours of waiting and when every one connected with the case had abandoned all hope of an agreement ever being reached in this or any other trial.

To Asylum in Four Hours.

Four hours after the foreman's lips had framed the words "not guilty," with the accompanying insanity clause, Thaw, protesting that he was sane, was on his way to Matteawan. A little after nightfall he had been received in the institution under commitment papers which directed his detention "until discharged by due course of law."

No more unwilling patient ever made a journey to a state institution.

Bows Haughty Thanks.

The first thrill of the words of acquittal brought Thaw to his feet in the court room, and with that lack of grace which always has characterized his movements he awkwardly, almost haughtily, bowed his acknowledgments to the twelve jurymen as they were discharged by the court. A smile played about his pallid features and there was every reason to believe that he was entirely pleased with the outcome.

It was after he had heard the words of Justice Dowling committing him to Matteawan on the ground that his release, in the opinion of the court, would endanger the public safety, and after the elation of the verdict had died away, that Thaw rebelled.

In Fear of Madhouse.

He commanded his attorneys immediately to swear out a writ of habeas corpus to have his sanity tested before he was sent away to the up-state institution where the insane of criminal tendency are confined.

Under promise that some action speedily will be taken looking to the appointment of a commission to inquire into his present sanity or for his transfer to a private institution, where his wife and other members of the family might reside with him, Thaw consented to go without further protest.

NEWS EVENTS OF THE WEEK

ANOTHER PRINTER — Mr. and Mrs. Wm. English of Grand Forks were yesterday presented with a fine baby girl their second, and there is great rejoicing in the Darkow home.

HAD A BIRTHDAY—Chas. Hoeft yesterday had a birthday. It was his 29th, and all his friends in the city did not fail to remember just what the trouble was.

HAD THE GRIP—John Carter, the well known citizen and Salvation Army man made his appearance this morning for the first time in two weeks. He says he is still weak but it able to pound the drum so it can be heard for two blocks.

Why get up in the morning feeling blue,
Worry others and worry you;
Here's a secret between you and me,
Better take Rocky Mountain Tea.—
A. G. Andersen.

A WHOLESALER HERE — J. W. Orness, of the firm of Orness Esswein and Co., wholesaler dealer in groceries, etc., who make a specialty of cheese and fish is spending the day in the city. He sold a couple of whales to J. A. McCaffrey weighing 13,000 and 17,999 pounds each respectively.

WAS AT FORKS— Arnold Weber spent yesterday at East Grand Forks the guest of Isaac Larson who is at present employed in a large hardware store at that place. Mr. Weber enjoyed his trip very much having met a large number of old friends.

IN EARLY DAYS—"Doc" Rutledge in the Bemidji Pioneer tells of an early day anecdote in this city in the following: "H. J. Tonskemper who so ably represents the T. M. Partridge company of Duluth, was circulating among local business men here yesterday and last evening. Mr. Tonskemper says that our old friend Frank Gravelle is enjoying the best of health over in that wicked town of Duluth. We can't forget the time that Frank officiated as judge at a baby show at a county fair at Crookston, some ten years ago. Frank gave a personal prize to every one of the "kids" and he is the only man we know of who ever escaped from a similar position with a whole hide."

If you suffer with indigestion, constipation, feel mean and cross, no strength or appetite, your system is unhealthy. Hollister's Rocky Mountain Tea makes the system strong and healthy, 35c, Tea or Tablets.—A. G. Andersen.

Vivian Sheldrew a carpenter of East Grand Forks was arrested yesterday charged with cruel and inhuman treatment of his wife, and was placed under a bond to keep the peace. Sheldrew, it is said, had been rather strange for the last several weeks and his neighbors say that he seldom sleeps and acts as if he was somewhat deranged. A grand finale to a series of family troubles was brought about yesterday when he is said to have chased his wife out of the house with an ax and to have performed other acts not befitting a civilized person.

It is expected that he will behave himself for a time and the bonds will undoubtedly be an incentive to good behavior.

The residence of S. H. Cook one mile north of Northome was destroyed by fire yesterday. Clifford, the oldest son, rescued his little brother and sister by throwing them out of a second story window, but was himself overcome by smoke and perished in the flames.

Mrs. Cook jumped from a window in the upper floor and was badly cut about the face hands and arms.

Mr. Cook attempted to enter the building and was terribly burned about the face and hands. Both are in a precarious condition but will recover.

The two children thrown out of the window by their brother were only slightly injured. Mr. Cook is manager for the Stone-Cook Lumber company.

From Tuesday's Daily

A MARRIAGE LICENSE—A marriage license was issued today to Olaf Lebacken and Miss Margaret Rusten of McIntosh.

A PLEASANT TRIP—Mark Killam returned Sunday morning from Plummer where he visited for a few days with friends and relatives. He makes his home with the family of Mike Wentzel west of the city.

BACK FROM ST. PAUL—J. H. Maybury returned this morning from Minneapolis where he has been attending to professional business for the past few days. He says things are very quiet in the cities.

BACK FROM SEATTLE — John Waterstradt returned this morning from a trip to the Coast which he took to look over the country but conditions are far from satisfactory in the West at present and not very encouraging to one from this locality.

AN IRON FARMER—Herman Acker drove in from Euclid this morning with a load of iron which he sold here at a good price and returned home with a load of sawdust. This is a case where a farmer had the dust when he came to town and returned with still more of it.

REMAINS BROUGHT BACK—The remains of J. A. Johnson, 26 years of age, arrived from Minneapolis this morning and the funeral will be held tomorrow afternoon from Chesterman's Undertaking Parlors. His uncle O. P. Johnson, took charge of the remains. The cause of death which occurred in Minneapolis was pneumonia.

Builds up waste tissue, promotes appetite, improves digestion, induces refreshing sleep, giving renewed strength and health. That's what Hollister's Rocky Mountain Tea will do. 35c, Tea or Tablets.—A. G. Andersen.

TO VISIT OLD HOME

Nic. Bertrand who for years has been employed at the Cleveland Hotel is to leave tonight for a two months' trip which will be spent visiting his aged parents in the Province of Luxemburg whom he has not seen for a good many years. He anticipates a most delightful trip to the home of his childhood and will take with him the best wishes of a host of friends.

MAKE GOOD MONEY—Will Kohler, formerly of Euclid, was in the city last evening and while here deeded a quarter section of land in North Dakota to another party for a cash consideration of $2900. The land was a homestead upon which he filed three years ago, and the sale price represents clear profit to him for three years' work. This is a neat sum to make in that time and is a nice nest egg for Mr. Kohler.

CAPTAIN HAS STIFF NECK — Capt. Vonderbeck of the local police force returned this morning from Stillwater where with Deputy Sheriff Louis Gonyea, he went with Mike Murphy. He remained in St. Paul and Minneapolis for a day and when he arrived here this morning he had a malignant attack of stiff neck caused from rubbering at the high buildings of the cities. He is using Mustang linament to reduce the swelling.

Cascasweet, the well known remedy for babies and children will quiet the little one in a short time. The ingredients are printed on the bottle. Contains no opiates. Sold by A. G. Andersen.

Wm. Wentzel is in the city today calling on his friends and reports that a fine specimen of deer was seen on his father's farm on section 12 in the Town of Lowell, seven miles west of the city. This is a very rare thing in recent years and the best theory advanced is that some knowing doe strayed from the big game preserves looking for a mate knowing that it is leap year.

BACK TO EUCLID— Will Kohler returned to Euclid this morning after attending to business matters here for a day. While here he completed the sale of his North Dakota farm for which he received $2900. This is clear profit for three years work but had the farm been located in the Red River Valley it would have been worth twice that sum.

TO VISIT WADENA—Wilbur Perry who has been giving moving picture shows in this section of the country left last night for Wadena where he will spend a few weeks with his parents intending to return to this section of the country in the early spring He made many friends during his many visits to Crookston, which he has made his headquarters for some time past.

IN BRAND NEW DUDS—The pool room of John Smith in the Rolsch block on Second Street has just received a new set of skirts in the shape of a new ceiling and walls, with all the interior woodwork repainted and redecorated. The place is now one of the most attractive in the northwest and the genial proprietor blossomed out this morning in a new standup collar with sideboards.

TO SOUTHWEST—Joe Nelson and Wm. Sullivan departed last night for St. Paul where they will spend two or three days and then depart for St. Louis and points in the remote southwestern portions of the United States where they will spend the winter. The gentlemen are among the most popular young members of the O. R. C. running out of Crookston on the Great Northern.

FRANK ARRIES TOOK INVOLUNTARY BATH EARLY THIS MORNING

WAS HAULED OUT, UNINJURD BY HIS FELLOW WORKMEN

From Wednesday's Daily—

This morning Frank Arries while loading ice for John Helstab on the Red Lake River near the Walsh residence, stepped in an open space which was covered by heavy snow and went into the river clear to his neck.

Two of his fellow workmen pulled him out and being uninjured he ran home changed his clothing and was again at work before dinner.

Had he slipped under the ice the result might have been fatal.

A SUCCESSFUL VALLEY FARMER

CAME FROM IOWA FOUR YEARS AGO AND MADE GOOD MONEY ON FARM

Ole Brown one of the progressive farmer citizens of Donaldson is in the city on a visit to his daughter Mrs. H. O. Johnson. Mr. Brown is one of the valley's most optimistic boomers He came to this section four years ago and invested heavily in lands and started right in to put the same on paying basis and has succeeded beyond his anticipation. Mr. Brown is also an extensive contractor in grade and ditch work having put in a large ditch on the experimental farm and also dug one six miles long northeast of Euclid last year. He was a visitor at the agricultural school and experimental farm yesterday, institutions which he takes a great deal of interest in.

IMPLEMENT DEALERS

LARGE ATTENDANCE PRESENT AT THE ANNUAL CONVENTION AT FORKS

SECRETARY CARPENTER ADVOCATES A SALARIED SECRETARY

Peter Gramer and Will Stone returned this morning from Grand Forks where the North Dakota and Northwestern Minnesota Implement Dealers Association opened its annual convention yesterday. They report a splendid gathering and state that a splendid banquet with other entertainment was provided in the Commercial club rooms last evening.

During the past year, Secretary Carpenter of this city has made up a list of the implement dealers engaged in business in the territory covered by the association. There are about 800 members and only about 175 of these are members of the association. A discussion of the settlement of difficulties which come up from time to time was gone into, the secretary giving an illustration of the method employed by a certain farmer in securing goods from a jobbing firm.

"If out of the 800 dealers that are in the state, this association could have a membership of 500 or 600 they could build up an organization that would be a power for good in the land that no manufacturer or jobber would care to go contrary to," said Secretary Carpenter. "I have always advocated and still think that the best thing for this association is for it to have a paid secretary to devote his time to the work. Of course this cannot be done until such a time as the membership can be increased to a sufficient number to bring the revenues to pay a secretary's salary. If the association was increased to 500 or 600, it would give an income of $2500 a year which would permit of paying the salary of a competent man and allow him some money for traveling expenses, so that he could get out and make some trips through the territory and brace up the dealers and assist them in various ways in the problems that confront them at various times. I hope that some day this state of affairs can be brought about."

Bert Barber, of Elton, Wis., says: "I have only taken four doses of your Kidney and Bladder Pills and they have done for me more than any other medicine has ever done. Mr. Barber refers to DeWitt's Kidney and Bladder Pills. They are sold by A. G. Andersen.

ANNUAL REPORT OF THE SCHOOL MISSIONARY

The following is a report of the work accomplished by C. M. Williams Sunday school missionary representing the American Sunday school union in eight counties in Northwest Minnesotaa who has been known as the missionary for the Crookston district for the past six years.

Number of new Sunday schools organized in communities where none existed 64 with 192 teachers and 2226 scholars, Sunday schools reorganized 43 with 139 teachers and 1672 scholars, this makes a total number of 107 Sunday schols put in operation. Sunday schools given aid and encouragement by visit or otherwise for the first time number 65 with 426 teachers and 6038 scholars, then Sunday schools were given aid by visits or otherwise that had been previously visited 559 times. Thus the missionary was enabled to give some good encouragement at different times to 2506 teachers and 30,157 scholars this means of course that he visited a great number of Sunday schools from three to six times during the six years

Number of visits made to homes and most of these were in homes in the rural districts 10,770, number of addresses delivered in school house, home, or church 1,052, number of persons publicly making profession of faith in Christ 485.

Preaching stations have been opened in conection with 21 of the Union Sunday schools organized where some neighboring minister has established regular services. Churches have been organized as a definite outgrowth from Union Sunday schools in 5 communities these represent three different denominations and at three of these places there have been church buildings erected to the worship of God.

Number of Bbles and Testaments distributed by sale or gift 1312, literature distributed representing the American Sunday School Union Publications by sale or gift amounted to $517.00 and over 6000 pounds of good second hand literature sent to the missionary by friends was given away also articles of good clothing for the comfort of the needy children numbering 2,350.

Over 3600 letters have been written in the interest of the work. There has been during the six years in the neighborhood of $3,000 raised over the field toward the support of the work. The missionary in accomplishing the work has travelled 42,251 miles.

We would like to thank all those who have had any part in making this good work possible among the neglected children of the remote districts in this section of Minnesota, and assure them that all has been most heartily appreciated by the missionary and those connected with him in this great work for the Master.

America Is Ruled by Half a Dozen Men.

By Congressman W. BOURKE COCKRAN of New York.

DURING THE LAST TEN YEARS THE ENTIRE CONTROL OF PRODUCTIVE AGENCIES HAS PASSED INTO THE HANDS OF A FEW MEN—NOT A DOZEN IN NUMBER, LESS THAN HALF A DOZEN. FRANKLY, IF YOU ASK ME TO GIVE THE NAMES OF THOSE WHO ENTIRELY DOMINATE THE ENTIRE INDUSTRIAL FIELD I COULD NOT MENTION MORE THAN FOUR TO SAVE MY LIFE, AND IF I MENTIONED THEM I AM QUITE SATISFIED THAT YOU WOULD ALL REALIZE THAT THEIR COMBINATION IS STRONGER THAN ANY GOVERNMENT THAT EVER EXISTED.

The agencies of production—that is, the source from which commodities are created and the agencies of transportation by which they are exchanged—are dominated by LESS THAN HALF A DOZEN MEN. I think we will take the names of Rockefeller, Morgan, Harriman and Hill, and for a fifth we will say Armour, and you have all that PRACTICALLY CONTROL THE IMPORTANT INDUSTRIES AND AGENCIES OF TRANSPORTATION. Not merely do they control these agencies, but by the influence which this control gives them of VAST DEPOSITS they have come to dominate our financial institutions, our great insurance companies, our leading banks and trust companies.

WHAT, THEN, DOES IT SIGNIFY BUT THAT THEY CONTROL NOT MERELY THE AGENCIES OF PRODUCTION AND EXCHANGE, BUT CONTROL THE AGENCIES OF CREDIT—THE ENTIRE INDUSTRIAL LIFE OF A COMMUNITY?

The power has been transferred from the officers who were chosen to powers whose identity we cannot even fix, for, although I have given four or five names of those who are associated with the domination of these enterprises, THERE IS NO CERTAINTY THAT THEY ARE REALLY THE PERSONS THAT CONTROL THEM.

Mr. Rockefeller, for instance, is generally assumed to be a dominant figure in the oil industry and other corporations, but he himself has said he has NOTHING to do with them, and there are no means of determining whether the public impression or his denial comes the nearer to the truth.

We have had all manner of government, but we have NEVER BEFORE had a government exercising all the power without knowing who proposed it. We have had despots all through the history of the world, and some of them were very capricious. Sometimes they disappeared from public gaze while their decrees were being executed, but THERE WAS NEVER ANY DOUBT AS TO THE IDENTITY OF THE DESPOT.

National Bank Idea Killed by Andrew Jackson.

By WILLIAM G. SUMNER, Professor of Political and Social Science, Yale University.

IT is not creditable to the country that the currency question should recur so OFTEN, but as the government of the country is democratic-republican there is NO ONE TO BLAME BUT OURSELVES. Banks in the past have played the devil with currency. They have the power—gone the limit.

THE NATIONAL BANK OF THE UNITED STATES WAS KILLED DEAD FOREVER BY ANDREW JACKSON AND NICHOLAS BIDDLE. ANDREW JACKSON DID NOT KNOW MUCH, AND BIDDLE DID NOT KNOW MUCH MORE. THERE IS NO REASON WHY WE SHOULD NOT HAVE A NATIONAL BANK OF THE UNITED STATES IF WE WANT ONE, BUT JACKSON HAS PUT HIS FOOT ON IT SO HEAVY THAT THE IMPRINT REMAINS INDELIBLE. I THINK THE SYSTEM OF THE IMPERIAL BANK OF GERMANY IS ADMIRABLE.

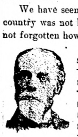
Our politics and our currency are AT WAR ALWAYS, and the former comes out the stronger. This congress will be full of currency. Every member will have a separate bill when they set the thing loose. God only knows what will come. I think we would better stick to what we have. THE PRESENT CURRENCY IS BAD, IT IS UNSCIENTIFIC, IT IS NOT CONNECTED WITH SPECIE, AND THERE IS NO TRUE BASIS FOR IT. It is the greatest conceivable foolishness. Some day we may get ready for some GRAND REFORM, but until we do let us hang on to what we have.

No Fears For America's Future.

By WHITELAW REID, Ambassador to Great Britain.

NOTHING could be more un-American than to be downcast over TEMPORARY discouragements or to despair of the republic because some of our people unhappily have lost their money ALMOST AS FAST AS THEY HAVE MADE IT.

We have seen such things before, and it was WORSE when the country was not half so big or half so rich as it is now, and we have not forgotten how we came out of them.



WHEN THE CLOUDS ROLL BY IT WILL BE SEEN THAT WE STILL HAVE THE COUNTRY THAT PROVIDENCE GAVE US, THAT WE STILL HAVE A PEOPLE AND THAT WE STILL HAVE THE BOUNDLESS OPPORTUNITIES WHICH, AFTER EVERY REVERSE IN THE PAST, INVARIABLY HAVE SPEEDILY LIFTED US HIGHER AND YET HIGHER. GIVEN THESE, WHAT AMERICAN FEARS THE RESULT?

In most respects our country NEVER has been in a happier position than today. It is not merely at peace, but on terms of absolute good will, with all the world.

The men of today have not lost the FAITH OF THEIR FATHERS, and they are not unworthy the inheritance they have received. They have seen clouds before, but their hearts are as brave and glad as those of the Plymouth pilgrims or the heroes of the civil war.

A Broken Vow.

By JANE LUDLUM LEE.

Copyright, 1907, by C. H. Sutcliffe.

"Shall I put this gray dress in the trunk, Alice, or do you think it will be too thin?"

This remark was addressed to a disconsolate looking girl who sat huddled up in a big armchair at the window day dreaming. Her dark, red brown hair had not been combed, and her dress consisted of a pink silk wrapper carelessly tied around the waist. No answer was forthcoming to the question.

"Alice, do you hear me?"

"Yes—that is, no, auntie—that is, I don't care. I don't want any clothes."

"But, my child, you can't go to a hotel without clothes. Come; you must help me with the packing. I'll attend to the body of the trunk, and you pack the tray."

Alice moved leisurely from her corner and languidly threw some trifles in the trunk. She went over to her desk and scratched off a hasty note while her aunt finished her part of the packing. Finally the task was finished, and Alice offered to lock the trunk. This she did, putting the key in her purse.

"THIS IS NOT MY TRUNK AT ALL!"

"Thank you, auntie. I'll be ready promptly at 2, and ask Mary to mail this letter, please."

At about the same hour Willard Kean was walking the floor of his handsome bachelor apartment in a fashionable district of the city.

"I'll be darned if it was my fault, and I'll be darned if I apologize. She can just sulk it out, and I'll leave town where I'll not be tempted. Perry, Perry!" he called, and a little Japanese servant appeared.

"Throw a few of my duds into a trunk, will you? I'm off for a few days at Hot Springs. You know what I'll need—dress suit, dinner coat and a few togs for loafing on the piazza. And, Perry, be quick about it, for I'm going on the first train out."

Perry began his task, bobbing in and out of the room, his arms laden with linen, fancy vests, suits, etc. When the packing was finished he asked for the key.

"I'll lock it," replied his master. "You call a cab. That train leaves about 2 o'clock, and if I miss it there will be just one less Jap in this town tomorrow."

Kean walked to the mantelpiece, picked up something, threw it in the trunk and locked the latter. He caught the 2 o'clock train and settled himself in his section.

Alice and her aunt made the same train and were soon comfortably fixed in the stateroom of the adjoining car. Orders were given that meals should be served to them there, while Kean ate in the regular diner.

After a half hour of absolute silence auntie opened the conversation.

"Alice, dear, you must pull yourself together. Willard Kean is not the only man in the world. We really cannot afford this trip, and you must try to get some benefit from it. Hot Springs is full of young people, and I simply cannot have you going about with that long face."

"I didn't want to take the trip. I didn't want anything except to be let alone. I don't want to get any benefit, and I simply will not try to be pleasant to anybody, so there now."

Auntie dropped the conversation for a time more propitious. The next day brought them to Hot Springs, where they got off and drove to the hotel. The clerk assigned them to a room, and they asked that their trunks be sent up at once. Two trunks were soon delivered, and Alice stopped to unlock hers. The key went in rather hard. It turned harder, but finally it gave to the strength of her hand. She opened the lid, and her own photograph stared her in the face.

"Auntie, did you put that picture in here?"

"Certainly not, my dear. Why should I? Besides, I have none like that."

"Auntie, this is most peculiar. This is not my trunk at all! Why, see, it is full of men's shirts, vests, ties, etc. It's all a mistake except the picture. There's no mistake about that. It's mine, all right enough. But what is it doing in a strange man's trunk?"

"Maybe the photographer sold it to him."

"Maybe he did, auntie, but look on the back: 'To the dearest sweetheart in the world—Alice.' That picture I gave to Jack just after we were engaged. The owner of this trunk is a common thief, and I'll report him to the hotel management. Help me fix my hair, auntie. I am going right to the office and have this matter adjusted at once."

* * * * * * *

Kean dropped off the car at Hot Springs, sauntered up to the hotel and went to his room, where he lit his pipe and began walking the floor. A knock at the door interrupted his thoughts, and he opened it to let in the men with his trunk.

"That's not my trunk, you muttonhead! Get out of here with it!"

"Marked with your name, sir, on the tag. Just try your key and see if you are sure it's wrong."

Kean took out his key ring, all the while talking as he fitted the key in the lock.

"Sure it's wrong! Why, you thick headed chump, don't a man know his own baggage? What is this—a hotel or a batty house? Holy Moses!" he exclaimed as the key fitted and the trunk opened upon a large photograph of himself in a leather frame.

"All right, boys, my mistake," he added as he handed each man a dollar bill.

Left alone, he picked up the photograph and walked with it to the window, pinched himself to see if he was alive, then laughed, then swore. Examining the trunk, he realized it was not his, as he had no use for silk petticoats and lingerie dresses.

"I'll keep this photo, all right, all right, but the lady can have her trunk," he mused as he made his way to the office. The clerk smiled as he made the complaint.

"Come right with me, will you, Mr. Kean? A lady just came down from room 411 who, I think, can explain this mistake and give you your rightful belongings."

"All I want is my trunk. I'm not anxious to see the lady."

"But I'd rather you came along to make it easier for me," and Kean followed in silence.

The clerk's knock at the door of 411 was answered by "Come in," and they entered.

"Here is the gentleman whose trunk you have and who can return yours, Miss Buckingham, and"—

"Billy!"

"Alice!"

"Mr. Kean!"

"Miss Buckingham!"

Auntie seemed to have something private to say to the clerk, for she asked him to step into the hall for a moment with her, thus leaving the two culprits alone.

Alice looked like a wilted flower, and tears came to her eyes. What could a man do, even if it was not his fault, even if he had taken a solemn oath not to apologize? He reached out his arms, and she slipped into their embrace and cried just a few happy tears on a shoulder very dear to her.

"Please don't cry, Alice. Of course I was to blame. It was nasty of me to tease you about that Benton girl; but, really, dear, I only did it just to see how much you cared."

"And I cared so much. But, Billy, dear, how can you explain about those trunks? My key opened yours."

"Easy enough, darling. We bought those two trunks on that shopping expedition when auntie chaperoned us in Paris at the Bon Marche, and evidently the locks were the same. We won't have that trouble again, Alice, for the next time we take a trip there will only be one trunk for both of us. Where is your ring, dear—consigned to the ocean or the ash barrel?"

"Oh, Billy, you're horrid to find me out! Here it is around my neck. You see, I wrote you saying the engagement was all off, but I kept the ring just for a day or two, you understand, thinking maybe—oh, don't be so mean!"

"Well, I'll forgive you this time, but don't take it off again until the plain gold one goes on under it."

And she promised to do as he said.

Wooing the Fickle God.

"I have been troubled with insomnia all my life," remarked the nervous man, "and, like most people similarly afflicted, I have tried all the familiar dodges to induce sleep. The results were never particularly satisfactory in the way of producing the desired effect until one night I thought I had actually found a sleep inducer when I chanced to grasp one of the rods at the head of my bed with both hands and practically hung the weight of my body on it. That sent me to sleep, and it did the same thing for a few times, when, to my extreme disappointment, I found it had ceased to work. I was as badly off as ever recently until one night, when I had a bad cough, as well as an attack of sleeplessness, I tried the well known remedy of trying to send myself off into the land of Nod by taking long, deep breaths. What it did to me and has done several times since was not to only send me to sleep, but to stop my cough completely before I lost consciousness. Just why it did so is not of much consequence. That it did so is the thing that concerns me most."—New York Press.

WERE WEDDED AT RIPE OLD AGE

MARSHALL CO., LOVERS SCOUT DR. OSLO'S AGE THEORY

It is seldom that Cupid's shafts hold out 27 years on the same victim as they did in the case of John Dolan and Miss Mary Hickey and which culminated in the pretty scene at Hymen's Altar in a Manvel, N. D., church last Tuesday with Mary and John Hickey, niece and nephew of the bride as supporters. The combined ages of bride and groom are 30 years and the courtship served many interesting items to their many friends thruout the long years of waiting, which however is at an end as Mr. Dolan brought his bride to his home on the banks of the Red at the ferry which bears his name where they are "at home" to their friends and neighbors near Bigwoods, Marshall County.

PROTESTS AGAINST THE DELAY ON DITCH

The following from the Norman County Herald will be of special interest here:

Gunner Ela, who owns a quarter section of land in Good Hope, along the north boundary line of the county, was in Ada last Friday. While in town Mr. Ela called at the court house and entered a vigorous protest against the manner in which the construction of Judicial Ditch No. 2—between Norman and Polk counties—had been conducted. This is one of the large ditches of this section and the contract was let some years ago. The ditch starts on the county line at a point about 40 rods west of the railroad track and continues west until it reaches the Red River. While in conversation with the Herald scribe Mr. Ela informed us that about five miles of the east end of the ditch was fully completed and for the next mile and a half but little work had been done while on the succeeding mile and a half no work whatever has been done on the ditch. Further west a very small portion of the work has been done and for three miles out from the Red river the ditch has been completed. This leaves the ditch in bad shape for taking care of the excessive spring water and the farmers residing along portions of the ditch state that it is of more of a damage than a benefit to them and it would appear that their complaints are well founded. As this is a Judicial ditch the county officials have but little more to do than that of assessing and collecting taxes altho Norman and Polk counties are joining together in a suit against the bondsmen Judge Watts is the district judge who has had charge of the ditch and Geo. A. Ralph is the engineer who has been employed. According to the report of Engineer Ralph filed in the office of the county auditor here Oct. 1 1906 there were then 58,285 cubic yards of dirt to be removed from the ditch before completing the contract. The contract called for the removal of 316,454 yards and if the engineers estimates are correct but one sixth of the work remains to be done. Mr. Ela was of the opinion however, that much more than this still remains undone.

County Auditor Fulton informs us that there is still considerable money on hand with which to pay for the balance of the work and hopes that with what there is on hand in both Polk and Norman counties that there will be sufficient to pay for the completion of the ditch. The county auditors are compelled to make payments on the order of the court based on the estimates of the engineer.

The contract price of the ditch was $36,360.66 at 11.49 cents per cubic yard. Of this amount Norman County is to pay 48.75 per cent.

A. K. Austin of Crookston attempted to do some work on the ditch last fall with a dredge but did not get onto the job early enough to make much headway. The dredge, with its machinery is still at the ditch and we understand that Mr. Austin intends to resume work early in the spring. County Auditor Fulton was at Beltrami Sunday and while there was informed by H. B. Budd that the dredge was large enough for practical use and after undergoing some repairs in the spring would be in condition for doing considerable work.

DIVERSIFIES; GETS RESULTS

SEED FROM TIMOTHY THAT REJUVINATES LAND BRINGS BIG RETURNS

John C. Barchus who is owner of a fine farm on the north side of the river in Lowell Township three miles west of the city was in the city yesterday doing some trading and getting some pointers on poultry at the chicken show. Mr. Barchus came to the valley about four years ago and has been successful ever since. He is a firm believer in diversified farming and has already rotated almost all his lands that had been wheat sick. Timothy is grown very successfully by Mr. Barchus and he threshes quite a number of bushels every year for which he gets from $1.50 to $2.00 per bushel, and has the hay left for stock. Mr. Barchus contends that this is the finest country in the world to mature and ripen grasses as the extra long summer days with their two hours more of sunshine than Illinois or Iowa, at the time that the ripening process is on produces results in healthy and abundant seed.

PRONOUNCED HIS CASE INCURABLE

Whole Body Raw with Eczema—Life was Intolerable—Was Even Incased in Plaster—Discharged from Hospitals as Hopeless.

SUFFERED 14 YEARS
CURED BY CUTICURA

"From the age of three months until fifteen years old, my son Owen's life was made intolerable by eczema in its worst form. He was all right until a red rash broke out on his forehead, but we were not alarmed at first. Very soon, however, the rash began to spread over his head and shoulders, and it caused him great discomfort. I took him to a doctor and tried half a dozen other treatments, all with the same result: no improvement at all. The disease gradually spread until nearly every part of his body was quite raw. We had to strap him down in bed, for he used to tear himself dreadfully in his sleep. The agony he went through is quite beyond words. No one thought we would rear him. The regimental doctor, a very clever man, pronounced the case hopeless; at least, he said the only hope was that he might, if he lived long enough, outgrow it to some extent. We had him in hospitals four times and he was pronounced one of the worst cases, if not the worst, ever admitted. From each he was discharged as incurable; in fact he got worse under the successive treatments. At one hospital they incased him in plaster, and this seemed to aggravate the soreness terribly. He looked so badly that no one liked to go near him and his life was a burden to him. We kept trying remedy after remedy, but we had got almost past hoping for a cure. Six months ago we purchased a set of Cuticura Soap, Ointment, and Resolvent Pills and persevered with them. The result was truly marvelous and to-day he is perfectly cured, his skin not having a blemish on it anywhere. Mrs. Lily Hedge, 51, Vaughan Road, Coldharbour Lane, Camblewell Green, Eng., Jan. 12, 1907."

This morning she arose at 2 o'clock and prepared breakfast and as this was a trifle early for average people it was decided best to send her home.

Friends of the unfortunate young woman fear that the final outcome of the case will be serious, but hope for the best.

WINNIPEG HAS A VERY TIGHT LID

THREE HUNDRED PERSONS REPORTED FOR INFRACTIONS OF SUNDAY LAW—FEW OCCUPATIONS TO BE EXEMPTED—MINISTER WAS REPORTED FOR PERFORMING A MARRIAGE CEREMONY—TWO UNDERTAKERS REPORTED FOR CONDUCTING FUNERALS AND REPORTERS FOR WRITING UP SUNDAY SERMONS—ATTORNEY GENERAL WILL HAVE TO PASS ON CASES—LAW FOLLOWED TO THE LETTER

J. M. Lamb manager of the Winnipeg base ball team spent last evening in the city on business leaving this morning for Grand Forks. He says that Winnipeg has a "lid" that is a lid and that approximately three hundred cases of infractions of the Lord's day act were reported by the police Sunday, these including all classes of work, business and occupations which are not mentioned in the special exemption clauses in the act. Tho the police do not claim that this list includes all the infractions which occurred Sunday, it is thought that the ground has been fairly well covered.

Were All Reported

When instructions were issued that all persons who violated the act were to be reported, copies of the act were handed to the constables on duty, along with instructions as to how reports were to be made. Each constable was to report any infractions noted on or near his beat, and these reports were entered in a book especially provided for the purpose. In addition the sergeant and members of the detective division also visited a number of places of business which would come outside the duty of the constables.

Letter of the Law

So far as it could be interpreted by the police the letter of the act has been followed in making the reports which will be included in a general report to the attorney general as soon as it can be compiled. Many of the cases which will appear will come as a surprise to those who are asking for the enforcement of the act.

Shoe shine stands, cigar stands and newspaper stands in hotels were practically all open for business and went down on the list of offenders. The drivers of cabs and delivery rigs not coming under the exemption clauses were included, as were the men and boys who sell and deliver American papers, which come in on the Sunday trains. Some of the city bakers were hard at work, in several stores merchants were found taking stock, in one hotel carpenters were at work making repairs in the bar, while all the restaurants and cafes were serving customers with goods which could not be included in the list of necessities. Last, but by no means least train crews and switching crews were at work in all the railway yards, shunting cars, making up trains and doing similar work. This latter is the subject of a special clause in the act, which provides that such work can only be done in certain hours.

Funerals and Weddings

As no clause could be found providing exemption in the act, two undertakers were reported for having conducting funerals yesterday, as was also a minister who performed a marriage ceremony. In all three of the Winnipeg newspaper offices employes were found outside the hours provided in the act. On the river rink and at the tobaggan slide at the foot of Kennedy street there were a number of persons seeking recreation and a man was present selling hot coffee; this was reported. There was only a small concert at the Royal Alexandria hotel but this was included.

Among the many other reported offenders may be mentioned practically all the city hotels, where cigars or similar goods were on sale. The drug stores were all open and were offering for sale other goods than medicines. The fruit stores were doing a rushing business among the many Winnipegers who live in apartment or boarding houses and who have no facilities for keeping fruits and similar goods in store. This is an infraction of the act and was reported accordingly.

SCHEME FOR GREAT WATER POWER ON THE RED RIVER

Plans for a big Dam Are Being Made by Messr Knute Aaker and Elias Steenerson. Will Push Project.

A Co-operative Company Planned to Furnish Power for Fargo, Grand Forks and Crookston Electric Line.

Knute Aaker one of the pioneer and substantial residents of Hubbard Township in western Polk Co., spent today in the city conferring with Postmaster Steenerson regarding the proper procedure for securing permission from the government to construct an immense dam across the Red River one mile above where the Sand Hill River Unites with the Red River in the township of Hubbard, and after consultation decided to leave for Washington in a few days together with others interested in the project, where they will consult with United States Senators Knute Nelson, Moses E. Clapp, Congressman Steenerson and others regarding the project.

According to the government survey the banks of the Red River at the point where it is planned to build the dam are 63 1-2 feet high and by cutting off what is known as One Mile Point and backwatering for 5 miles which would not overflow any of the adjacent land a fall of 19 feet could be secured.

This cut-off would only necessitate a small canal for a short distance and would not be an expensive operation, and the power that could be generated would be sufficient to operate an electric road from Fargo to Grand Forks, from Grand Forks to Crookston and from Crookston to Moorhead making a complete circuit.

It is planned to organize a co-operative company to push the project and steps to this end will be taken at once.

Mr. Aaker now has a water power on his farm through which the Sand Hill River runs which is equal to the power of the Climax Roller Mills. Elias Steenerson also has a fall of 18 feet on his farm according to a survey made by Geo. A. Ralph, engineer of the state drainage board, made a few years ago.

This projected dam would not only furnish water power for an electric road, according to the promoters, but would also furnish power for scores of manufacturing plants in this and adjacent cities.

SWITCH HOGS HANDED PACKAGE

The railroad men running up Emerson way are telling of the loyal supporters the "Switch Hogs" of that town have been to the local Hockey team.

A friendly game of Hockey was played with the Hallock team the other evening and the boys were all there in force to coach their team to victory, which was in their estimation was to be an easy one and flashed all kinds of money at 10 to 1 that their team would double the score. It was a difficult matter to place all their money but finally succeeded in doing so after considerable coaxing. The game was a warm one and when time was called the score was four and four and it took five minutes over time for Emerson to get the deciding score but at that the score was from being doubled and the switch hogs are out considerable hard earned money and now it will be 10 to 1 on Hallock with them when the return game is played. The boys are all well known to the railroad men here and they are hearing from it on all sides.

GOVERNMENT INVESTIGATES

A JOINT RESOLUTION PASSED BY CONGRESS REGARDING R. R. LANDS

WESTERN RAILROAD GRANT WILL BE PROBED BY THE GOVERNMENT

From Tuesday's Daily—

There has been a great deal of talk of late regarding the western land grant of the government covering valuable timber lands in Oregon which people are anxious to get hold of at a very low price per acre. The railroad company preferred to with draw the lands and the government has now taken the matter up as the following taken from the Congressional Record of Jan. 31 will show. The record says:

The joint resolution (S. R. 48) instructing the Attorney-General to institute certain suits, etc., was read the first time by its title and the second time at length as follows:

Whereas at divers times various railroads and other corporations have received large grants of public lands of the United States, under and by virtue of the acts of the Congress, containing conditions to the effect that such lands should be sold to actual settlers only or in quantities not exceeding for any one purchaser a limit fixed by the act relating thereto, or at a price per acre not greater than an amount mentioned in the act authorizing such grant, to the end that such lands might promptly become the homes of citizens of the United States; and

Whereas, it is currently reported and widely believed that the Department of Justice has information to the effect that certain of the corporations aforesaid, or their alleged successors in title, having obtained colorable title to large tracts of land within a State or States of the Pacific slope by virtue of the grants above mentioned, and still holding considerable portions thereof, have violated or evaded the equitable and salutary conditions so, as aforesaid imposed by the Congress upon such grants for the public good, yet the Congress is not advised that any action has been taken by the Department of Justice to enforce the said conditions or restore the said lands to the public domain: Now therefore be it

Resolved, etc., That the Attorney General be, and he is hereby, directed, authorized, and empowered to take such proceedings or institute such suit or suits on behalf of the United States as may be necessary, appropriate, or expedient to insure a compliance with the above mentioned conditions or to restore the said lands to the public domain, or to report to the Congress why such action as aforesaid has not been or should not be taken.

MORE WINTER IS IN STORE

GROUND HOG SAW HIS SHADOW YESTERDAY UNLESS HE IS BLIND

Yesterday was ground hog day, and unless the animal is as blind as a bat he saw his shadow. This means that he will return to his winter quarters and will remain there for six weeks longer or in other words six more weeks of winter are at hand. As there has been but one week so far, the fact that there will be but six weeks more will cause no alarm, as six weeks is really needed to kill any germs that might be afloat Here is hoping that the ground hog gets the rest which has been denied him during the winter weeks to which they were really entitled.

AN EARLY MORNING BLAZE

THIS MORNING AT 5:30 THE SCHAFF HOME WAS COMPLETELY GUTTED

IT STARTED AFTER MR. SCHAFF HAD GOT UP FOR DAY'S WORK

From Tuesday's Daily—

This morning at about 5:30 fire broke out in the W. A. Schaff home on Bridge street Jeromes addition. just across the Jeromes addition bridge, and despite a very quick response on the part of the fire department the kitchen of the home was gutted.

The house belongs to Geo. Stone, anud the sawdust filling between the studdings made it very hard to extinguish the fire. The household goods in the kitchen were ruined by water and smoke and the balance of the household gods were practically ruined by water and smoke.

Mr. Schaff had just got up and started the fires in the siting room and kitchen. While he was finishing dressing he smelled smoke and going to the kitchen discovered when he opened the door that the room was filled with smoke.

Not waiting to get hat or coat he rushed to the fire hall and gave the alarm and Chief Tom Morris and the department were very soon on the ground.

Mrs. Schaff was nursing at the home of John Telke whose mother was very ill, and she was almost frantic when she arrived on the scene. Mr. Schaff before he turned in the alarm aroused the children and all got out without harm.

Mr. Schaff had no insurance on his household goods. But Geo. Stone who owns the building was fully insured.

Deafness Cannot be Cured

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed Deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

"OLD JACK" IS RECALLED

WANT AD. PUBLISHED IN JOURNAL RESULTS IN INTERESTING STORY

FAITHFUL OLD HORSE OF PETE CORNELIUS HAD GREAT HISTORY

From Monday's Daily—

A simple want ad. in the Crookston Journal by P. J. Lachapelle to find the owner of a horse hide robe which he found on the streets of the city last Saturday brought to light a very interesting story in which a noble specimen of horseflesh is connected.

The robe was claimed yesterday by Peter Cornelius, one of the pioneers of this section of the Red River Valley and he told a very interesting story regarding the horse from which thte robe came.

He owned the animal known as "Old Jack" to all the early residents of Crookston, for 24 years and shot him only a year ago when the owner of the faithful old horse thought life was a burden to him and then had the hide tanned as a keepsake.

Mr. Cornelius got "Old Jack" from a man named Larson Norby who had secured him from an Indian Chieftain on the White Earth Reservation and Norby had used the horse to haul mail from Lake Park to Twin Falls from 1879 to 1883, and the faithful animal would face any blizzard to make the trip, and a rein was not needed as when he once started he would go the route day or night and never was known to get off the road.

Mr. Cornelius got Old Jack in 1883 and the two were fast friends ever afterwards. The old horse would go home at any hour of the day or night, rain or shine blizzard and blow, and nothing would turn him from his course.

During late years the animal did not care to serve anyone but Mr. Cornelius himself. On several occasions Mrs. Torgerson of this city, a daughter of Mr. Cornelius, attempted to drive Old Jack to Crookston. Old Jack would come as far as the edge of the farm and would then back the buggy in the ditch, turn about and take driver, buggy and all home in spite of all the whipping and reining the driver could do. The faithful old horse thought that if Pete Cornelius was not in the buggy something was wrong. No amount of urging or coaxing would induce the noble old horse to come to Crookston without his master was in the buggy, and after Mr. Cornelius drove him to the city he could not be either lead or driven home unless his master was in the rig.

The old horse is gone to the happy hunting ground or where all good horses go but his faithfulness is still proverbial among the old timers, who talk of him in the same manner as they would an old pal.

Two Thousand Enraged Citizens Overpower Armed Guard and Hang Negro.

MEMBERS OF MOB ARE INJURED

Soldiers Fire Upon Citizens as They Seize Negro—All Show Marks of the Fight.

Brookhaven, Miss., Feb. 12. — Eli Pigot, a negro, who assaulted Miss Williams, a young white woman, near here several weeks ago, was early yesterday taken from the custody of the Jackson military company and a posse of deputies and hanged from a telegraph pole within less than a hundred yards of the court house.

He was to have been tried yesterday for his crime. The military company and the posse were overpowered by a mob of more than 2,000 citizens. Several shots were fired during the melee and two members of the mob were wounded.

Mob Attacks Militia.

Pigot reached Brookhaven from Jackson shortly after 7 o'clock, in custody of Sheriff Frank Greer and under the armed escort of the Capital Light guards, ordered into service by Gov. Noel to protect the negro during the trial.

When the soldiers and negro alighted from the train the mob surged around them, and a fierce hand-to-hand fight ensued. The soldiers clubbed the members of the mob with their guns.

The fight lasted five minutes and the military started with the prisoner to the court house, when the mob, reinforced and reorganized, made another attack, secured the prisoner, dragged him to a telephone pole and hanged him.

All Show Marks of Fight.

Jackson, Miss., Feb. 12.—The Jackson military company, from whose custody a mob secured Eli Pigot, the negro lynched at Brookhaven yesterday, returned to this city late last evening, almost every member of the company bearing some mark of their encounter with the mob. One of the militiamen, Corporal Leslie Arms, was seriously injured.

Capt. Albert Falley, who was in command of the local militia, stated that the soldiers exerted every means to save the negro from the mob, both as to courage and to effort, but that it was a case of fighting against overwhelming odds. The local company was joined at Brookhaven by the company stationed at that place and in all numbered fifty-eight men.

RESTS WITH ANCESTORS

Bodies of King Carlos and Luis Philippi Laid Away—Almost Ends in Disaster.

Lisbon, Feb. 12. — The bodies of King Carlos and Crown Prince Luiz Phillippe were yesterday laid away beside those of their royal ancestors in the sacred sepulchres of the pantheon. The official closing of one of the most tragical incidents in Portuguese history was done in a scene which almost ended in disaster. A great crowd, numbering into the thousands struggled outside the cathedral San Vicente seeking to enter and view the bodies before the doors were finally closed for the ceremony.

Brushing back the police and guard of Royal Archers, they poured into the church, sweeping everything before them. A panic was threatened and the cavalry was called out to disperse the pushing thousands. Women and children were caught in the crush, and many of them were bruised and trampled upon, but no fatalities have been reported. When the doors eventually were closed to the public the ceremony of entombment was carried out.

A brief but fiery speech by Mr. Leake (Dem.) of New Jersey, in which he outlined his opposition to William J. Bryan as a candidate for the presidency, relieved somewhat the monotony of debate on the Indian appropriation bill in the house.

Minneapolis, Feb. 12. — Mrs. Mary Brandys is dead as the result of burns received while extinguishing the clothing of her two children, four and six years old, which became ignited as the result of an explosion of gasoline in a kitchen stove.

STANDARD OIL TRUST ATTACKS NEW LAW

Standard Oil Files Demurrer in the Case Brought By Attorney General.

St. Paul, Feb. 12.—The constitutionality of the Hinton anti-discrimination law passed by the legislature is to be tested in the courts in the suit brought by the state to secure the cancellation of the Minnesota charter of the Standard Oil company. The company yesterday entered a demurrer to the complaint, alleging that the law is unconstitutional and void, being in contravention of several provisions of the state and federal constitutions.

The state alleges in its complaint that the company on a certain date was selling a certain grade of oil in the Twin Cities at a price several cents a gallon lower than it was charging for the same grade at other points. The law relates only to dealers in oils and expressly prohibits the charging of a higher price at one point than at another, allowance being made for the difference in the cost of transportation. Upon the conviction of a company on this charge the secretary of state is directed to cancel its charter to do business in Minnesota. The company claims that it is class legislation because it relates solely to dealers in oils and does not cover other commodities.

BANKER MORSE IS INDICTED TWICE

New York County Grand Jury Finds True Bills Against Man of Many Banks.

GRAND LARCENY IS CHARGE

Other Indictments Ordered by Grand Jury as Result of Investigation of Banks.

New York, Feb. 12.—The grand jury for New York county, which has been investigating certain business transactions involving some of the banks with which Charles W. Morse, the organizer of the American Ice company and the Consolidated Steamship company, until recently was identified, yesterday returned five indictments. Three of these indictments had to do with liquor tax cases, while two indictments charged grand larceny.

The indictments were not made public, but in asking that a good-sized bail bond be required, District Attorney Jerome stated to the court that two charges of grand larceny were laid against "a man now on his way over here" from Europe.

Morse Is the Man.

Following the court proceedings, it was stated authoritatively that the man referred to by Mr. Jerome was Charles W. Morse, who sailed for Liverpool a week ago Saturday on the Campania, but is now returning upon the advice of his counsel. Mr. Morse is a passenger on the Cunarder Etruria, due here late next Saturday. The grand jury, it is learned, has ordered other indictments in connection with its investigation into banking affairs. Among the matters which the grand jury looked into was a transaction in which two notes for $200,000 figured. The federal grand jury, which also has been investigating the banking situation, concluded its day's session yesterday without handing down any indictments.

J. G. Hanrahan Is in Wisconsin, and Will Soon Go to Duluth.

Appleton, Wis., Feb. 12.—The gigantic print paper mill merger again has come to light with the arrival here of John G. Hanrahan of New York.

The engineer of the gigantic paper deal is as reticent as ever on the subject, but it is said that since he left here for New York the last time arrangements have been made for swinging the financial part of the deal. Local manufacturers believe that the merger would have culminated several months ago had it not been for the condition of the money market, and are now laboring under the impression that Eastern capitalists have completed arrangements for the proposed combine.

Mr. Hanrahan will leave for the northwestern part of the state some time this week, and it is supposed will hold a conference with the owners of the Minnesota mills at Duluth.

Central City, Ky., Feb. 12. — Nine miners were killed and one other fatally injured by an explosion of gas in the mine of the Moody Coal company at South Carrollton, three miles from this city, yesterday afternoon. The mine is a small one and only thirteen men were at work in the digging at the time of the explosion. The accident was caused by a slow blast setting off the gas which had evidently accumulated in considerable quantity, as the interior of the mine was wrecked and the cages smashed so that it was impossible to get the ten victims and the three survivors to the surface until 7 o'clock last evening. The three men who escaped managed to reach the bottom of the shaft and keep clear of the gas.

MURPHY SIMPLY TOLD ALEX GONYEA THAT HE KNEW GRACE BURNS

From Saturday's Daily—

The story published in the Grand Forks and Fargo papers to the effect that while being taken to Stillwater by Deputy Sheriff Orin Daniels and Deputy Alex Gonyea, Mike Murphy had confessed that he was the murderer of Grace Burns at Fargo last summer is absolutely false. Deputy Sheriff Daniels says that Murphy did not even mention Grace Burns name to him on the way to Stillwater or at any other time. Murphy did tell Alex Gonyea on the way to Stillwater that he knew Grace Burns very well and that he had often trotted her on his knee. From this story the sensational confession was manufactured.

Because Murphy is a tough character the authorities decided to investigate and Sheriff Gonyea ordered a photograph of Murphy which will be sent here from the penitentiary and will be sent by Sheriff Gonyea to Sheriff Hunt of Fargo who thinks Murphy was in Fargo at about the time the foul murder was committed and of course it is possible that there may be developments.

The confession sctory, however, is absolutely false.

F. E. B.

We heard a man say the other morning that the abbreviation for February —Feb. —means Freeze every body and that man looked frozen in his ulster. It was apparent that he needed the kind of warmth that stays the warmth that reaches from head to foot, all over the body. We could have told him from personal knowledge that Hood's Sarsaparilla gives permanent warmth, it invigorates the blood and speeds it along thru artery and vein, and really fits men and women, boys and girls, to enjoy cold weather and resist the attacks of disease. It gives the right kind of warmth, stimulates and strengthens at the same time, and all its benefits are lasting. There may be a suggestion in this for you.

FARGO DULUTH BRANDON AND WINNIPEG ORGANIZE FOUR CLUB LEAGUE

100 GAMES SCHEDULED, SEASON TO OPEN LATTER PART OF MAY

Winnipeg has 125,000 people, Duluth 75,000, Fargo 15,000 and Brandon 15,000 making a total of 230,000 inhabitants to draw from for support in the cities alone. The league is international like the Eastern league, Winnipeg and Brandon being in Canada and Fargo and Duluth in the United States.

SENT MESSAGE AT COST OF $37

JOHN D. ROCKEFELLER'S FATHER PAID FEGAN A FAT FEE

EVERYTHING FROM A FARM TO PIGS INCLUDED—PAID $37 FOR MESSAGE

From Friday's Daily—

W. W. Fegan of Grand Forks states that he had dealings with Dr. Livingston father of John D. Rockefeller, years ago when Mr. Fegan was employed by the Great Northern railway at Larimore. Dr. Livingstone came in to the telegraph office and stated that he wanted to send a message to Cleveland, O. He said his home was at Park River but he did not want the people up there to know anything about his business and so he came to Larimore to send his message.

He started in to write it and then decided it would be easier to dictate it to Mr. Fegan from a memorandum. The message contained a list of what Livingston proposed to buy and the cost of the same, the total amount being $18,000. It ranged from a tract of land to pigs.

Pays for Message

When Mr. Fegan got thru and figured the cost of the message he found it would be just $37 and he supposed from Dr. Livingston's appearance that he would ask to send it collect. He was all ready to refuse such a request when Dr. Livingston produced a fat wallet and paid the $37 without a murmur.

Mr. Fegan cannot remember who the message was addressed to but knows it was not to John D. Rockefeller. He believes it went to an agent of the oil magnate.

The recent talk concerning Rockefeller's father recalled to Mr. Fegan the incident of years ago.

INJURIES ARE VERY SERIOUS

N. A. BRAY RECEIVED LETTER FROM BROTHER AT BLACKDUCK TODAY

Nap Bray of this city this morning received a letter from Paul Brunnelle of Red Lake Falls, written from Blackduck and telling of the accident to Joe and Zotique Bray at Little Fork several days ago. Zotique left for his home at Brooks two days later and while badly hurt his condition was not considered dangerous. Joe Bray however, was badly hurt, striking on his head and shoulders when the bus team ran away with the two other passengers aside from himself and brother.

Joe's head was so badly hurt that he has been in agony ever since the accident when conscious. His right leg is paralyzed but the physicians believe he will recover the use of the limb in time.

Zotique had the flesh terribly torn from his ribs and the experience would have been fatal to any less rugged man physically.

Mr. and Mrs. Ed Bray of Red Lake Falls went to Blackduck yesterday to see the injured man, and Nap Bray left this morning to see how his brothers are recovering. Both injured men are uncles of Rene Morin of the New York Store.

DEVELOPEMENT OF GREAT WATER POWER

Some Facts Regarding Early History of the Promotion of Railroads in the Great Northwest.

Rainy Lake, Crookston and Pacific Was Organized in Crookston in 1891 but N. P. went bump.

Widespread interest has developed in the project of Elias Steenerson and Knute S. Aaker who have taken the initiative in the development of a gigantic water power in the Red River of the North just south of Climax and as a sequel to the first announcement of the project it may be stated that Knute S. Aker has purchased all the land adjacent to the dam and there can be no drawbacks in that direction. The direction of the proposed dam would also make Nielsville the head of navigation on the Red River and this is also sugnificant.

The development of such a water power, for which privileges will be asked from congress means a great deal to the entire northwest and specially to Crookston, Fargo, Grand Forks and the intermediate towns including Moorhead, which city is as much interested as any in the quartette, for it is intimately connected with the establishment of the long talked of interurban electric line, and with Climax as the reserve power depot, it will be plainly seen tnat the power depot would be very centrally located for the serving of the territory mentioned.

There is more than mere talk connected with this project. Knute S. Aker is wealthy and has secured possession of the required land, and Post master Elias Steenerson of this city is also well-to-do financially and is a brother of Congressman Steenerson who can be relied upon to secure the necessary grants from Congress.

The plans of the present projectors include the construction of local electric lines in Crookston and Grand Forks, Fargo, Moorhead and Crookston and an interurban line running northeast from Crookston, to Rainy Lake country. This agitation recalls some interesting early history when in the winter of 1891 the Rainy Lake, Crookston and Pacific R. R. Co. was organized, the first project at that time being the construction of a railroad from Crookston to Rainy Lake to the northeast of this city and from Crookston southwest to near Climax, the site of the proposed great water power.

The intention of this company was to connect with the N. P. at Fargo or west of there, but the N. P. went into the hands of a receiver at about this time and in '93 the panic came on and nothing further was done.

Even at that early day $15000 bonds were voted to further this project for another line to the Pacific Ocean, Crookston voting $8000 of the bonds and Vineland, Roome, Andover, Hubbard and Shelly the balance.

When the company was organized Halvor Steenerson was elected president, (now congressman), John R. McKinnon, vice president, Max Ericsson, 2nd vice president, and L. Ellington, (present cashier of the Scandia American bank) secretary and treasurer, and Elias Steenerson (now post master of Crookston) general manager.

A survey was made and the right of way for the proposed road secured from Crookston to Shelly and at this juncture the N. P. trouble started.

At about this time there was a general agitation for the construction of railroads in this section. Hines activity to secure a Farmers' railroad to Duluth which hastened the construction of the G. N. from Crookston to Duluth, and the G. N. at that time hastened the completion of the Halstal extension to this city.

All of which goes to show that agitation on any railroad project, if it is backed by good men with means will result in the carrying out of their schemes or the plans of other along the same lines.

Many up-to-date villages and cities now have a City Forester, who has supervision of the tree planting and care of the trees on the streets. If it is decided to have elms on a street he has authority to prevent some eratic individual from setting out box elders or willows and spoiling the symetry of the street. He also fixes the line and the distance between the trees. He also supervises the trimming and no telephone or electric light vandal comes along and slashes shade trees right and left with impunity. In some states county boards are setting trees along the main travelled county roads. This will not only result in beautiful drives but add greatly to the comfort of the teams as well as the people who travel them.—Fergus Falls Journal.

Secretary of Agriculture Wilson has a new one. His department has been grafting honey bees on lightning bugs so that the bees could work at their honey enterprises at night and it has produced a lot of results too. His latest exploit, overtops all former ones.

"You young men knew," said the vet of the cabinet "that certain kinds of bees have a method of milking certain varieties of ants. Well, we never knew much about why they did it, but we-ve found out at last.

"There is nothing so remarkable about a bee milking an ant, when you think of it. Probably the bees and ants would be just as much surprised at noticing that human beings milked goats and sows. Anyhow, our people in Hawaiian Islands have been looking into the habits of certain bees which make honey, but don't seem ever to bother about the flowers. Here is what we've found:

"These bees hold up the aphis, a variety of industrious ants in the sect mammalia. They milk the ants and have some process of turning the milk into honey.

"The honey produced is called honey dew, and it's mighty good. The ant does most of the real work, collecting the ingredients. The bees calmly milk the ants and complete the process of making the milk into honey.

"Yes, we expect to naturalize the process in this country somehow, but haven't got it worked out yet."

The Board of Control Plan.

The Illinois legislature has taken up the board of control idea, and is considering a bill placing all of the state's charitable institutions under such a body. As a result argument for and against the plan is waxing hotter, as it did in Minnesota when the plan was proposed here, says the Duluth Herald.

Minnesota's experience with the idea has been satisfactory, on the whole. The chief reason why it was adopted here is that before the management of state institutions was turned over to a single board, each session of the legislature presented a disgraceful spectacle of lobbying and log rolling in behalf of the several institutions. The senator or representative from an institution town was practically useless to the state at large, because it was considered his chief duty to get as much money as he could for his particular institution. To do this he must trade votes and join hands with other representatives of institution towns, and the result was that the graver business of the state was set aside to a large extent in favor of the biennial scramble for appropriations.

The board of control law had a stormy history, chiefly because when it was first adopted it placed the educational institutions under the same board that managed the charitable and correctional institutions. This came about, curiously enough, through an attempt to defeat the measure.

When it was pending and seemed likely to pass, its enemies conspired to add an amendment placing the educational institutions under the board of control. This was done in the hope of beating the bill. It didn't; on the contrary the bill passed, including this objectionable amendment. Then several sessions were devoted to rescuing the schools from this control, and when it was finally accomplished, the plan proceeded on a legitimate and business-like basis. It has not altogether abolished the log-rolling for institutions, but it has reduced it very materially, and some important economies have been brought about.

Besides, it takes the institutions out of politics, in which they never should be entangled. There were good arguments in favor of the local boards of management which the board of control supplanted, such as that local citizens having an interest in the institutions thru their membership in these boards would visit them frequently and see that they were properly conducted. A criticism of the board of control plan being made in Illinois is to the effect that in case of abuses the members of the board of control acting as supervisors would hardly be willing to find fault with their own work as managers. Minnesota, at the suggestion of Governor Johnson, has provided a state board of visitors which meets this criticism. At the same time it is difficult to see why the same criticism would not apply to local boards, providing there were no supervisory system such as Minnesota has provided.

CREAMERY AT BADGER HAS SUCCESSFUL YEAR

At the annual meeting of the North Star Co-operative Creamery association held at Badger about twenty-five stockholders were present and they were all well pleased with the results of the year just past. From the secretary's report it appeared that there was a decrease of over 10,000 pounds in the amount of butter fat received owing to the severity of the previous winter and the unusually late spring. This was offset however, by the higher price received for butter there being over $1,300 more paid to the patrons than in 1906. The creamery gained eighteen patrons during the year.

Officers were elected as follows: A. G. Lokken, president; Theo. E. Haug, vice president; Peter Forness, secretary; John Hegstad, treasurer; Aron Swanson, Tollef Lindeland and J. S. Sunderland, directors.

THE GREAT GAME OF POLITICS

Fairmont Standard: The partisan newspapers keep harping away on the statement that Mr. Bryan has made money on the lecture platform and from his books. They seem to think the ability to thus make money disqualifies a man for the office of president. Had he made his money by gambling in Wall street, swindling bank depositors looting insurance funds, watering stock, or stealing from the poor under the guise of a high tariff, these editors would have considered him a great captain of industry and fine presidential timber.

Princeton Union: What has the present session of congress accomplished? Hasn't it tinkered with the Aldrich bill and carried by unanimous vote every motion to adjourn?

Albert Lea Standard. Is Roosevelt "tamed?" Does Wall street now consider that he is properly "subdued?" His message is the greatest battle cry of freedom since Lincoln, and if it does not suit Wall street it certainly does satisfy and rejoice the rest of the country exceedingly.

LITTLE GRAIN STILL LEFT

NORTH DAKOTA ELEVATOR MAN SAYS THERE IS ONLY 15 PERCENT

OF THE 1907 WHEAT CROP STILL IN THE HANDS OF FARMERS OF THAT STATE

There is only 15 percent of the wheat crop of 1907 in the hands of the elevators and farmers of North Dakota exclusive of what is needed for seed, according to W. F. Redman who is travelling elevator agent for a company. The high price of wheat and the fact that the farmers needed the money last fall on account of the pressure brought on them by creditors who were being crowded by the wholesalers and big money interests resulted in nearly all the wheat being shipped to the terminals and sold. There is very little wheat to be shipped to the markets now.

There are other grain men who are inclined to think that 15 per cent is too high an estimate of the wheat left in the state. They believe that the amount of wheat needed for seed will scrape the bins clean and there will be none left to be shipped east.

40,000 TONS OF COAL ON FIRE

OFFICIALS HAVE SHAFT SUNK IN IMMENSE PILE AT DEVILS LAKE—EMPLOYES

FEAR COAL HAS CAUGHT ON FIRE FROM SPONTANEOUS COMBUSTION

Great Northern railway officials have been having a good deal of anxiety concerning a pile of 40,000 tons of soft coal at Devils Lake which is believed to have been on fire from spontaneous combustion. Shafts have been sunk in the pile but so far no fire has been located. The condition of the pile indicated that there was a fire or the coal was about in shape to break out.

Some of the employes are of the opinion that there is a good sized fire smouldering deep down in the immense pile and fear that it will not be long before the entire pile will be endangered. Further efforts to locate the fire will be made and precaution taken to prevent any further danger of spontaneous combustion.

The coal has been smoking in a way to indicate that there was a probability that a pretty good sized fire has gained a start.

And so it is with all the other symptoms of kidney disorders. That is just where the danger lies. You must cure these troubles or they may lead to diabetes or Bright's disease. The best remedy to use is Doan's Kidney Pills. It cures all ills which are caused by weak or diseased kidneys. Crookston people testify to permanent cures.

N. L. Nelson, sheet metal worker, of 303 Jackson Avenue, Crookston, Minn., says: "Backache and kidney complaint were constant annoyances to me for years. The aching in my back was not continued, but the cause was always there, and it required only a little exertion or a cold to bring on a severe attack. I was suffering more than usual when I was induced to go to Wallace's drug store and get Doan's Kidney Pills. Their use promptly took the pains out of my back and helped me generally. I want to give Doan's Kidney Pills all the credit for working this wonderful cure."

ARE DESIRIOUS OF GETTING LANDS COVERED WITH TIMBER

The Journal is in receipt of a communication from George Welch commissioner of immigration for the state of Minnesota, to the effect that settlers in Canadian Northwest are tired of living in Canada and want to come to Minnesota if lands can be obtained here. The letter follows:

"The state board of immigration is in receipt of a number of communications from the Canadian Northwest in which the writers ars asking for information about homestead lands in Minnesota. They say they have no money and consequently are unable to buy lands. They inform me that their crops have been entirely destroyed for two consecutive years.

"I believe the people of our state should be acquainted with these conditions, and therefore I take the liberty of writing you. I feel no hesitation in saying that if the homesteader of today was acquainted with the opportunities that are offered in the Northern sections of Minnesota, that district would receive a setlement unparalleled in history.

"In the communications that come to this office I find a large percentage of the writers desirious of settling on lands on which there is a quantity of native timber."

CROOKSTON CITY HALL IS TO BE REPAIRED

CITY COUNCIL HELD A BUSY SESSION LAST EVENING—CITY PRINTING BIDS REFERRED TO SPECIAL COMMITTEE FOR REPORT—DR. WILSON RANDOLPH APPOINTED CITY PHYSICIAN — ALD. SARGENT APPOINTED POOR COMMISSIONER — COUNCIL PROCEEDINGS NEED NOT BE READ IN FUTURE—SMALL POX AND BUCKET SHOP ORDINANCES PASSED THEIR FINAL READINGS —RECOMMENDATIONS BY THE PARK BOARD

From Wednesday's Daily—

The City Council held a busy session last evening and while there were some fire works in connection with the city printing in which some outside influences worked over time to no avail, the council settled down and business went ahead like clockwork. Crookston certainly has a working council, and President Snyder sustained his reputation last evening of a successful presiding officer and has the support of a majority of the members.

Omit Reading Minutes

The work of City Clerk Childs was materially lessened upon the advice of City Attorney O'Brien who stated that it was not necessary to read the minutes of the previous meeting of a motion was passed suspending the reading of the minutes if the clerk found them to have been the same in the legal publication as in the original, and a motion covering this was passed and the reading omitted.

A Legal Charge

The City Attorney ruled that drugs furnished to people who could not pay for them were a proper charge against the city and on this showing the bill of A. G. Andersen which was rejected at the last meeting was allowed.

Sargent on Salary

A resolution was passed naming Alderman Sargent, chairman of the poor committee, poor commissioner, and setting his salary at $10 per month. The council was of the opinion that Ald. Sargent could save the city many times his salary if he devoted considerable time to the duties of poor commissioner, and thoroly investigated each case in which aid was applied for, seeing that the deserving ones were aided and the grafters turned down.

Dr. Randolph Named

Dr. Wilson Randolph was named as city physician his bid being $9 per month for all operations, attendance for accidents, illness of any kind or childbirth in connection with city charges. One bid was $8 per month and ranged from that to $20 per month, but the bid of Dr. Randolph was the most specific and covered all medical attendance and operations on city charges and it was thought it would be cheaper in the long run.

Will Repair City Hall

A resolution was passed providing for the repair of the city hall at an estimated expense of $3,000 and the work all be done by the city under the supervision of a competent man. Steel trusses and beams for the floor will be advertised for and other essential repairs made, including an entrance to the fire hall from the south side of the building. The original estimate was $6000 but this was cut in the offices on the second floor and other minor changes. The work will be done at once.

Referred to Committee

Two reports were made by the printing committee, one signed by Ald. Christianson which recommended that the printing be awarded to the Times and one signed by Ald. Zerracher to the effect that the bids were practically the same and recommending that the matter be taken up by the council as a whole. Ald Leahy moved that the latter report be adopted but the motion was lost on a tie vote, Aldermen Zerracher, Harris, Leahy and Snyder voting for the motion and Aldermen Sargent, Bang, Wright and Christianson voting against it. Here the fire works started, and Alderman Leahy in his remarks stated that it was beyond his comprehension how any self-respecting alderman could vote to award the printing, other things being equal to a scurrilous sheet like the Times which had villified Mayor McPhee, libelled the members of the council and which he doubted very much had the required 240 subscribers to make it a legal publication.

The pernicious activity of City Clerk Childs relative to the city printing, and his demand practically that the printing be awarded to the Times would indicate a very warm place in his heart for that publication, and an as yet unexplained friendship for the Times editor. City Clerk Childs awarded the printing to the Times at the meeting of the city council when the bids were submitted some weeks ago, but it happened that the council has not as yet turned all its functions over to the city clerk who is so anxious to shoulder grave responsibilities that are hardly numbered among his prescribed duties. The members of the council decided they were competent to pass on such matters without too much assistance and a motion to refer the bids to a committee of three to see which was the lowest prevailed. President Snyder will announce the committee later.

Park Board Busy

The City Park Commission recommended that Oakdale Ave., leading to the cemetery be widened to 66 feet and properly graded and that the city garbage depository be changed to some site outside the city limits where it would not be a menace to the health of the city and an eyesore. Both communications were referred to the proper committees.

Reports Received

The report of Chief Eck for the month of January was received including the name of each party arrested was given together with the final disposition of the case ,and this furnished some interesting information.

The report of Chief Morris of the fire department for the year ending Jan. 1 1908 was received and placed on file, and the report of the election of the Fire Department officers laid over from the last meeting was taken up and the officers laid over from the last meeting was taken up and the officers as previously published all confirmed by the council.

Ordinances Passed

The smallpox quarantine regulation ordinance passed its final reading as did the bucket shop ordinance, and the curtain ordinance which had passed its first reading was not brought up as it will be supplanted by one differently worded.

Council Notes

Sam Rosenthal was reappointed as a member of the Park Board and duly confirmed.

City Atty. O'Brien was allowed $100 for extra expenses in connection with the meter rate fight with the Water Works Co.

The city clerk was instructed to call for bids for sidewalks, curbs and tiling for the coming year.

Petitions for the water and sewer in the block where the Germania Hall is located and for water on certain portions of Front Street were referred to committees.

The usual monthly bills and payroll were allowed.

Alderman Sargent's sewer ordinance was referred back to the committee for further consideration.

Chief Eck reported that James O'Brien had been arrested twice during January, once for disorderly conduct, and once as a vag. Everybody thought of the other "Jimmy" and smiled.

RING-NECKED PHEASANTS

GAME PROTECTIVE ASS'N POLK COUNTY WILL TURN 500 LOOSE

MONEY NOW BEING COLLECTED TO CARRY OUT THE FINE PLAN

The Polk County Game and Fish Protective Association which was organized over a year ago and has over 100 live members paying $1 dues each is now planning on a fine scheme to place approximately 500 ring necked pheasants in Polk County the coming season and dues for this year are now being collected and most cheerfully paid by all the members and most of money will be used in the pheasant scheme.

The plan is to purchase 500 ring-necked pheasant eggs of Wallace Evans of Oak Park, Ill., and hatch them here under domestic hens. Experiments have proven that 90 per cent of the eggs hatch and the eggs when purchased in lots of 500 can be secured at $20 per 100.

These birds are worth $7.50 per pair, and thus it can be seen that the investment is a very good one. The birds are prolific breeders and are the best in the world for this climate. It is possible that the sportmen from East Grand Forks Fertile and other points may also get in the game and purchase eggs and if this is done the pheasant shooting would be excellent in 1910 when the law will first permit of their being shot.

AN OTTER TAIL PIONEER DIES

NELS P. PETERSON DIES AT THE AGE OF EIGHTY-THREE YEARS

Nels P. Peterson, one of the earliest residents of Otter Tail county, died at his home in the town of Aural at 5 o'clock Monday afternoon from complications incident to old age. Mr Peterson was born at Konisgerg, Norway and would have been 84 years of age had he lived until April 16 of this year. He came to America in 1860, settling first in Wisconsin, and the following year enlisted with Co. K, 3rd Wisconsin infantry. He served in the Army for three years, taking part in some of the greatest battles of the war.

His health was undermined to quite an extent by hardships and fatigue incident to the service and he never fully regained it. He came to Otter Tail county thirty-nine years ago and has resided in the town of Aural ever since, except a year and a half which he spent in the town of Maine. He has been gradually growing weaker and has been confined to his bed for three or four months past sinking gradually until death ensued.

Mr. Peterson was a good citizen and is survived by his wife and a family of five children. They are Mrs. Andrew Olson, of the town of Maine Adolph Peterson, of Fergus Falls and Samuel, Christ and Fred Peterson, of Aural.

ON the COASTER SPECIAL.

By TAYLOR WHITE.

Copyright, 1907, by N. E. Daley.

"Do you think King can keep this pace all the way to town?" asked Joyce anxiously.

Dick Torrington's chin squared itself as he looked at the sturdy black flying over the hard packed snow.

"If King doesn't keep going," he said, with an uneasy laugh, "you'll keep on being Joyce Waring and not Joyce Torrington. I've timed it so as to just make the train. If we miss that, your father will be after us in no time at all."

Joyce shivered at the suggestion For years she had lived in dread of the stern old man who since his wife's death had looked on life with hatred. When Joyce had come, her gentle mother had slowly faded away, and Hiram Waring, blaming the innocent child for the death of the woman he loved so passionately, had never shown her the affection that was her heritage.

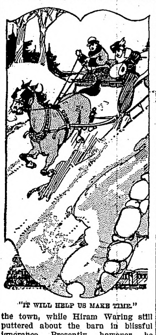
As a child her innocent transgressions were punished with an unjust severity, and when Dick Torrington had asked her father for her hand he had been driven from the house for no other apparent reason than Mr. Waring's hatred of Joyce. The father would not give his consent to a marriage because it would make her happy, and thereafter he watched her more closely than ever.

But Dick Torrington was not of the sort to take his unjust dismissal without an effort to win the woman he loved, and the elopement was the result.

Busby was the terminal station of a branch line on which the single train made two trips daily each way. Hank Carew took a pride in the punctuality with which the road was run, and it was certain that the morning train would leave exactly at half past 9.

By planning the elopement so as to reach the station just as the train started, Dick was assured that there could be no successful pursuit. King could cover the ground faster than Waring's double team, even should the latter be already hitched.

The start of the elopement had been successfully accomplished, and now King was flying over the road toward the town, while Hiram Waring still puttered about the barn in blissful ignorance. Presently, however, he would come into the house, and then perhaps he would realize what was up. Meanwhile they would have made the train, and presently they would be across the state line, where licenses were not necessary. The laws of their own state required residence before a license could be issued, and as town clerk Joyce's father was charged with the issuance of licenses.



"IT WILL HELP US MAKE TIME."

All would have gone well if a small boy had not thrown a snowball at Dick. The well packed ball of snow missed the driver, but struck King a smart blow in the ribs. The high spirited horse was unused to such treatment and bolted down the road with Dick frantically sawing at the reins.

"It is all right!" he shouted. "It will help us make time. It will be easy if I can stop him before we reach the Hill."

Joyce's face blanched. The Hill (always spelled with a capital) was a steep descent of nearly a mile, with one ugly turn. If King should bolt down the hill, there was little chance that Dick would be able to guide him around the curve, and they would be thrown down the side.

"You will stop him before then," she said confidently. But the corners of her mouth were drawn and her lips were white. She knew King and realized how little chance there was even while she sought to comfort Dick with her confidence.

It was a little more than a mile to the top of the Hill, and Dick fought the horse every inch of the way. He had called to Joyce to kneel in the bottom of the cutter, and just as they reached the descent he pulled King's head to one side and guided the crazed animal into a tree.

Dick shot over the side of the cutter as they struck, but he was on his feet in an instant to hold the horse. There was no need for that. King lay still on the sparkling snow with his head twisted oddly to one side and for a moment Dick gazed sadly upon his favorite.

Joyce, he had seen, was unharmed. Her position and the thick robes had saved her from worse than a shaking up, and she had regained the seat.

"Poor old King!" she cried as she saw with relief that Dick was unhurt. "I could kill that little Edwards boy."

"Never mind the Edwards boy," said Dick brusquely. "What we have to think about is the train. We never can walk that hill in time to make the train. Have you nerve enough to coast it in the cutter?"

"I'd risk anything rather than return home," cried Joyce. "I never will let father catch us."

"Then here goes," cried Dick gayly as he pulled the cutter back into the road and caught up one of the broken shafts. "It's been a long time since I went bobbing, but I think I can make it."

He gave Joyce the shaft to hold and pushed the cutter over the brow of the hill, climbing in over the back when he had it started.

Once back in the cutter he took the shaft and improvised a steering rudder. The body work afforded him leverage, and Dick laughed as the sleigh began to gain speed.

For the first half mile the road was straight, and little steering was necessary. Then ahead loomed the turn, and Dick's face turned grave as he dug the shaft into the road.

Slowly the sleigh responded to the pressure, and in another instant they had swung around the curve as neatly as a champion coaster on his low pointer, and they were again on the straight and headed for the station.

Hank Carew had just backed his engine down from the house, and a white plume of steam rose from the dome as the engineer waited for the minute hand of the clock to touch the bottom of the dial.

The runaways were still a quarter of a mile from the station when the cutter slowed up, but they had gained more than a minute in their swift descent, and they did not have to run.

As they came up to the station platform the little knots of loungers gathered about them. Rapidly Dick explained the reason for the coast, and the listeners cheered as they heard the tale. For years they had grumbled at the way Waring treated Joyce, and they were glad that at last she was to be released from her father's hard reign.

"Here comes your dad now!" piped a shrill voice. And with one accord they turned to see the familiar Waring team tearing over the brow of the hill.

Carew glanced at the steam gauge and the clock. Then he leaned out of the window.

"All aboard that's going!" he called in a stentorian voice. "We're changing the schedule today. The 9:30 is going out at 9:28!"

Another instant and the train was rattling down the road toward the state line, and Hiram Waring came dashing up to the platform to be greeted by ironical cheers.

"The train went ahead of time!" he sputtered. "I shall report this to the officials!"

"You're wrong, squire," drawled Ned Burns, who posed as a wag. "That ain't the regular train. That's the Coaster special. Makes close connection with the Cutter express, from up your way."

The laugh which followed showed Waring that the sympathy was all with the runaways. He was to be a candidate for county treasurer in the fall. It would not do to turn his townspeople against him. As he headed the horses for home he half turned in his seat.

"When that Coaster special completes the round trip," he shouted out, "you might tell Dick Torrington to come out to my place. I ain't going to kill the fatted calf, but there's a turkey I was saving up for Christmas. I guess that'll do as well."

His Discovery.

A one armed man sat down to his noonday luncheon in a little restaurant the other day, and seated on the right of him was a big, sympathetic individual from the rural district. The big fellow noticed his neighbor's left sleeve and kept eying him in a sort of how-did-it-happen way. The one armed man failed to break the ice, but continued to keep busy with his one-hand supplying the inner man. At last the inquisitive one on the right could stand it no longer. He changed his position a little, cleared his throat and said, "I see, sir, you have lost an arm," whereupon the unfortunate man picked up the empty sleeve with his right hand, peered into it, looked up with a surprised expression and said, "By George, sir, you're right."

Whittier at Close Range.

Whittier belonged to those natures who would advance with firmness and joy to martyrdom in a good cause, but are never comfortable in society, and who impress one with the idea that they would like to run out of the door at any moment. Yet few enjoyed the society of congenial friends as did the Quaker poet. No one relished a good story more or related one with better grace. His sense of the ludicrous was very vivid, and the absurdities of life and its situations struck him never more forcibly than when they involved himself. As Whittier's nephew and biographer has asserted, it would be a mistake to suppose that gentleness was a necessity of his nature. His was in reality the result of resolute self control and the habitual government of a tempestuous spirit. Indeed, the poet had his shrewd, assertive and almost vindictive side, else he had never been so successful a politician and reformer.—Caroline Ticknor in Harper's Weekly.

FOUR BURNED TO DEATH IN HOME

Farm House Destroyed Near Preston, Minn., and Inmates Perish in Flames.

ONLY SURVIVOR IS INJURED

Bodies of Four Victims Almost Completely Incinerated—Awakened by Smoke.

Preston, Minn., Feb. 7.—Fire starting at a stovepipe hole in the floor of the house caused the deaths of four persons and the possible fatal injury of a fifth on the farm of C. W. Engle, six miles southwest of here, shortly after midnight last night. The dead are:

C. W. Engle, thirty-seven years old.

Mrs. C. W. Engle.

Mrs. Thomas Yeast, mother of Mrs. Engle.

Baby Engle, the infant child of the first named victims.

Thomas Yeast, Mrs. Engle's father, was the only inmate of the house who escaped from the flames, and he was so seriously burned in attempting to rescue the others that his injuries, with the subsequent exposure, may cause his death. He inhaled smoke and flames, and internal injuries are feared.

The house was completely destroyed.

Awakened by Smoke.

Mr. and Mrs. Yeast lived with their daughter and husband, and material had been taken to the place to build a new home in the spring large enough to accommodate the two families.

Mr. and Mrs. Yeast occupied a room on the first floor of the house. Mr. Yeast awoke some time after midnight, partly suffocated by smoke. He ran into the hall and met his son-in-law at the foot of the stairs. The latter was clad only in his underclothing and both those garments and his hair were in flames. Mr. Yeast hurriedly wrapped a quilt about the man and calling to his wife to warn her of the danger, ran to the granary for a ladder with which to rescue his daughter and grandchild. The fire drove him back, however, and he was unable to reach their room.

All Four Incinerated.

By this time he noticed that his wife had not appeared, but efforts to go to her aid were baffled by the flames and he was obliged to remain alone in the cold until help from neighbors arrived.

The bodies of the four victims of the fire were almost completely incinerated. No trace whatever of the baby could be found in the ruins. Of the other victims nothing is left but their skulls and a few bits of partly burned flesh and clothing, all of which could be gathered up in a bushel basket.

TORTURES OF ECZEMA YIELDED TO CUTICURA

"Cuticura Remedies are all you claim them to be. I had eczema for over two years. I had two physicians, but they only gave me relief for a short time and I cannot enumerate the ointments and lotions I used to no purpose. My ankles were one mass of sores. The itching and burning were so intense that I could not sleep. I could not walk for nearly four months. One day my husband said I had better try the Cuticura Remedies. After using them three times, I had the best night's rest in months unless I took an opiate. I used one set of Cuticura Soap, Cuticura Ointment, and Cuticura Resolvent Pills, and my ankles healed in a short time. It is now a year since I used Cuticura, and there has been no return of the eczema.

"I had a small lump in the corner of my eye for over a year which was very painful and got larger all the time. I thought I would try Cuticura Soap and Ointment on it, and now it is gone. I am seventy-three years old and have lived on the farm I now occupy for twenty-seven years. Cuticura Remedies are the safest and most reliable I have ever used for all skin humors. SAFE IS BLOWN $30 SECURED

BURGLARS ESCAPE WITH LOOT SECURED IN OLMSTEAD STATION

The station building on the Farmers' railroad at Olmstead was entered by burglars, the safe blown open and $30 in cash stolen. Sheriff Belford immediately sent out notices to his deputies in Ramsey county. Two strange men were seen hanging around the town of Olmstead and they are suspicioned of being the robbers. They are described as follows: One of them weighed about 140 pounds, was about five feet six inches high, sandy complexioned one eye blood-shot; the other one had a black and blue mark under the eye, and was evidently very nervous, and wore a light brown sack coat.

GREAT CORNER IN OATS BREWING

Winnipeg, Manitoba, February 7—Grade oats advanced 4 cents more yesterday at Winnipeg which makes 10 cents in two days. Much of this movement was described by professionals as being in sympathy with the strong tone of the Chicago, Minneapolis and other American markets but this explanation, which served very well at first was exposed yesterday when the local market ran up from 3 to 4 cents above the American markets.

There is not the slightest doubt that Winnipeg manipulators, who have their agents thruout the west, and are thus well acquainted with the situation, have come to the conclusion that the grade oats supply is practically exhausted in Canada and that as a consequence the opportunity is favorable for the establishment of a corner.

Canadian extremists are even talking of "dollar oats."

Much has been said of the partial failure of the western Canada wheat crop last season, but practically nothing has been published regarding the oat crop. Some grain men believe that practically every bushel of seed oats planted the coming spring in the Canadian west will have to be imported. The measures being taken by federal parliament to supply western farmers with seed apply far more to oats than to wheat.

Never before in its history has so extensive a program of railway construction been planned for the Canadian prairie country. In addition to existing lines which include beside the Canadian Pacific and Canadian Northern, the various Jim Hill branches the Grand Trunk Pacific is this year spreading out its lines of development on its new trunk system and affiliated branches.

"Railroads are built by oats," remarked a prominent railway man today, "and lack of oats may tie up western development the coming season."

One Canadian railway which is pushing western construction, has contracted for 500,000 bushels of oats from the Baltic. Seed oats must be imported and farmers thruout the west are complaining that two bushels of oats grown last season will not go as far as one bushel in ordinary years. Frost caught practically the entire crop.

NEW TURN TABLE TO BE RUN BY COMPRESSED AIR ARRIVES IN CROOKSTON

OHER IMPROVEMENTS ARE PLANNED AND WILL SOON BE COMPLETED

From Thursday's Daily—

To the person who has not visited the Great Northern yards in south Crookston for some time past there are many things of interest to be seen.

The new turn table, which will turn the largest Great Northern engine on the system has arrived and will be installed soon. The pitt is now being enlarged for the installation of the big turn table which will be placed on the same as the old one. The new table is the very latest made and is run by compressed air. Jack Reagen will be chief engineer of the new table when it is installed. A new line of engines, larger than those in common use have also been received but they will not be put in commission for a time yet.

The new electric lights in the round house have been installed and are run by a special G. N. motor, a great improvement over the old system.

Added to this the hot air heating plant has about been completed which will replace the present stoves.

The boys do tell that Machinist Bob Huffman has ordered a new set of standup collars eight inches deep which he will don when things get fixed up just to suit him.

THAW FAMILY PLANS FLIGHT

Nullifying of Yarmouth Marriage Decide Family to Seek Seclusion in Europe.

This will be followed by the departure of Mrs. Thaw, Alice, Harry K. Thaw and wife for Europe, where all will try to lose themselves for several years from the public gaze. The time of flight to Europe will depend upon the time elapsing until Harry is released from confinement.

Whether he is kept at Matteawan or transferred to another institution, Mrs. Thaw and Alice will secure a house in close proximity to the asylum and there will stay as long as he is deprived of freedom.

THE HORTON-ROLLAND WEDDING ALL RIGHT

PEOPLE WELL KNOWN IN CROOKSTON HERE TODAY LOOKING AFTER SOME PROBATE MATTERS—WERE FORMERLY OF FERTILE AND NOW RESIDE AT GRAND FORKS—GIRL WAS UNDER AGE BUT THE MARRIAGE WAS DECLARED LEGAL

From Thursday's Daily—

Mr. and Mrs. Calvin Horton arrived in the city this morning from Grand Forks to attend to some probate matters before Judge Morken. Regarding the affair, or another chapter of it the Grand Forks Herald this morning says:

Judge L. K. Hassell of the county court, was confronted with a queer matrimonial tangle yesterday afternoon when Mr. and Mrs. Calvin Daniel Horton, of Grand Forks appeared and asked to be married over again. They were accompanied by Mrs. Horton's mother, of Fertile, Mrs. Nettie Rolland, who arrived the day previous for a visit with her daughter. Rev. A. J. Hulteng, of the Zion Lutheron church had been summoned to perform the ceremony. Mrs. Horton is under 18 years and so the consent of her mother was necessary. When she was asked to give her consent she declined despite the pleadings of her daughter and advice of Rev. A. J. Hulteng and Judge Hassell.

Because it appeared on the records that Horton had given the age of the young woman at 24 on Nov. 27 last it was believed by Horton and his wife that it would be better to be re-married. Horton who is rather deaf declared that he misunderstood when he gave the age of his wife as 24. The marriage was performed Nov. 27 by Judge Hassell. The young woman is tall and it was not thought that there was any question as to her age.

Since the marriage was performed Horton and his wife have resided in Grand Forks. There has been some discussion with Mrs. Rolland over some property left to herself and her children by the father of Mrs. Horton.

According to Mrs. Horton she did not know that her husband had sworn falsely to her age. She had informed him that she would not be 18 years of age until next June. On this showing that the bride was not a party to the deception Judge Hassell ruled that the marriage was valid as it stood and no second ceremony would be necessary but to make all parties satisfied he would give out another license, with the consent of the bride's mother and Rev. Hulteng would again tie the nuptial knot.

Mother Refuses Consent

Mrs. Rolland balked. She gave it out that if the November marriage was valid there would be no necessity of another one.

Horton was closely questioned as to how he could have given in his financee's age as 24 years when she was only 17 years old. He insisted that there had been a misunderstanding. His attorney in Fertile had advised him to come to North Dakota to get married. Ninety days had expired since he had secured a divorce in district court at Crookston but the Minnesota law required that six months should have elapsed and it was less than that length of time since he had secured the decree.

With the bride-to-be then Miss Thirza C. Rolland, he came to Grand Forks and the marriage ceremony was performed. Since that time he has been employed as a paper hanger.

More Trouble Promised

Just what will be the next move seems problematical. From the disposition shown by Mrs. Rolland it seemed probable that she would take some action against Horton. As a counter move it is said that Mrs. Horton will demand a division of certain property left by her late father a matter she has before Judge Morken. She will have her share coming in June. Those who know the facts in the case believe that some sort of a compromise will be effected and, not unlikely a second marriage ceremony will be performed.

JANUARY WAS WARM MONTH

LAST MONTH WAS WARMEST JANUARY IN TWENTY-EIGHT YEARS

The month of January just past made a record as the warmest January since the establishment of the weather bureau at Moorhead. To be sure it was only a very little warmer than the Januarys of 1898 and of 1900 but it had the advantage of a fraction of a degree. The warmest January day in 28 years was the 20th of last month when the temperature went up to 54 degrees. The daily temperature was 12 1-2 degrees above the average for January.

GRAND RAPIDS GAME WARDEN LANDS ANOTHER GAME LAW VIOLATOR

Game Warden Wm. Munch this morning received a letter from Carlos Avery executive agent of the Minnesota State Game and Fish Commission in which a report is given of the arrest and conviction there of Charles Sawyer for killing a cow moose, for which he was awarded a sentence of thirty days by the judge, the arrest and conviction having been the result of the work of Deputy Game Warden Jesse Harry a well known hunter in this part of the state.

County Commissioner Ben Clements left last evening for Faribault in charge of Ed Lefave who was yesterday committed to the home for the feeble minded at Faribault. Lefave is perfectly harmless, but as he had no relatives near Gentilly but a feeble old mother it was decided best to have him taken where the best of care could be given in an institution provided by the state for that especial purpose. He was accompanied by A. Gendron the store keeper at Gentilly. On the return trip Commissioner Clements will spend a few days in St. Paul and Minneapolis.

THEIR WEDDING ANNIVERSARY

DELIGHTFUL AFFAIR AT HOME OF MR. AND MRS THOMAS R. JOHNSTONE

There was a very delightful party last evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas R. Johnstone, the occasion being the 14th anniversary of their wedding.

The affair was a complete surprise to Mr. Johnstone who found the guests all present when he arrived home last evening after a trip to North Dakota. A splendid supper was served at 11 o'clock after which the company was entertained by piano selections, songs and recitations in gilt costumes by Miss Jessie and Thomas Johnstone Jr. whose performances are highly creditable. This was followed by Scotch reels and songs by the entire company, the evening proving a most pleasurable one. On behalf of the visitors Mr. John Crawford presented Mr. and Mrs. Johnstone with a handsome hand painted cream and tea set and Mr. Johnstone responded appropriately. The festivities lasted till 2 o'clock this morning. Those present were Mayor and Mrs. J. D. McPhee, Mr. and Mrs. John Harper, Mr. and Mrs. Allan McKinnon, Mr. and Mrs. Archie McKinnon, Misses Mary and Margaret Crawford and Mr. John Crawford.

The New 9-Hour Law

In line with other railroads centering in the Twin Cities, the Great Northern and Northern Pacific systems are making arrangements to comply with the federal nine-hour law, which takes effect March 4.

"We are now lining up runs of engineers and train crews," said an official of the Great Northern, "and reorganizing our forces so as not to work any men more than nine hours. Railway telegraph operators and tower men cannot be worked more than nine hours. Train crews must not be worked more than sixteen hours. The law however, does not apply to one man operators and agents who are in continuous service, living, as a rule, in the building where they work."

KEEP TRAINS ABOUT ON TIME

G. N. AND N. P. NOT PARALYZED BY THE LARGE SNOW STORM

TIE-UP WOULD PROBABLY RESULT IF HEAVY WIND SHOULD PREVAIL

Despite a fall of snow from six inches to a foot and a half in depth in 48 hours, trains on the Great Northern and Northern Pacific were nearly on time last night. The snowfall is the heaviest of the winter. The Great Northern had wedge plows at work on the Sarles and Hannah branch and on the main line between Grand Forks and Devils Lake a Russell plow was run. Last night the wind had moderated and the snow fall hal about ceased. Conditions are just right for a blizzard if the wind should rise oldtimers state.

Sarles reports a fall of a foot and six inches and Lakota says there is a foot of loose snow. The government report in Grand Forks showed a total fall of six inches and this is about what fell here.

So far the section hands have been able to handle the snow and no extra help has been employed by the Great Northern along the line.

The storm was general over the northwest and was especially welcome in the Minnesota woods where there has been scarcely enough for logging in many sections.

JACK LONDON AND WIFE SAFE

The special correspondent of the Woman's Home Companion in San Francisco has telegraphed the following message in regard to Jack London from San Francisco:

"Jack London and wife arrived on the Mariposa, safe and well. Snark laid up for repairs."

London's bankers in Oakland despairing of his safety recently recorded the mortgage against his home at Glen Ellen, which was drawn last April in order that the adventurous writer could obtain funds with which to fit out the Snark. It was understood that the mortgage was to be held without being recorded as long as London's safety seemed assured. The action of the bank was taken as an indication that its officers feared he had met disaster.

Jack London left Hilo, Hawaii on October 27th for Tahiti of the Society Islands on his voyage around the world for the Woman's Home Companion in his little ketch-rigged boat the Snark. He should have reached Tahiti by the first of December and it was feared that some serious accident had befallen him. With London in the Snark were his wife, James L. Warren, who is captain, Martin Johnson, the engineer, one sailor and two Japanese servants.

London intends to spend seven years on his voyage around the world describing for the Woman's Home Companion the life and customs and countries of the strange people he meets. From the Society Islands he expects to touch at Samoa, Tasmania New Zealand, Australia, New Guinea then up through the Philippines to Japan, Korea and China, and so on to India. After this is to come Europe, the Atlantic Coast of America and San Francisco again, via the Horn.

The Snark is forty-five feet on the water line, weighs thirty tons, and has an auxilliary gas engine, which, getting out of repair caused the delay that has occasioned so much worry. The engines are now being overhauled at Papeiti. The boat as originally planned, was to cost $7,000. She actually cost about $25,000 before she left San Francisco si months late, the terrible increase in cost being due to the earthquake and fire and to the subsequent scarcity of labor.

UNITED STATES OFFICER NABBED

ARRESTED IN EMERSON ON A CHARGE OF KIDNAPPING TWO CANADIANS

George Foulkes, an American revenue officer was arrested on the Soo flyer at Emerson Wednesday on a charge of kidnapping two Canadians who were accused of smuggling. Foulkes was on his return to this side of the line from Winnipeg when nabbed. He objected to his being arrested by the Canadian constable stood pat and made him get off the train. Yesterday he refused to give bail This is the Canadian version of the affair:

The kidnapping took place in December of last year. Albert E. Tolton of Emerson was suspected of smuggling barley across the border, and George Foulkes in the capacity of special agent for the treasury department at Washington had been patrolling the border in the vicinity for some months in the hope of catching Tolton across the line.

Failing in this he attempted to entice him across on various pretenses but again was unsuccessful. Driven to desperation on the night of Dec. 3, Foulkes caught Tolton and Casson on International avenue at Emerson seized their horse and dragged both horse and men across the track into American territory. Casson returned with the rig and Tolton was taken to the railroad station at Noyes.

Signed Under Duress

In the office of the customs department at Noyes, Mr. Tolton under duress, signed a declaration to the effect that he had smuggled barley and would appear at Noyes whenever he was called upon. This he did in order to be allowed to return home to an invalid wife.

2 TREE CLAIMS 2 PRE-EMPTIONS

FURTHER EVIDENCE OF DISHONESTY OF DR LEVINGSTON

RECORDS IN DEVILS LAKE SHOW HOW HE GRABBED UP LAND

From Tuesday's Daily—

Further evidence that Dr. Levingston father of John D. Rockefeller, not only was leading a double life, but was crooked as well, is furnished by the records of the Devils Lake land office. Receiver Cockburn of the land office knew the old man quite well and he recalls that when the townsite of Park River was laid out it was claimed that Standard Oil interests were interested.

The records of the United States land office in Devils Lake show that on May 5, 1879, William Levingston filed on the se 1-4 sec. 27, township 154-52. This entry evidently was contested and it was cancelled. On May 31, 1881 William Levingston filed another timber culture entry on the nw 1-4 27-157-55 which was the town site of Park River. This he relinquished April 11, 1883. July 13, 1881, William Levingston pre-empted the nw 1-4 27-155-55.

From a perusal of the land office record, if the Wiliam Levingston is the same person in each instance it appears that if he was leading a double life he was also playing the government double for he appears to have filed on two timber cultures and on two pre-emptions.

Exercise for Brain Workers

Walking is said to be the best exercise for brain workers. This is indeed fortunate, for poets and other "high brows" can seldom afford any other means of transportation. Great is the law of compensation. For overworked brain or muscle we suggest the daily use of golden grain belt beer. Serve this delicious beverage with your meals and you put health and strength into your system. Order of your nearest dealer or be supplied by Alex Thompson, Crookston.

MADE NIGHT HIDEOUS

JOHN THOM CREATED A SENSATION AT THE DEPOT LAST EVENING

CAPT. VONDERBECK HAD TO CLEAR THE TRAIN—TAKEN TO FERGUS

From Tuesday's Daily—

Last evening Sheriff H. J. Holt and Deputy Willborg of Clearwater Co., passed through the city enroute from Bagley to Fergus Falls with John Thom who was committed to the asylum.

Thom is an old German and had been working in the lumber camps of Tom Keefe near Bagley. He began acting strangely and finally left the camp, but a search was started and the old man found wandering thru the woods.

He was taken to Bagley and turned over to the authorities after which an examination was held and he was committed to Fergus Falls. When found he had $371.19 on his person and this sum will be invested by Clearwater County and with the earnings will be turned over to Thom as soon as he is released.

Thom created a sensation at the depot last evening by his screeching and jabbering. A crowd gathered about him and followed him and onto the coach where it took a great deal of effort to put him. The train was packed with the curious, some of whom seemed to think that the old man was being held up and finally Capt. Vonderbeck boarded the coach and cleared the aisle.

Thom kept raving about $650 which he said he lost in a bank at Elbow Lake which he seemed to think had failed. The sheriff was of the opinion perhaps that the old man had some money in the bank on time deposit and that he was not allowed to draw it out without the required notice, and that worry had unbalanced his mind.

AWFUL ACT OF JILTED SUITOR

SHOCKING MURDER AND SUICIDE AT PARK RAPIDS TAKES PLACE ALMOST IN THE PRESENCE OF THE SCHOOL CHILDREN

From Tuesday's Daily—

A passenger from Bemidji today brought the details of a frightful tragedy enacted at the country school house in Becker county near Park Rapids almost in the presence of a score or more of little boys and girls.

Miss Bessie Graham, a teacher was shot and almost instantly killed by Chas. Boldt who then in his frenzy turned the revolver upon himself and inflicted a fatal wound.

The shooting occurred at recess and it is thought here that Boldt called the girl to the door of the little school and that the shooting was done outside. The scholars were thrown into a panic and screaming and weeping carried the news to neighbors who in turn informed the officers of Becker and Hubbard counties.

A love affair furnished the motive for the murder and suicide. It is supposed the girl had jilted young Boldt. They had been keeping company several months. Miss Graham had lived with her parents at Ponsford 20 miles north of Park Rapids. She attended school at Park Rapids and was a young woman of fine character and good attainments.

Young Boldt made his home with his parents on a claim in the northern part of Hubbard county. Little is known concerning him. The murderer and victim were each about 21 years old.

$1320 FROM 27 COWS

OVER $900 WAS PAID TO HIM FOR BUTTER BY THE HOTEL CROOKSTON

CALVES AND OTHER PRODUCE FROM COWS MADE BALANCE OF TOTAL

Farmers who are doubtful regarding the amount of money to be made from cows might investigate the record made last year by Geo. M. Swift of Mentor.

He has 27 cows and last year his receipts were $1320 from his herd and of this amount he received over $900 from the Hotel Crookston alone from butter sales and in addition to the butter he sold elsewhere he sold a large amount of veal.

Pretty fair return from 27 cows and any farmer in the Valley can duplicate it if he goes at it right. Prices were much higher than the average last year, but the butter will not lower much of any in price this year and nothing short of an earthquake will ever bring butter down to the ridiculous price where it has been at times in the past ten years.

U. S. MAIL CLERKS ARE RICHEST YET

The mail clerks of Grand Forks are the richest as a class of any mail clerks in the country if not in the world. This is a proved statement, according to statisticians who have looked into the matter and the reason advanced is as follows: On account of the large number of wrecks that have taken place west of here a number of mail clerks have received damage money from the railway companies, sometimes the amount reaching into the thousands and always several hundred dollars at least. As a result nearly every one of them has a bank account many of them fine homes, and all a good reputation as saving, energetic men. Naturally several of them have been hurt in the various wrecks but they have been liberally recompensed by the railroads and find their work fairly satisfactory and agreeable.

MUST WAIT FOR DRAINAGE

LINE TO ROOSEVELT GETS SETBACK AT THIEF RIVER FALLS

TROLLEY INTO BELTRAMI IS REGARDED WITH VERY MUCH FAVOR

Following the discussion regarding the construction of an airline railroad from Thief River Falls to the village of Roosevelt, eighty miles north a meeting was held last week to come to a definite decision in the matter. The project has been thoroly investigated and it was the general opinion that such a line would be practical when parts of the country which are wet at most seasons of the year are drained by the government ditches to be constructed in the next few years.

The proposition which did appeal to those present however, was the construction of an airline electric railway from Thief River Falls to north western Beltrami county, a distance of about sixty miles. This line would run thru a much better country than would the Roosevelt line, and would tap sections which now have no rail road facilities. Waterpower to provide the motive power is here and experts say the road could be constructed for approximately $50,000.

D. P. O'Neill was elected chairman and G. Halvorson secretary of a committee to perfect an organization for the purpose of investigating such a movement. Mr. O'Neill has selected to assist him the folowing business men: W. W. Prichard, L. M. Hoag, Olof Ramstad, Mayor T. P. Hamre, Matt Barzen, D. N. Winton, Dan Shaw, Robert McGinn and C. M. Emerson.

RUNAWAY SENT HOME

MINOT POLICE SENT LIZZIE BARRET TO HER PEOPLE IN MINNESOTA

WAS 16 YEARS OLD AND FELL IN WITH SHADY PEOPLE IN MINOT

Chief of Police Hagen of Minot raised sufficient funds Saturday to send Lizie Barret a 16 year old girl home to her parents at Barnesville, Minn. It appears that the girl was living a rather fast life in Minot keeping shady company and going wrong generally. Chief Hagen investigated her case and finally located her parents at Barnesville. He corresponded with her father and learned that Lizie had run away from home some few weeks ago. Her people are poor and the father did not have any money to pay the girl's fare home. He asked that she be sent home if possible, by the authorities. Chief Hagen took matter in hand and succeeded in raising enough money among the townspeople to pay all expenses and yesterday the girl was placed in the charge of Wm. Mackenroth who is employed by the Great Northern as Master Mechanic and who runs between Barnesville and the Montana Division, and he took her to Barnesville and turned her over to her people.

GOOD PROGRESS ON DRAINAGE SURVEY

Historical Society

GOVERNMENT ENGINEERS HAD MANY DIFFICULTIES TO SURMOUNT IN NORTHERN MINNESOTA—A. P. MEADE RETURNED FROM THE FIELD OF ACTIVITIES AND MAKES SOME INTERESTING STATEMENTS—SURVEY OF THE MUD LAKE DISTRICT HAS BEEN COMPLETED—COMPRISES 402,500 ACRES

From working waist deep in soft bogs to working across the frozen cover on snowshoes, in running many miles of spirit levels and determining various elevations is the kind of summer and winter outing enjoyed by the geological surveyors in connection with the drainage survey of the Red Lake district of northern Minnesota At present the government party is traveling on snowshoes and sleeping nights in a movable cabin built on a sled and hauled from place to place each day by a team of stout horses.

A. P. Meade who has been in charge of the surveying party during the past season has recently come in from the field and reports a completed survey of approximately 1,200,000 acres during 1907. This special survey was ered by congress, with a view to ermining the feasibility of the reclamation by drainage of the ceded Chippewa lands in northern Minnesota. These lands embrace about 2,500,000 acres which have been ceded by the Indians to the United States to be held in trust and disposed of for their benefit. Without improvement of the land, however there is little likelihood of the Indians getting anything out of them, since they constitute a vast swamp. with only here and there small patches of arable land. Even in cases where the land is slightly higher than the surrounding bogs it makes at best mere island farms and altho fertile is for months in the year absolutely cut off from communication with civilization. The settlers on these isolated tracts are as completely marooned during long periods as the located upon islets in the Pacific.

Last year the geological survey completed the survey of what is known as the Mud lake section of this district, embracing 402,500 acres and drew drainage plans therefor, showing an average cost for complete reclamation of $2.75 per acre.

Chippewas will be Rich

A small surveying party as stated is still in the field the work being facilitated by the frozen condition of the bogs altho the weather is reported as most severe.

The mapping of last season's work is now in progress at Washington to determine the cost of reclaiming this additional area. Some 760,000 acres still remain to be surveyed next year.

The appropriation for this work came under the Indian bill, and the house committee on Indian affairs recently authorized an additional $10,000 for the completion of the survey and plans.

It is stated that the lands of this section of Minnesota when reclaimed will sell readily at $25 and $30 an acre, which, if realized will make the Chippewa Indians among the wealthiest of redmen in the country.—Written by Geological Survey Press Bureau.

NEWCOMERS PROSPERING

SETTLERS SOUTH OF ROOSEVELT ARE WELL PLEASED WITH THEIR HOLDINGS

CROOKSTON COLONY IS ABOUT 4 MILES FARTHER SOUTH FROM THERE

John Henry Mansfield, formerly the night manager of Mrs. Rose's restaurant on Robert St. returned from his claim in the ten towns recently opened up about 12 miles south of Roosevelt which he took last fall. He has relinquished his claim for valuable consideration on account of illness of his parents in Massachusetts where he lives. He states that under the doughty leadership of Dr. Brown homesteaders thruout the territory south of Roosevelt are kept busy filling tie and pole contracts for the Canadian railways who have let immense contracts out to A. J. Cones, the energetic Roosevelt merchant prince. Mr. Mansfield states that the progress is going along rapidly in that newly settled district and believes that it will be thickly populated and wealthy in the next ten years. Dr. Brown who hails from Rochester, Ind., and other "Hoosiers" whom he brought along with him have all placed their families in the houses on their claims and are living high on the many resources that that abounding country furnishes from all sides. The Crookston colony is about four miles east of Brownsville where the Doctor's manor is located.

The Milwaukee made its fourth payment of $50,000 today.

ANNUL GAS FRANCHISE

GRAND FORKS CITY COUNCIL REPEAL G. AND E. CO., GAS FRANCHISE

CO. CLAIM PRESENT PRICES ARE LOW—WILL NOT BE DICTATED TO

At the session of the Grand Forks city council last night an ordinance was passed repealing the franchise of the Grand Forks Gas and Electric company. Vote on the proposition was 7 to 4.

Officials of the gas company, were present and presented figures to show that the company made but very little money over the cost of the production of gas. There were several warm arguments and the truth of statements made by friends and foes of the gas company were assailed. The company declared that they would close up the gas plant rather than allow the council to dictate to them what they should charge for the product.

The council now plans to go ahead and fix the rates of gas, and drastic action is promised if the gas company fails to come to terms.

RETURNED WITH DAUGHTERS REMAINS

A. H. INDERLEE SUFFERS A DOUBLE LOSS IN SHORT TIME

A. H. Inderlee, one of the prominent residents of Fosston passed thru the city today with the remains of his daughter Grace, who died a few days ago in Colorado. His daughter was sent west for the benefit of her health On Jan. 15 she was taken to a hospital suffering with typhoid fever and was removed Feb. 8. She was thought to be recovering but toxine poisoning developed and despite all that could be done it proved fatal and death followed. The blow comes particularly sad at this time because of the death of her mother which occurred but a few weeks ago. The remains will be interred at Fosston this afternoon.

GREAT GATHERING OF BUTTERMAKERS

NATIONAL CONVENTION WILL BE HELD IN ST. PAUL MARCH 11-12-13 AND THE GATHERING WILL BE THE MOST IMPORTANT OF THE KIND EVER HELD IN MINNESOTA WHICH IS NOW RECOGNIZED AS ONE OF THE LEADING BUTTER STATES OF THE UNION—PROGRAM INCLUDES ADDRESSES BY THE LEADING BUTTER MAKERS OF THE ENTIRE COUNTRY

Below we give the program for the coming convention of the National Creamery Buttermaker's Association which will be held in St. Paul, March 11 12 and 13 and it will be seen that every subject on it is a live one.

They are subjects that the buttermaker is up against in his every day creamery work and which are constantly demanding solution at his hands. They are subjects that intimately affect the success of every creamery in the entire country and so are of equal interest to the patrons as well as the buttermakers. It will be further noted that these subjects are to be handled by men eminently qualified by experience to handle them. Addresses on these subjects, with the discussions that will follow, cannot fail to be both interesting and instructive.

These buttermakers' meetings durnig the past have been of inestimable value in increasing the buttermakers' knowledge of the art of buttermaking and creamery proprietors, creamery managers and boards of directors should see to it that it made possible for their butter maker to attend this meeting.

They should do more than this they should show their appreciation of their buttermaker's willingness and desire to increase their knowledge and improve their methods so as to make a better grade of butter (which means more money for the creameries) by going with the buttermakers to this convention.

One of the greatest of troubles in the creamery business today is that the buttermaker and patron do not work close enough together. They are not working with a thoro understanding of the needs of each other. If every creamery company would send one or more representatives to this meeting, they would go home with a better understanding of their duties towards their creamery and enlighten others who did not attend.

BENNIE STEENERSON DROWNED SUNDAY

SUPPOSED TO HAVE BEEN ATTEMPTING TO SAVE A COMRADE WHEN HE LOST HIS LIFE—CONGRESSMAN STEENERSON AND WIFE HURRYING TO SCENE OF ACCIDENT AT NEWPORT, R. I. WHERE THE ACCIDENT TOOK PLACE—GENERAL SORROW IS FELT HERE AS A RESULT OF THE TERRIBLE TRAGEDY

Captain Rich of the tug says they leaped overboard without warning near Conanicut point, but it is believed McIntosh was pushed overboard in a quarrel with N. I. Olsen, and that Steenerson atempted to rescue him.

Rescuers hauled the body of Steenerson to boats side, but his clothing gave way in the grasp of the boat hooks and the body disappeared.

There is said to have been a dispute between the two marines and Olsen over the ability of the United States to whip Denmark. Friends of the men are not inclined to credit the story that they jumped overboard voluntarily.

Newport, R. I. Feb. 17,—Benjamin G. Steenerson was drowned yesterday off the tug Annie R. Wood, on the way from Newport to Fort Greble. He is supposed to have perished in an attempt to save the life of John M. McIntosh, a marine. Steenerson was a private in the United States army. Both men drowned. There are indications of foul play which the police are investigating. The two were friends and awaiting discharge from the army.

Representative Steenerson left Washington for Newport early today to investigate. A telegram stated that death was due to an accident. Mr. and Mrs. Steenerson received many messages of sympathy.

General sorrow is felt here as a result of the tragedy. Bennie was born in Crookston 24 years ago and was popular with all who knew him. He is the only remaining child of Congressman and Mrs. Halvor Steenerson they having buried their daughter only a few years ago, which makes the shock doubly hard to them. The many friends of the family will unite in extending heart-felt sympathy in their hour of trouble.

Postmaster Elias Steenerson received a telegram from Congressman H. Steenerson late this afternoon to the effeffct that Ben was drowned Sunday and that the body had not yet been recovered. The parents are enroute to Newport. Bennie was a clerk in the commissary department of the Navy at Newport at the time of his sad death.

TILING LAND AUTOMATICALLY

GREAT INVENTION HAS BEEN PERFECTED BY NORWEGIAN IN CHRISTIANIA

WILL DIG TRENCH AND LAY 3,000 FEET OF TILING IN TEN HOURS

From Monday's Daily—

An invention which has been brought to the notice of Engnieer Geo A. Ralph which he thinks will be a great factor in the decvelopment of the farming sections of the state of Minnesota, is the perfection of a machine for digging trenches and laying tile automatically. The machoine was invented and is being manufactured in Christionia, Norway, and works automatically, all that is necessary being to feed the tiling into the machine which digs the trench and lays the tiling more accurately than it can be done by hand.

The machine will lay upwards of 3000 feet of tiling a day, and thus it will be seen that two or three days would be sufficient to tile the average farm, and many could be drained in one day. It can be equipped with steam, gasoline or electric power, and is very simple in operation.

The machine will cost $2,000 or less and Engineer Ralph is deeply interested in it as he believes that it will have a wonderful effect on the better development of the Red River Valley and other portions of the state needing tile drainage.

PIONEER RESIDENT DIES OF PARALYSIS

DEMISE OF MRS. ANNA MOZER ONE OF EARLY RESIDENTS OF E. G. FORKS

The death of Mrs. Anna Mozer, one of the pioneer residents of East Grand Forks occurred yesterday morning at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Zengle, resulting from a paralytic stroke slustained a week ago. Mrs. Mozer was 76 years of age and a native of Germany. She came to this country nearly 30 years ago and located at Crookston in 1880, when this place was but a small village. She removed to East Grand Forks in 1888 and for some years past has made her home with her daughter.

The funeral will take place this afternoon at 2 o'clock from the house Rev. C. F. Bronson officiating.

REVOLUTIONIZE FARM METHODS

GEO. A. RALPH SAYS PLOW WITH CAPACITY OF 120 ACRES PER DAY

HAS BEEN INVENTED BY MINNEAPOLIS MAN AND IS AN UNDOUBTED SUCCESS

From Monday's Daily—

Geo. A. Ralph who is attending to business matters in the city for a couple of days says that the invention of a gasoline plow by a Minneapolis man will revolutionize farming in the Red River Valley and in all other agricultural sections. He says he has seen the plow and that there is no question as to its efficiency and success. It consists of either 12 or 14 plows 14 inches wide and travels at a speed of 3 miles per hour and in 10 hours will turn over 60 acres of stubble in ten hours and with a day and night crew would turn over 160 acres in a little over a day and a half. This means the work of 96 horses and 24 men as the plowing is done at the present time, and in addition the work will be done in much better shape, being much deeper.

The inventor of the plow, which has been thoroughly tested, Engineer Ralph states, guarantees that the plow will do the work at a cost from 35c to 45c per acre, while it costs about $1.50 per acre under the present system. In addition to this the machine needs but little guidance, being practically automatic in its workings. Mr. Ralph is of the opinion that this invention will do more than anything else to put a renter on every farm in the Red River Valley and get all land under cultivation as plowing is the most expensive operation in connection with the tilling of the soil.

BIGGEST PAYROLL OF MANY YEARS

In spite of reductions in all departments of the railroads during the last two months of last year when the financial stringency was most keenly felt, reports of earnings and expenditures of the roads filed with the inter state commerce commission disclose the fact that aggregate amount paid by the roads in salaries far exceeded that of previous years and reached the immense sum of $1,041,160,000. This aggregate payroll included the names of 1,607,788 employes over 212,000 miles of track, or 94 per cent of the total mileage of the country. The average yearly salary for 1907 was $647.

Penned and Pilfered

Many of our California cities and towns are adopting ordinances requiring vacant lots and untidy premises to be cleaned up says the Los Angeles Times. In Riverside the notification of passage of such legislation is placed in the hands of the park commission which has sent out the following notice to property owners:

"A provision in the new cleaning up ordinance makes it the duty of the park commissioners to inspect the streets and report all such vacant lots and other premises as would come under the provisions of the ordinance (copy of which is herewith inclosed) to superintendent of streets, whose duty would be to serve legal notice to property holders.

"It is the opinion of this board that a simple reminder in the large majority of cases will be all that is necessary to secure the desired results hence we take the liberty of calling your attention to the neglected condition of the frontage (description) respectfully requesting that prompt attention be given it that formal legal notices to the superintendent of streets may not be necessary."

A janitor in a neighboring school threw up his job the other day. When asked what was the trouble, he said, "I'm honest and I won't stand being slurred. If I find a pencil or a handkerchief 'bout the school I hang it up. Every little while the teacher or some one that is too cowardly to face me, gives me a slur.". In what way?" asked the officer. "Why, a little while ago I saw written on the board 'find the common multiple.' Well I looked from the cellar to the garret and I wouldn't know the thing if I met it on the street. What made me quit my job? Last night in big writing on the blackboard, it said, 'find the greatest common divisor.' Well I says to myself, both of those darn things are lost now, and I'll be blamed for swipin' 'em so I'll quit.'"

An exchange gives the following receipt for filling our penitentiary:

When your boy doesn't want to go to school let him loaf; when he gets into mischief and your neighbor reports it to you curse your neighbor in the presence of your boy, but do not reprimand the boy. When he gets a litle larger and purloins something of value and you find it out, just laugh at it and let it go; when he gets into something that calls him into justice court, and he is found guilty, pay the fine, curse the court, the jury, and every one in conection with the matter, pity the boy and you will soon have a splendid candidate for the pen.

"Just at this time the country needs a new religion that will make a man pay his debts," says the Methodist Advocate. "Shouting doesn't settle old accounts with God and man. We bounce right into a fellow and put him out of the church if he goes to a ball or theatre but we never say a word to a pious chap who never pays his debts People who do not pay their debts are doing the church more harm than dancers, for there are more of them ni the church. Reader, are we getting close to you? Then lay down your paper and go and pay up and read on with ease. And don't stop paying because the statute of limitations excuses the open account you made for meat and bread. You must pay it in fire and brimstone. God knows no such excuse as 'homestead exemption.' When you raise that excuse to keep from paying your debts you can stop singing, "When I can read by title clear to mansions in the skies.' You've no home up there."

Two moons were observable one night last week at Cass Lake, one was Luno the goddess of night, and the other was Ole Moon a setler from the north part of the state. Both were resplendent, the former was in its first quarter, the latter was chock full and sparks of wit scintillated from every facet of his rotund face. When charged with being full Ole responded: "I am always full; my last quarter is always as freely spent as my first, and it is only when my sister Luna gets 'bibbous' that I admit her superiority."

The St. Paul Commercial Club faced a difficult problem in the visit to St. Paul of Booker Washington the famous negro educator. Its rules definitely say that the club privileges shall be extended only to white persons. The directors evaded the rules gracefully by extending the distinguished visitor special privilege cards, and the rules were temporarily forgotten. Prof. Washington called on Gov. Johnson while in the city and was the recipient of courtesies from many prominent men.

EXPECTING LARGE TRADE THIS SPRING

INFLUX OF BUYERS FROM COUNTRY TO NEW YORK CITY ENCOURAGING—BIG SPRING TRADE EXPECTED BY ALL—SOME OF THE BIG WESTERN HOUSES HAVE SOLD OUT ALMOST WHOLE STOCK—MORE THAN 3,000 BUYERS IN NEW YORK AND AT LEAST 8,000 ARE EXPECTED TO MAKE PURCHASES FOR SPRING TRADE—AVERAGE AMOUNT SPENT BY EACH IS $10,000—MANY NEW BUSINESS HOUSES HAVE STARTED

More than 3,000 buyers and business men from all over the country are now in New York with orders for goods of every description for the spring and summer trade. The great influx of buyers was expected by the jobbing houses there and it is said by merchants to be an evidence of the return of confidence thruout the country. The general financial depression last fall and the consequent small amount of buying at that time has left merchants throughout the country short in their stocks and for that reason the buyers are going to New York earlier than usual.

Every hotel in New York that caters to the commercial trade is crowded and New York merchants are in a joyous mood at the prospect of an enormous spring trade.

Mr. C. S. Mead the secretary of the New York Merchant's association, regarding the situation says:

"Monday was what we call our first registration for the spring trade and it proved to be next to the largest registration day we have experienced in ten years. That is to say there was only one other first day like it in ten years, so you can imagine what joy it brought to the business men about town. Today, as a second registration day, is the largest second registration day we ever had. By that I mean in numbers—numbers of out of town buyers and out of town merchants. To day they kept pouring in and telling of the bright outlook for the spring trade. They had to come, as their stocks had run low.

"Some of the big western houses have sold out almost all the goods they had and this means a great era of prosperity. It means that at least 8,000 out of town merchants and their representatives will buy goods here for the spring trade. Now the most experienced merchant in town will tell you that the average amount spent by each buyer is $10,000. This practically means that with the ordinary trade $80,000,000 will be spent in New York by the buyers for spring trade.

"The most peculiar thing about this year as shown by the arrivals yesterday and today is that many new concerns have cropped up in the west and have sent representatives here to buy. I should say that at least 25 per cent of the arrivals are representatives of new business houses. They represent the biggest firms in the west and from Chicago to Oklahoma they declare that business is good."

FACTS ABOUT THE AMERICAN HUMANE EDUCATION SOCIETY

GEORGE T. ANGEL

The American Humane Education Society was incorporated by a special act of the Massachusetts legislature in 1889 (being the first of its kind in the world). It has power to hold a million of dollars. Its objects are to teach and promote "Kindness, Justice and Mercy to Every Living Creature, both Human and Dumb." Its president is George T. Angell of 19 Milk Street, Boston; its vice-presidents are Curtis Guild, Jr., Governor of Massachusetts, ex-Governor John D. Long, Most Reverend William H. O'Connell, Bishop Mallalieu, and others well known. On its board of directors are two of our Massachusetts judges ex-Attorney-General Albert E. Pillsbury and others well known. Its directors are elected for life; when one does another is elected. By a special act of the Massachusetts legislature its property is held for investment by three trustees, Messrs. Alfred Bowditch, Laurence Minot, and Thomas Nelson Perkins, widely known as trustees and investors.

It has established Bands of Mercy all over our country and elsewhere which now number over seventy-one thousand, with between two and three millions members. It claims that by humane education it is not only preventing cruelty but protecting property and life from all forms of outrage. It has carried the circulation of the one book, "Black Beauty" up to over three millions copies. By prize offers and otherwise it has obtained various other humane stories and valuable humane literature, which have had wide circulation in our own country and elsewhere, some of them reaching a circulation of hundreds of thousands. It has employed several missionaries. It sends its organ, Our Dumb Animals, every month to the editors of every newspaper and magazine in America north of Mexico, to the presidents of all American universities and colleges north of Mexico, to all members of Congress, to all lawyers, doctors and clergy of Massachusetts, and to many others too numerous to mention.

Among the prizes which it has recently offered are: First one thousand dollars for the best drama of "Black Beauty"; secand, six hundred dollars for the best essays in favor or against vivisection; third, one thousand dollars for the best drama of "The Christ of the Andes"; fourth, one thousand dollars for the best story showing the folly and wickedness of international wars; fifth, one thousand dollars for the best story calculated to make the rich and poor more kind to each other, and so harmonize the disputes between capital and labor.

It has recently undertaken to print at a cost of about ten thousand dollars, two hundred thousand copies of its "Black Beauty" and other humane stories to be sold at one-half their cost and to be given away; and it furnishes every year to its Bands of Mercy thousands of dollars worth of humane literature.

I believe that every dollar spent for humane education is a dollar spent for the prevention of wars incendiary fires, railroad wrecks, and every form of cruelty and crime, and I want contributions from all who are able to give them to aid us in carrying humane education into all the schools of our country.

NO DELAY ALLOWED ACTOR.

Hitchcock Must Appear for Trial on Feb. 24.

New York, Feb. 12. — The trial of Raymond Hitchcock, the comedian, was set yesterday for Feb. 24, despite the objections of his counsel. An affidavit was presented to the court stating that the district attorney's office consented to allow Hitchcock to go his road tour and that his detention would cause a great financial loss of his managers.

Justice Dowling ruled that the financial loss to the managers was an extraordinary reason to advance for a delay in the prosecution of a criminal case, and notified Hitchcock's counsel that his client's bail of $7,500 would be forfited if he were not in court on Feb. 24.

MANY STUDENTS FAILED AT THE "U"

Instructors and students at the university of Minnesota are looking aghast at one another over the result of the semester examinations. It was found that 530 "conditions" and "flunks" were recorded in the academic department when the returns of the examinations were made public. The figures show an increase of twenty three and one-half per cent over the number a year ago. Fifteen professors have not reported yet, and the number will be swelled still larger

Professors and students at the university claim that the system of requiring an attendance six days each week is responsible for the bad results. They point to the fact that the number of failures has gone up steadily each semester since the present system was established. It is possible that the faculty will allow the institution to return to the old five-day system.

LAWSON AND HIS FIGHT

BOSTON MAN SAYS HIS WAR ON SYSTEM WAS ONLY A BLUFF

CLAIMS FINANCIER NEVER SACRIFICED A CENT FOR THE "COMMON PEOPLE"

A. C. Ashleigh of Boston who arrived from Duluth last evening and left on the G. N. Flyer for Winnipeg this morning, gave a sharp shake of the head and "why him" expression that expressed much, when asked what he and the other good citizens of Boston thought of Thomas W. Lawson and his latest appeal to publicity in his elaborate explanation of "why I gave up the fight."

"He has gone back to the interests, of course," said Mr. Ashleigh. "Lawson, it is believed by a great many people in Boston and the East in general, has never sincerely harbored that deep and abiding love for the interests of the common people. It is doubtful if Lawson really ever had any great difference with the system and if he had, you may be sure that he will be forgiven and received again as one of them.

"All those cock and bull stories that Tom was so fond of spinning about his losing money and sacrificing his time in the interests of the people is rot, pure and simple. He is a buncaneer on the high seas of finance. He was always for Tom Lawson and he has now torn the mask from his face and will again be one of the system he was so ardently flaying thru his magazine.

"Thomas W. Lawson never willingly sacrificed a cent for the people, and many people who are in a position to judge say that he is richer today than he was when he started his widely heralded war on the system. It was a sham from start to finish. People have lost money and gone broke in playing his free advice. He is a wolf in lamb's skin; the people are just getting the tardy knowledge, and Lawson is fully aware of this. It is because of this that he comes out and casts the blame on the C. P., when people on the inside have been wondering all the time just how long he could play his gigantic bluff.

"Lawsonism is dead. He was the biggest gambler of them all; he never reformed and the people who have any respect for a square deal are glad that he has been placed in his true light. When he returns to his place among the stock manipulators and gamblers he will be in his rightful element. Tom Lawson as a reformer—it is to laugh."

NEW RULES FOR TRAIN CREW

OFFICIALS ARE PREPARING TO COMPLY WITH THE FEDERAL ACT

SIXTEEN HOUR LIMIT PROVISION MAKES NECESSARY MANY CHANGES

Operating officials are busy figuring how they will be able to comply with the provisions of the federal law making it illegal for any employe connected with the movement of trains to work more than sixteen hours consecutively. The act, which becomes effective March 4, is specific in its terms, but to make working conditions thru out so that they will fit in calls for extraordinary efforts from the officials.

"I wish we knew what we were going to do about the law," said a railroad official yesterday. "We are now seeking to learn from the legal lights what will have to be done."

Operating officials say that the men usually do not have to work longer than sixteen hours. But there are exceptional cases. There may be a hot box or the other hundred and one little accidents, to delay the movement of a train and the crew gets in at the terminal several hours behind the schedule.

A train might be only a few miles from its destination but according to a liberal interpretation of the law the crew cannot take it through if the legal time limit has expired. The train would have to stand idle on a sidetrack, waiting until the crew shall have had eight hours' rest. Within only a few miles from the terminal this in reality would work a hardship on the crew, who would prefer to work a little longer in order to get a rest at home. Several new working rules will have to be devised, all of which will have to meet the requirements of the law and yet be practical.

Governing Clause

The section of the act which applies to trainmen is as follows: "That it shall be unlawful for any common carrier, its officers or agents, subject to this act to require or permit any employe subject to this act to be or remain on duty for a longer period than sixteen consecutive hours, and whenever any such employe of such common carrier shall have been continuously on duty for sixteen hours he shall be relieved and not required or permitted to go on duty until he has had at least ten consecutive hours off duty; and no such employe who has been on duty sixteen hours in the aggregate in any twenty-four hour period shall be required or permitted to continue or again go on duty without having had at least eight consecutive hours off duty."

The railroad violating the law shall be liable to a fine of not to exceed $500 for each violation.

SELECTED A WET PLACE TO SIT

There was a laughable incident at the corner this side of Button's Business College last Tuesday, when all the low places were covered with water. A young lady left the college with a young man and was amusing herself by throwing handsful of snow in the air and letting it come down on his hat. All went well till she threw a handful of snow just as she was crossing the puddle of water at the foot of the hill when splash, down she came and in so daing kicked the young man's feet from under him and he sat down in her lap.

The water proved to be wet—and also chilly, and she did not stutter any as she urged him to please arise and let her get out of the pond. He assisted her to her feet. She looked funny. Her clothes clung to her till she looked like a half draped statue. She did not turn and run—she just backed towards the college and told Mr. Man to go on down town and attend to his business.

It was funny—awfully funny,—and a prominent county official who was riding down town on his bike was so interested in the graceful outlines brought into prominence that his wheel went off the sidewalk into the ditch and tho he turned a back summersault it is said that he never took his eyes from the retreating figure with the sticky clothing—not till she disappeared within the college building.

AT INTERNATIONAL FALLS NEXT WEEK WHEN SESSION BEGINS

From Saturday's Daily—
The district court for Koochiching county will be opened at International Falls next week commencing on Tuesday, with Judge Spooner presiding.

One of the principal cases to be considered by the grand jury will be that of James Godatte charged with murder in the first degree.

Godatte is a colored man and is accused of having killed Carlos H Williambs on a claim near Big Falls on Aug. 21 last. Godatte's killing of Williams was witnessed by no one but Godatte's wife.

According to the testimony which he gave at his preliminary hearing a few days after the killing of Williams Godatte and Williams had a quarrel; Williams went into his house for his gun and Gotatte got a revolver and subsequently shot Williams. There was bad blood between the two men and they had several quarrels according to the people who live at Big Falls, their differences being over some timber matters.

Godatte has been confined in the jail at International Falls.

The case is attracting considerable attention. Godatte has secured the services of Charles W. Sohrutchin the colored attorney of Bemidji, who will conduct his defense and it is expected that the case will be stubbornly contested from start to finish.

COMMITTED TO HOSPITAL

SIMON A. OEFSTEDAHL TO BE TAKEN TO FERGUS FALLS TONIGHT

This morning before Judge Morken ofthe probate court, Simon A. Oefstedahl was examined as to his sanity and at the conclusion ordered committed to the hospital for insane at Fergus Falls and will be taken down tonight accompanied by his cousin Attorney P. R. Lavik of Fertile. The unfortunate man is a pioneer farmer near Fertile and is very well to do, being worth about $40,000. He is perfectly rational regarding business matters, three days ago purchasing a farm, and making a shrewd bargain.

He has peculiar ideas regarding religion. He imagines that he is one of the Lord's chosen, and that the millenium is at hand. He thinks he is going to St. Paul to propogate his ideas, and talks incessantly on the subject. He had a similar attack three years ago, and it is hoped by relatives that he may respond to treatment in the present instance.

PABST BREWERY AT E. G. F. SCORCHED

The heating plant of the Pabst warehouse was the occasion of a blaze at E. G. Forks early yesterday morning which but for prompt work on the part of the fire department would have resulted in a disastrous fire. It appears that the supply of water in the boiler ran low and the surplus of heat engendered set fire to the wood work surrounding the furnace. Chief Bruke was on hand promptly and with a hose attached to the Northern Pacific hydrant soon had the flames extinguished with a nominal loses.

Moral: Insure with Magnus Lundberg.

Food for Thought

When it is remembered that 70,000 head of cattle find their way from the Northwest into Iowa and Illinois every year to be fed and sold at a profit in Chicago and that about 60,000 worth of dead carcasses are shipped into Minnesota alone, it is evident that the Northwest is losing a large sum of money annually to the cattle feeders of Illinois and Iowa. Attention is being directed to this condition of things in Saint Paul and the question is being asked, how can the intelligent farmer work his land, and what system of cropping can he adopt in order to keep it in a high state of fertility so that he can raise enough grain to fatten the cattle which are raised in the Northwest, and so put into his pockets the profits which are finding their way into the pockets of the southern cattle feeders. That this desirable condition of things can be brought about has been demonstrated by the Agricultural College of Minnesota. If only the rank and file of farmers can be prevailed upon to adopt the most modern methods not only would they become richer but the Northwest would add about $6,000,000 a year to its income.

Too Much Gall

It is an old scientific idea that no one dies a natural death. Were it not for various means of slow poisoning for which science has not yet found an antidote men could go on living forever. Dr. Louis B. Wilson, of Rochester, who delivered a lecture before a large audience at Saint Paul recently advanced the theory that life was considerably shortened, in the human being, on account of the presence in the human body of a superfluous amount of stomach and intestines. If only these could be dispensed with, the lecturer urged human life might be indefinitely prolonged. In support of this theory the lecturer ascribed the blame to the improvements in modern methods of cooking food which, he says, has done away with the necessity for the grinding apparatus in the lower regions of the stomach.

Being out of employment, as it were this part of the human body carries on a crusade against the health of the whole system, generates cancers and other diseases and is responsible for many of the germs which shorten human life. The appendix and the gall bladder have long been declared useless by eminent physicians, but it is a question how many people will seek to prolong their lives by submitting to the operation of having about six feet of their intestines cut out.

Are Disappointed.

There was bitter disappointment both at the navy department and the White House over the decision of the Naval Appropriations Committee to cut down the estimate for new battleship construction from four ships to two. The President had confidently counted on the four new ships and had they been provided they would have furnished additional argument against recalling the battleship squadron from the Pacific coast on the theory that there was already the nucleus of a battleship squadron in Atlantic waters and that both coasts should be provided with a strong battleship fleet. One of the remarkable features in the working of the naval appropriations is the way in which the submarine boat companies slid in at the last moment and secured appropriations for more submarines than the Secretary of the Navy had asked for. In fact a combination was made whereby the battleship appropriation was cut in favor of the submarine construction when it was too late for the administration to marshall its forces and head off the deal. It has been known for years that the submarine lobby at the Capitol is one of the most powerful and astute in Washington and this is only another sample of its activity.

Secretary Wilson, of the United States department of Agriculture has the reputation of being an industrious investigator of schemes. Some years ago he discovered that by grafting honey bees on to lightening bugs he could keep up a constant supply of honey day and night. Few apiarias took this statement seriously but now the same authority asserts that certain kinds of bees have a method of milking certain kinds of ants. "There is nothing sensational about a bee milking an ant, when you think of it" said an apiarist of St. Paul a few days ago "the bees and ants, for all we know, are just as much surprised when they see a human being milking a goat or a cow." The subject is certainly an interesting one and the apiarists will probably think of Solomon's advice; "Go to the ant, thou sluggard, consider her ways, and be wise." Frank Pott of this city is very much interested in the idea.

James J. Hill the railroad magnate of Saint Paul believes that there will be a decrease in railroad earnings this coming summer, but he is of the opinion that this decrease will not affect the conditions in the Northwest From all parts of the country reports are coming in that industrial conditions are improving, and it is certain that in the Northwest the farmers will plant as much wheat this year as ever. The Great Northern Railway reports a large increase in its gross earnings for January. The comparison is made with the corresponding month of January of last year, when the road was severely handicapped by the severity of the weather.

One of the squad of cavalry which overtook and captured John Wilkes Booth, who shot Abraham Lincoln all but had fulfilled his last wish that he might die on Lincoln's birthday and his funeral was held in Chicago this week. Andrew Wendell enlisted as a trooper in the Sixteenth New York Cavalry and served through the Civil War. He was later stationed in Washington and shared in the prize money paid for Booth's capture, his portion being $1800.

Would Keep Young

Minneota Mascot: Speaking of attorney general, what is the matter with keeping Mr. Young where he is? It seems to us as they say in lodge rooms, there is some "unfinished business" yet to be disposed of that Mr. Young is in better shape to handle than would be a new man. With the present status of the Jacobson "boom" we can not see where the attorney general stands much show of landing the gubernatorial nomination.

Chicago, Feb. 19.—Henry Scarlotta, five years old, was accidentally shot and killed by his brother James, eight years old, while the two were at play.

THE GREAT GAME OF POLITICS

At every legislative session there are many officers appointed by each body and some of them are already canvassing the situation regarding their chances and endeavoring to have the legislators or would-bes commit themselves. The appointment of Mr. Langum to the position of postmaster of the national house of representatives will give a new man a chance to his former position of secretary to the state senate. W. A. Simonton of Glenwood, assistant secretary of the last senate is after the position and is already making strenuous efforts to secure sufficient senators' promises to insure his appointment.

The fight for county attorney in Polk county promises to be a warm one next fall. Yesterday William Rowe, formerly county attorney, announced his intention of seeking the election on the democratic ticket, and G. A. E. Finlayson of this city will run on the republican ticket. Rowe in his office gave good satisfaction and will probably make a strong run. Finlayson is well known in the county and has many friends and adherents both here and in Crookston who will support him strongly. The primaries for general election will be held on Sept. 15 and the election on Nov. 3.—Grand Forks Press.

Politics in Norman county are rather slow and so far only one candidate for county office has filed, being Gregor Moe of Gary, having filed for treasurer on the republican ticket. The prohibitionists held a county convention last week at Halstad and it is understood that they endorsed C. L. Sulerud, a hardware merchant of Halstad, for the legislature and it is expected he will file before long.

Fairmont Sentinel: If Minnesota Democrats do not "watch out" they will get into a row which Republicans have planned for them. The majority party may safely enjoy the diversion of an internal squabble but the minority never.

Madison Independent Press: It is the loud-mouthed politician who goes about claiming the earth and the fullness thereof that makes the trouble every time.

Albert Lea Times-Enterprise: And it is said to have been Senator Foraker, while governor of Ohio, who discovered Taft and appointed him to a judgeship. Possibly Mr. Foraker is now led to ponder why he did it.

Telegraphing Made Easy

A Soo Line Operator Invents a Machine that Makes the Dots—Sold All Over the World

F. T. Vail, formerly chief operator of the "Soo Line" at Minneapolis, now the chief electrician of the International Vailograph Co. with an aggressive and pushing organization at his back, is heralded as the latest great inventor in the telegraphic field.

As is generally known, a telegraph operator "talks by dots and dashes" made with a key that opens and closes the electric circuit. To make dots and dashes is nerve racking work. In rapid sending it is estimated that an operator makes 30,000 nerve movements an hour. Mr. Vail has invented a machine that makes this mere child's play, as the Vailograph makes the dots. A large number of telegraph operators and other people with money to invest are buying stock in the company, which has recently installed a factory at Minneapolis and will sell its product all over the world. Parties seeking a safe investment will find it to their interest to write the

TIME IS THE TEST

The Testimony of Crookston People Stands the Test

The test of time is what tells the tale. The public soon finds out when misrepresentations are made, and the merit alone will stand the test of time

Crookston people appreciate merit, and many months ago local citizens publicly endorsed Doan's Kidney Pills they do still. Would a citizen make the statement which follows unless convinced that the article was just as represented? A cure that lasts is the kind that every sufferer from kidney ills is looking for.

Mrs. Benj. Champagne, of 322 Spendley St., Crookston, Minn., says: "I can just as enthusiastically endorse Doan's Kidney Pills today as I did six years ago. At that time they proved of great benefit to me in banishing a dull, annoying backache which clung to me despite my earnest endeavors to get rid of it. When Doan's Kidney Pills were brought to my attention I procured a box at the Wallace drug store. I found relief from the first dose or two and soon the pains in my back were entirely removed. The difficulty with the kidneys was also ended and I was improved in every way. Up to date the relief has remained permanent."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States.

The other members of the party made desperate efforts to locate him, but two whole days passed before they came upon him and when at last discovered he was frozen stiff having wandered about until exhausted and then succumbing to the severe cold prevailing there.

The news of Hilmer Lofthus' untimely death brings sorrow among his friends and sympathy for the bereaved family. County Attorney J. H. Maybury received word today from his atorneys at Winnipeg to the effect that the extradition judge at that place yesterday remanded Paul Kopang for one week, but that at the end of that time something must be done, and it will be done.

Ben Rosenberg, whose name. Kopang forged to several checks, just returned from a trip east, and his affidavits will be sworn to today, and arrangements will be made to have some one go to Winnipeg for the hearing which will be held before the Extradition Judge next Wednesday Feb. 19th.

The Kopang case has been dragged along for some time past owing to the absence of Mr. Rosenberg, but will now be vigorously pushed as the authorities are of the opinion that it would not be wholesome for a young man to think he could forge checks promiscuously and get out of trouble by skipping across the Canadian boundary line.

Yesterday it was thought that the men had been traced to a point about 12 miles from Emerson and on the Canadian side.

Last night it was said at Pembina that the men were still at large but Sheriff Roadhouse hoped soon to capture them. He has offered a reward of $100 for the capture of the men. a jewelry store there. KNEW EXACTLY WHAT HE WANTED

HE WAS VERY SLEEPY AND WOULD LIKE AN EASY CHAIR

An individual somewhat the worse for an accumulation of spiritus frumenti, wandered into one of the local furniture stores today and asked to see an easy chair he said, something large and strong. The obliging clerk got down a large arm chair and put it in a convenient place for him to try its merits. After several unsuccessful attempts to locate the furniture he sank more or less gracefully into the chair, stretched out his legs, let his chin drop to his chest, and in less than a minute his strenuous snores announced that he was asleep. The clerk stood for awhile speechless with admiration at the nerve displayed by His Jags, then awoke him up and conducted him to the street.

He crossed to the other side, turned around a few times, and then returned evidently under the impression that he was going to another store. This time he failed to have any goods shown him.

WIRE MEN MAY GO ON STRIKE

NEGOTIATIONS BETWEEN N. P. GEN. MAN. AND TELEGAPHERS BROKEN OFF

MANAGEMENT INFORMS MEN THAT SCHEDULE IS DECIDED UPON

From Friday's Daily—

There may yet be a strike of the telegraphers on the Northern Pacific judging from the latest developments in the controversy between the men and the officials over the working rules and salary schedule which are to go into effect when the federal nine-hour law becomes operative March 4.

All negotiations between General Manager Slade and the telegraphers' committee have been broken off, according to Secretary Holmes of the committee at St. Paul.

At the last conference between members of the general committee representing the Northern Pacific division of the Order of Railroad Telegraphers and General Manager Slade the latter issued an ultimatum. He said that a schedule of working hours and salaries under the new nine-hour law satisfactory to the officials had been prepared and this would be mailed to individual telegraphers on the road as soon as it was printed and would be put in force without consulting the committee.

Mr. Holmes stated that he did not know what the new schedule was, but that Mr. Slade had intimated it would be worse for the men than the last one which he had sent the committee.

The committee has appealed to C. M. Levy, third vice president of the Northern Pacific, and will endeavor to negotiate with him. At the present time Mr. Levy is not in St. Paul. What the telegraphers committee will do in the event that he refuses to negotiate with it Mr. Holmes did not say.

Before the big strike in 1905 the telegraphers on the N. P. carried their case up to President Elliott and it is probable they will do the same this time in an endeavor to avoid a strike.

Mr. Slade had nothing to say regarding the matter today.

The disagreement between General Manager Slade and the telegraphers is not so much over the matter of a reduction in salary, which the men expected but it is over the working rules. The men want the rules now in force continued under the nine hour law and the railroad officials desire to change them materially especially the rules relating to overtime and the hour at noon.

It is asserted by the telegraphers that if the company has its way they will lose all they have gained in the way of working schedules thru organized effort in the past two decades.

H. H. Zaiser Arthur Zaiser and V. L. Knights of Red Lake Falls, and H. K. Lutz of St. Paul have placed a big outfit in the woods near Big Fork and are cuting 12,000,000 feet of timber this winter. Arthur Zaiser and Knights are in charge of the camps and the former's wife is at the home of her parents during his absence in the woods, keeping house while Mr. and Mrs. Elkhoff are visiting the old country. Mr. Zaiser stated this morning that business at Red Lake Falls was good this winter. In sixteen days in January they did more business than during the entire month of a year ago.

POLITICS VERY WARM

STATE SEN. WORKS REPORTS WARM TIMES IN THE CITIES

IS SPENDING A FEW DAYS HERE LOOKING AFTER HIS VALLEY LANDS

From Friday's Daily—

State Senator A. D. Works of Mankato arrived in the city this morning and will spend a day or two here looking after his lands in this section practically all of which are under cultivation. He is well pleased with his investments in this section, and last summer added to them materially. Speaking of politics Senator Works to a Journal representative this morning said:

"I never saw politics so warm in St. Paul and Minneapolis at this season of the year. The political pot is just about boiling over. The situation is so peculiar that it is pretty hard for one man to interpret just what significance there is in the other fellow's move and there will be a lot of knots to untangle before the situation assumes intelligible shape. There are certainly going to be some warm times before the coming campaign is over."

SPOONER TO RESIGN ON MARCH 1ST

BEMIDJI CORRESPONDENT SAYS JUDGE IS GOING WEST

Relative to the resignation of Judge Spooner mentioned in the Journal yesterday the Bemidji correspondent of the Duluth News Tribune says:

"That Judge Marshall A. Spooner of the Seventeenth judicial district, will resign from the bench is now believed to be an assured fact and it is said he will hand in his resignation to Gov. Johnson the first of the coming month. Judge Spooner has for some time been desirous it is said of removing to the Pacific coast and is understood to have made arrangements on his recent trip to the west to locate at Spokane, Wash. In fact, a copy of a newspaper from a point in Idaho, where the judge visited has just been received, in which the statement is made that he had so decided.

"The matter of a successor to Mr. Spooner is already the occasion for more or less speculation, and as the appointment is in the hands of Gov. Johnson attention naturally turns to some Democrat, with the result that C. W. Stanton, of International Falls, county attorney of Kochiching county and a life long Democrat, is prominently mentioned. Former Senator C. C. McCarthy of Grand Rapids, altho a Republican has also considered a likely candidate for the judgeship. He was a candidate for the appointment six years ago when the district was given an additional judge by the legislature but the plum fell to Judge Spooner at that time, and he was elected to the position four years ago. The latter still has nearly three years to serve."

A. D. Grignon a merchant from Pitt a town on the north border of Beltrami county was in the city yesterday attending to some business matters. Mr. Grignon deals extensively in timber of all desciption and reports the market pretty fair altho, if the Great Northern would only extend its Greenbush line to reach them it would be a great benefit to all concerned. At present they have only the Winnipeg market for their produce and it is unsatisfactory. Mr. Grignon reports the country fast setling up and development is sure to follow. The Crookston contingent he says has secured very good claims near Graceton which will be valuable in a few years.

BABY GIRL CRIED AND SCRATCHED

All the Time—Torturing Eczema Covered Her Body—Could Not Sleep—Doctor Said Sores Would Last for Years—Skin Now Clear.

CURED IN THREE MONTHS BY CUTICURA REMEDIES

"I take great pleasure in telling you what a great help it was for me to use Cuticura Soap and Cuticura Ointment for my baby niece. She was suffering from that terrible torture, eczema. It was all over her body but the worst was on her face and hands. Her hands were so bad that she could not hold anything. She cried and scratched all the time and could not sleep night or day from the scratching. I had her under the doctor's care for a year and a half and he seemed to do her no good. I took her to the best doctor in the city and he said that she would have the sores until she was six years old. But if I had depended on the doctor my baby would have lost her mind and died from the want of aid.'

"I used all the remedies that everybody told me about and I tortured the child almost to death. Then I saw in the paper how Cuticura was the thing for irritating skin. I bathed her with warm water and Cuticura Soap and used the Cuticura Ointment. She was cured in three months. Now her skin is as clear and smooth as it could be. I shall recommend the use of Cuticura wherever I see the skin in bad condition. Alice L. Dowell, 4769 Easton Ave., St. Louis, Mo., May 2 and 20, 1907."

CARPENTER OF LAKOTA BUYS A CASE OF BOOZE AND GETS A "STILL" ONE

ARTHUR DEPARIS WILL LOSE ONE LEG AND PART OF ANOTHER FOOT

From Friday's Daily—

At a consultation of physicians in the case of Arthur DeParis who was terribly frozen in his shack at Lakota it was decided that there was no hope of saving his feet. An operation will be performed within the next few days at the Deaconess hospital at Grand Forkse where DeParis has been receiving treatment. One leg will be amputated near the knee and it is hoped to save a part of the foot on the other limb.

DeParis' condition has been such that an operation could not be performed. He was found in his shack by H. J. and Fred Smith. About a week before he received a case of liquor and took it to his shack. He locked the door on the inside and consumed the liquor for a week before he was missed and when Smith called to see him he was unable to unlock the door being helpless in bed.

A physician was summoned and he was taken care of and later taken to Grand Forks. His feet were swollen to an enormous size. DeParis is a carpenter. He has no relatives so far as known.

UP AGAINST REAL THING

WESTERN CANADIAN FARMERS SOLD THEIR FROSTED WHEAT

RECEIVED BUT 60 CENTS PER BUSHEL AND NOW HAVE NO SEED

David Coutts returned to Argyle from Regina on Monday. Mr. Coutts verifies the reports sent out of hard times and want being prevalent in parts of that country, and farther says that farmers are up against the real thing. They have no seed grain and the Canadian government has been called upon to supply same. Farmers in that country were forced to accept 60 cents per bushel for grain this last fall when the market price at Winnipeg was over the dollar mark.

FOLEY'S HONEY AND TAR
Cures Colds; Prevents Pneumonia

MUCH DITCH WORK AHEAD

MANY NEW WATERWAYS WILL BE CONSTRUCTED COMING YEAR

WORK WILL BE DONE CHEAPER BY MEANS OF DRY DIRT DREDGES

From Monday's Daily—

Engineer Geo. A. Ralph of the State Drainage Commission says that from present indications there will be a vast amount of drainage work done in Minnesota the coming summer, and that it will be let at very low figures. He says the cost of excavating ditches has been greatly reduced by the dry ditch dredges which are rapidly supplanting the wheeled scrapper and horse flesh. He says that the best dry ditching machines now used will move 2,000 yards of dirt in ten hours, which is equal to the work of 70 horses and 35 drivers, in addition to a scraper holder for every two or three teams.

He also says that the dry earth as well as the water dredges have been greatly improved. The weak spots have all been remedied and there is very little interruption to the work when in charge of competent men.

FARMER LOST FUR OVER COAT

SOME SNEAK THIEF STOLE IT FROM HIS SLEIGH SATURDAY AFTERNOON

John Huffman, a well known farmer residing seven miles south of Crookston is shy a good fur overcoat. He was in the city Saturday to attend to some business matters and left this coat in the sleigh south of the Rauch block about 5:30. At six o'clock when he was ready to start home he discovered that his coat had been taken from the sleigh. With Capt. Vonderbeck he searched the city but no trace of the coat was found. No one had offered to pawn it, and the thief probably put it on and hiked out of the citiy. A description has been sent to the near by towns and the thief may yet be landed.

This theft should be a warning to farmers as the police have no means of knowing whether a person taking a coat from a sleigh standing in the street is the owner or a thief, and it is a good practice for people from the country to always take their coats and robes to some store or livery stable for safe keeping.

WAS TRYING TO SAVE COMRADE

BODY OF BEN STEENERSON HAS NOT YET BEEN RECOVERED

According to the latest advices from Newport the remains of Ben Steenerson have not yet been recovered. Regardless of the fact that the Newport police have abandoned the investigation because the dual tragedy occurred outside their jurisdiction and because Chief Crowley believes that there was no foul play, the naval authorities at the training station are by no means satisfied with the conclusions reached by the police in connection with the drowning here of Privates Benjamin G. Steenerson and John M. McIntosh of the marine corps.

Representative H. F. Steenerson came to Newport from Washington yesterday to be present during the search for the body of his son. Representative Volstead came with the Crookston congressman. Mr. Steenerson is convinced that intimations of the drowning being other than accidental are wholly without foundation. According to information reaching them through the officials at Newport and in the navy department at Washington, his son was aboard the tug, in company with McIntosh, who fell overboard, and in an effort to save him Steenerson also lost his life.

Launches from the station have been engaged all day in a search for the bodies, but without success. The search will be continued and as soon as the bodies are recovered an inquest will be held under the direction of the navy department.

First Lieutenant Richard B. Creecy, who is in charge of the marine squad at the station, said that he was not satisfied with statements by some of the crew of the tug regarding trouble on board prior to the drowning of Steenerson and McIntosh.

MORE DAIRY CONTESTS ON

R. R. V. DAIRYMEN'S ASS'N CONDUCTING BOTH COW AND HERD CONTESTS

MANY HAVE ENTERED AND SUCCESS OF LAST YEAR WILL BE SURPASSED

From Tuesday's Daily—

The Red River Valley Dairymen's Association was organized for the promotion of the dairy industry in the Valley and one of the best ways to do this is to educate the farmer in the art of breeding and selection of dairy stock and teach them to feed more intelligently. A good method to work up some interest along this line is by means of contests between individual cows and also between different herds in the production of butterfat per cow.

By means of these contests it can be shown what a great difference there is in cows as to the amount of butterfat they will produce under the same conditions and it will also be shown what effect the different methods of feeding and caring for cows has upon the production of butterfat. By means of these contests it will be discovered where some of the best cows are located and what their records are and they will to a certain extent be taken as a standard by other dairy men in the Valley who are keeping unprofitable cows and so on the interest in the matter will continue to grow.

The Red River Dairymens' Ass'n conducted a cow contest last year and much enthusiasm was worked up and good accomplished. This contest is being conducted again this year along the same lines and quite a large number of cows has been entered. For any who have been keeping a record of the butterfat production of their cows since September or October it is not too late to enter the contest yet.

This Association will also conduct a creamery patrons' herd contest during the coming year. Ten dollars in cash will be given to the patron receiving the largest amount of cash per cow from the creamery between January 1st and October 1st 1908. In order to get at the right number of cows milked during the period it will be necessary to figure the number of cows milked each month and take the average at the end of nine months. This contest is open to dairymen in the Red River Valley who is a patron of some creamery except those who have already entered the cow contest.

An affidavit must be made out and sworn to by two disinterested parties besides the owner of the herd as to the number of cows milked during the period. A picture of the winning herd will be framed and hung in the hall at the next convention of the Red River Valley Dairymen's Ass'n and the owner's picture will be printed on the programs. The names of all those entering the contest with amount received for the nine months will be published in the Dairy Record of St. Paul. If some desire not to have their names published they should notify the secretary at the end of the period.

All those wishing to enter this contest should notify the secretary by March 15th, 1908.

Secretary,
St. Hilaire, Minn.

EXPLOSION OF OIL IS FATAL

Miss Nettie Smith aged 19 years was fatally burned in her home 849 Belmont Avenue Grand Forks Sunday evening about 8 o'clock, following the explosion of a can containing kerosene oil with which she sought to rekindle the fire in the kitchen stove. She was alone at the time. She was taken to the Deaconess hospital shortly after the terrible accident and passed away shortly after 11 o'clock.

The deceased had returned about 8 o'clock from the Presbyterian church where she attended the services of the Christian Endeavor society. The fire was low and it is believed that she thought it had gone out. Everything indicates that she poured some kerosene in the stove from the can and the explosion followed. Her clothing caught fire and she was burned from head to foot.

With her twin sister Miss Nellie, Miss Nettie celebrated her 19th birthday on Saturday last. The twins were deeply attached to each other and the grief of Miss Nellie on learning of the fate of her sister was heart breaking.

Mr. and Mrs. Smith and daughters have been residents of Grand Forks county for the past 28 years. They lived near Emerado until five years ago, when they came to Grand Forks The Misses Smith have been attending the high school.

PREVENTED A GUN PLAY

ALAS PETWAY WANTED TO SHOOT HEAD OFF BOB SHEVLIN SATURDAY

CAPT. VONDERBECK NABBED MAN WITH GUN BEFORE THE SHOOTING

From Monday's Daily—

Only the vigilance of Capt. Vonderbeck of the Crookston police force prevented what would probably have been a murder in this city Saturday evening. A. Petway a barber of the city and Bob Shevlin, both colored are both enamored of Mossy Dunham a prepossessing young colored woman of the city. Early Saturday evening Petway complained to Capt. Vonderbeck that Shevlin wa sfollowing him around and that if he did not quit it he would get a shot gun and shoot his —— —— head off. Capt. Vonderbeck thought little of the incident but warned Petway to behave himself.

Later in the evening Vonderbeck met Shevlin and was talking of the affair. Shevlin claimed that he was not shadowing Petway at all and explained that the trouble was caused by Petway's jealousy of him in connection with the Dunham girl. Looking across the street Vonderbeck saw Petway entering a pawnshop where he rented a 12 guage shot gun and loading it stepped into the pool room next door where Shevlin spends considerable time and asked if Shevlin was in. He was not and as he stepped out and started down the street gun in hand Vonderbeck sprang from behind a hack where he had been spying Petway and seizing the gun arrested Petway and lodged him in jail.

When arrested Petway said: "I told you I would blow his —— head off and I would have done it if you had left me alone. I'll show him that he cannot dog my footsteps."

This morning before Judge Wilde the defendant was released on his own cognizance and the case against him was adjourned to Friday the 2st of February.

SAUNDERS SUES FOR $30,000

WANTS BALM FOR LOSS OF AN ARM LOST ON NORTHERN PACIFIC

BROTHER-IN-LAW OF MRS. EDGAR BROSSEAU AND MRS. FRANK DELUDE OF CROOKSTON

George Saunders better known to the travelling fraternity as "Short" Saunders has instituted a suit for $30,000 against the Northern Pacific road for damages as the result of the loss of one of his arms. The accident occurred on December 4, 1907. The papers in the suit have been filed in the district court of Stutsman county. Special interest is taken in the case here as the plaintiff is a brotherinlaw of Mrs. Edgar Brosseau and Mrs. Frank Delude of this city.

The complaint alleges that the plaintiff was mailing a letter in the postal car at the center platform of the depot and just as he finished dropping the letter in the postal car the train moved forward and at the same time he started towards the depot. His foot struck a projection at the edge of the platform and he fell between the platform and the rail the wheels of the mail car passing over his arm requiring amputation.

H. S. McGinley of Minneapolis is the plaintiff's attorney associated with J. A. Murphy of Jamestown. It is probable that the case will be transferred to the federal court.

Since the arm was amputated he has been having lots of trouble with it and the work of a Jamestown physician in the employ of the Northern Pacific is claimed to have been of such a character as to prevent the wound from healing and the result has been great pain and suffering and loss of time.

H. C. Sinks special inspector for the state board of health has just returned from a trip to Clay and Stearns counties and has reported to the board recommending stringent measures because of the failure of the local officers at some of the towns to do their duty as laid down by the law. He says that at Felton he found there had been smallpox in the home of the mayor, but the house had not been quarantined, and that other places where the disease had existed had not been closed. The board may send a special officer to Felton to take charge of the situation and enforce the quarantine law.

A dance held at Collegeville, Stearns county, about Jan. 20 is believed by the state board to have been the means of spreading smallpox thru that portion of the state. It is said that thirty-three cases of the disease have been traced directly to the dance.

Dr. H. M. Bracken secretary of the state board has issued explicit instructions to the local health authorities at Collegeville, St. Joseph and neighboring towns as to strict enforcement of the quarantine laws, and it is believed there will be no further trouble.

MADE TOUR OF COAST CITIES

ALFRED AND ALBERT AMUNDSON THIS CITY SEE MANY FORMER VALLEY PEOPLE

Alfred and Albert Amundson, sons of John Amundson the well known Fairfax farmer returned Monday from a two months' trip which was mostly spent at points in the state of Washington on a pleasure trip.

The young men report a most enjoyable trip and seen many of the former residents of the Valley whom they found in the best of health and meeting with prosperity in their new homes but at that all of them had a very warm spot in their hearts for Crookston. At North Yakima they found former Crookstonites on all sides who made their visit very pleasant, they being there at the time of the Minnesota residents' meeting and banquet and the boys say they were all there.

At the other cities they visited they always found former residents of the valley and one of the most interesting things they found on their journey was to be able to read a copy of the Journal, keeping them in close touch with home affairs and were surprised at the number of different people who are subscribers. The only disagreeable part of their trip was the rainy weather which they encountered and they come back well satisfied with Crookston and vicinity. The cities on the coast are overrun by men seeking employment and the outlook is not very encouraging for them jobs are almost impossible to be had.

LOST WIFE ON TRIP TO AMERICA

L. Banik, employed in the Great Northern round house at Grand Forks has lost a wife somewhere between Grand Forks and Kresleff, Russia, and he is making strenuous efforts to locate her. Eight months ago he sent a ticket. After waiting for several weeks he wrote to his father in Russia and learned that Mrs. Banik had departed for this country in September. It is thought possible that she was lost in New York or is a victim of accident or foul play.

At the session today the most important action was the passage of a resolution instructing the county auditor to place on the county ballot the question as to whether Polk county should change from the township to the county system of caring for the poor.

If this plan is favored, a county poor tax will be levied and all the poor of the county will be cared for by the county instead of the townships and the cities as at the present time.

On ditch No. 75 viewers were named as follows: P. Torkelson, John A. Wyand and Bert Cochrane.

The usual bills were allowed.

From Tuesday's Daily—

Among others there is a hearing on a petition for a new school district in the Town of Eden to take land now included in districts from districts 239 and 243 and will include sections 13, 14, 15, 22, 23, and 24 in the town of Eden. Herman Johnson, Herman Schmoff, favor the petition, and Carl Torkelson, Albert Bergh, H. O. Halvorson and K. Shyerven oppose it.

It is expected that the board of commissioners will be in session for at least three days.

From Monday's Daily—

The board of county commissioners continued in session today and disposed of a large grist of business. The petition for the organization of a new school district in the township of Eden was denied late yesterday. The petition for a hearing was granted to Ole J. Lommen who wants to be set off from district No. 198 and be attached to No. 42 the Fosston district, and the hearing will be had at the next meeting of the board.

Johan Olson was set off from school district 18 and joined to 28, the Fisher district.

The board of viewers for the Hammond ditch No. 74 was named as follows: O. Hinds engineer; Ole Estenson, John Saugstad and Chris Houston. O. Hinds was appointed engineer for ditch No. 75 in Kertsonville and the board of viewers will be named this afternoon.

LIFETIME IN PRISON

IS THE SENTENCE METED OUT TO GODETTS FOR MURDER

RECOMMENDATION FOR MERCY TO THE COURT SAVED HIS NECK

From Wednesday's Daily

The jury in the case of the state against James Godetts returned their verdict yesterday afternoon at International Falls, which in substance is that James Godetts willfully and premeditatedly murdered Charles Williams at the latter's homestead near Big Falls on the 21 of August, 1907.

The jury came to the court room at 10 o'clock in the morning and brought in the above verdict. It is said that they arrived at the verdict at one o'clock but decided to sleep until morning before making their return. Godetts was cool and collected when he entered the court room to listen to the verdict and when the fatal word of "guilty" was read he never flinched but set his jaw and gazed defiantly at the jury and the court.

The verdict was something of a surprise to some.

The court room was crowded to its utmost capacity by the expectant crowd when the verdict was announced and read.

When the verdict was read, Mrs. Godetts and the children who were present, broke down and sobbed violently and had to be removed from the room.

Judge Spooner commended the jury on their verdict as coinciding with his views of deliberate murder on the part of Godetts.

Before being taken to the cell Godetts was handcuffed and he bears up wonderfully well under the strain.

With their verdict the jury recommended the prisoner to the mercy of the court.

Godetts formerly resided in Crookston.

FIVE DISTRICTS IN KOOCHICHING

ARE CREATED BY COMMISSIONERS OF NEW COUNTY UP NORTH

The board of county commissioners has divided Koochiching county into five commissioners' districts. International Falls will be in a district which will skirt Rainy River east, from the mouth of the Big Fork River and include the town of Ray. The Little Fork district adjoins this one on the south and extends from the Big Fork east to the St. Louis line, and south to the Itasca, being the second largest district in point of area. The Black river district is a compact one it comprising eighteen townships in the northwestern part of the county, west of the Big Fork river. South of that is the Big Forks district, it extending from the Beltrami county line on the west, through the center of the county to the Little Fork district and south to the Itasca line. This is the largest district in point of area. The Northome district is the best shaped one of all and comprises fourteen townships in the southwestern corner of the county. The division was made on a basis of population.

BOUNDARY LINE IS SET.

Minnesota-Wisconsin Controversy Is Settled.

St. Paul, Feb. 26. — The Minnesota and the Wisconsin game and fish authorities have agreed to consider the middle of the Mississippi river and of Lake Pepin as the boundary line between the two states, so far as the enforcement of the fish laws are concerned. This question has been a source of considerable friction between the two departments for years, the deputy game wardens of the two states both asserting authority over the same portions of the waters.

JURY RECOMMENDS FURTHER INVESTIGATION OF SCHMOCHEL CASE

FINDS THA[illegible] ILLEGAL OPERATION HAD [illegible] PERFORMED

Historical Society

From Wednesday's Daily—

That the death of Lillie Schmochel aged 17 years, was due to an illegal operation at Grand Forks was the finding of the coroner's jury, consisting of C. P. Trepanier, William Spriggs and W. P. Davies, last evening after a session of two days in which several witnesses were examined. The jury recommended that the proper authorities further investigate the death of the girl. The verdict as rendered:

"That said Lillie Schmochel came to her death at St. Michaels hospital in the city of Grand Forks county and state aforesaid, on the 21st day of February, 1908, from the direct cause of acute peritonitis. The remote cause was criminal abortion which has been procured several days prior to her entrance to said hospital.

"That we, the jury, recommended the proper authorities to further investigate this case."

To Continue Investigation

In accordance with the verdict of the jury, State's Attorney Wineman will continue the investigation of the death. It was after 8 o'clock last evening when the verdict was returned.

The proceedings yesterday were secret, but it is known that the witnesses included a physician who has been represented by Atorney F. B. Feetham during the proceedings from the beginning of the inquest. This physician admitted that the girl had visited his office but denied that there was any illegal operation performed.

It was brought out that the girl had gone to a hospital in East Grand Forks on a Saturday and left it the following Thursday. She came to a rooming house on the Grand Forks side and later went to St. Michaels hospital.

COUNTERFEITERS NABBED FOR PASSING BAD BILLS

Coney Miller and Thomas Kennedy Arrested by Deputy Sherriff J. N. Bailey for Passing Counterfeit Ten Dollar Bills.

Deputy Sheriff J. N. Bailey returned yesterday morning from Funkley, where he went last night to serve warrants on Coney Miller and Thomas Kennedy, two hangers-on at that place, bringing them with him to Bemidji yesterday morning.

The warrants were sworn out by Louis Lateral, charging them with having passed counterfeit ten-dollar gold certificates. In the charge Mr. Lateral says that Kennedy passed one of these at his place of business on last Saturday and that Monday another was passed by Miller, Miller giving the counterfeit certificate to another man to have changed for him. Mr. Lateral saw this transaction, took the ten-dollar bill and requested the men to keep away from the prisoners until he could get to Bemidji and have the proper papers made out.

Upon examination of the certificates it is said that the counterfeit is a crude piece of work, tho a person in giving change for them and not examing them closely, would take them for the genuine ten-dollar gold certificate.

The defendants will be given a hearing before a justice of peace and will no doubt be bound over to await the action of the grand jury.

IN MANTLE OF WHITE

EIGHTEEN INCHES SNOW IS COVERING EARTH—BLOCKADE

COUNTRY SCHOOLS ARE CLOSED—FEW CITY PUPILS ARE PRESENT

From Wednesday's Daily

Our many readers who are natives of Illinois will readily recognize the following article taken from the Canton, (Ill.) Weekly Register and in every paper published in Illinois is printed almost similar accounts. But still the Red River Valley is in the "Frigid Zone??"

A world in white greeted Cantonians Wednesday morning.

The snow which had begun falling early Tuesday morning and continued all through the day, had not ceased in the night, and for 24 hours the whirling flakes had sifted down, until 18 inches of snow on the level mantled everything in white. All the rough edges and harsh corners were toned down and everywhere were the sweeping curves of the wonder-billows of crystalline whiteness. Pavements, curbs, sidewalks and even fences were as one now beneath the leveling snow while trees, towers and buildings were wreathed with the glistening rime of flakes that floated and flew and swirled over all.

It was a great snowstorm. It will go down in history as one of the greatest—certainly as the heaviest snowfall of the twentieth century, thus far, in this city.

Drifts Everywhere

The east wind of Tuesday, shifting to northeast in th e night, piled the snow in high drifts everywhere. Streets were rendered well-nigh impassable; walks were lost beneath high piles, stiffened and unyielding, by the force of the wind.

All Trains Delayed

On the railways the snow delayed all evening trains Tuesday from one to three hours. The southbound midnight train arrived in Canton about 2:30 o'clock Wednesday morning, and the train from the south, due here at 2:26 in the morning, went through about 6 o'clock. At Norris this train ran into heavy drifts and further progress was impossible for hours. Both it and the train that left Canton at 7:27 Wednesday morning were still at Norris at 10 o'clock.

He was arrested and fined for running a poker game. Shackles were placed about his feet and he was securely fastened to a telephone pole in the lock-up. Chief Pridwell says the character of punishment was advised by Judge McKenzie, who fined the prisoner. The chief said last night Dillon would be chained up daily until he pays his fine or agrees to work on the city streets.

THREE PEOPLE CREMATED

TERRIBLE FIRE OCCURRED AT HINES YESTERDAY MORNING

WELLS JOHNSON, VINA DOYLE AND RODNEY OWEN PERISHED

From Wednesday's Daily—

One of the most destructive fires to occur in this part of the country was the fire which occurred at Hines yesterday morning rendering homeless the family of V. M. Owen and burning to death three human beings.

The dead are Wells Johnson, brother of Mrs. V. M. Owen and who was clerking in the store for them at the time; Vina Doyle a domestic in the Owens family, and Rodney Owen the little son of Mr. and Mrs. Owens and but eight months of age.

Upon the first discovery of the fire all thought was for the saving of the infant child and the other children.

The child was asleep in its crib over the kitchen at the outbreak of the fire, and Wells Johnson, the first one to notice the child's danger, made a heroic effort to save the little one from the flames but perished as he was lifting the little one out of its crib.

Miss Vina Doyle, the young lady who was working for the Owens slept in a room over the kitchen and all escape for her was barred by the flames and she perished with out any chance of escape.

TANTALUM AND SOME INTERESTING HISTORY

IT WAS FIRST DISCOVERED IN 1802 BY A SWEDE AND DURING THE PAST TWO YEARS HAS BEEN EXCITING GENERAL INTEREST—THE NAME RESULTED FROM A VERY PECULIAR CIRCUMSTANCE—AN INTERESTING ARTICLE REGARDING SEVERAL ILLUMINANTS WHICH ARE NOT YET IN GENERAL USE

Tantalum is a rare metal which has attracted universal attention during the last two years, before which it was scarcely known outside of some scientific laboratories. It was discovered and investigated in 1802 by a Swedish chemist named Exelberg, who on account of the tantalizing difficulties experienced in extracting the metal from its ores called it "tantalum."

Only two years ago, says the Engineering Magazine, it was decided by German scientists that what the discoverer thought to be tantalum was an alloy of it and a carbide. More tantalizing efforts were then necessary to produce the metal in its perfectly pure state.

This being achieved, tantalum immediately became of such importance that it is now revolutionizing at least one large industry, that of the manufacture of incandescent lamps for electric lights.

The so-called tantalum lamp is an incandescent electric lamp with a filament made of a very fine tantalum wire instead of a carbon filament, as in the ordinary incandescent bulbs. The most salient features of the tantalum lamp are that while the filament is so arranged as to have a total length of about two feet without materially increasing the size of the lamp, but half of the amount of current is needed to produce a light of the same intensity as that of an ordinary lamp with a carbon filament, and the light is so much brighter and whiter and the life of each lamp is at the same time increased to considerably that in view of all these advantages it would be more economical to pay one dollar for a tantalum lamp than to get the old carbon lamps for nothing.

Altho the attempt has been made to use tantalum as a steel hardening agent, the mechanical difficulties in alloying tantalum with steel have been so great that we shall probably see other applicants come into prominense first. Tantalum is one of the hardest substances known and its use for scientific instruments where price stands always second to accuracy and durability, will doubtless be developed much sooner inasmuch as tantalum also resists the corrosive influence of acids and alkaline solutions in a very remarkable degree.

One of the most striking experiments to demonstrate the hardness of tantalum was that for the purpose of boring a hole through a sheet of pure tantalum metal, a diamond drill bore was used, revolving incessantly for three days and making 5,000 revolutions a minute. The result showed a depression of less than 2.02 in the metal, while the diamond had become entirely dull and smooth.

Another group of rare minerals which is of the utmost importance in the illuminating industry contains the elements thorium, cerium, yttrium, zirconium and some others. These minerals on account of their physical character are generally known under the name of "rare earths."

Monazite, occurring in the form of sand, is the only commercially developed source of the metal thorium, which since its discovery in 1828 until about a decade ago belonged to that class of rare metals whose existence was of consequence rather in the higher range of chemical speculations than for industrial uses; but the invention of the gas burner mantle shifted it at once from this class of substance into that of products indispensable to our every day need.

The discovery of the illuminating power of thorium oxide, if combined with other chemical compositions, especially a nitrate of cerium, which is likewise extracted from monazite sand, has practically been the salvation of gas as an illuminant in competition with other lighting methods.

Zirconium, the chief constituent of the mineral zircon, and yttrum, principally derived from gadolinite, furnish the main substance of the glower of the Nernst lamp, on which there exist more learned treatises than on any other lamp but which has not come into general use.

CROP REPORT OF NORTHEAST . . . EXPERIMENT STATION . . .

For the Year 1907—Press Bulletin No. 68—By A. J. McGuire, Supt.

Eighty acres of the experiment farm is given to a system of farming considered practical and best for this section of the state.

1907 was the second year crops were grown in the rotation that is to be followed on the different fields of this 80 acre tract.

The acreage grown to the different crops are as follows: Wheat 4 acres, Peas 2 acres, Clover 20 acres, Fodder corn 14 acres, Stock roots 2 acres, Potatoes 4 acres Tame pasture (clover er and timothy) 8 acres.

In 1907 the wheat yielded 17 bushels per acre. The average yield of the state was 13 bushels, of the United States 13.2 bushels.

Oats 35.5 bu. per acre, that of the state 24.5 bu., of the United States 23.7 bu.

Barley 22.7 bushels per acre, that of the state 22.5, of the United States 23.8 bushels.

Peas 8 bus. per acre, in 1906, 2 bus per acre, in 1905, 16 bu. per acre.

Clover hay, 3 tons per acre, first cutting. Second crop mostly pastured.

Fodder corn 11.5 tons per acre green (cut for ensilage.) Field cured 6 tons per acre.

Stock roots 10 tons per acre or 335 bus. In 1906 15 1-4 tons per acre.

Potatoes 184 bus. per acre, average of state 101 bus. of United States 95.4 bus.

The above is the yield of the 80 acres under field conditions. Some parts yielded much higher than others owing to better drainage etc. but the average of all was taken.

This yield may be considered only fair as a measure of the productiveness of this section owing to the very late and cold spring, which was general throughout the northwest.

The wheat grown was Minn. 169, an improved variety of blue stem. oats, improved Ligowa; barley, Mandscheuri, peas, Canada field, clover, medium red (some alsike.) Fodder corn, Minn. 13; potatoes, Carmen No. 1, roots, Mastidon stock carrot.

The wheat, oats, barley and potatoes are the selection of several years from a great many varieties. They are the varieties found to do best in this section of the state.

Miscellaneous crops, and vegetable fruits, etc., will be taken up in later bulletins.

Two marriage licenses were granted today from the office of the clerk of court the first since Feb. 4 and this is said to have been the longest period during the past quarter of a century in Polk county when Cupid failed to land a victim.

Mr. Charles Arneson was granted a license to wed Miss Inga Gangstad both of Fosston, and the wedding will take place in that city on next Tuesday, Feb. 25th.

Another license was granted to Mr. Adolph Dubuque and Miss Cora Page of this city, who will also be united in marriage on Tuesday next Feb. 25.

THOUSANDS OF ACRES WILL BE CULTIVATED

POLK COUNTY LANDS WHICH HAVE BEEN LYING IDLE FOR THE PAST FEW YEARS WILL BE PUT UNDER CULTIVATION THE COMING SPRING—ONE FIRM WILL HAVE GASOLINE PLOW AT WORK WITH A CAPACITY OF 40 ACRES PER DAY—OTHER PURCHASERS WILL SHIP MANY HORSES AND FULL MACHINERY TO OPERATE LAND—ROBERT PURVIS LAND COMPANY HAS SOLD OVER 5,000 ACRES SINCE NOVEMBER LAST

From Thursday's Daily—

Crookston and Polk County will be benefited this season by the amount of acres that will be put under cultivation in Polk County by the people who have purchased lands from the R. H. Purvis land company during the last season. Mr. W. H. Rounseville of St. Peter Minn. has just completed a purchase of one of the largest gasoline plows that is made. This machine will be shipped to Crookston and will be used on section 7 south of Crookston known as the Thurston farm, also on sections 25 and 30 in Andover and Fairfax Townships respectively, also on section 23 in Fairfax Township. Mr. Rounseville and Doty own over 2500 acres in Polk county which they purchased thru the R. H. Purvis Land Co., and expect to put into crop this season in the neighborhood of two thousand acres. This gasoline plow is guaranteed to plow forty acres per day.

Mr. Andrew J. Rush who has bought 1280 acres from the Purvis Co., has just made arrangements for 24 head of horses to be shipped to Crookston and he expects to put in a thousand acres into crop this spring.

Senator S. D. Works who has purchased 3,000 acres of Polk county land through the same company has made arrangements for 35 head of horses to be shipped to Crookston and he will put into crop this season two thousand acres of Polk county land.

Mr. B. B. Gislason who has purchased 1280 acres of the R. H. Purvis land company expects to put in a thousand acres this season and is making arrangements to shrip stock and machinery from southern Minnesota to Crookston to take care of his farms this season.

"Notwithstanding the hard times, the Robert H. Purvis Land Co., has sold since Nov. 1st, last past over five thousand acres of Polk county land," writes Mr. Purvis under a Mankato date. "This will be sneered at by some who read it, but it is true nevertheless, and time will tell when the shipments of stock will unload at Crookston, and I congratulate myself for being the means of having in the neighborhood of from six to seven thousand acres of land put into crop in our county, and I think that it will finally be conceded that Robert H. Purvis was right when he told the people that Polk county was the best county in the state, and I think that it will only be a few years until we will see the most of the farming land in Polk County under cultivation, and although there have been a great many people trying to hold down the prices of Polk County lands, they cannot do it, and they may as well throw up their hands now as later, and say: "Let us all boost" and let the good work go on.

"We expect to sell more acres of Polk county land this season than we have any time in the past, for we are looking forward to a great emigration to the Red River Valley and Crookston is known far and near as headquarters for land seekers and as being one of the prettiest and most up-to-date cities in the Northwest. I receive your paper every day and take great pleasure in reading it".

BIG TRACT TO BE RECLAIMED

GOVERNMENT HAS BIG PROJECT FOR BENEFIT OF NORTHWESTERN STATES

MUD LAKE SCHEME WILL MEAN MUCH TO NORTHERN MINNESOTA

From Friday's Daily—

"The government has no more important work on its hands than that of the reclamation service," said Clarence J. Blanchard statistician in the United States reclamation service at Minneapolis yesterday.

"It is a more important work and a bigger one than digging the Panama canal," he said. "One million two hundred and fifty thousand dollars are being spent on it every month and 16,000 people are employed."

"The canals already dug would reach, placed end to end from New York to Denver. In all, 1,815 miles of canals have been completed.

"On seven great projects involving an expenditure of $51,000,000 and the reclamation of 1,200,000 acres of land the benefit will be directly to the twin cities. The projects lie in North and South Dakota, Montana and Washington.

"Another project of direct interest is that concerning northern Minnesota the Mud Lake reservation and the ceded lands of the Chippewa Indians. Surveys have shown that 400,000 acres of swamp land can be reclaimed at an expense of less than $5 an acre."

MAY BUILD A RAILROAD

T. R. F. COMPANY INCORPORATED TO BUILD AN ELECTRIC LINE

OFFICERS ELECTED AND $15,000 OF THE CAPITAL STOCK IS SUBSCRIBED

From Friday's Daily—

At a meeting of the business men in Thief River Falls held Monday evening articles of incorporation of the Thief River Falls Electric Railway company were signed and approved and officers for the new company were elected. A total of $50,000 of the capital stock was subscribed for at the meeting. The officers elected were as follows:

President—D. N. Winton.
Vice President—D. P. O'Neill.
Second Vice-president—M. Forder.
Third Vice President—M. V. Evenson.

Secretary—T. P. Hamre.
Treasurer—L. M. Hoag.
Council—G. Halvorson.

Directors—O. J. Schei, John Morgan, M. V. Evenson, T. P. Hamre, L. M. Hoag, D. B. Bakke, C. M. Evenson, G. Halvorson, M. Forder, D. P. O'Neill Olaf Ramstad, D. Shaw, D. N. Winton Math. Barzen, C. C. Jackson, W. W. Prichard, I. L. Erickson, Goodnow Torrison, C. A. Robbecke, H. P. Spoonheim and H. G. Dobner.

It is the intention of the company to build an electric line into the country northeast of Thief River Falls, but no definite route has been selected nor will one be until assurance can be had from the farmers that a free right of way and other concessions are granted. The farmers living to the east and north of Thief River Falls have long desired railway connections with that city and if they now show the proper spirit they will get a line. The stockholders in the new company are all men of means and they have been assured of a liberal backing.

MIDDLE RIVER BOASTS OF CREAMERY OUTLOOK

A shipment of butter tubs consisting of 800 tubs was received by the creamery Tuesday. This looks like a lot of tubs, but they won't last long when the creamery gets to churning 50 tubs a week or better, as Buttermaker Berggren says he expects to do in the best of "the good old summer time."

CANADA MAY COME HERE FOR SEED

DOMINION GOVERNMENT HAS MILLIONS TO SPEND—POOR CROPS IN NORTHWEST PROMPTS PARLIAMENT TO APPROPRIATE BETWEEN THREE AND FOUR MILLION DOLLARS TO SUPPLY SEED GRAIN FOR FARMERS WHO HAVE NONE — LOCAL DEALERS INTERESTED

Minneapolis grain men and owners of land in the Canadian west are interested in the plan of seed grain distribution which the Canadian government has undertaken on a large scale it is even possible that some seed grain may be bought in Minneapolis for shipment into Canada.

The Dominion government stands ready to expend between $3,000,000 and $4,000,000 to see that every farmer in the west who had a poor crop last year gets a chance to start right this spring. Alberta will get 100,000 bushels of wheat, 600,000 bushels of oats and 100,000 bushels of barley for seed. Saskatchewan will get 100,000 bushels of wheat, 1,000,000 bushels of oats and probably as much as 200,000 bushels of barley. Manitoba will not need so much assistance from the government.

R. E. A. Leach and forty assistants are at work in Winnipeg, where the seed grain is being cleaned and bagged. Later the distributive headquarters will be moved to Regina.

Farmers are Encouraged

The proceeding is of a nature of tone up the entire western part of Canada where in consequence of indifferent to poor crops last year, harvest returns were small. The Canadian government is going upon the theory that the weather of last season was extraordinary and not likely to occur again in half a century if ever. It is proposed to give opportunity to every farmer who was unable last year to save seed grain, to get a ready and ample supply when spring opens. It is expected that 50,000 applications will be received.

Minneapolis may come in for some part of the 500,000 bushels of oats that will be needed over and above what Winnipeg can supply altho there is some Canadian sentiment in favor of bringing the seed from England.

That Minneapolis will sell Canada any seed wheat is unlikely but not wholly improbable. It will depend upon how the supply in Canada holds out and in the event of it being exadian government.

The import duties on grain from the United States into Canada vary from 10 to 12 cents a bushel, but the Canadian officials have the power to cancel this on any shipments intended for seeding purposes.

SHEEP IN THE VALLEY

A HILLSBORO MAN OF WIDE EXPERIENCE IN THE BUSINESS GIVES

AN INTERESTING INTERVIEW IN THE GRAND FORKS HERALD YESTERDAY

From Friday's Daily—

F. L. Goodman, of Hillsboro who is in Grand Forks attending the Pythian meeting, has had a good deal of experience in handling sheep on valley farm lands, and his experience may be usefully suggestive to others. For several years Mr. Goodman and some associates have bought sheep off the Montana ranges in the fall, shipped them to the valley, grazed them on the stubble for a time in the fall, finished them off on screenings and shipped them to the Chicago markets where they have sold at a price which has yielded a good profit. This season the results have not been so good as the financial stringency came on at a time which interfered with such operations, and the chances are that there will be little profit directly in sheep feeding this year, but this is one of the exceptions.

Mr. Goodman finds that the best results are generally obtained when scheep are grazed in comparatively small bands. Last fall about 3,000 animals were kept in one flock to run on the stubble, and onother 3,000 were divided into smaller groups. The smaller groups did much better than the large one. In every flock there are a number of weaklings, and the larger the flock the more these weak animals are crowded to the rear by their stronger companions, and the worse they thrive.

The gain in weight from grazing on stubble is practically clear profit as everything that the animals pick up would otherwise go to waste. Feeding in pens on screenings is also profit less the labor required to clean the grain before shipping. Unless grain is cleaned the farmer pays freight on the screenings and at the other end makes a present of it to the buyer, who thus receives for practically nothing feed which is of great value.

Aside from the saving thus effected there is to be considered the effect on the land of grazing sheep on it. Every one knows that the sheep is one of the best scavenger that can be put on a farm. Weeds that many other animals refuse to eat are very acceptable to it, and continued grazing by sheep will clear fields of foul weeds which cannot be cleared in any other way. In addition to this the land is well fertilized, which is an important matter. Altogether the grazing of sheep appears to be an industry which may be followed with profit anywhere in the valley, and probably in most sections of the state. And the experience of many people with sheep raising as well seems to be thoroly satisfactory.—Grand Forks Herald.

RULING IS IMPORTANT

ALL CITIZENSHIP PAPERS MUST BE HEREAFTER TAKEN OUT

IN COUNTY WHERE APPLICANT RESIDES—EFFECTS ARE FAR REACHING

From Thursday's Daily—

Since the change in the law in 1906 as to the manner of persons declaring their intention to become citizens of the United States and to become citizens, the idea has been that such declaration of intention to become citizens or proceedings to become full citizens might be in any part of the judicial district in which the applicants resided. Recently the Department of Commerce and Labor, having control of all matters in relation to citizenship, has ruled that declaration of intention to become a citizen must be made in the county wherein the applicant resides, and all proceedings taken to become citizens of the United States must be in the county of which the applicant is an actual resident.

t appears that all papers taken out whether declaration of intention or final papers in counties other than those in which the applicant resided, are void.

The Land Office at Crookston today had to refuse an application to make homestead entry by Ingeborg Olsen, of Baudette, because she declared her intention in Koochiching County, in place of in Beltrami county.

ITCHING ECZEMA FIFTY-FIVE YEARS

Suffered Torments from Birth — Boils Formed as Big as Walnuts —In Frightful Condition and Could Hardly Work — Tried All Kinds of Remedies to No Avail — At Last

WHOLLY CURED IN 8 MONTHS BY CUTICURA

"I had an itching, tormenting eczema ever since I came into the world, and I am now a man fifty-five years old. I tried all kinds of medicines I heard of, but found no relief. I was truly in a frightful condition. At last my blood was so bad that I broke out all over with red and white boils, which kept growing until they were as big as walnuts, causing great pain and misery. I thought they would take the skin off my whole body, but I kept from scratching as well as I could. I was so run down that I could hardly do my work. Mr. Nelson R. Burnett recommended the use of Cuticura Remedies, telling me he was confident they would benefit and, in time, cure me. I used the Cuticura Soap, Ointment, Resolvent, and Pills for about eight months, and I can truthfully say I am cured. I cordially recommend Cuticura Remedies to all who are afflicted the same as I was, believing that, if they will use them according to directions, they will find them all they are represented to be. Any one doubting the truth of the above can write to Mr. Burnett, who will cheerfully vouch for my statements.

"Hale Bordwell, R. F. D. 3, Cedar Corners. Tipton, Ia., Aug. 17, 1907."

"I cheerfully endorse the above testimonial. It is the truth. I know Mr. Bordwell and know the condition he was in. He never tires of praising the Cuticura Remedies.

HARDWARE STORE WAS DESTROYED

DISASTROUS FIRE TOOK PLACE IN CROOKSTON EARLY LAST EVENING

TOTAL DAMAGE WAS ABOUT $15,000 WELL COVERED BY INSURANCE

From Thursday's Daily—

Fire broke out about 7 o'clock last evening apparently in the rear of the Clarke hardware store on Robert St., and before the flames were controlled the store was entirely gutted and the loss on stock practically total.

The origin of the fire is a mystery, but is supposed to have started in the basement of the building and was probably caused by defective electric wiring.

Mr. Clarke was the heaviest loser, his stock being valued at $12,000 and insurance carried was for but $6000 Mr. Clarke stated this morning that as soon as the insurance can be adjusted and the building be put in shape for occupancy that the firm will again open for business at the same old stand.

As the store and basement contained no fires, and was heated with city steam the origin of the fire is still a greater mystery.

A. G. Andersen, whose drugstore is located just east of the Erickson block suffered a loss of a few hundred dollars from smoke. The water in his basement caused no damage to speak of. His loss is covered many times over by insurance.

Dr. Holte who rooms over Andersen's says that his office furniture was not damaged by the smoke and no water was turned on.

The loss in Bangen's photograph gallery was probably $400 fully covered by insurance.

E. L. St. Marie lost about $300 in carpets and furniture from water and smoke and was fully insured.

H. G. Ebbighausen lost about $400 in his basement from water and was fully insured.

Bennie Moe, Sam Miller Ed Ralston Ole Tiegen and W. B. Sheffield, the latter having only an office, were all losers from smoke only. They were all fully covered by insurance however. The three roomers all succeeded in getting their trunks out of their rooms, but in doing so Sam Miller was overcome by smoke and it was with difficulty that he was resuscitated.

M. A. Bratrud suffered some damage from smoke and water in his basement. His furnace was submerged and his greatest damage was the result of stepping onto floating sawdust and landing in about three feet of water when he thought he was stepping on terra firma.

Otto Koeppe suffered no loss. His basement was flooded about 6 inches deep but his stock of tobacco was all on boxes and he suffered no loss worthy of mention.

The floor of the Place saloon was half submerged. and the basement was covered with water but there was no loss to speak of. The loss of H. G. Ebbighausen consisted principally in the washing off of labels of case stock was in the basement. The water was three feet deep for practically two hours.

The fire was discovered by N. B. Moran who was in T. B, Noeson's shoe store.

Smoke was seen and Mr. Noesen was of the opinion at first that some one had thrown a lighted match in the cuspidor. Investigation proved that the smoke was issuing through the wall and Mr. Moran at once ran into Koeppe's cigar store and phoned to the fire department.

Ed Erickson, the meat man who purchased the Adams block where the fire occured, about a year ago, sustained a loss of about $5,000, and his loss will be fully covered by insurance As soon as the losses are adjusted the building will be repaired and Mr. Clark will resume business in the same place. In the meantime he will conduct a fire sale at some other stand.

PAUL KOPANG STILL REFUSES TO RETURN

Sheriff Gonyea together with Ben Rosenberg and J. A. McCaffrey returned last evening from Winnipeg where they attended the hearing of Paul Kopang who a few weeks ago forged the name of Ben Rosenberg to checks which were cashed by Messrs. McCaffrey, Ed Erickson and others. Kopang admitted his guilt but after the hearing he refused to return to Crookston As a result requisition papers will be issued and the guilty party will without doubt receive a heavier sentence than would have been pronounced had he returned without the trouble that will have to be gone to now.

LOSES HAIR IN A NIGHT

PECULIAR HAPPENING TO A HOMESTEADER LIVING NEAR BEAUDETTE

LOSES HEAVY GROWTH OF HAIR DURING NIGHT WHILE SLEEPING

From Friday's Daily—

Doctors are much puzzled over the remarkable case of John Cottam a homesteader residing near Beaudette who retired Wednesday evening in his usual good health and with a heavy growth of hair, and awoke in the morning with his head as bald as a billiard hall. So far as known Mr Cottam has been suffering from no illness that would have a tendency to cause the hair to fall out which, together with the fact that practically every hair on his hear and even his evebrows fell out, all in the course of a few hours makes his case all the more remarkable.

Mr. Cottam moved some six years ago from Eagle Lake, Minn., taking a homestead near Beaudette and has since made his home there with his family. He is nearly 60 years of age.

Some time during last Wednesday night he awoke and complained to his wife that he had one of the worst headaches he had ever had in his life and expressed the fear that he would probably come down with an attack of grip. After lying awake for a little while he felt somewhat better and fell asleep again.

When Cottam awoke in the morning he did not himself at first realize that anything particular was the matter with him until the members of the family astonished at his unusual appearance told him that he had not a hair left on his head he knew that what they said was only too true and he was as much astonished as the rest of the family.

Doctors who have been advised of the circumstances say that they can not account for the strange happening.

HOME FROM THEIR SOUTHERN TRIP

MR. AND MRS. BALL E. W. JONES, FOURNET AND WILL LOWE ARE BACK

On the flyer this morning Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Ball, E. W. Jones, Wm. Lowe and Felix Fournet returned from their trip south after having been absent from the city for 31 days Mrs. Jones was with the party but she remained in Minneapolis where she will visit for a few days, returning to Crookston next Tuesday.

The party spent some time in New Mexico, and looked over lands in old Mexico for a week or two and all invested in coast lands near Tampico, close to the Gulf. The lands are undeveloped and are fitted for the raising of oranges, corn cotton, etc. ,and will be developed later on.

They all report a very pleasant trip The party visited at the ranch of E. DeBarnett, an old Minnesotan who has a magnificent ranch near Tampico They brought home a sample of tangerines, practically the same as an orange and they were picked from a tree that had 1200 of them on it.

They also brought back fine samples of grape fruit, limes and lemons, and the latter were of a very large and fine variety. In addition to fruit the land owners of that section do a thriving business in raising tomatoes and other early vegetables for the market north.

VISITED THE STATE FARM

PRESIDENT AND SECRETARY OF STATE DAIRYMEN'S ASSOCIATION

ARE MUCH PLEASED WITH EXPERIMENTAL FARM AND SCHOOL

From Friday's Daily—

President Robert Crickmore of the Minnesota State Dairymen's Association, of Owatonna, and Hon. J. R. Morley secretary of the same association spent yesterday in the city enroute to St. Hilaire where today both will be speakers at the meeting to celebrate the 6th aniversary of the starting of the St. Hilaire creamery, which celebration is being held under the auspices of the St. Hilaire Commercial club.

The St. Hilaire Creamery is one of the entire state. It has won prizes at every contest in which it has ever figured, and the class of butter produced and the size of the average checks paid to the farmers is a credit to the management and a standing advertisement for the creamery industry in this section of the state.

While in the city yesterday the two gentlemen were chaperoned by State Senator A. D. Stephens who took them for a trip of inspection over the State Experimental farm north of the city and they also visited the School of Agriculture on the same farm. After their return to the city yesterday afternoon Hon. J. R. Morley acted as spokesman in an interview with your representative, and all that he said received the hearty "amen" of President Crickmore. Mr. Morley said: "We were certainly very much pleased as a result of our visit to the State Farm and School of Agriculture. A great work is being done by both in Northern Minnesota. We cannot speak too highly of what is being accomplished by Supt. Robertson and his assistants. The value of their work cannot be estimated. It means not only prosperity for the present generation, but much more to the sons and daughters of the present farmers. Let the good work go on. Senator Stephens has worked hard to secure what has been accomplished thus far. Future generations will appreciate it more than the present. It means a new era of prosperity for the entire Red River Valley."

President Crickmore and Secretary Morley left for St. Hilaire this morning where the following program wil lbe carried out:

10:30 S. M.

Address of Welcome, Chairman C. H. Martz.

TEACHER MAY BE GOVERNOR

FORMER MARSHALL COUNTY EDUCATOR ON NORTH DAKOTA GOVERNORSHIP SLATE

We note that C. A. Johnson of Minot, N. D., formerly a school teacher in this county, is slated for governor on the republican ticket, says the Argyle Banner.

Mr. Johnson taught school in what is known as the Meisch district some years since, and is a brother-in-law to Herman Meisch of this city. He has many friends in Argyle and vicinity who wish him success and if he proves to be as good a governor as he was school teacher, North Dakota may consider herself lucky.

GEO. SANDERS ACCEPTS $5,100

A letter was received in the city this morning sttaing that George Sanders best known to the traveling fraternity of the state as "Short" Sanders has reached a settlement with the Northern Pacific Railway company. He accepted according to the letter, $5,100 as settlement.

The settlement must have taken place several days ago.

George Sanders is a brother-in-law of Mrs. Edgar Brosseau and Mrs. Frank Delude of this city. He lost an arm at the Jamestown depot last December while trying to mail a letter by falling partly under a moving train.

ENGINEER IS ARRESTED

MAJOR KEELEY CHARGED WITH THREATENING MEMBERS OF HIS FAMILY

WAS ARRESTED LAST EVENING AND TAKEN TO BARNESVILLE

From Friday's Daily—

Last evening Engineer James J. Keeley, better known as "Major" Keeley who has one of the passenger runs from this city to Greenbush, and who is said to be the oldest engineer on three divisions, The Northern, Dakota and Barnesville, was arrested by the sheriff of Clay county from Moorhead and taken to Barnesville where he was charged by the members of his family with assault

Engineer Keeley stops at A. B. Moran's at Carman, and is well known to all the railroad boys. He is very popular here and the news that he went home last Saturday night, as is his custom every Saturday and had trouble with the members of his family can hardly be credited.

It is alleged that he threatened to do a killing stunt on his last visit home, but the details have not as yet been learned here.

Engineer Keeley is not related to Conductor Keeley of this city nor to the Keeleys of Euclid who are well known throughout this section of the state. He is about 55 years of age and it is reported that there is something behind the present prosecution which will come out later.

RECORD SMASHED ON PANAMA CANAL

CHARLES ANDERSON WRITES THAT EXCELLENT PROGRESS IS MADE THIS YEAR

Charles Anderson who was for many years chief clerk in the superintendent's office in Grand Forks writes to J. H. Griffin, division freight agent that the records for yardage were all smashed in January on the Panama canal. In the Culebra cut, the division on which Mr. Anderson is employed, 1,200,000 yards of earth was moved. On the whole canal 2,500,000 yards were moved. Mr. Anderson scores the newspapers which have been telling of how little has been accomplished on the canal.

Mr. Anderson states that practically all the desirable jobs are under civil service rules. H. Sliter is head of the Panama Railway which is owned by the United States government and run by a private concern. Good wages are paid by the United Fruit company and Pacific Steamship company and they often need men.

Cal Stone, formerly with the Great Northern is passenger agent with one of the companies. Fortesque Anderson, who was also employed in the local Great Northern head quarters as road masters clerk has been working at Gorgona. Jesse Yount formerly stenographer in the local G. N. offices is at Empire the town in which Charles Anderson former chief clerk is employed by the railway company.

It is admissible for any one figuring on going to the canal to study Spanish, Mr. Anderson concludes.

WIFE LOST ON JOURNEY.

Woman Who Left Russia in September Has Not Arrived at Grand Forks.

Grand Forks, N. D., Feb. 21.—L. Banik, employed in the Great Northern roundhouse, has lost his wife somewhere between Grand Forks and Kresleff, Russia. Eight months ago he sent her a ticket. After waiting for several weeks he wrote to his father in Russia and learned that Mrs. Banik had departed for this country in September. It is thought possible that she was lost in New York or is the victim of accident or foul play.

FRIENDS DO NOT BELIEVE IT

STORY OF SUICIDE OF HARRY DODDS IS TAKEN WITH A GRAIN OF SALT

STRYCHNINE YARN IS NOT BELIEVED BY HIS MANY FRIENDS IN CROOKSTON

The press dispatches published in the city papers regarding the suicide at Staples of Harry Dodds, son of Rev. Lafayette Dodds formerly of this city receives but very little credence in this city.

According to the reports he told his sister he had a headache, he lay down on the sofa, and shortly afterward went into convulsions. Medical aid came too late.

A year ago while attending the state university at Minneapolis, young Dodds was shot twice by burglars who had entered his boarding house and since then he has been exceedingly nervous.

It is generally figured here that he took the medicine to relieve his nervousness and that he had no idea that it would prove fatal. Harry attended the Crookston high school and at that time never showed any suicidal intentions. There is no known reason why he should want to suicide, and his friends here scout any such a theory. They attribute his death to accident entirely and this looks like the most probable solution.

A BOOM FOR JOHN E. KING

RED LAKE COUNTY MAN MAY BE THE BOSS DEMOCRAT

It is exceedingly probable in the light of recent events, that either John E. King, state librarian and editor of the Red Lake Falls Gazette, or Carlos Avery, executive agent of the state game and fish commission, will be successor to Frank A. Day as chairman of the democratic state central committee. Mr. King has been in close touch with the committee and its active work during recent campaigns and is a man capable in every way to take this important position and his many friends throughout the northern part of the state, regardless of party affiliation will be pleased to see him get the appointment he is slated for.—Argyle Banner.

DEAFNESS CANNOT BE CURED by local applications as they cannot reach the diseased portion o fthe ear. There is only one way to cure deafness and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed Deafness is the result and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars free. F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, O.

Do You Keep a Flock of Sheep on Your Minnesota Farm.

If not, come to the Farmers' Institute at Crookston, March 17, and hear some of the reasons why Minnesota farmers should be sheep feeders and growers. The problem of securing reliable farm labor for dairying and general farming is confronting many farmers in these times. Poor seasons for yield and quality of small grains have reduced the profits on many grain farms in Minnesota. Do you realize as a farmer that Minnesota is one of the best located and best adapted states in the Union for the growing and feeding of sheep Do you realize how a good flock of sheep will help to solve your labor problem and return you a profit in unfavorable grain years Read the following account of 39 ewes owned and cared for by a farmer in S. W. Minnesota. These figures are accurately gathered and the amounts of feed weighed and recorded by an employee of the Minnesota Agricultural Experiment Station.

On Jan. 1st, 1906, the flock consisted of 39 ewes ranging from one to five years of age. They were fed hay and fodder corn with a light grain ration during the winter months. In the spring the flock was turned into the grain fields, and allowed to graze until the grain was 6 inches high. During the summer they were allowed the run of the pasture and farmstead and after the grain was stacked in the fall they were turned into the grain fields where they picked their living until October 26th, when ewes and lambs were all sold.

A Scheme of The Interests

The administration is certainly going after the labor vote in the coming election. The latest indication is the instruction of the president to the Interstate Commerce Commission. The chances are that it is a wise precaution too in the way of preparing for an emergency. Heretofore there has always been an immense hullabaloo when there was a big strike in any trade, but there has never been any precaution to get information about trade conditions in advance. Now railroads along with almost all other trades have largely increased wages in the last few years. As the tide of "prosperity" rose there were demands for increased wages from all sorts of labor organizations and as the employers were making a lot of money out of the public, they agreed to many of the demands for advances and took the increase out of the consumers in increased prices. This was all very nice so long as it lasted. Prices were high, but so were wages. It amounted to about the same in the long run, and there was no particular protest form the employers.

With the turn of the tide however there was a necessary reduction in many prices and there have been corresponding cuts in wages all along the line or what amounted to the same thing, a reduction of working hours. There have been some cuts in railroad wages and threats of more to come It is an era of railroad retrenchment and it will not be long before there is a general railroad strike as the result of this far-reaching economy. It is generally suspected that this would not be altogether unwelcome to the railroads and to some other big corporations. It would accentuate the appearance of hard times and tend to discredit the administration before the public. The president and those following his policies have no dearer enemies than the big business interests not because the President has proved a menace to business as so many claim, but because he has been distinctly a menace to dishonest business methods.

Now that there is every outlook for trouble in the railroad world, the President has ordered the Interstate Commerce Commission to gather statistics of railroad earnings and wages for some time back, their comparative rise and fall and their relation to each other with a view to offering meditation and arbitration when the almost inevitable conflict comes. Unfortunately there is not yet such a thing as compulsory arbitration where great public utilities are concerned, so that it is possible mediation would be rejected by one side or both if it were offered, but the president concludes his instructions with the significant statement that the facts desired will be useful in "promptly forming an enlightened public opinion on the subject if necessary." That is one of the things that the party in the wrong in a strike always dreads quite as much as it would a judicial decision and heretofore the public has been left to form its opinion on a wage dispute from the biased statements put out by the two parties to a strike or lockout. This move for information looks like a rather sensible precaution, the most remarkable thing about it being that it has never been tried before. There is nothing very sensational in it, but it is the sort of thing that will appeal to the labor element and probably will make votes for Secretary Taft.

STATE PRESS

Not Good Policy

Burying the hatchet — in your friends—will not be liable to bring forth harmony and good cheer—this year.—Stillwater Gazette.

Twice Over

It makes an editor bite his lip with anger when he reads a list of many of those who want to be delegates to the national republican convention. —Anoka Union.

Highest Criticism

The trouble with the supreme court judges in Minnesota is that they have too often been selected with regard not so much to their profound knowledge of the law, as to their ability to get votes, geographical location very frequently cutting more figure than the temperament and erudition generally considered as attributes to a place on the bench. Moreover they have been chosen not unfrequently in conventions that were scandalous because of their corruption and disregard of fitness for position. Do you expect to gather grapes from thorns or figs from thistles?—New Ulm Review

Still Exchange

The Duluth News Tribune and The Duluth Herald are two of the state's best daily newspapers which still continue to exchange with the country newspapers. This fact is highly appreciated by the country newspaper boys and it is not believed that the Duluth papers will suffer from their generosity in this matter. Duluth is the coming business center of the state and this fact is ably reflected by the newspapers of the great city at the Head of the Lakes, for while these papers never appear to miss a piece of news the advertising columns are also well patronized. — Morris Sun.

A Night Alarm

Worse than an ala mot fire at night is the metallic cough of croup bringing dread to the household. Careful mothers keep Foley's Honey and Tar in the house and give it at the first sign of danger. Foley's Honey and Tar has saved many little lives and it is the only safe preparation for children as it contains no harmful drugs. For sale by all druggists.

THE GREAT GAME OF POLITICS

The way for the republican party of Minnesota to bring its 'renegades' back into line, is to make the party as attractive as it was before the 'renegades" bucked.—Hibbing Messaba Ore.

Jacobson must clear himself of all conections with a Dunn deal or give up his credit for superior honesty and as a stickler for fair and open politics.. The voters of the state will no sooner agree to Bob Dunn's being the political boss than they would to his being governor. Jake had better cut loose.—Appleton Press.

Hennepin county republicans cannot expect to reinstate themselves in the good graces of the party in this state by selecting Thomas H. Shevlin as a delegate-at-large to the republican national convention. The much shorter course to accomplish this difficult feat would be to endorse for that position William Henry Eustis, whose party work has been constructive rather than destructive.—Alexandria Post News.

We in Minnesota know what it means to have factions knifing each other at every election. We continue to shout 'Harmony; Harmony!" when there is none of the article. We do not wish to see this state of affairs spread until it shall include and engulf the republican party of the whole country.—Warren Register.

The Duluth Herald which the country press of Minnesota unanimously declare is the best paper printed in either of the three "big cities" protests most vigorously against the tyranny of Speaker Cannon. It says: "The house with its 400 members sitting in helpless awe, rendered impotent and useless by the arbitrary power of one man, presents one of the most shameful and pitiful pictures in the history of the government. Yet the house continues not only to tolerate this ancient satrap of the big interests, but to return him to his place of power time after time."

The above is gospel truth, yet the majority of the house, or rather party decree, continues this czar-like rule indefinitely. The house of representatives is not a representative body.—St. Cloud Times.

TRYING TO SELL FIN A WOODEN LEG

The artificial limb concerns about the country have been flooding the office of Attorney Finlayson with circulars and personal letters telling of the excellencies of their limbs and how they sympathize with him in his loss, but still believing that they can supply the loss caused by amputation. When Finlayson first got out of the hospital he found his crutches too long and the papers told of the amputation of his crutches which relieved him considerable. The artificial limb concerns got hold of the article head amputation without reading it i its entirely and as a consequence "Fin" is kept busy denying the need of a limb.—Grand Forks Times.

SUCCESSFUL GRAIN FARMER—Oscar Bergos who is farming the old Will Lytle farm south of the city was a visitor at the Journal office today and took a great delight in seeing a daily newspaper created. Mr. Bergos has on an average of 275 acres seeded to grain every year and gets good results from this farm which has always been well tilled and is now as clean and fertile as when first broken up. He is authority for the statement that many southern farmers will remove to the valley the coming spring to occupy some of the vacant farms.

The Dispatch(?) is in receipt of the following article from the pen of W. W. Wall, secretary of the State Dairy and Food Commission concerning the comparative values of the poultry and the grain produce of Minnesota:

"The possibilities of diversified farming in Minnesota are so great that very few if any of our farmers or business men realize even in a small measure what the future has in store for our citizens in that respect. The fame of Minnesota as the Bread and Butter state has been heralded far and wide, and justly so, and it has been the means of calling merited attention to our commonwealth, as a desirable location for the sturdy citizen seeking a soil and climate productive not only of wealth but health also. While thousands have come in the past few years to enjoy the manifold blessings vouchsafed here, there are yet thousands of broad acres awaiting only the magic touch of the intelligent farmer to bring forth bountiful crops and spread the smile of happy hearts to all comers.

"Of course if 'you are from Missouri', you will want to be shown' and wherever you are from it is proper you should judge from facts and not from glittering generalities.

In 1906 according to government statistics Minnesota produced in grain as follows:

	Bushels	Value
Flax seed	4,741,528	$ 4,883,774
Potatoes	12,123,944	4,485,850
Buckwheat .. .	63,532	34,307
Barley	31,591,420	11,056,997
Rye	1,707,046	853,523
Oats	72,011,160	25,203,906
Wheat	55,801,591	39,619,130
Corn	50,149,277	17,050,754
Total		$103,188,241

"The above is a fairly good showing in itself, but remember that every bushel of that grain was taken from the soil and its productive properties and if followed exclusively for many years mean faiure and decay to the agricultural interests of our state. Happily and largely through the teachings of the educational forces of Minnesota along lines of diversified farming, our farmers instead of robbing the soil have been adding to its value, and how? Well, in 1906 there were in the state 1,019,700 cows and the farmer was not only milking dollars for them, but they in turn were feeding to the soil in fertilizer the very elements that had been exhausted in the production of grain crops. When we add to the earning capacity of the cow, that of the hen, the combination will prove one that nothing but the providence of the Almighty could overcome. This may seem an unwarranted statement, but facts are facts and to prove the truthfulness of the claim made above let us quote you the statistics of dairy production and of the value of poultry and egg products in our state and then judge for yourself.

"Here is the value of cows, butter, cheese, calves, skim milk, eggs and poultry in Minnesota in 1906, and and the figures speak for themselves:

Value of creamery butter .. ..$	21,554,431.75
Value of dairy butter and milk sold in cities	19,727,000.00
Value of skim milk returned to the farmers from creamery	3,882,401.00
Value of cheese	307,192.38
Value of calves	2,000,000.00
Value of eggs	15,975,616.00
Value of milch cows (1,019,700 in number)	31,046,000.00
Total .. ..$	106,399,212.93

"Think of this you toilers of less fortunate claims and especially you struggling denizens of the crowded cities. Well you know what the strenuous life and the white man's burden is, and the never ending grind of a mere existence. Under the conditions wherein this vast wealth is produced there is an uplift of our citizenship, a broadening of the brotherhood of man, an elevation of society generally. How strange that the countless thousands standing on the borderland of want and misery do not turn their faces and, like the Star of Empire 'Westward take their way.' Dame nature stands with the horn of plenty ready to pour out her generous gifts, only demanding industry, sobriety and clean thinking to make the now virgin soil bloom with untold products for man's comfort. And let me say that while northwestern Minnesota is but sparsely settled today, at least in the comparative sense, yet with its vast mineral wealth and agricultural possibilities, if rightly directed along proper and reasonable lines so far as diversified farming is concerned, it may become one of the richest portions of the United States.

"The opening of that section and doting each eighty or one hundred and sixty acres with prosperous husbandmen and happy homes must be done with the splendid help of the cow and hen. While the sturdy farmer is pulling stumps old boss and the hens will be pulling him out of debt besides feeding the family. This may seem far fetched to the uninitlated but when we consider the fact that the value of dairy cows and their products combined with the value of the hen and her products exceed the value of the grain raised in Minnesota by about $3,000,000.00 the proof is conclusive. These figures are quite marvelous and will make the banker and baker 'sit up and take notice.' If you will just give the hen a chance she will not only scratch out what iron ore there is in that section, but will lay enough eggs to feed the men who are making the farms, and the cow will produce enough fat to grease the throats of the steel trust magnates and then leave enough to swell the bank account of the farmer to such proportions that he will be glad he left the fatherland.

Yours truly,

W. W. WALL."

Penned and Pilfered

The people in these parts are some undecided as to whether Taft or Farobanks will get to be president, all excepting Grandpa Bibbins, who is still voting for Samuel Tilden.

Hank Tumms will run for constable next election and expects to pull Taft thru in this vicinity all right. Hank has wrote to T. Rosevelt telling him of the good news. Johnnie's mother rose to the occasion and sent Johnnie back next day as dirty as before with the following note: "Johny hain't no violet don't smell him, lern him."

What did you tell that man just now?

I told him to hurry.

What right have you to tell him to hurry

I pay him to hurry.

What do you pay him?

Two dollars a day.

Where did you get the money to pay him with?

I sell bricks.

Who makes the bricks?

He does.

How many bricks does he make?

Twenty-four men can make 24,000 bricks a day.

Then instead of you paying him he pays you $5 a day for standing around and telling him to hurry.

Well, but I own the machinery.

How did you get the machinery?

Sold bricks and bought it.

Shut up; you'll wake the foots up and then they'll make bricks for them selves.

It is said, tho not generally known that the family which possesses a cream separator need never be without nice soft water. By running hard water through your separator, that which comes out the cream spout will be found to be soft. The hard or heavier substance in the water will be thrown to the center, and can be separated as easily as the cream from the milk. The only reason rain water is soft is because the processes of evaporation leaves the heavier or mineral substance on the earth. Just try this experiment.

A NORWEGIAN TRIUMPH

Sir Thomas Lipton, in one of his interviews made the remark: "The smartest sailors I ever saw in my life are sailing the Reliance." Sir Thom as was correct, as the result proved. As compared with the crew of Shamrock III., they were quicker and more intelligent, and quickness and intelligence in obeying orders count for success in a race. They were men who anticipated Capt. Barr's orders and were ready to obey them before they were given. In other words they were experts in navigation specialties and each man was selected for special work. Capt. Wringe's sailors were not so quick because they did not anticipate orders.

Sir Thomas Lipton's remark has been accepted as a compliment to American seamanship, and there has been much boasting over "a Yankee boat and a Yankee crew." Reliance is a Yankee boat. It was built in Bristol. But, alas Reliance did not have a Yankee crew. There was not an American on board of it nor a person born in America. Its captain is a Scotchman, who has taken out his first papers. The first, second and third mates are Norwegians. Of its crew of forty-two men, thirty-seven are unnaturalized and two naturalized Norwegians, 2 unnaturalized Swedes and one unnaturalized Dane. Reliance therefore was a Yankee boat manned by a Scotch-American captain and a Scandinavian crew and the result must be set down as a Norwegian triumph. Evidently the days of the Maine and Deer Island American sailors, who figured in the old contests, have passed awak. It is surprising that Sir Thomas, with a knowledge of the skill and elertness of these descendants of the Vikings on the water has not manned one of his Shamrocks with Norwegians instead of Britishers, for the Norwegians are the men who successfully maintain the blue ribbon of the seas.

WANTS TO JOIN THE NAVY— CAN'T LEAVE LITTLE WIFE

Gustavus Gustavuson of Thief River Falls, is anxious to keep house on a big battleship of the United States navy. He has the dearest little wife ever a man had and he thinks of joining the navy, but he could not leave his better half and he has written the Minneapolis office to find out what kind of quarters married men have aboard ship.

He wants to enlist as a clerk and evidently it has never dawned on him that the navy is a poor place for a man who likes his own hearthstone.

"My wife is a good cook and puts out the whitest washing in town," he writes "and I couldn't be comfortable away from home unless she were with me to look after me. But I tell you, tho, her presence would inspire any man to deeds of heroism. Let me know at your earliest convenience what you can do for us."

Now, Lieut. Gay, who received the letter, is a married man, and since his stay in Minneapolis has known for the first time since he married what it is to have a home and Mrs. Gay with him, so he wrote Mr. Gustuvuson that Thief River Falls is a better place for married people than anything the navy has to offer.

TRIAL MARRIAGES SUCCESS IN NORTH

In a recent address in the east V. Stefanson formerly a student of the North Dakota university and at one time city editor of the Plaindealer of Grand Forks gives some interesting details as to the life of the "little brown people of the north." His description of the marriage customs of the Esquimaux are especially interesting.

There, marriages are not according to conventional canons. He described the wooing of a young man of 18, who arrived on a passing steamer and told the captain to wait a little as he saw a pretty girl, and if she would have him he would not go on. He went to the girl's father, who demurred, but said he would speak to his wife. They decided it was not much of a match, but they would refer it to the girl.

"I don't see anyone; but I'll go out and look," she remarked, and after the inspection gave her verdict:

"He's not much but I guess I might as well," or Esquimaux to that effect.

This was the beginning of it, Mr. Stefanson said. He was along later to see the sequel when fish became scarce and the family had to move. The young man said he was tired of fish and would go to a rabbit country. The girls said rabbits were problematical and fish were certain, and she would stay with her father. So they parted. This was only a first marriage. After a second, third, fourth, or fifth marriage, when congenial partners are found the marriage is permanent. After two years' companionship, divorces are unknown.

HELD TO GRAND JURY — At a hearing before Justice Vig of Fosston Tuesday and Wednesday two men who gave their names as Clarence Warner and Henry Michels were bound over to the grand jury on the charge of keeping a disorderly house. LOCAL OPTION—On Monday afternoon of this week a petition bearing the signatures of 17 legal voters of the village, was filed with Recorder Brager of Fosston, asking for the submission of the question of licensing saloons to a vote at the annual village election, which takes place upon March 10th, two weeks from next Tuesday. The antisaloon people are early in the game and will make an active campaign. Since the organization of the village of Fosston, the question of "license or no license" has come before the voters at many regular spring elections and the variation of the vote at various times in the past proves interesting history. In 1895 thirteen years ago, license carried by barely 9 votes. Four years later the petition for a vote upon license was filed too late to be legally considered, but in 1900 license carried by 50 majority. No petition was presented at the following election and in 1902 the "wets" had their highest record majority — 62. In 1904, 38 more votes were polled for license than against, while license was defeated by 33 majority in 1905 and the village went "dry" for the year. A year later however, saloons were returned by 20 majority and last year the ballot showed in favor of license by 36.

Geo. Heath is spending the day at Augus and will return this evening with a few new stories manufactured by J. F. Montgomery—together with a well filled order book.

OLD MAN SLAIN FOR HIS MONEY

BERNARD ROEHMER OF WABASHA VICTIM OF NIGHT ASSASSINS

BEATEN TO DEATH IN HIS YARD BY TWO STRANGERS— SEARCH FOR GOLD

From Saturday's Daily—

The many former residents of Wabasha and vicinity will be interested in the brutal murder of Bernard Roehmer last night. The victim of the terrible tragedy was well known to many residents of this city and Euclid having resided on a farm adjoining the one owned by the father of T. E. Biever of this city.

Roehmer who was a defenseless old man, was murdered last night as he was doing what he thought was an act of kindness and courtesy for two strangers who had called at his humble home.

One of the men struck him over the head with a culb. The skill of the old man was crushed by the blow and he fell senseless and soon died in the dooryard of his house.

Roehmer lived about three miles out of town on what is known as Pepin hill. He lived alone except for a housekeeper who kept his place in order and prepared his meals. It was believed that he was a man of some means and as he was known to have a small iron safe the stories of his wealth were enlarged upon by each retelling and it is thought by some that large sums were concealed in his home.

Came to Ask Favor

The two men knocked at his door and when he opened it they asked to be directed to a certain locality. The better to show them the way, the old man stepped outside and proceeded toward the front gate with them.

While one of the men walked by the side of Roehmer the other fell in behind them and then with a blow of a bludgeon, crushed the skull of their unsuspecting victim.

Fired Upon Housekeeper.

The murderers then returned to the house and fired a shot from a revolver at the woman, who had started to run to a neighbor's. Apparently they had plotted to kill both inmates of the place and the housekeeper owes her life to the fact that in the darkness and excitement the aim of Roehmer's slayers was uncertain.

Everything in the house was turned upside down by the murderers in their search for Roehmer's hidden store. It is believed the men spent a large part of the night in the search No one yet knows the amount taken, if any, by them. Roehmer's safe resisted their efforts and all its contents are intact.

Roehmer was 70 years of age. Four years ago he was robbed of $1,500, but the burglar was caught and most of the money found upon him.

The girl who kept house for Roehmer furnishes what is believed to be a good description of the murderers One of them she says was about five feet nine inches in height and had a short gray chin beard. He wore a brown fur coat. The other man was considerably younger and was about five feet ten inches in height and wore a black overcoat. His complexion was light and fair and he had a black mustche.

$500 Reward

A brother of Roehmer is offering $500 for evidence that will lead to the arrest and conviction of the assassins By some it is believed that they are men well acquainted with the habits of Roehmer and his reputation for hoarding his money and are really no strangers to the community.

TAPPED HIM ON SHOULDER

DIGNIFIED BUSINESS MAN CAUSED EMBARRASSMENT TO THE YOUNG LADY

A dignified business man was stooping over his mail box at the postoffice last evening, when he was tapped on the shoulder and a sweet voice said: "Say, the next time I make a date with you, you'll know it, I tell you—" Just then the business man looked up and the young lady's face turned crimson, and she almost fainted, recovering enough in an instant to say "Oh I beg your pardon. I—I made a mistake."

The business man smiled and hurried out to keep from roaring with laughter but as he thought later on what a predicament he might have been in had his wife witnessed the incident, he almost shivered.

The question of local option will be submitted to the voters of Kittson county at the coming election.

PLANS ARE COMPLETED

From Saturday's Daily—

Architect B. D. Keck has completed the plans for the new brick block to be erected by Tom Morris next to the post office block. The plans call for a two story building with a 25 foot frontage and the walls will be constructed so that a third story can be added at any time desired.

The plans are now ready to be figured upon by the contractors and bids will be opened March 15th next. The intention is to have the work started as early as the weather will permit, and the improvement will be a notable one on Second Street. Architect Keck has also completed plans for the construction of a $4000 residence for E. M. Engelbert at Bronson one of the new towns on the Soo line. He states that from present indications there will a large amount of building the coming spring in this section of the state.

INDUSTRIOUS BEAVERS WON

LOGGING COMPANY TIRES OF REMOVING BEAVER DAM AND HAVING IT REBUILT

The Park Rapids Lumber company has been beaten out by a colony of beavers, a rare thing in this country at the present time.

The beavers are on Suay creek in the northern part of Becker county. They had a dam built across the creek and the lumber men removed it. The beavers set to work and rebuilt the dam. It was again removed by the lumbermen.

Now that the beavers have shown such persistency the lumber company has decided not to molest them further. They will be allowed to add and strengthen their dam unmolested

From Thursday's Daily—

The county commissioners wound up a very busy meeting last night by appointing Orvis Hinds county superintendent of highways a new office created by an act of the last legislature. The board also settled an old matter that had been in and out of the courts for the past four years—the Ditch No. 45 case out near Fosston. The contractor had failed to fulfill the specifications, the St. Hilaire bank were assigned the orders but could not collect. The matter was settled satisfactorily to everyone so no one will be the loser.

Telegraphing Made Easy

A Soo Line Operator Invents a Machine that Makes the Dots—Sold All Over the World

F. T. Vail, formerly chief operator of the "Soo Line" at Minneapolis, now the chief electrician of the International Vailograph Co. with an aggressive and pushing organization at his back, is heralded as the latest great inventor in the telegraphic field.

As is generally known, a telegraph operator "talks by dots and dashes" made with a key that opens and closes the electric circuit. To make dots and dashes is nerve racking work. In rapid sending it is estimated that an operator makes 30,000 nerve movements an hour. Mr. Vail has invented a machine that makes this mere child's play, as the Vailograph makes the dots. A large number of telegraph operators and other people with money to invest are buying stock in the company, which has recently installed a factory at Minneapolis and will sell its product all over the world. Parties seeking a safe investment will find it to their interest to write the INTERNATIONAL VAILOGRAPH CO., (Incorporated) Guaranty Bldg., Minneapolis, Minn.

IS CHARGFD WITH BIGAMY

ARTHUR MOORE APPREHENDED IN CITY LAST EVENING ON SERIOUS CHARGE

MARRIED WELL KNOWN YOUNG LADY OF ADA—ALREADY HAD ONE WIFE

From Tuesday's Daily—

Last evening at the Palace Hotel in this city Arthur Moore was arrested by Sheriff Gonyea after returning from a trip up the north line, charged with bigamy.

The details of the affair could not be learned. It is known however that Moore, alias Horace Benson, who hails from Des Moines, has a wife at that place, and one month ago he married Miss Lilly Woodbury at Ada where he worked at the cigar trade.

Moore is a cigar maker by trade and holds a card in the Crookston Cigarmakers' Union. Moore was lodged in the county jail and this evening will be taken back to Ada by Sheriff P. A. Peterson of Norman Co., where he will have his preliminary hearing, and as it is said the evidence against him is strong, will undoubtedly be held to the grand jury of Norman Co.

The charge is a very serious one, but Moore refused to discuss the matter when seen.

RAILROAD "CONS" ENJOY BIG FEED

GRAND FORKS RAILROAD CONDUCTORS HAVE BANQUET FIT FOR A KING

Grand Forks Times: Fidelity, justice and charity mingled in neat, nifty and nobby style and dished up as it was at the bountiful repast served to the Great Northern conductors at Logan's cafe in this city last night, will never ravel out in the minds of the "cons".

It was a regular landslide, reunion and old settlers picnic combined. It was a better combination lunch than ever a "con" had made an impression in while bumping the bumps between jerkwaters. The risibilities from soup to nuts were of the bang-in, jimmycane, glory-be order, and even the postlude of the menu bore the inscription from "Dink"—"always leave them laughingly when you say good-bye."

A touch of pathos with a slight tinge of reverance was rendered by the famous calwife band of division 178, composed of Professors Schyuler, Else and Wright, and they did with such vivaciousness that even parental progenitors were compelled to applaud even vociferiously. The menu cards bore the likeness of his highness on the cover. It was "James" in all his glory from one of his best photographs. The color designs were of red and green.

The annual banquet of the Great Northern Division 178 of the O. R. C. was a decided success both externally and internally.

THE FARMERS ARE BUNCOED

PAYING $79 FOR RANGES THAT CAN BE BOUGHT FOR 55 DOLLARS

ANOTHER OUTFIT SELLING SILK GOODS FOR DOUBLE PRICES

For some time past several wagons have been running out of this city selling stoves to farmers. They are selling kitchen ranges for $79 which are not as good as can be purchased of the hardwaremen in this city for $55 but the salve used by the salesmen should be used with a grain of salt.

It should be remembered that the goods sold are not guaranteed by responsible parties. Far better buy a stove of people who are in business in your home town and whom you can come to at any time and know that you will get just what was promised you.

There is also an outfit making the farming districts selling silk goods. The stock they are selling is worth about one half what the same goods can be bought for right here in Crookston. Such peddlers should be turned down by every woman in the country. They can come to Crookston and buy goods at about half the price.

STEENERSON'S BODY WILL BE RECOVERED

Naval Court Finding Prove that Ben Jumped into the Water to Save Comrade.

Letters received in the city from Congressman Steenerson state that the body of Ben had not yet been recovered but that the naval officers and searchers were sure that it would in a short time be found as there is no record of them not in time getting those who have drowned in those waters. Mr. Steenerson also writes that Mrs. Steenerson is very poorly as the shock was so great to her that she nearly lost her reason. The findings of the court that Ben gave his life for his comrade is a source of great satisfaction to his many friends here who would not for a moment entertain the idea it was a suicide.

The following is an account of the sad occurrence taken from the Newport (R. I.) News of Feb. 19th:

An official statement was given out yesterday afternoon by a member of the naval board of investigation which is looking into the deaths of Privates Steenerson and McIntosh of the marine corps, who were drowned on last Sunday afternoon.

"From the evidence given by the crew and passengers of the tug Annie R. Wood, it has been decided that there is no truth in the rumor that Private Steenerson committed suicide

'The disappearance of Private McIntosh is still unexplained, but it appears that all hands on the tug were looking for McIntosh who had presumably fallen overboard, when Private Steenerson either fell overboard in an attempt to rescue his comrade.

"The evidence further shows that Private Steenerson was not under the influence of liquor, but was most naturally excited over the disappearance of McIntosh.

"The testimony of two uninterested witnesses, men upon whom no blame can rest, establishes the fact that Private Steenerson made every effort to reach the life buoy which was thrown to him from the tug. He was seen to swim in the direction of the buoy for several minutes. The buoy, however, was continually being swept away from him by the tide and current."

No Reason for Suicide

The same member of the board stated that so far as searching inquiry had been made there was absolutely no reason for Steenerson committing suicide and this verdict is shared in by all members of the board and by officers and enlisted men at the Training Station.

The court has not yet completed its sessions.

Congressman Steenerson father of Private Steenerson, who reached Newport yesterday morning, stated he could only corroborate what the member of the board (First Lieutenant Richard B. Creecy, U. S. M. C.) had stated. "I heard the testimony and I am satisfied the theory of suicide is unwarranted. My boy tried to save himself and went into the water thinking he saw his lost comrade and wanted to save him. The tug was turned around at my son's request and for 20 minutes everyone was looking for McIntosh.

"Captain Rich of the tug thinks my son jumped into the sea thinking he saw something or slipped and fell overboard. My son hollered for help which shows plainly he was not trying to drown himself. My son was of a cheerful disposition and wished to stay in the marine corps for a year and I had promised him at the end of that period to secure him his discharge when he intended to take up the practice of law."

Congressman Steenerson also told of the many letters he had received from his son, everyone of which were written in the most cheerful terms. showing again he had not been in any other but a cherful frame of mind and was willing to serve a year's enlistment.

Representative Steenerson

Representative Steenerson is a fine type of a westerner. He is several inches over six feet and has a large frame and a commanding presence. He is a man who would attract attention anywhere. He called at the Herald office yesterday afternoon to thank the staff for aid. He said he had been deeply touched by the spirit of comradeship among the marines, nearly every one of whom was out searching for the body of his son, each working energetically in the cold of the afternoon. The naval officers he said, had also been most kind. He will remain several days in hope of recovering his son's body.

While seamen and marines from the Training Station and marine barracks continued their search for the bodies of Privates Steenerson and McIntosh yesterday a naval court of investigation consisting of Commander William B. Fletcher, U. S. N., with Major W. N. McKelovy and First Lieutenant Richard B. Creecy, U. S. M. C., were in session at the marine barracks.

All those who were on board the tug Sunday afternoon save Neil Olsen of the dredger Urban went over their testimony which was practically the same as that given the police on Monday. Inspector Allan C. Griffith of the Newport police department, who took the statements of witnesses on Monday was also present.

The officers of the investigation board examined witnesses carefully and they found their stories were identically the same as given to the police.

Capt. Dillingham in Charge

Congressman Steenerson was given every facility by Captain Albert C. Dillingham, U. S. N., senior officer present to carry on a personal investigation of his son's death, and he took an active part in the examination of the witnesses. Congressman Steenerson is deeply grieved over the sad ending of his only son.

Olsen, who is locked up in the Newport county jail for assaulting William Champion, Jr., on the tug Sunday afternoon will be arraigned in the district court next Friday morning and it is likely his case will be continued so he will be held as a witness.

The naval court needs Olsen's testimony but he cannot be taken to the marine barracks by the sheriff unless the attorney general is served with a writ of habeas corpus, which is likely to be done, through naval channels.

Congressman Steenerson brought instructions from the navy department to Rear Admiral John P. Merrill, U. S. N., who has been called to Washington on official business and whose office is being filled by Captain Dillingham superintendent of the naval training system.

Chief of Police Crowley who has thoroly investigated the circumstances of the marines' death, expressed himself again yesterday as being firmly of the opinion that Private McIntosh was accidentally drowned and Private Steenerson jumped overboard foolishly after his chum.

The watchman at the Naval Torpedo Station has found the dress uniform cap of a marine which he picked up during his rounds yesterday near the boat house at the north end of the station, it having been washed up by the tide. This discovery was immediately reported to Commander Albert Gleaves, U. S. N., in charge of the Torpedo Station, who turned it over to the board at the marine barracks. The cap has been identified as that belonging to Private Steenerson. On the back of the leather sweat band and inside the cap in black ink was found the letter "S".

No Blood on Hat

Members of the marine guard of which Privates Steenerson and McIntosh were members continue to work and investigate every possible clew about the city and elsewhere. The cap belonging to Private Steenerson found floating at the Torpedo Station boat house yesterday was sent by the board of investigators to the naval hospital for the surgeons there to examine to ascertain if there were any blood marks on it. None were found.

It is hardly probable that the board of investigation will complete its labors today. In the meantime the search for the bodies will be continued.

Mr. Harry McIntosh brother of Private McIntosh who was drowned, arrived here last evening from his home in Pittsburg for the purpose of making a personal investigation into his brother's death.

GOOD SEASON PREDICTED

FARMERS AND OTHERS ARE INTERESTED IN SHRUBBERY AND FRUITS

PAST FEW YEARS HAVE BEEN VERY FAVORABLE TO THEIR GROWTH

From Tuesday's Daily—

Frank Haseltine, the nursery man left this morning for Hallock where he will sell shrubbery and small fruit plants to the progressive farmers.

The past few years have been very favorable to the growth and bearing of all small fruits in the Red River Valley. Strawberries, currants, raspberries, plums and gooseberries have been raised in large quantities, and the flavor of the northern grown fruit and berries is far superior to those grown in the southern and middle states. The products of the Valley nurseries are far superior for planting in this section to the output of the southern nurseries because they are acclimated and thrive better. In the early days thousands of dollars were expended in nursery stock by the farmers, and in many instances the results were not satisfactory.

Now, however, after experimenting for years, the varieties have been selected which are best adapted to this climate and now the experienced nursery men of this section will sell nothing but what they can guarantee will give excellent satisfaction.

TO MARKET GRAIN TH[illegible] [illegible]ENT YEAR — TO IN COR PORATE

From Tuesday's Daily—

The Independent Grain Shippers' association will shortly open a commission house either in Minneapolis or at the Head of the Lakes. This matter was definitely settled at a meeting held at Fargo and which was attended by seventy-five prominent independent shippers of North Dakota.

The firm is to be organized with a capital of $5,000 the stock to be subscribed by the grain men and the independent elevators with not less than 100 elevators securing the stock A committee of twelve was appointed to sell the stock to organize and to incorporate. This committee is composed of L. E. Foss, Maddock; E. Biessbarth, Brinsmade; L. Thompson Matten; E. Steenerson, Crookston; L. Noltmeier, Valley City; O. G. Major, Hope; G. K. Jordet, Finley; D. F. Seigfried, Drager, Rugby, and Mr. Vannice and Mr. Hart.

This committee will also act as a nominating committee for the election of officers of the new firm.

The committee adjourned to meet at Devils Lake during the meeting of the Chautauqua on the last Saturday in June.

The action of the independent shippers means that by the time the next grain crop is ready to be moved the new commission firm will be fully established and will handle the consignments of the independent elevators in the northwest.

The proposed firm will operate on a little different basis from the other commission houses, in that the independent dealers will consign their grain to this firm without having been solicited by an agent, which official the new firm will dispense with making a saving of at least a half-cent a bushel on all shipments. The organization of an independent grain commission house is another step towards a terminal elevator, and the prospects of a strong commission firm have greatly enthused the hopes of the independent shippers.

VALLEY COVERED BY MANTLE OF SNOW

A heavy snow storm began Saturday afternoon and continued till late Sunday evening, a total of 14 inches of snow falling, more than had fallen during the entire winter. The horse owners are rejoicing as it means that the teams in the woods will remain for several weeks and practically all logging contracts will be finished.

It also means that horses in the woods will not only be earning good money but the feed bill for their owners will be avoided for another month or six weeks, which at present prices of grain and hay is a very big item.

EXCELLENT PROPOSITION

CANNING AND PICKLE FACTORY PLANNED WOULD EMPLOY 150 MEN

WOULD MEAN AN OUTLAY OF BUT $18,000—CLUB MEETS ON THURSDAY

From Tuesday's Daily—

The proposition presented to the directors of the 25,000 club yesterday afternoon by R. M. Peacock, proprietor of a large canning factory at Clear Lake Minnesota, and who is connected with several other canning and pickle factories was without doubt one of the most practical ever considered by the commercial club. and a special meeting of the directors of the club will be held this evening, to further consider the proposition that will be brought before a special meeting of all members of the club to be held Thursday evening.

Mr. Peacock stated that a canning factory costing $18,000 would employ 150 men the year around. Peas, beans tomatoes and everything in that line would be canned an da pickle factory would also be run in conection.

Mr. Peacock and Mr. Davis who represents a large concern in Minneapolis which builds and equips canning factories started this morning for a drive out into the country to interview the farmers and get their sentiments, and will drive in a different direction tomorrow and thoroly canvass the situation as large quantities of garden vegetables would be necessary.

The proposition is one that should receive the hearty support of the commercial club and every individual citizen and farmer.

THEY WILL OFFER LABOR PLANKS

STATE FEDERATION COMMITTEE WILL WORK FOR REFORM LAWS

The state Federation of Labor has appointed a state central committee which will look after the interests of labor in politics. Union labor will not nominate any candidates but will work for candidates of either party who are known to be in sympathy with the cause. A special effort will be made to get an employer's liability law for the state, such as President Roosevelt is advocating for the nation. Another purpose is to abolish all contract prison labor. The federation committee will presnt planks on both subjects to the republican and democratic state conventions for adoption.

The executive council of the federation met yesterday in St. Paul and empowered President George B. Howley to appoint the political committee. He named three at large, G. W. Deacon and N. C. O'Connor of Minneapolis and John Kirby of Red Wing, and the following by congressional districts:

Second district, Garfield E. Morrison, fourth district, W. B. Van Brunt St. Paul, fifth district, Louis Roth, Brainerd; eighth district, Henry Perreault, Duluth; ninth district, Richard Straub, Fargo, N. D. Three other district members will be named

The executive council passed a resolution recommending that each local union devote time and study to the question of industrial schools. The federation is neither for nor against the proposition at this time, recognizing that there is much to be said on both sides.

BOYS INVADE CLUB HOUSE.

Example to Be Made of Young Winona Vandals.

Winona, Minn., March 3.—A score or more of boys are implicated in the breaking into of the club house of the Meadow Brook Golf club here and destroying property valued at about $200. Several of them have been arrested and the others will be taken into court this morning. The interior of the club house was defaced, the lockers broken open and considerable property taken away. An example is to be made of the boys to prevent future depredations.

STATIONS ARE BEING CLOSED

G. N. DOING AWAY WITH OPERATORS WHEREVER IT IS POSSIBLE

SEVERAL STATIONS ARE CLOSED AND OTHERS ARE ORDERED CLOSED AT NIGHT

The Great Northern is making big reductions to the telegraph force. Stations are being closed and the telegraph is being done away with as much as possible. Between Devils Lake and Grand Forks the block system has been put out of commission The following stations have been closed: Powell, Ojata, M. R. Tower, Shawnee and Keith. The following stations have been ordered closed at night: Anvilla, Petersburg, Mapes and Bartlett.

On the branch lines none of the stations are kept open nights and there will probably be no changes made. About all the men employed at the branch stations are an agent who does all the work. Usually his knowledge of telegraphy is slight.

Day Business is Slight

One reason given for the reduction of the force of operators between Grand Forks and Devils Lake is that the through traffic has fallen off since the Devils Lake-Aneta cutoff was finished. A great share of the freight is sent over that line now. The cut in the pay list will make up for all the extra men who will have to be employed as a result of the 9-hour law.

CALL ISSUED FOR CONVENTION

THE OFFICIAL APPORTIONMENT NOW COMES TO 1,143

POLK GETS 17 — OTHER NORTHERN COUNTIES GET THEIRS

Thomas H. Salmon secretary of the republican state committee issued the call today for the republican delegate convention to be held in Minneapolis April 16. Copies were sent to each county committee.

Following the decision of the committee at its meeting last Thursday the apportionment is based on the average vote cast in 1906 for the first six candidates on the republican state ticket. One delegate is allowed for each 200 votes or major fraction thereof, with an additional five delegates at large for each county. This makes a convention of 1,143 delegates. This is larger than figured for the committee at the meeting last week, and several counties have increased representation. The official apportionment is announced as follows:

Aitkin 9, Becker 11, Beltrami 12, Clay 13, Clearwater 8, Hubbard 10, Itasca 13, Kittson 9, Koochiching 5, Mahnomen 5, Marshall12; Norman 12 Otter Tail 19, Polk 17, Red Lake 12, Roseau 9, St. Louis 39.

EDISON ROTARY MIMEOGRAPH

An Edison Rotary Mimeograph has been purchased for the county auditor's office that will do a great deal to facilitate the work and permit the officers to economize on the amount of printing necessary having done. In the different offices there are many occasions to send out to the various township and school officers circular notices that can be done very readily on this machine.

ANARCHISTS FORBIDDEN TO MEET IN CHICAGO

Chicago, March 4.—Chief of Police George M. Shippy, his son Harry and his driver, James Foley, were wounded by an anarchist, who attempted to assassinate the police official in the hall of the latter's residence yesterday morning. The desperate struggle, in which Mrs. Shippy and her daughter joined, was terminated when the chief drew his own revolver and killed his assailant.

The anarchist was identified as Lazerus Averbuch, twenty-three years old, a Russian student who came to America three months ago from Austria, whither he fled two years ago from Kishinev to escape the persecution of the Jews in that city.

The attack is believed to have been the result of a widespread conspiracy to harm officials who have been active in suppressing manifestations of anarchy in this community.

Other Officials Threatened.

Other city officials are said to have been threatened and a police spy has recognized the corpse of the man who invaded Shippy's home as that of a person who regularly attended an anarchist meeting. He asserted that the man was chosen by lot to do away with not only the chief of police, but Mayor Busse as well. The ramifications of the plot are said to extend to other cities and to be closely connected with the killing of the Rev. Leo Heinrichs, a Roman Catholic priest, who was shot down at the altar of his church in Denver.

Chief Stabbed in Arm.

Harry Shippy is the most severely hurt of those injured in yesterday's affray. At a late hour he was said to have a very good chance of recovery. His father was stabbed in the arm, while Foley received a bullet in the wrist. Mrs. Shippy was kicked by the desperado, but her hurts are slight.

Following the attack squads of police were sent into the Italian and Ghetto districts of the city. Places known as headquarters of secret societies suspected of anarchistic tendencies were raided and before midnight a score or more of arrests had been made. State's Attorney Healy announced that the grand jury will be given an opportunity to investigate anarchistic organizations in an attempt to fasten responsibility for the attack upon its instigators. It was also reported that Mayor Busse intends to issue an order forbidding all street meetings.

Hands Chief a Letter

That the attempt to kill Chief Shippy resulted in failure was due largely to the policeman's quickness in anticipating the purpose of his visitor's presence is apparent. When the man rang the doorbell the chief himself answered the call.

"As I opened the door," said Mr. Shippy later, describing the attack, "the man raised his hat, and I allowed him to step into the hallway. He handed me an enevlope. I glanced at it and the thought struck me that the man was up to some wrong. He looked like an anarchist. I grabbed his arms and called to my wife, who was in another room. When she ran into the hallway I said: 'Mother, see if this man has a revolver.' She felt one of his pockets and said that he had.

"I tried to hold him with one hand and drew my revolver with the other, but he jerked away and fell against the door. I caught him again, and while we were struggling my son, who was upstairs, started to my aid.

Put Six Bullets in Red.

"He was only a few steps from the bottom of the stairs when the man freed one hand, drew his revolver and fired two shots at Harry. Then Foley, who had been summoned by my daughter, stepped into the hallway and the man shot him. The anarchist kicked my wife to one side, and by this time I had secured my own revolver and both Foley and I opened fire. At my first shot, which struck him in the head, he fell. I fired three more, one in his head and two in his body. Two of Foley's shots also struck the assassin."

Policemen from all sections of the city were at once put to work on the case. The police are firm in the belief that the attack on their chief was due to an anarchistic plot.

Both the chief and Mrs. Shippy assert that the former's life was saved by the bravery of their son.

HOME FROM GERMANY

AUGUST SCHULER RETURNED LAST EVENING FROM TRIP TO OLD COUNTRY

GIVES INTERESTING ACCOUNT OF TEN WEEKS' TRIP ACROSS THE WATERS

From Monday's Daily—

August Schuler the well known mason of this city returned last evening from a ten weeks' trip to Sensweiler, Rhine Province, Germany, his old home and to a representative of the Journal gave a very interesting account of his travels.

Mr. Schuler left Crookston Dec. 13 and enjoyed his trip tho the return trip was made on the Kaiser Wilhelm required 9 days, which is ordinarily made in 6 days, the weather being extremely rough during the entire trip. This was his first trip to his old home in 27 years and he found many changes. One schoolmate, his old chum, was on his death bed, and the rest had scattered, tho many old friends were found.

He says general conditions are very good there. He was particularly pleased with the pension system. Every one pays a certain pension tax and after reaching the age of 60 all people draw a pension and this prevents any indigents during old age.

Mr. Schuler was particularly impressed with the fine railroad accommodations. He states that local service stopped at 12 o'clock at night nothing but thru trains running after that hour.

His brother-in-law is a foreman in the coal mines near his old home and he made one trip underground which is required every day by the inspector. The trip of inspection required one hour of steady walking underground, and Mr. Schuler states that when he saw day light he had no further desire to visit coal mines 1800 feet underground.

He had a pleasant visit with his two sisters and his brother-in-law but states that he is glad to get back to Crookston.

The man with a wife and several grown daughters seldom hoards his money.

House Passes Four Hundred Pension Bills.

Washington, March 3. — Senator William Alden Smith of Michigan yesterday spoke against the railroad feature of the Aldrich currency bill pending before the senate.

Most of the day was devoted to the passage of bills on the calendar which are not of general importance.

A variety of subjects were considered by the house yesterday. A resolution was passed authorizing the immigration committee to investigate charges of peonage in certain states.

Four hundred pension bills and a few other private bills were passed, and the balance of the time was consumed in considering the postoffice appropriation bill.

DEFECTIVE PAGE

Penned and Pilfered

A Crookston young man who had a little flirtation with a local telephone girl is all broken up because she won't flirt with him any more, and it was not the fault of either that it was broken off. They were the victims of circumstances and neither understood The young man had promised to send the girl a Christmas present, but it miscarried in some manner and the young man who is quite bashful and more in earnest perhaps than the girl knew, did not ask her if she received it. He took it for granted that she had and the coolness which she observed towards him was interpreted by him to mean that she did not like the present. The young man did not get onto the fact that one of his joke-loving men friends had gotten wise to the flirtation and the present and had impersonated him on the 'phone in a conversation with her. He had told the girl that he was the other fellow; that he had sent her a present, but was not as good as the one he was sending to his best girl, etc. Of course that line of talk was not calculated to cement any friendships and when the girl did not get the present at all she concluded she had been trifled with enough and gave her adorer the icy stare. The situation had not been explained to either the girl or the young man up to a few days ago, and this squib may serve the purpose.

The remains of John Jones, famous as the "Jim Bludsoe" of the upper Mississippi river, were laid to rest at Dakota Minnesota Thursday. Jones' experience was so much similar to that of the hero of John Hay's famous poem that many believe he was the inspiration of it. Jones was the pilot of the ferry boat Warsaw which transferred passengers from LaCrosse to the Minnesota side of the river in the period just after the civil war. About forty years ago the Warsaw caught fire while in the middle of the channel with several hundred passengers aboard, but Jones headed the steamer for an island in the center of the river and in the words of the poem, "Held her nozzle against the bank until the last galoot was ashore." He then was obliged to make his own way to land through the burning boat Altho he received serious injuries, he survived and died of old age.

A Crookston lady, who was looking about her husband's office recently, noticed the large red figures which stands out so prominently on the Minneapolis Tribune maps of Minnesota.

"What are those figures for, John," she inquired.

Her husband glanced up from his work and said, "Those, why those are the numbers of the Congressional districts."

Now, the lady was a good Methodist and she mistook the word "Congressional" for "Congregational."

"Well," said she, highly indignant, "why don't they have the Methodist districts' numbers on too?"

This is the fifth Saturday in this month the shortest of the year. The month began and ended on the last day of the week, an incident that may not happen again within the lifetime of a majority of those now living.

Lobskaus From The Roseau Backwoods : : :

By "BACHELOR"

Motto: Han' slog paa sloan og bonkte paa morra."

Thus runs an old dialectical Norwegian adage and if my beloved readers will patiently and attentively follow me down this column I will not only tell him what it means but I will also show how congressmen and senators apply it to the president. But have a little patience, my old friend, for patience is a virtue at all times.

A Difference

As everybody knows this is the country of the boss. If you see a man at work, you will also see a man standing over him, self important and with an air that would cause the Czar of all the Russians to take a back seat. Nothing can be done without a boss. Even in politics this exalted genius has taken command. And so it happens that our servants, the members of congress, have their boss, too.

Congress however, is somewhat dissimilar to other working crews. In the first place they elect their boss, which other laborers do not. And their boss is also different from other bosses. While the ordinary boss tries to squeeze out of his men all the work he possibly can, the congressional boss uses all his ingenuity to keep his men idle. In one case it is: Do as much as you can or little more; in the other, do as little as you can, or little less.

The Political Boss

And the congressional boss has succeeded eminently in keeping our servants idle. We the real masters, have no say in the matter at all because we are not a boss, "don't you see." Three months have now elapsed since congress met, but when Roosevelt put his specs on a short time ago he could not see that anything was done. Then he applied a microscope to find, if some small things were attempted, but in vain. So he adjusted a telescope with a view of ascertaining if our solons had legisated for some far off countries, such as the Philippines, or our planitary neighbor Mars. The result was the same he found nothing done in any direction. And so he sat down and wrote his special message telling congress that it was about time to go to work. He reminded them again about the fact that the political and industrial field is pretty weddy, and that besides what cleaning operation he had previously mapped out for them, he also had some new jobs that required their attention.

Did Not Heed

Did congress heed the president and get a hustle on itself? Bless your dear soul, no. Instead of going to work, the wise ones started to talk. A wise-looking fat senator meditated and expressed his gravest fear that the president's message would have a very bad political effect and tend to help Bryan and the Democratic party while a just as wise-looking and well fed representative just as gravely expressed his fear that the message would so stir up the country as to make "sound and sane" politics impossible, and that unbridles (broncholike) radicalism would run amuck over the whole continent, while still others joyfully expressed as their opinion that the reactionaries had received a body blow, and that Taft's nomination was now an assured thing. It did not seem to occur to any of them that the president meant what he said. Indeed, they all thought that "Han slog paa sloan og tonkte paa morra," which means that he whipped the sleighs and thought he struck the horses.

Watered Stock

Let me quote a few lines from that message. Speaking of watered stock and the necessity of a real estimate of the true value of railroads the president says: "When the physical value of one of these properties is determined and made known, there will be eliminated from railroad securities that element of uncertainty which lends to them their speculative quality, and which has contributed much to the financial stress of the recent past."

Frown on Dishonesty

But part of the movement to uphold honesty must be a movement to frown on dishonesty. We attack only the corrupt men of wealth, who find in the purchased politician the most efficient instrument of corruption and in the purchased newspaper the most efficient defender of corruption."

Speakin gof the Standard Oil and its practices and contempt for the public the president says: "Such contempt the public deserves so long as it permits men of such principles and sentiments to avow and act on them with impunity. The outcry against stopping dishonest practices among wrong doers who happen to be wealthy is precisely similar to the outcry raised against every effort for cleanliness and decency in city government, because forsooth, it will hurt business."...."We have just passed through two months of acute financial stress. At any such time it is a sad fact that entirely innocent people suffer from no fault of their own; and everyone must feel the keenest sympathy for the large body of honest business men, of honest investors, of honest wageworkers, who suffer because involved in a crash for which they are in no way responsible."

Due to "Speculative Folly"

"I do not for a moment believe that the actions of this administration have brought on business distress; so far as this is due to local causes and to the actions of any individuals it is due to the speculative folly and flagrant dishonesty of a few men of great wealth, who seek to shield themselves from the effects of their wrongdoing by ascribing its results to the actions of those who have sought to put a stop to the wrongdoing. But if it were true that to cut out rottenness from the body politics meant a momentary check to an unhealthy seeming prosperity, I should not for one moment hesitate to put the knife to the corporation."

Control of Railroads

Speaking of the necessity for control of railroads the president says: "Our people should clearly recognize that while there are difficulties in any course of conduct to be followed in dealing with these corporations, these difficulties must be forced and one of three courses followed. The first course is to abandon all efforts to oversee and control their actions in the interest of the general public, and to permit a return to the utter lack of control which would obtain if they were left to the common law. I do not for one moment believe that our people would tolerate this position."

Trend of the Message

The above shows the trend of the message. To me it sounded like a voice from the grave. It reminded me of the rampant good old populist days when populist editors and orators thundered their denunciations against corruption, against purchased politicians and purchased newspapers. The populist party is dead and buried but while its political body is mouldering in the grave, its spirit is still marching on—even in the president's messages. And it was the utter lack of control" that the populists departed more than anything else, but at that time, to their thundering warning, the echo brought back the giddy and vulgar answer: "Longhaired and wildeyed populists."

May we hope that the efforts of our strenuous president will be crowned with better success!

A Useful Panic

In an interview with the editor of the French paper, Le Petit Journal, John P. Morgan, said that he thought the present panic, extremely useful, and that he did not care to see it relieved at all just now. Asked for his reasons for this he candidly mentioned one, and that was that the working people would either have to submit or starve. There is no hypocracy in this. But as Mr. Morgan is also the biggest railroad king in the country it is natural to presume that he, in his innermost heart, feels the same way towards all who advocate control of railroads, and that all insurrectionary tendencies ought to be crushed out, whether they are found among laborers, farmers or business men. Railroad kings do not want anyone to interfere with their business, you know.

Not Always True

In his great speech at Minneapolis about New Year's time, Mr. James J. Hill boldly stated that he was at Washington when congress assembled and that he "never found our public men so anxious to do right (!) Speaking about the panic in this connection he said that "if congress does nothing all will be well."

When our public men are anxious to do right in the eyes of railroad magnates and money kings, the general public had better look out; and when such men want congress to do nothing, it is time for the common herd to wake up and wipe their sleepy eyes. The inaction of congress must be very pleasing to Mr. Hill and his fellow railroad kings, and it is perhaps not to be wondered at that so many of its members persuaded themselves to think that the president "Slog paa Sloan og tankte paa morra."

SUPT. CASEY GETS RETURNS

65 OUT OF 139 WHO TOOK EXAMINATION RECEIVE CERTIFICATES

STILL ENOUGH SUCCESSFUL TO SUPPLY SCHOOLS OF POLK COUNTY

From Thursday's Daily—

Supt. Thos. Casey this morning received the returns from State Superintendent Olson for the teachers' examinations held in Polk county. There were 139 who took the examination, 65 getting certificates and 74 failing, or 53 per cent being refused certificates.

There were five first grades and 60 second grade certificates granted. The reason for the large percentage of failures is that such a large number of young people who were inexperienced and took the examination only to receive markings.

Nothwithstanding the large number of failures Supt. Casey announces that there will be plenty of competent teachers with certificates to supply the schools of Polk county and he hopes that the school boards will not encourage the hiring of teachers who will have to secure permits when there will be an abundance of licensed teachers to fill all vacancies.

The strict markings of the examinations by the state board is resulting in a higher grade of teachers in Polk County and should be encouraged in every way possible. There is no better way to encourage this class of talent than to insist that the teachers hired are duly licensed. Following is a list of those who received certificates and their address:

A TERRIBLE TRAGEDY NORTH OF FOSSTON

From Thursday's Daily—

One of t hemost shocking tragedies in the history of Polk Co., took place Tuesday evening about dusk when Paul K. Fossbakken a well known farmer residing 6 miles north of Fosston was cremated in his barn.

About 4:30 looking out of the window Mr. Fossbekken noticed smoke issuing from the barn, he went out to investigate. His wife followed him to the barn, thinking he was all right she released all stock and when he failed to reappear in a few minutes she called to him.

Hearing no response she entered the mow but failed to locate her husband. Fearing he was overcome by smoke she hastily summoned neighbors and a nearby farmer went to the mow with a lantern to search for Mr. Fossbakken. The smoke was very dense and the lantern went out.

Other neighbors arrived on the scene and further frantic efforts were made to locate the unfortunate man, but they were without avail.

By this time the fire broke out in the haymow and the barn was soon in ruins. In the smoking remains the body of the dead man was located, burned beyond recognition.

The affair has caused widespread sorrow. Three children of the deceased have been attending the State Agricultural School here and were at once notified and left the evening of the tragedy for their home accompanied by Supt. Robertson who returned this morning.

The origin of the fire is a mystery. The barn was one of the finest in Polk County being 30 by 64, Mr. Fossbakken being engaged in the dairy business on an extensive scale and owned 25 head of cows.

Deceased was 47 years of age and one of the best known and most highly respected farmers in Polk county. He leaves a widow and a large family of children who have the deepest sympathy of all in their terrible bereavement.

From Friday's Daily—

St. Paul, Minn., Feb. 28—The jury in the Ramsey county district court tonight found S. A. Phillips, the Northwest maanger and agent for the Hancock company, which had charge of the flotation of capital stock of the Chicago-New York Electric Air Line company, guilty of grand larceny in the first degree. The specific charge was that Phillips had embezzled $2,000 of funds of Hancock Co., while acting as its representative in Minnesota, North Dakota and South Dakota.

OLD TIMER HERE FROM ST. PAUL

J. C. WILSON TALKED OVER OLD TIMES WITH FORMER CAPITOL RESIDENTS

J. V. Wilson who represents the Northfield Iron Works and is boosting for the Otis Concrete Mixer, spent last evening in the city on business. Mr. Wilson is certainly one of the old timers in Minnesota, having been here for 38 years. In the early days he was very active in politics in St. Paul as well as in Ramsey county and the history he discussed with Tom Smythe, who was a resident of St. Paul at that time was thoroly enjoyed by a coterie of friends.

Mr. Wilson was identified with the early railroad construction work in Minnesota and when he came to the state St. Cloud was the most westerly point in the state that could be reached by a railroad.

The Great Northern is preparing for improvements at Red Lake Falls this spring and has purchased a site for a new station. The old station probably will be used for freight and storage.

A Soo Line Operator Invents a Machine that Makes the Dots—Sold All Over the World

F. T. Vail, formerly chief operator of the "Soo Line" at Minneapolis, now the chief electrician of the International Vailograph Co. with an aggressive and pushing organization at his back, is heralded as the latest great inventor in the telegraphic field.

As is generally known, a telegraph operator "talks by dots and dashes" made with a key that opens and closes the electric circuit. To make dots and dashes is nerve-racking work. In rapid sending it is estimated that an operator makes 30,000 nerve movements an hour. Mr. Vail has invented a machine that makes this mere child's play, as the Vailograph makes the dots. A large number of telegraph operators and other people with money to invest are buying stock in the company, which has recently installed a factory at Minneapolis and will sell its product all over the world. Parties seeking a safe investment will find it to their interest to write the Fairness Should Govern.

The Journal has always desired to be fair. It is willing to publish the views of the temperance people but at the same time does not intend to be biased. As a newspaper the Journal proposes to publish the news, and is favoring no faction in so doing.

Everyone versed with the situation in North Dakota knows the Grand Forks Herald, which is acknowledged to be the greatest daily published in North Dakota is the mainstay of prohibition and law enforcement as well as clean politics in North Dakota. Its stand has been so well defined during the past 25 years that there can be no doubt of its sincerity in favoring temperance, still on the front page under the two column caption "Total Abstainers are Mollycoddles" it has printed the following telegram under a Washington date:

"A man who never takes a drink of whiskey is a mollycoddle, according to Dr. H. W. Wiley, pure food expert of the department of agriculture.

"It will be a sorry day to this country of ours, the head of Uncle Sam's poison squad thinks, if booze ever is banished from the domain. Instead of a nation of men the country would be a suppine weak affair, with the back bone of a gnat.

"In other words the man who investigates the poisons dishonest people put into foods thinks a good, stiff drink is a mighty good thing now and then for the man who is inclined to be a "sissy."

"When a boy who has been tied to his mother's apron strings most of the time since he knew anything prefers a page of Robert Bowning to the sporting section, shudders a little when he hears a good lively line of swear words and blushes at the telling of a risque yarn, Dr. Willey thinks there is something the matter with him.

"He has a remedy too. The old-fashioned schoolmaster would prescribe getting the alleged mollycoddle fighting mad and give him an "all-fired good licking," and then have him lose all his effeminate ideas in fighting back.

"But Dr. Willey's remedy is simpler yet and not nearly so much trouble. He would have the young man drink whiskey not for his stomach's sake but to give him nerve, self-reliance and all that sort of thing.

"Whiskey is excessively good for the alimentary secretions," said Dr. Wiley in an address to the University club on "Heredity and Environment"

"The effect of an absolutely prohibition environment on a man who never took a drink would be to make him more of a mollycoddle," he added.

The doctor's plea for whiskey had aroused the club members and they fired all sorts of questions at him."

The Chicago Tragedy.

The Chicago tragedy is another illustration of the indirect influence of anarchy in this country, says the Minneapolis Journal in a very timely editorial. The rooms of the dead would-be murderer, when searched, revealed the presence of the kind of literature one would expect to find One of the books on which he had evidently fed was a volume entitled "King Hunger" and in this there were underscored such sentences as, "In the world there is a king who has no money—king hunger!" and "In battle you get your rights."

According to the testimony of the relatives of the dead man he had been in this country but a few months, and connection with anarchist groups. had not formed they think, any Those who worked in the same commission house with him say that he talked anarchy and argued that all governments were wrong and that the people would never get their rights until some one was ready to act. Apparently he made up his mind that he was elected to act.

It is not germane that his act was a mad one and not at all calculated to accomplish anything practical for the people he assumed to represent. What is germane is that in all our large cities are such un-American elements and that such opinions are liable to translation into action at any time.

One of the leaders of the parade of the so-called unemployed admitted that at the meeting held after the Chicago parade was broken up, the police and Chief Shippy were denounced, but added: "That was no fault of mine; I could not control the speakers."

If there are any American working men out of employment, they should take into consideration before joining in meetings at which anarchists are almost certain to get the floor the probable consequences of countenancing such gatherings.

Questions of national importance to dairymen will be discussed at the coming National buttermakers convention which opens at the new Auditorium in Saint Paul on March 11 and continuous for three days. Those conventions have been of inestimable value to Minnesota and have contributed much towards the acknowledged supremacy of the state in the manufacture of good butter and in the advance of dairying. A very large attendance of practical creamery and dairy representatives is expected and the proceedings of the convention will contain much that will be valuable and helpful to these interests in Minnesota. established a central distributing plant in Chicago and is arranging business like methods by which Minnesota dairymen can ship direct to Chicago where their products will be distributed to buyers and market centers. By this means it is expected that middlemen's profits will be largely eliminated and an increased price to the Minnesota producers secured. The plan will be in working order in a few weeks.

No Compliment to Bryan

We did not support Johnson in his two campaigns for the governorship because his party is not our party but we will say this, that he has conducted the office in a manner that has made every loyal Minnesotan proud of him. We do not believe that he could be elected president if he received the Democratic nomination, but we are sure that he could gather up votes so much faster than Bryan could do it, that along toward the end of the campaign all we good Republicans would be sitting up nights wondering how it would come out— Moose Lake Star-Gazette.

Whackety Bang!

Recent developments seem to indicate that the public interest would be served if the public examiner of Minnesota watched as closely the expenditure of contingent funds as he does the administration of affairs of the Soldiers' home or the St. Paul workhouse.—Northfield News.

A Timesly Subject

The matter of proper advertising of Minnesota is receiving wide spread attention. It is timely. There is no reason why the best class of farmers and others from states where land is worth $100 an acre should not settle on the unsurpassed lands of Minnesota instead of going to the arid and frigid regions beyond. Let them know of our advantages and they will stop here.—Austin Transcript.

The Financial Question

One of the important issues besides local opeion to be settled by the next legislature is the state guparantee bank deposit fund. No banker will object to a law of this kind because all honest banks mean to do the square thing. There will be no more run on banks after a law of this kind is passed.

WOMAN IN STATE PRISON WILL FIGHT DIVORCE

The suit for a divorce on the grounds that his wife has been convicted of a crime and is in the state prison which is sufficient grounds in this state for a divorce, which the husband of Anna Ostroski Jarmuzek the Morrison county girl who kidnapped the Glauqe baby of Minneapolis is bringing against her will be contested by her to a finish.

Thru her attorney E. R. Lynch, she has brought counter charges against her husband and alleges that her being convicted of the crime and her imprisonment in the state prison are directly due to his inhuman treatment of her; and she further states that he has been given a sixty-day workhouse sentence for his inhuman treatment of her and was released only after he pleaded with the judge that he would treat her better. She claims he treated just as bad if not worse than before, after his release.

R. L. F. FARMERS' INSTITUTE A COMPLETE SUCCESS

Red Lake Falls was largely populated last Saturday by rural citizens who came for miles around to attend the Farmers' Institute and also participate in the market day bargains. From early morn the streets were thronged with people and the meeting was a grand success in every particular. The Institute speakers were Messrs. R. A. Schultz, Chas. Hale and John Carlson and they injected into the minds of their hearers many new ideas about farming and dairying that will be of great benefit to the whole populace when put into actual practice. The afternoon session was attended by a packed house and our rural friends has thus manifested a disposition to be instructed by such meetings. We hope for many more such gatherings, as a "family reunion" occasionally is beneficial to all. —Red Lake Falls Gazette.

SUES FOR FOREMAN FOR ALLEGED CRIMINALITY

A rather unusual suit has been brought by J. L. Martinson of East Grand Forks against the Grand Forks Lumber company to recover $1,000. Martinson alleges that he was taken seriously ill in a lumber camp north of Blackduck. He was lying in his bunk when the foreman told him to get up and go to work. He said he was too ill to go to work. The foreman told him he would either have to go to work or get out. Martinson pleaded, but the foreman was obdurate and put him out. He survived but claims that he endured great suffering as a result of the heartlessness of the foreman.

SCHOOL SUPERINTENDENT AT BAGLEY RE-ELECTED

The school board at Bagley at a recent meeting hold for the purpose re-elected Professor Hov, the present superintendent for the term of three years, with an increase of salary of $100 per year. The corps of teachers was also re-elected with one exception for the coming year and an increase of wages granted to each ranging from $2.50 to $5 per month.

Nature seldom hides a massive brain behind a pretty face.

THE GREAT GAME OF POLITICS

Widespread interest has been taken in the Minnesota delegation to the National Republican convention. Chas. B. Cheney the political writer for the Minneapolis Journal has canvassed the situation pretty thoroly and he sizes the situation up as follows:

The make-up of Minnesota's delegation to the Chicago convention is beginning to take pretty definite shape. As for the delegates at large to Frank B. Kellogg of St. Paul, is conceded a place. No candidate has yet appeared from northern Minnesota in opposition to E. B. Hawkins of Duluth. Minneapolis will present W. W. Heffelfinger or Thomas Lowry, with the chances in favor of Heffelfinger, who would have no opposition in the state convention. The fourth man will come from southern Minnesota. He will be either W. B. Parsons of Winona, Frank W. Hunt of Mankato or Senator F. E. Putnam of Blue Earth.

The most likely selections in the first district are Senator A. S. Campbell of Austin and Dr. J. H. Adair of Owatonna.

The second will send T. C. Collins of Windom and probably F. W. Betz of Fairmont. If George W. Somerville runs for atorney general, the second man will undoubtedly be Betz

The third seems to have agreed on C. M. Buck of Faribault and George J. Bradley of Norwood.

The fourth will send W. B. Webster of St. Paul and George H. Sullivon of Stillwater.

The fifth or Minneapolis district, is unsettled with several candidates in the field.

The sixth will send Senator C. J. Gunderson of Alexandria, but the other man is not in sight.

The seventh district's delegation will likely be Andrew Peterson of Wheaton and F. E. Bentley of Montevideo.

The eighth will send Senator C. J. Swanson of Fridley and probably C. A. Congdon of Duluth.

Al Kaiser of Bagley seems to be one of the ninth district selections and the other will be Senator F. H. Peterson of Moorhead or E. E. Corliss of Fergus Falls.

These are the probabilities at present but some changes may develop in the next six weeks. Most of the district conventions will probably be held April 15, the day before the state convention. All of the probabilities mentioned in the foregoing, except Mr. Lowry have declared themselves Taft men.

Royalton Banner: The delegates to the national convention should be instructed for Taft as the first second, third, fourth, fifth, sixth, seventh, eighth, ninth and tenth choice of the Republicans of Minnesota. The chances are that if he is not nominated the nit will be Teddy so he should be named as eleventh and twelfth with LaFollette as the thirteenth choice.

FARM GROWN SEEDS

Press Bulletin No. 70—By A. J. McGuire, Supt. of Experimnetal Station at Grand Rapids

Clover: The ease and abundance in which clover grows in this section of the state is the strongest indorsement of its agriculture. Wherever clover may be grown, farming may be conducted successfully.

Clover is not only one of the most valuable feeds for all kinds of stock but it enriches the soil where it is grown.

Clover is grown in every rotation and on every field on the Experiment Farm at least every fourth year. This done to give all the fields its benefit Generally it is used but one year and then plowed up for some other crop. Owing to the high price of clover seed this frequent reseeding may seem an expense but the increased yield not only in clover, but in the crops that follow pays for the seed many times In fact the increased yield from one acre of the first year cutting, over that of an old field will more than pay for the seed of te nacres.

Clover may be seeded with any kind of grain in this section of the state The growth is so vigorous that no consideration need be given to nurse crop.

It may be seeded with or without timothy. On the Experiment Farm a mixture of the two is used, about half and half in weight. It cures more easily and makes a finer quality of hay than if grown alone. From 6 to 10 pounds seed per acre and the same of timothy, owing to the richness of the soil, moisture, etc.

Use medium red clover for the upland hay crop, mammoth for plowing under (recommended only for very sandy soil) and alsike for low land that is in danger of standing water and where it is left in meadow more than two years. Clover hay is a valuable feed for dairy cows, but requires considerable care in curing to retain all its quality.

It should be cut early, rather than too late, and put up green rather than over dried or rained upon. Best results are secured when cut in full bloom. Our system in haying is to cut one day and get in the mow the next. The hay may be sufficiently cured in this time when the weather is favorable. A hay tedder is very necessary in curing clover hay, that yields from 2 to 3½ tons per acre. Hay that is cut one forenoon is tedded the next morning as soon as the dew is off, and again just before dinner. The rake is started in the afternoon, and the hay hauled in at once. One ton of clover hay cured in this way is worth two tons of hay that has been rained on and weather beaten, especially in the production of milk.

Grow clover. Feed it on the farm It has a double value, and for this section it replaces "corn as king."

BETTER PROTECTION FOR OUR WILD GAME

The meeting of the State Game Wardens opened in St. Paul today and will be in session for two days. Wardens are present from all parts of the state, the object of the conference to devise methods and means for th very best possible protection of the wild game of Minnesota.

One of the very best papers read during the convention was the one on the situation in Northern Minnesota, read by Game Warden Wm. Munch of this city and who is in charge of this district. Warden Munch's address is given in full below:

Paper by Warden Munch

In order to deal with this subject it is perhaps advisable first to consider the nature of the country comprised within the valley of the Red River of the North. As is well known along that river on the Minnesota side as well as on the Dakota side for a distance varying from fifty to one hundred miles the adjacent territory is almost level prairie interspersed here and there with streams of varying dimension with slow current and mixed clay and sandy bottoms and banks. Along the eastern border of this territory the timber line commences, and with the timber line the country becomes more broken with here and there a spring fed lake, many of which are land-blocked. Where this timber line commences the country is to a large extent brush covered except where here and there settlers have brushed the land and cultivated the soil. As to fish in this locality it goes without saying that from the very nature of the streams as above described the rivers in this territory are not particularly adapted to the propagation of fish, but the lake territory along the easterly side of the valley presents ideal conditions for the development of bass, crappy, pike and other game fish, though with the possible exception of the southern part of this lake territory there are no streams which would be adapted to trout. These lakes with scarcely an exception in their natural state are filled with pickerel and other inferior fish but since the country has been settled up for a period of about 25 years an incessant war has been carried on against this variety of fish with a result that at the present time the lakes in question are not abundantly supplied with them, and present conditions promise very favorably for the fry of the bass, crappy, or pike, with the least element of danger of their destruction by pickerel or other destructive fish. I believe the time is ripe and almost opportune for the placing of fry in these lakes, and that the people who live in the vicinity of the lakes will co-operate with the movement and realizing the importance of stocking these waters will refrain from violating the law relating to such fish and that in the course of a very short time the lakes in question will present ideal fishing resorts to all who enjoy such pastime

With regard to game, the Valley of the Red River we believe presents the only natural breeding place of the prairie chicken at the present writing, and while it is true that many in the state believe that by legislation as to closed season the prairie chicken can again be induced to make Southern Minnesota its habitat we submit that on account of the habits of the bird and the conditions presented in the more thickly settled parts of the state, of necessity the territory in which the prairie chickens increase in numbers will remain limited, there are certain natural conditions which that bird insists upon as a place of breeding. In southern Minnesota the territory is either cultivated fields, pastures, or woodland, in neither of which places will the prairie chicken breed and thrive, and in the Red River Valley only do we have the long stretches of unbroken virgin prairie in which the grass is undisturbed from one end of the season to the other, and it is in these sort of surroundings and in such surroundings only that the prairie chicken from its very nature finds a congenial home. The prairie chicken sport during the past year was very enjoyable to all except the game hog who is never satisfied and the open winter this year and all present indications promise a continuation of good sport in that direction. Notwithstanding this it might be advisable in order that the sportsmen of the southern part of the state have the matter actually demonstrated to them to have a closed season as a matter of courtesy to those who cannot afford to come to the Red River Valley for a hunt. We do not believe that strenuous opposition to this move will be again made from the northern part of the state, for many of the sportsmen feel that it would be well for the prairie chickens to have a rest even in the Red River Valley, as it must be conceded that they are not as plentiful as they were some ten or fifteen years ago.

In this conection it might be added that conditions in the Red River Valley, particularly along the eastern portion of the valley, are rapidly approaching an ideal ground for the propagation of quail, and we believe that the State Game and Fish Commission could profitably devote some attention to that department. The Commission has very kindly taken steps to introduce the Ring-necked pheasant in that territory, and the success of this move is certainly assured. The local sportsmen at Crookston are raising funds at this time with which to buy eggs of the ring-necked pheasant to be hatched under domestic hens, and expect to have during the coming season at least five hundred eggs for that purpose if they can be procured.

In the lake region and in marshes scattered thruout the valley fairly good duck shooting is had every fall, and this shooting seems to have improved during the last three or four years. This is accounted for we believe largely because of the law prohibiting spring shooting, for we find that ducks are now inclined to nest in all the ponds, lakes and sloughs in the valley where heretofore a brood of young ducks was a rare curiosity.

We do not intend to make any mention as to large game in this article for the large game territory in what is known as the Red River Valley is very limited, tho occasionally a deer and even moose or bear are gotten by the fortunate sportsman in that territory.

In conclusion I might add that the game and fish conditions in the territory of which I speak have on the whole greatly improved during recent years, and promise of improvement in the future is very bright because of the earnest co-operation on the part of the sportsmen in the enforcement and respect for the game laws of the state. We have an efficient organization in Polk county, and the members of that organization include nearly every one who enjoys the sport, and it is not only the question of a chance of paying a fine but it is the adverse criticism and censure of the other sportsmen that aids greatly in the up-holding of the law.

As a result of this condition of public sentiment convictions have been had in all cases recently prosecuted and evidence has been secured, where in former days the parties would have escaped scot free. The sportsmen in that locality are almost unanimous in favor of a gun license of $1 regardless of the county in which the hunting is done in order that the State Board may have ample funds with which to enforce the law and to aid in the propagation of game and fish. The sentiment towards the State Board thruout the territory so far as I have been able to learn is one of cordiality and a belief that the Board is conscientious and striving its utmost to carry out the ideals under which it is created, and the feeling is unanimous to aid the State Board in every manner possible to make its work a success.

FOUND CUTICURA INDISPENSABLE

For Her Children—Little Girls Suffered with Itching Eczema Which Simply Covered Back of Heads—Baby Had a Tender Skin, Too.

ALL PROMPTLY CURED BY "WONDERFUL OINTMENT"

"Some years ago my three little girls had a very bad form of eczema. Itching eruptions formed on the backs of their heads which were simply covered. Before I heard of Cuticura, I used to try almost everything, but they failed. Then my mother recommended the Cuticura Remedies. I washed my children's heads with Cuticura Soap and then applied the wonderful ointment, Cuticura. I did this four or five times and I can say that they have been entirely cured. I have another baby who is so plump that the folds of skin on his neck were broken and even bled. I used Cuticura Soap and Cuticura Ointment and the next morning the trouble had disappeared. I am using the Cuticura Remedies yet whenever any of my family have any sores. I can never recommend Cuticura sufficiently; it is indispensable in every home. I cannot find its equal. Mme. Napoleon Duceppe, 41 Duluth St., Montreal, Que., May 21, 1907."

Case Co., in this territory arrived in the city this morn ing from Grand Forks and is looking after a residence in this city, it being his intention to make his headquarters here in the future, and he will move his family to this city in the spring after his children have finished the school year at Grand Forks.

Mr. Palmer was in the office of G. G. Thornberg at Grand Forks before the latter left for Columbus, Ohio where he took charge of the state agency, and speaks in the very highest terms of Mr. Thornberg both as to personal character and business ability. Mr. Palmer was at Racine, the headquarters of the J. I. Case Co., a few days ago and met Mr. Thornberg there during a conference of managers and employes, and enjoyed a most pleasant visit. THE HEDLEY HOME BURNED

THE LOSS WAS PRACTICALLY TOTAL, NOTHING BEING SAVED

BOYS LIGHTED FIRE AND MOTHER WAS AWAKENED BY THE SMOKE

From Friday's Daily—

This morning at an early hour, between 5 and 6 o'clock fire totally destroyed the fine farm home of Mr. and Mrs. James Hedley in the Town of Fairfax, four miles southeast of the city.

Mr. Hedley and his oldest daughter are away on a visit with friends in Kansas which makes the affair still sadder. According to the best information obtainable the Hedley boys Frank and his brother, arose this mor ning and after building a fire in the kitchen went to milk.

In some way the house caught fire and Mrs. Hedley, their mother, was awakened by the strong smell of smoke. She aroused the girl employed at the farm and the two barely escaped with their lives, the walls of the kitchen falling in just about the time they got out of the building.

The two escaped with the remaining Hedley girrl in their night clothes, having no time to save anything but a few bed clothes.

The loss on the house will reach about $1000 and loss on furniture, clothing and other contents will aggregate about $1500. The insurance carried is very light, being but $680 in the Farmers' Mutual Co.

Mrs. Hedley was at once taken to the Ed Roberts Farm where she will remain for a few days. The many friends of the family, all of whom are well known in Crookston, deeply regret the sad misfortune.

It is later learned that Mrs. Hedley saved her life by leaping from a second story window, but she received no serious injuries as a result of the fall.

The Hedleys were well known in Crookston from the fact that they delivered milk and cream to many patrons here. Despite the accident the delivery was made today, tho somewhat delayed.

CONDUCTORS HAVE RECORDS MARKED

G. N. TRAINMEN ARE INDIGNANT THAT INSPECTION OF CARS MUST BE MADE

The rules as to the reporting of cars out of repair, making time on runs, must be more rigidly enforced. claim the officials of the Great Northern on the Melrose division. During the past week a number of trainmen among them six conductors, had their records marked. Conductors are reported if they bring cars into Melrose which have any defects of any kind and are not reported. The conductors feel that an injustice is being done them because the officials insist that they make fast time over their runs, and say that to make time an dstill to take time to inspect every car is impossible. On most of the freights the third brakeman has been laid off and this makes the work of the conductor and his crew harder than usual.

A ROTARY SAW FOR CUTTING ICE

BARNESVILLE MEN INVENT MACHINE THAT WILL SAW 5000 CAKES ICE IN 24 HOURS

Messrs. H. J. Fisch and J. Babst of Barnesville have invented a machine for sawing out ice from the frozen surface of lakes and rivers. It is a rotary saw, propelled by a gasoline engine. With one saw and a four horse power engine they can saw out 5,000 cakes of ice, 24 inches square and 10 inches thick per day. The capacity of the machine can be greatly increased by adding extra saws. The gentlemen have applied for a patent for their invention.

Engineers Ed Ebbighausen and Adolph Remshardt left last evening for Hot Springs, Ark., where the two will be benefitted by the baths for a few weeks. Both are old timers, and the trip will do them no end of good and both will enjoy a well earned vacation.

MORE CRIMES IN STATE WHICH BARS LIQUOR

CHICAGO SPEAKER SHOWS MINNESOTA HAS LESS PRISONERS THAN MAINE

The Manufacturers' and Dealers' Club of Chicago has started a fight against the wave of prohibition that is sweeping over the country. The campaign opened at a banquet of the organization held at the Chicago Athletic club last night. The meeting was of interest to Minnesota people because one of the speakers used the alleged Minnesota figures in arguing that prohibition does not decrease crimes. Phillip A. Grau compared Maine, a prohibition state with Minnesota. Each are equal in population. His figures showed that while Maine had 5,769 persons in its county jails Minnesota had but 1,489. The number of prisoners on charges of drunkenness in Maine he said, was 2,934, as against 685 in Minnesota. "Blind pigs" in Maine numbered 441, against 25 in Minnesota. Maine produced no revenue from the liquor traffic but Minnesota turned into the state treasury $730,000 annually.

A Change in Runs.

A change has been made in the passenger runs on the Cass Lake line Heretofore the conductors have gone out on the day run and returned on the night run, giving them a lay over there of about three hours. Now they go out on the day run reaching Cass Lake at about 1:30 p. m. and returning on the night run leave Cass Lake at 2:45 a. m. which gives them a 14 hour lay over at Cass Lake. This will not be as popular a run as it was under the old regime.

From Friday's Daily—

Following is a copy of a letter received this morning by Secretary Moore of the 25,000 club:

Clear Lake, Minn., 2-2-08.

J. F. Moore,
Crookston, Minn.

Dear Sir:—

In reply to yours of the 25th. You can call a meeting of the farmers and business men for Monday afternoon, and I will come up and see what can be done.

Let me hear from you if this is satisfactory. I will furnish you a No. 1 man to look after the processing and managing of the plant.

Yours truly,
—R. M. Peacock.

The above refers to the establishing of a canning and pickle plant in this city and there will be a meeting of the members of the club, on Monday afternoon March 2nd, at 2:30 P. M. for the purpose of meeting Mr. Peacock and going over the mater fully.

It is desired that all who are interested in procuring this industry for our city, be at this meeting. It is also particularly desired that our far mers be on hand also, as they are as much, if not more deeply interested than any others, and if you will kindly give this space in your issues of today and tomorrow, it will help materially in getting out a goodly number to meet Mr. Peacock.

A BIG SUCCES OF NAVY BEANS

WESTERN POLK CO., BUSINESS MAN MAKES VISIT TO CROOKSTON

John Vosler, one of the leading business men of East Grand Forks is spending the day in the city paying taxes and attending to other business matters at the court house. This afternoon he looked up many of his old time friends and made the Journal office a pleasant call and set his subscription up another year ahead for the Daily Journal.

Last fall the Journal published the report of Mr. Vosler's big crop of Navy beans. He raised 1100 bushels and sold the entire crop to the whole sale company of Nash Bros., at Grand Forks for $2.40 per bushel.

Mr. Vosler has a fine farm on Minnesota Point and for several years past has raised large quantities of beans. The industry is a very successful one, good crops having been raised every year and high prices received for the produce. There is no question but what the raising of navy beans should receive a great deal more attention in the Red River Valley than it has in the past. The ground after having been so thoroly cultivated as is necessary in raising beans, is in even better shape for a fine crop of small grain than is a corn field.

Mr. Vosler will return home this evening and promised his friends that he would come again before the next tax-paying time arrives. In addition to his farming interests Mr. Vosler owns several fine business properties in East Grand Forks, and like his farm all the property he owns is highly improved.

LAWSUIT NOT YET COMPLETED

THE BYGLAND TOWNSHIP LAND CASE ADJOURNED FOR ONE WEEK

The lawsuit that has been on in district court the past two days has been adjourned one week in order to allow more evidence being secured. This is a case between Peter, Claar, Annie and Ludvig Monson, children of Ed Monson, at one time on the Crookston police force, and heirs of Mrs. Annie Kjerstine Ose, against Torkel Danielson to secure the possession of 80 acres of land in section four in the township of Bygland which they claim is not Danielson's but theirs as heirs of Mrs. Ose. Mr. Danielson claims to have purchased the disputed lands in 1885 and that the papers were never recorded and later lost.

Many fine points of law are involved and the case is being bitterly fought by the attorneys on both sides.

FINE WORK BY POLICE

GEO. WALKER DID NOT GAIN MUCH BY HIS CROOKED WORK

STOLE JEWELRY YESTERDAY AND IS NOW LANGUISHING IN COUNTY JAIL

From Saturday's Daily—

The police of Crookston did a fine piece of work yesterday and last night, and as a result Geo. Walker is in the county jail charged with the theft of a lady's gold watch and chain and a gold ring which it is alleged he stole from the room of Miss Emma Denny in the Columbia Hotel yesterday.

He pawned the ring at H. Cohens, and a clue was discovered yesterday afternoon and Walker placed under arrest. He maintained a bold front for several hours the placed in the sweat box by Chief Eck who secured the clues.

During the night however, Patrolman Harry Phillips got in some clever work and at 1 o'clock this morning Walker confessed to him that he was guilty and took the policeman to a pile of fence posts behind N. P. Stone's machine shed and dug up the watch and chain. Walker was arraigned before Judge McLean at 10 o'clock this morning waived examination and was held to the grand jury which meets in June. It is possible that he will plead guilty before Judge Watts and take his medicine at once, otherwise his four months' term in the county jail, awaiting session of the grand jury would be spent in vain.

This is a piece of work for which the police department of Crookston is certainly entitled to a great degree of credit.

In the face of misfortune Mr. Jeffers maintains his old cheerful smile which has encouraged many others in adversity. The high regard in which Mr. Jeffers is held can be attested to by the keen interest manifested in his welfare by his scores of friends in this city, tho he has been a resident but a short time. It is expected that he will be able to get around with the assistance of crutches in the course of a few weeks.

INSANE LOVER SHOOTS GIRL

TERRIBLE TRAGEDY ENACTED YESTERDAY AFTERNOON AT TENSTRIKE

J. O. JAHNKE SHOOTS LAURA FLEISCHMAN AND THEN HE SUICIDES

From Saturday's Daily—

Infatuated with the charms of a 16-year-old girl, who spurned his insane love, J. O. Jahnke, aged 30, at 9:30 o'clock this morning shot and instantly killed Laura Fleischman at her father's home near Tenstrike, and then turned the gun on himself, putting a bullet in his own brain, and dying instantly.

The horrible crime was committed in the presence of three smaller children, members of the Fleischman family, who were the only witnesses to the shooting.

It appears Jahnke asked the Fleischman girl to marry him and her refusal to become engaged coupled with the statement that she did not love Jahnke turned the latter's love to hatred and created in his mind an insane determination to destroy the object of his infatuation and end his own career.

Jahnke taught school at Fleischman's three years ago, subsequently leaving and living at Langdon, N. D. since then. Three months ago he returned to Tenstrike and made his home with the Fleischmans. He became infatuated with Laura Fleischman and asked her to marry him yesterday but the girl refused. Jahnke brooded over the refusal and when again refused this morning he grabbed a Winchester rifle and shot the girl twice then turning the weapon upon himself and putting a bullet in his brain dying instantly.

HAMRE HAS FILED NO BILL

THIEF RIVER FALLS MAYOR WAS GROSSLY MISREPRESENTED

A BAD MISCONCEPTION OF THE FACTS OF THE CASE

From Wednesday's Daily

In a recent dispatch to the Minneapolis Journal from Thief River Falls it was stated that Mayor T. P. Hamre of that city had filed a bill of $13.000 against Mrs. H. Langseth for salary as administrator of the estate of her husband. The correspondent now admits that he was deceived and that the dispatch had no foundation in fact whatever. There was no intention to injure Mr. Hamre, who is one of the progressive and prosperous business men of Thief River Falls and who has the confidence of his associates and acquaintances and needs no defense. But the correspondent, ignorant of and misinformed as to the facts, unwittingly did Mr. Hamre a grave injustice. No such bill has been filed and no suit of that nature has been started. There was no foundation of any nature for the report.

Regarding a suit started by Anton Langseth against Mr. Hamre as administrator of the estate of Hans Langseth, Mr. Hamre says:

"On Jan. 9, 1906, Hans Langseth died intestate, leaving as sole heirs a widow and four small children. On Feb. 27, 1906, T. P. Hamre, a brother of the widow was appointed administrator.

"On April 1, 1902, it appears that Hans and Anton Langseth had entered a copartnership in conducting a general merchandise business. Each was to put into the business such moneys as they would agree with each other from time to time. The profits and losses were to be divided as follows: Hans Langseth to have two thirds of all net gains and Anton Langseth to have one third. Each were to stand all losses from bad debts or otherwise in a like proportion.

"It appears from the books of account kept by said firm that Anton Langseth never invested a dollar in the copartnership, but converted to his own personal use, goods and money out of the business to the amount of $4,959.52 in four years. Furthermore, Anton Langseth, the plaintiff, has at no time filed any claim of any nature against said estate in probate court.

"I regret that the plaintiff should have allowed himself to be led by a probable misconception of what is morally right and wrong, to proceed against the widow and the little orphans of Hans Langseth who are the actual defendants.

COAST CROWDED WITH WORKMEN

MUCH SUFFERING BECAUSE EASTERN TOILERS HAVE GLUTTED THE MARKET

A letter received in Crookston today from Seattle and points in California warn all workingmen to steer clear of that section of the country. The situation there is characteristic of the worst in America at the present time for a friendless man to make a living.

Similar reports have been pouring into eastern cities from time to time but the warnings have never been so insistent as they are now. It is claimed that men in Seattle are now working for as low as 25 cents a day and board and room. Some, it is said, are even working for board alone.

The situation in San Francisco is said to be even worse. There thousands of deluded eastern workmen are wandering the streets moneyless, friendless and far from home. Public charity was about wiped out in the great fire of 1906, so litle can be done for the unfortunates.

Ever since the earthquake eastern people have flocked to San Francisco in the belief that rosy prospects and high wages for both skilled and unskilled workmen were awaiting them there. On their arrival they found that the field of labor was crowded and especially so in the case of the unskilled workman.

In Los Angeles the condition is said to be discouraging, and that the churches and other charitable organizations have been compelled to start soup kitchens to keep thousands of unemployed workmen from starving.

"HOLY JUMPER" FOUND INSANE

MAGNUS MICKELSON OF QUEEN COMMITTED BY COURT COMMISSIONER McLEAN

WAS ARRESTED AT GATHERING WHERE THEY WERE ALL JUMPING HIGH

From Wednesday's Daily—

Last evening court commissioner John McLean acting as Judge of Probate owing to the illness of Judge Morken, ordered Magnus J. Mickelson to the insane hospital at Fergus Falls after due examination.

Mickelson resides in the town of Queen about 9 miles north of Fosston and belongs to the fanatical religious sect known as the "Holy Jumpers."

Chief of Police Holt arrested Mickelson on complaint of his mother and when he drove out to Queen the Holy Jumpers were holding a meeting and Chief Holt said he was at his wits end to determine which one was acting the craziest as all of them were jumping high.

Mickelson was of the opinion that he was the Christ of the order and while here last night saw visions galore, strange lights and had a fine time. Chief Holt thinks the whole membership is very likely candidates for the Fergus Falls institution if the didos they were cutting up when he was there are a usual occurrence.

IMPRESSIVE FUNERAL WAS HELD TODAY

LAST SAD RITES OVER THE REMAINS OF PAUL E. FOSSBAKKEN

From Wednesday's Daily—

The last sad rites over the remains of Paul E. Fossbakken one of the pioneer and highly respected farmers of Fosston were held this afternoon and the funeral was one of the most largely attended ever held in eastern Polk county.

Deceased met a tragic death last week when he was cremated as the result of trying to discover a fire in the mow of his large barn, from which smoke was seen issuing. He was evidently suffocated by the smoke and could not be found till his remains were found in the smoking ruins of the barn.

The funeral services at the house were held at 1 p. m. and from the church at 2 p. m. and were very impressive, a high tribute being paid to the character and life of the deceased The deceased had many friends in this city and great sympathy is felt for the bereaved family, three children having been students at the Crookston school of agriculture.

Supt. Robertson of the State Experimental farm and Miss Lena Opdahl a student at the school left this morning to attend the funeral, and will return this evening.

There were many handsome floral students and faculty of the School of offerings including one from the Agriculture.

TO MEET HERE NEXT YEAR

The annual meeting of the Minnesota and North Dakota Laundrymen's association which was to have been held in Crookston next month will be held in Fargo instead. This change was made because the South Dakota and North Dakota association holds its annual session the day following the date set for the meeting here and those attending the meeting here would have to leave on the Fargo train early in the evening cutting the meeting short, so it was decided by Messrs. Clarence Sheppard and Will Collins of Grand Forks, who spent last night here conferring with Messrs. Phillips, Walters and Erickson that it would be better for Crookston to have the meeting next year.

RIVERS ARE RISING AGAIN.

Warm Rain at Head Waters of Rivers—Creeks Over Their Banks.

Pittsburg, March 3. - A warm rain has been falling here and at the head waters of the Allegheny and Monongahela rivers all day. Both streams are rising and many small creeks are already beyond their banks.

It is expected that the danger line of twenty-two feet will be reached here this afternoon and another disastrous flood is feared unless there is an early change in the temperature and weather.

THE PRESS STILL LIVES

AND CHANCES ARE THAT GRAND FORKS DAILY WILL CONTINUE

TWO DEALS NOW BEING CONSIDERED—NEW DAILY FOR WESTERN POLK COUNTY

The Grand Forks Evening Press announced Saturday evening that the publication of the newspaper will be continued indefinitely. It is stated by The Press that since the announcement that the newspaper would quit February 29 a movement has been started by the leading democrats of the state having in view the continuation of the publication and this movement promises to assume such proportions that the management feels justified in the publication of the paper to give these democrats a chance to carry out the plans they have on foot.

There is also another deal on foot for the sale of the plant outright in which event there would be a special East Grand Forks and Western Polk County edition published daily.

The following is the announcement:

"Since the announcement that appeared in The Press to the effect that it would suspend publication today The Press Publishing Co., has been deluged with letters, telegrams and telephone calls urging and pleading that the paper be continued.

The management of the Press realizes fully to what extent the democracy of the state would be embarrassed by the loss of its official organ and leading daily newspaper, and has expressed to all those who have expressed themselves on the matter, a willingness to do anything fair and reasonable.

A movement was started at once by leading democrats of the state, having in view the continuation of the publication, and this movement promises to assume such proportions that the management feels justified in continuing the publication of The Evening Press to give these democrats an opportunity to carry out the plans they have on foot.

"Every democrat in the state is urged to interest himself in this important matter, as the time is limited and the importance of the coming campaign is such that united and determined action is the only thing that will bring success either to the party or to the leading newspaper of the party.

"For the above stated reasons The Evening Press will continue until further notice."

"THE DEACON" GOES TO ARGYLE

FAMOUS PRODUCTION PUT ON AT EUCLID WILL BE REPRODUCED

"The Deacon" the drama put on at Euclid last week under the auspices of the Euclid Woodmen is to be reproduced at Argyle under the auspices of the Modern Woodmen of that place. The cast at Euclid was a very strong one, and as all the paraphernalia had been secured the expense of the production at Argyle will not be excessive, the railroad fare of the members being the biggest item.

"The Deacon" made a tremendous hit at Euclid. A big delegation present from this city was so enthusiastic that efforts will be made to have the Euclidites reproduce the play in this city next Monday or Tuesday. The matter has been called to the attention of Manager Hitchcock of the Auditorium and he will communicate with the Euclid Woodmen at once.

ED. SHEASGREEN WRITES NEW BOOK

Ed Sheasgreen a former well known engineer running out of Crookston but who for some time past has been editing and publishing The Iron Trail a railroad man's paper published in Minneapolis has just published a new book which he recently completed entitled "Judge Three Legs and the Shanghai". "Judge Three Legs" is a fleet-footed jackrabbit who in the pride of his youth and strength tries conclusions with the "Shanghai" locomotive in a race of speed and daring. The story tells how the young champion practiced secretly until he could run ahead of the fastest engines It is prettily told, and will be very interesting to children and to teachers. It is illustrated in a very capable manner by Ada A. Wolfe of Minneapolis.

ALL CASES DISMISSED

THE FAMOUS LAND CASES HAVE RECEIVED THEIR FINAL QUIETUS

COURT AT MANCHESTER IOWA, DISMISSED THEM ALL YESTERDAY

From Monday's Daily—

Yesterday at Manchester, Iowa, in district court all the cases against Robert H. Purvis, being prosecutions and civil actions for alleged fraud in a land deal and were brought by Alex Bjorn of Manchester, were dismissed and the long drawn out controversy has been finally settled. Owing to the fact that the cases were dismissed by the courts after thousands of dollars had been expended to secure a conviction the deal looks more like persecution than prosecution. Similar cases had been started against Jake Schaum and have also been dismissed, as were the cases against C. A. Hitchcock who was only connected with the case as an agent and did not even appear for trial.

THE STATION MEN ORGANIZE

A standing committee of electrical engineers will be appointed to answer questions for th eassistance of the central station men belonging to the association.

Manufacturers and jobbers were the hosts of the central station men last evening at a dinner party at the Hotel Nicollet and later at a theatre party.

LENTEN REGULATION READ IN CHURCHES

RULES FOR FASTING AND ABSTINENCE ARE SAME AS IN PAST YEARS

Regulations governing the season of Lent which begins on Wednesday were read Sunday in the Roman Catholic churches. The rules as to fasting and abstinence are the same as in past years that is to say, every day except Sunday is a fast day for those who are 21, and under 60 years of age unless they are in poor health or engaged in occupations where health or efficiency would be seriously jeopardized by fasting. Those under or over that age are exhorted to fast if able, but are not bound to do so. In their case the lack of physical sacrifice should be made up for by an increase of good works. Wednesday and Friday of each week are days of abstinence for all. No flesh should be eaten on those days, unless for very special reasons, and Catholics should consult their spiritual adviser before holding themselves at liberty to break this rule. The Saturday before Easter Sunday is also a day of abstinence Missions will be held during Lent in all of the Catholic parishes and where ever practical thruout the diocese.

FUNERAL WAS IMPRESSIVE

LAST SAD RITES OVER REMAINS OF GOTTFRIED BURKHARDT WERE

MOST LARGELY ATTENDED EVER HELD IN MENOMINEE, WISCONSIN

From Monday's Daily—

Otto Burkhardt returned this morning from Menominee, Wis., where he went to attend the funeral of his uncle, Gottfried Burkhardt who died suddenly at that place last week. The funeral was one of the most largely attended ever held in Menominee, people of that city and surrounding country where deceased was well known attending in a body. The Menomonie Band played at the residence and enroute to the grave, and it seemed that the music carried with it an extra strain of sadness because the deceased had been identified with the band and all other musical organizations for more than a quarter of a century. The Lieder Kronz Singing Society of Menomonie, of which deceased was also a leading member for years also attended in a body, as did the members of the G. A. R. deceased having been a veteran of the Civil War.

The funeral was held under the auspices of the Odd Fellows to which Mr. Burkhardt belonged. General sorrow was exhibited, deceased having been one of those large hearted, generous men beloved by the entire community.

Otto Burkhardt also made brief visits to Wabasha and Reeds Landing before returning. He says that while there it thundered and lightninged during a snow storm, and that the electricity was so heavy in the air that the telephone companies for a time would not permit any long distance lines to be used.

PROSPERING AT TWIN FALLS

BENOIT BROS., HAVE BUILT UP A VERY PROSPEROUS BUSINESS

The many friends of Benoit Bros., of this city who have been located at Twin Falls, Idaho, for some time past and are the proprietors of the Blue Lakes Spring Water Co., of that place will be glad to learn that they are doing a very prosperous business. In addition to handling Blue Lake Spring Water, they manufacture and bottle all kinds of soft drinks.

The Journal is in receipt of a letter from Frank Benoit and of course there was a check enclosed setting his subscription to the Journal ahead to the latter part of 1909, as he said they could not be without the Journal. Both were former popular residents of this city and all will be glad to know that the young men are prospering in their new location.

NEW DAIRY AT HIBBING

TWO FINLANDERS BUY CARLOAD OF COWS NEAR THIS CITY

SHIP TODAY AND WILL PROBABLY RETURN AND PURCHASE MORE

From Monday's Daily—

Two Finlanders who have been quietly buying up a big bunch of choice dairy cows near Crookston will ship a carload to Hibbing today where a dairy is to be started at once.

The two gentlemen will sell all the cows near Hibbing they can, and expect to return to Crookston for another carload of cows in the near future.

The fact that dairy cows can be purchased in such quantities near Crookston, indicates clearly the increasing attention being paid to the dairy business in this section of the Red River Valley.

STORY OF HARDSHIPS IN N. W. CANADA

SAYS PEOPLE ARE HOUSED UP SIX MONTHS IN THE YEAR BY RIGOROUS W[illegible] AND, EKE OUT A MERE EXISTENCE — SAYS ABOVE ALL IS [illegible]DLESS OF SOLITUDE ON THE DREARY PRAIRIES WITH NE[illegible]RS MILES AND MILES APART AND NO CHURCHES, SCHOOLS OR OTHER EAR MARKS OF CIVILIZATION IN MANY LOCALITIES

Historical Society

A letter from an Englishman printed in the Chronicle of Manchester, Eng., copies of which have just been received in St. Paul, is of much significance in its relation to the present active campaign of the Minnesota Federation of Commercial Clubs, both to attract new farmers to Minnesota, and to keep in Minnesota the farmers we have.

"English people are not welcomed by the native Canadians. 'No green English need apply,' is a common enough anouncement to meet with," says this writer, in a letter to English friends at home. "The climate of the Canadian northwest is terrible For six months of the year one is practically confined to the house by rigorous weather and what this means from the wage earners' standpoint should be well realized. Above all is the deathly solitude of life on the prairie. This is the lot of the young wife of the Canadian farmer. Cut off from civilization, her days are spent in solitude and in an eternal round of laborious farm work, while the men folks are absent in the fields and dreary year follows dreary year in the laborious pursuit of mere existence. There are many classes undoubtedly to whom Canada offers inducements, but to the general body of women who think to find in new and improved conditions I say emphatically, 'Think twice before you leave this old country for the new.' "

An immense number of Minnesotans are in Canada as a result of colonization advertising. Canada may perhaps be a good country for the farmers, tho letters to Commissioner Welch of the state immigration bureau tells of crop failures and hardships for two entire years, but how about the farmer's wife? This letter from an Englishwoman who has lived in the Canadian northwest throws much light on one feature of emmigration to Canada which is not without its real importance.

And at the same time one-fourth of the good agricultural land in Minnesota, where there are nearby cities railways, churches, schools and n attractive and agreeable climate, is as yet unsettled and undeveloped.

SAD NEWS RECEIVED

SON-IN-LAW OF B. SAMPSON DIED SUDDENLY YESTERDAY IN DULUTH

C. W. F. HEGG, PROMINENT LABOR LEADER VICTIM OF RHEUMATISM

From Tuesday's Daily—

A telegram received by Hon. B. Sampson of this city last night brought the sad intelligence that Charles W. F. Hegg had died suddenly yesterday of rheumatism at his home 224 Third Ave. East, Duluth. The details were not given but he was stricken with paralysis which reached his heart bringing to sudden termination a life of usefulness.

Mr. Hegg was treasurer of the Federated Trades assembly at Duluth, member of that body for fourteen years, and a prominent labor leader.

Mr. Hegg of late was a dealer in lands, but formerly was a member of the Retail Clerks' Union and retained his membership in that body and his interest in union affairs after going into a different field of endeavor. He was prominent on the floor of the Federated Trades assembly at Duluth and his passing away is mourned in labor circles in that city.

Mr. Hegg was 41 years of age and is survived by a wife and two children. The funeral arrangements have not yet been made but services will probably be held Wednesday afternoon.

This morning Miss Olga Sampson and Ferdinand Sampson sister and brother of the bereaved wife, left for Duluth to attend the funeral services. Deceased had visited in this city and with his wife spent some time here last summer, and was planning on platting a part of the B. Sampson farm as city lots and putting them on the market.

The death of Mr. Hegg may mean a great loss to Crookston in a business way as he was one of four men who had plans completed for the erection of manufacturing plant on land adjacent to that to be platted, in which thousands of dollars would have been invested this spring. The deal may yet go thru, but it was certain had Mr. Hegg lived.

Mr. Hegg was still a young man of great energy and business ability. He stood high in Duluth, and made many friends in Crookston. The members of the bereaved family have the heart felt sympathy of all in their sudden and deep seated grief.

Everything comes to the strenuous chap who goes after the good things the other fellow is waiting for.

COMMISSION HERE APR. 29

WILL MEET OFFICIALS AND ASSESSORS OF POLK COUNTY

LETTER RECEIVED TODAY — ASSESSORS MEETING DATE TO BE CHANGED

From Monday's Daily—

County Auditor Hoffard this morning received a letter from Ruckard Hurd, secretary of the Minnesota Tax Commission, which is composed of Frank L. McVey chairman and Samuel Lord and O. M. Hall, announcing that the commission would be at the office of the county auditor of Polk Co., Wednesday, April 39 at 1 o'clock in the afternoon to confer with the assessors of the cities, villages and townships of Polk Co.

The object of the meeting is to talk over the matter of the next assessment of personal and real property. This meeting will be of great importance in this county as there are a great many matters regarding mine taxations to be considered.

The commission asks that all the assessors be present. During the winter and spring many new assessors have been elected and the commission is very desirious that these be at the meeting.

All the taxation books which are in readiness will be brought to the meeting for inspection. The new assessment books will be given to the different assessors.

Each member present at this meeting will be paid for the days he necessarily occupies in attending this meeting.

The law provides that the assessors of each county shall meet at the respective county seats and receive their instructions and supplies on the last Thursday in April, which would fall this year on April 30th. The tax commission will be here one day before that, the 29th and County Auditor Hoffard will send out notices changing the date of the meeting to the 29th the attorney general having made a ruling that it would be legal to change date as long as the intent of the law was to be carried out, and this intent will be more fully carried out by having the meeting on the 29th than on the 30th in this instance.

THE 1908 DITCHING SEASON OPENS EARLY

Weather Aids Big Machines- Million Yards Are to Be Excavated.

The Bids Lower than Low Estimate. Northwestern Companies Win Out.

Minnesota state drainage engineer, George A. Ralph of Crookston, is making his preliminary trips of inspection thruout the districts of northern Minnesota anticipating the opening of the active ditching season in a very short time. The extreme mildness of the northern winter combined with the powerful machines that will be put at work make the fulfillment of ditching contracts this year no tardy affair as has bothered the drainage board in the past.

Last Thursday, March 5th witnessed the largest award of state drainage contracts ever made by the Minnesota board. Approximately one million yards of earth will be excavated under these contracts from projects which, if put end to end would measure between ninety and a hundred miles in length and will reclaim many hundreds of thousands of acres. The contracts for eight ditches were entered into by the drainage board at St. Paul.

Bids Very Low

Thirty two drainage companies and individuals were present in the rooms of the board to look after their interests and nineteen sealed bids were at last submitted. Mr. Ralph had laid these projects before the board under the very lowest estimates yet in all cases the submitted bids ran from three to fifteen per cent lower than the estimates and average on the entire award ten per cent lower than estimated cost of building.

The award of the state contracts were made to three companies in all on lowest bids for work. Ward Brothers of Audubon, Iowa, got three contracts; R. A. Elzy and Son, well known railroad and structural contractors got two contracts; and John Kohler of Frazee, Minn., got the other three. As a result eighteen additional dredging machines will be placed on northern state drainage work this season.

Capt. Goes North

Captain James A. Beard of the Standard Drainage Co., passes thru here in a short time for the Roseau river. The Standard Drainage company last year excavated over a hundred thousand yards thru the very center of the immense Roseau swamps.

Much Work this Season

The coming season this company will excavate two hundred and twenty thousand yards while Jerry Sherwood of Litchfield will excavate two hundred and eighty thousand yards on the end of this contract, finishing the Roseau project this year on the International boundary line between this state and Manitoba after a cut thru a mile and a half of almost solid rock rapids. This will lower the fall of the Roseau river fourteen feet, straighten its course and furnish outlet for all laterals needed to drain this country of half a million acres.

New Dredge in Kittson

One of the most peculiar innovations in the northern Minnesota ditching world is the three leg walking dredge, invented and operated by Harpin Brothers of Grand Rapids, Minnesota. This firm has four ditches in Kittson county upon which it will place three of these machines. The powerful legs upon which this machine throws itself forward, as it were, under the power of its own engines tower forty feet above the water surface on the ditch face and is a source of wonder for miles about. The machines are suitable however only for dry land digging and are therefore limited in scope of use.

The Minnesota Drainage Board meets in a week or ten days to consult with Engineer Ralph after his inspection. Mr. Ralph passed thru the city last night from the north on his way south. He believves the contractors now working on state projects, being all northwestern men, are the most responsible contractors that could be secured, and he gives them credit for a personal interest in the success of the state projects which they undertake to construct.

STEENERSON AT ALVARADO

SPEAKS TO FARMERS—FARMERS' ELEVATOR ORGANIZED IN RECORD TIME

BRANCH IN PLANS FOR BIG FARMERS' TERMINAL ELEVATOR

Elias Steenerson, postmaster of Crookston was leading speaker at Alvarado on the Soo north of Thief River Falls last Saturday afternoon in the presence of two hundred farmers and over one hundred delegates from Marshall and Polk counties. Following his address the Alvarado Farmers' Elevator company was organized, capitalized at $5000 and 2100 shares were subscribed for on the spot. J. Malm was chosen president and F. E. Dahlgren, secretary.

Mr. Steenerson's address covered the principle of co-operation among farmers in the marketing of their produce. He stated that these many farmers' elevator companies forming thruout the state would result in a big co-operative terminal elevator at Duluth and the Twin Cities. He urged that every attention be turned to installment of farmers' exchanges on a business basis.

Other local speakers spoke for a short time to the meeting.

CANADA TO DISBAND IMMORAL DOUKOBORS

INVESTIGATION AT FORT WILLIAM ONTARIO SETS FORTH REVOLTING LIFE LED BY WAND-ERING DOUKHOBORS — IN 720 SQUARE FEET WERE FOUND 76 MEN AND WOMEN LIVING PROMISCUOUSLY TOGETHER IN UNCLOTHED STATE WITH NO REGARD FOR DECENCY—CHILDREN LOST TO PARENTS

Fort William, Ont., March 9. — Revolting features came to light at the inquest of John Czlin, one of the wandering Doukhobors, who walked from beyond Yorkton, in search of a better land. Several of the Doukhobors swore Czlin had had all he required to eat but admitted that during the past three weeks he had lived on prunes and dry bread. They said no doctor was necessary as Jesus was with them all the time. Chief of Police Dodds, told the jury how he had met a party of Doukhobors with a home made sleigh and upon investigation found it contained the body of Czlin perfectly naked and the Doukhobors informed him they were taking it to throw it in the brush that the wolves might tear it to pieces and let the spirit out. The jury after visiting the house in which the Doukhobors lived, brought in a verdict of death, through starvation, neglect and pneumonia and added the following report:

The premises, mainly a building 24x30 with an addition thereto 14x16 large enough in all for possibly 18 people at the most. In this area were found 76 men, women and children. In one room, 7x13 there were 14 inmates all together naked, both sexes, ranging from 13 to 55 years of age. A similar condition was found in other rooms of the house where men and women, covered and naked were found together with no regard for decency, or respect for common morality. They do not accept our marriage laws, but practice a system of free love, which admits of practices, which in our opinion are not tolerated in any civilized community, and which they were not alowed to pursue in their own country. Under this system children of whom we found 19 apparently bright and capable, are lost to their parents and grow up without proper restraint. We therefore advise that these children at least be transferred from their present debasing surroundings to some suitable institution where they can be taught the principles of industry, morality and good citizenship.

As for the adults they do not appear to be amenable to reason and we can suggest no other solution than the breaking up of the community.

JAMES E. MORRISSEY HOME FROM TWIN CITIES AND CHICAGO

ELECTED SECRETARY OF BOARD OF STATE BOILER INSPECTORS

From Monday's Daily—

James E. Morrisey returned home yesterday morning from a meeting of the Board of State Boiler Inspectors held in Minneapolis, and at that meeting was honored with election to the office of secretary. From there he proceeded to Chicago where he attended the meeting of the Foundrymen Foremen's Association and witnessed a display of manufactures and factory equipment of the very latest designs.

The foundrymen were shown thru the International Harvester Co's., plant and he says the work there is wonderfully systematized, and that one specialized mechanic will turn out as much work as four or five men here because of this wonderful system in all work, each man having just one special thing to do, and is required to do a certain amount of it. They draw from $1.80 to $2.50 per day.

Mr. Morrisey was in Chicago during considerable excitement. He was there when Chief Shippy was stabbed during an attempt to murder him by an anarchist, as a result of which the anarchist was killed and was also a guest at the Sherman House when the chimneys were blown down and bricks littered the office, no one, however having been injured.

Mr. Morrisey states that thousands of men are idle in Chicago, specially among the day laborers, and that the city is endeavoring to give them all a little work on the streets to tide them over till spring activity begins. The Salvation Army is doing a great work for the poor by hanging signs like the following in the windows of the barracks:

Soup 2cts.
Coffee 1ct.
Bread 1ct.
Lodging 5 cts.

This makes a few cents go a long day in fighting hunger.

He states that conditions are better right here in Crookston than any place he visited and he was glad to get back.

Albert L. Cole, republican nominee for governor of Minnesota in 1906, and a well-known citizen of Minnesota for twenty-five years died late on Thursday at Canbenite, Texas of acute Bright's disease.

Mr. Cole was handicapped by ill health thruout his campaign and collapsed at its conclusion. He went to Florida and elsewhere in search of health, finally returning to Fergus Falls. He disposed of all his interests except his store at Pequot. After giving up active business he went to Texas last November and invested in real estate. He had planned to spend his winters in Texas and to return to Minnesota for the summers.

Dr. A. B. Cole a brother, has been with Mr. Cole almost continuously since the campaign and accompanied him on his return to Texas, Mr. Cole's condition was not considered dangerous and the idea that he was at the point of death was not entertained.

A. L. Cole was born 60 years ago at Canton, N. Y., removed to Minnesota in 1882 and engaged successfully in the mercantile business in several towns. He first located in Fergus Falls, where he engaged in the real estate business and opened his first general store. He next went to Motley and established a store as well as stores at Walker, Akeley and Pequot.

His Political Career

Mr. Cole did not come to the front in politics until 1902 when he was elected to the house of Minnesota legislature. He was re-elected in 1904, serving in the 1905 session with distinction. As nominee of the republican party for governor John A. Johnson, nominee of the democratic party, and was defeated.

Mr. Cole was an aggressive and persistent sort of a man, and an earnest and effective speaker on the floor of the house. He is survived by his wife and one daughter, who was married last summer to John Andrus, son of John E. Andrus of Yonkers, N. Y. The daughter has recently been visiting Mr. Cole in Texas, but his condition was such that she expected to leave this week for British Columbia where her husband is looking after large lumber interests.

The body will be taken to Fergus Falls for interment leaving Texas today.

Telegraphing Made Easy

A Soo Line Operator Invents a Machine that Makes the Dots—Sold All Over the World

F. T. Vail, formerly chief operator of the "Soo Line" at Minneapolis, now the chief electrician of the International Vailograph Co. with an aggressive and pushing organization at his back, is heralded as the latest great inventor in the telegraphic field.

As is generally known, a telegraph operator "talks by dots and dashes" made with a key that opens and closes the electric circuit. To make dots and dashes is nerve racking work. In rapid sending it is estimated that an operator makes 30,000 nerve movements an hour. Mr. Vail has invented a machine that makes this mere child's play, as the Vailograph makes the dots. A large number of telegraph operators and other people with money to invest are buying stock in the company, which has recently installed a factory at Minneapolis and will sell its product all over the world. Parties seeking a safe investment will find it to their interest to write the INTERNATIONAL VAILOGRAPH CO., (Incorporated)

Michigan Woman Tells of Her Brother's Terrible Suffering with the Disease—Grandchild and Another Baby also Permanently Cured.

CUTICURA REMEDIES PROVED INVALUABLE

"My brother had eczema three different summers. About the same time each summer it came out between his shoulders and down his back, and he said his suffering was terrible. He used different kinds of medicines that were said to be good for that disease, but nothing seemed to do him much good. When it came on the third summer, he bought a box of Cuticura Ointment and gave it a faithful trial. Soon he began to feel better and he cured himself entirely with Cuticura and has never been bothered with eczema since. He also used Cuticura to cure a bunch over his eye and a terrible corn which was so bad that he could not wear his shoe. A lady in Indiana heard of how my daughter, Mrs. Miller, had cured her little son of terrible eczema by the Cuticura Remedies. This lady's little one had the eczema so badly that they thought they would lose it. She used Cuticura Soap and Cuticura Ointment and it cured her child entirely. and the disease never came back. CONVENTION OF "SETTLERS" AT BEAUDETTE CAUSES SOME DISCUSSION

WHAT IS TRUE REASON OF THEIR VIGOROUS OPPOSITION TO DRAINAGE

What will be the thoughts among northern Minnesota congressmen when they hear from among their adherents the discordant cry against drainage emanating from the "convention of settlers" at Beaudette last week?

There has been a rivalry among eminent men and cities thruout northern Minnesota as to what man and at what place did the lauded activity for drainage begin. At this hour when the climax of this widespread effort is reached and the prospects for federal drainage seem the most encouraging occurs a protest from those very persons whom it is desired to benefit the most.

Settlers Can Drain

The mass meeting was held under the auspices of the Spooner and Beaudette Commercial clubs for the purpose of discussing the drainage proposition as proposed for all the untaken federal lands in the former Red Lake Indian reserve. This reserve extends or did extend all along the international boundary from Black duck (a confluent of the Rainy River) on the east to a point about six miles west of Warroad, a distance of 70 or 80 miles.

In this gathering many points were developed as follows:

A great per cent of the land in northern Beltrami county, say 60 per cent is covered with a deep layer of decayed vegetation and moss and is undoubtedly the most fertile land in Minnesota. If drained too extensively it would cause great areas to burn two or three feet down into the clay subsoil, ruining the territory. These lands proposed for drainage are very high and the slope is from two to five feet to the mile affording good drainage as soon as roads are put in and the settlers clear off the timber.

It was also thought that the state is fully able to take care of the drainage whenever necessary.

"Farmers, settlers and business men from Warroad, Swift, Roosevelt, Williams, Graceton, Pitt, Beaudette, Spooner, Clementson and Frontier as well as from the Lake of the Woods, numbering in all 300 voiced their opinions against the drainage issue."

Object to Price

Many settlers have been urging Congressman Steenerson to advocate drainage for Northern Minnesota and this seems to have been a great demand in this state for years. The Chief legislative and land department however would not consider these cries from northern Minnesota without taxing all settlers who filed on government land since March 1st, 1907 for cost of drainage anywhere from $2.50 to $3 per acre plus the usual $1.25 per acre for the commutation proof. But the worst feature, this convention said, was the fact that the settlers could not prove up nor get title to their land until the survey and great ditches had been completed and the cost assessed against each settler who had filed since March 1, 1907. This is much more than an ordinary settler can pay and much more than this land would sell for at the time of proof. Then the settlers could not hope to get title to their land in less than ten years, judging from history in similar matters. This latest plan is bodied in a pending bill.

Object to Drainage

The resolution adopted was sent the Minnesota congressional delegation and asks that they use their power to have the northern portion of the ceded Chippewa lands excepted and excluded from the operation of the act of June 21, 1906, and also the Indian appropriation act approved March 1, 1907, as well as a protest against the proposed law.

After a full consideration of the drainage proposition as embodied in the laws above mentioned and in bills recently introduced in both houses of congress it was the unanimous sentiment that they were not to the benefit of the people of these parts.

BACK FROM MEETING OF WARDENS

WM. MUNCH RETURNS FROM A VERY SUCCESSFUL MEET AT ST. PAUL

Game Warden Will Munch returned yesterday from the Game Wardens' meeting which was held the forepart of the week. The paper read by Mr. Munch which was given in full in the Journal of Tuesday was considered one of the best read and has created considerable interest among the sportsmen of the state. He reports the meeting a successful one in every respect.

Some thirty-seven wardens were present, and the members of the state game and Fish Commission were on hand, to see to it that "the boys" were properly cared for.

The papers which were read by the different wardens were productive of much that was good, and all were of surprising excellence, and brought out some discussion that showed plainly that the class of men who are now enforcing the provisions of the state game and fish laws are possessed of more than the average executive ability.

FEBRUARY WAS A GREAT MONTH

IT WAS WARMEST IN 28 YEARS ACCORDING TO WEATHER OBSERVER

THE ONLY PRECIPITATION OF ANY FEBRUARY IN THAT TIME

The record of the weather for the month of February as furnished by Colonel Grasse, the observer at the Moorhead station is as follows:

The highest temperature was 40 degrees, on Feb. 24, and the lowest was 20 below of Feb. 1. The average of the month was 15 degrees, against an average of 6 degrees for the past 28 years. This is the warmest February during the entire period that a record has been kept except in 1882 when it was 17 degrees. In 1907 it was 11, and in 1906 8 degrees. The lowest temperature during February in the 28 years was 47 degrees below zero and the past month has been 8.2 degrees warmer than the average The accumulated excess of temperature since the first of the year has been 626 degrees being an average of 10.4 degrees warmer than the average. The lowest temperature during the past 28 years was 47 degrees below in February 1884.

The precipitation for the month was 2.18 inches, against an average of .79 inches during the past 28 years and also being the greatest of any February during that entire time. Part of the precipitation was rainfall as the snowfall was only 15.8 inches 1881 was the only year approaching the amount of precipitation of the past year, when it was 2.13. In 1907 the precipitation for February was .38 inches and 1906, 34 inches. The least was .08 inches in 1885. The excess of precipitation for the month was 1.39 inches in excess since Jan. 1 has been .81.

The prevailing winds of the month have been from the northwest, and the total movement was 6564 the average hourly velocity being 9.4 the maximum was 28 miles per hour, from the northwest, Feb. 5.

Pioneer weather sages are handing out their philosophy in large packages at present and unless their predictions are off, this locality is due to be blessed with an early spring.

"March came in like a lion and it will just as surely go out like a lamb is the way one put it today. "I have watched the initial day of March for years and I never knew it to fail to be the opposite weather for the last of the month," he continued.

There were many who on account of the exceptionally open winter feared that the spring breakup would come late, and the snow storm Saturday and Sunday brought joy to their hearts. Most anyone is willing to endure a few days of snow with the assurance of the prophets that corner lot baseball will soon be inaugurated.

From Friday's Daily—

A telegram was received this morning announcing the death of Leslie McDonald at Tacoma, Washington, where he has been residing for some time past.

Deceased has been ill for several weeks, and letters were received announcing his serious illness. His mind has been failing steadily and it was feared that he would have to be committed to an insane hospital but death relieved his sufferings.

A CLUE TO THE MISSING REEDS

F. M. REED BELIEVES HIS WIFE AND DAUGHTER MAY BE IN CALIFORNIA

F. M. Reed, whose wife and daughter left Grand Forks for parts unknown, February 6, believes he has a clue to the missing ones. Mr. Reed has learned the address of two men who were in Grand Forks at that time and who were on intimate terms with Mrs. Reed and daughter. The men are now touring California and Mr. Reed has sent a description of his wife and daughter to California papers in an effort to locate them. Mr. Reed is of Crookston today trying to ascertain of they bought tickets for points west at this city. He will then go to Detroit and from there to Fargo on the same mission and in this way he hopes to get some trace of the people who bought tickets for California points on February 6.

UNUSUAL ACTIVITY AT THE PHILADELPHIA NAVY YARD

Notwithstanding the criticism of the Navy Department by Editor Henry Reuterdale, of "Fitting Ships" that the department is run on an old foggy basis, there seems to be a decided desire to adopt the latest modern ideas at the League Island Navy Yard Philadelphia.

The Naval officers there are not content with the most improved equipment in the way of naval appurtenances, but are now enjoying the most approved method of land transportatio nand are using a 1908 Rambler Automobile for the quick dispatch of land messages.

The new four-cylinder Rambler, according to the jovial Union Jackie who drives it, is about the smoothest thing on wheels, not excepting the carriages of the big 12 inch guns and is a mighty sight easier to handle.

Rear Admiral C. F. Goodrich, the commanderd of the New York Navy Yard is a staunch advocate of the progressiveness in the Navy Department, and says the Secretary of the Navy has asked the various commanding officers for suggestions looking to the improvement of this branch of the service. We may therefore soon expect to see each of our navy yards and possibly out batleships as well equipped with automobiles for special land duty. n

A Yard of Dirt.

In a statement of drainage board activities elsewhere today appears notice of the award of one million square yards of ditch construction for the coming year. It must be understood that not alone is this the greatest amount of yardage let by the state in one meeting, but it is the most economical.

It is properly estimated that these drainage constructions will withdraw the surplus water from nearly one million acres of northern Minnesota.

Every time those towering dredging machines take out a yard of earth an acre of land has been redeemed.

As per the bids of the contracting companies the average price paid this year for ditch yardage will be about eleven cents or lower. To this must be added the almost insignificant changes for survey, plans and inspection that the completed cost per acre may be determined. The complete cost of excavating a yard of earth for ditch purposes will be about fifteen cents.

This is about as plain an exposition of drainage economy as could be desired.

Cheating the Farmers.

Butter has been so high of late, and the substitution of "oleo" for it has been so highly profitable, that internal revenue officers at Chicago have started a campaign thru Northern Illinois against dishonest dealers. It is believed that the sale of oleomargarine, colored to resemble butter, is being carried out on a much wider scale than had been suspected. Extra deputies from the revenue office have been sent out to punish all who are violating the law. Uncle Sam is much interested, for there is a stamp tax of a quarter of a cent a pound on all oleomargarine sold uncolored, and ten cents a pound on that which has been colored. Wherever the 'oleo" is sold as creamery butter the evasion of taxes means a very handsome profit. The fraud is being carried on principally in the larger cities, where the butter buyers are not so familiar with the real thing, fresh from farm or dairy.

The Man From Illinois

Since January first 1908, the press of Red River Valley, the most efficient and responsive in the northwest, has heralded the arrival of two hundred and fourteen families from the state of Illinois.

Each one of these families are led from the home of their paternity in turn by a father. He makes this move only after investigation. The movement of a dependent family from its settled abode is attended with serious calculations. In whatever directions they favor removal he must be assured that the land to which he removes is more productive and promising than that which he leaves behind him.

The day of the land boom is past.

Whether or not the exhaustless subterfuges thru which it sought to plant the investments of more moneyed countries in this territory were a good thing it is not a purpose to discuss. But lands held in speculation by far away owners has given little advantage to this vicinity and such other vicinities as we have in mind.

That subject has already been sufficiently touched upon in a recent meeting of the commercial organization of this city.

But upon the land settled and owned by its occupant rests whatever inherent prosperity this generation will pass to its successor.

Whenever a citizen begins to plat out his small farm and practice those economies of agriculture that experience and science teach us this day his whole benefit to his community and state is unquestioned.

The farmer of Illinois has raised the price of the land of that state in half a century, 200 per cent. The father of those men that are now in small groups settling thruout the Valley did this.

The man from Illinois has brought along with him those well wrought out methods of cultivation which apply not very differently on these soils than on those of Illinois. Whatever difference there may arise in localities he will meet with that same facility of mind as his now wealthy parent.

This movement of the man from Illinois is not made in a chance try at fortune. He has a high sense of the responsibility of a family.

He will come to this land that he may rear hereon his family as his father did in Illinois and give his children those advantages which his father gave him or plainly erred by not giving him.

By what magic these men of Illinois develop wealth from famished soils is well known to science, but science has found few of its disciples who applied its principles with study and persistence.

These newcomers have been thrice welcomed.

With those bold and sturdy pioneers that first blazed the way into this territory and erected within it the highest forms of civilizations known to states the man from Illinois with his sense of agricultural worth will form a happy combination for his own and the common good.

THE GREAT GAME OF POLITICS

MAY ISSUE NEW CALL

REPUBLICANS ARE AFRAID THEY STARTED ON WRONG FOOT

TECHNICAL QUESTION OF AUTHORITY IS UP

An effort to call the republican state committee together again, to cancel the dates already fixed for the county and state conventions and to issue a new call with later dates, is being made by members of the committee.

The pretext for his effort is the muddle over the call of congressional district conventions. It is found that the congressional committees in seven of the nine Minnesota districts are acting without authority when they call district conventions because they have no standing as committees. In that event, under the national committee's ruling it is up to the state committee to issue the convention calls for these districts. Congressman C. R. Davis of the third district discovered this state of affairs and the third district committee is declining to act, at least without higher sanction.

Up to Salmon

The calling of the committee rests with Secretary Thomas H. Salmon of Minneapolis, who has been delegated the authority of chairman by Dr. A. B. Cole regular chairman of the committee during his absence in Texas. Mr. Salmon admitted today that he had been asked to call another committee meeting for the purpose of making a new convention call all around.

"As far as I am concerned I will not make the call," said Mr. Salmon "I don't believe there is any necessity for a meeting, and I am not going to ask the members of the committee to come in here at so much sacrifice of time and expense. Unless the state committee steps in, there is no chance for any contest against these district conventions."

C. A. Rasmussen of Red Wing chairman of the third district committee was in Minneapolis late yesterday to confer with Mr. Salmon. He said that the committee did not want to take chances of a contest, and wanted the state committee to act. Mr. Salmon said that by resolution of the state committee, he and the chairman had been given full power to do anything else necessary for the proper assembling of the convention. He was willing to join with the district committee in calling the third district convention, and believed that by such action all question of legality would be removed. Mr. Rasmissen was inclined to think that this would be sufficient. However Sumner Ladd, Congressman Davis' secretary was due to arrive at Red Wing today from Washington for the special purpose of looking after the district convention call.

Dark Man in Cordwood

There may be a motive behind the move for another committee meeting If the committee met soon, say the last of this week, it would not be possible to get out a convention call and hold the state convention before the early part of May. If there is any movement against Taft in this state, it would be desirous of holding the convention off as late as possible, in hope that anti-Roosevelt work in the south would throw some doubt on Taft's prospects by that time, and give a chance to avoid instructions in this state.

LARRABEE 'RUNS OWN MACHINE'

BRYAN DOESN'T DICTATE TO HIM HE SAYS MOST EMPHATICALLY

BRYAN MEN DENY THE NEBRASKAN HAS CALLED OFF HIS FRIENDS

"Is there anything in this story from Washington that Mr. Bryan has called his friends off in Minnesota?" Frank D. Larrabee was asked yesterday in Minneapolis.

"I'll answer that if you print it just as I say it," he answered. "—— —— the Washington people and the republicans. They nor Bryan nor anybody else don't dictate to me. I'm running my own machine."

"Mr. Bryan hasn't tried to call you off, has he?"

"No, he hasn't."

In this terse and emphatic fashion the Bryan leader in Hennepin county disposed of the story that Bryan had ordered a withdrawal of the fight started by his followers in Minnesota against a Johnson delegation from the governors own state. James Manahan of St. Paul was just as positive, tho more parliamentary in his language. "We haven't been pulled off," he said, "and we couldn't be. There is not a thing in the story. It is only part of the scheme of misrepresentation that has been going on all the time."

Concede State to Johnson

According to the Washington story Mr. Bryan had decided to concede Minnesota to Johnson and on this basis to make peace with the Minnesota leader. A plan to bring Governor Johnson into the fold by the promise of a cabinet position was worked out by Willis J. Abbott, manager of the Bryan publicity bureau at Washington. Mr. Abbott gave out the story that Minnesota had been conceded to Johnson.

According to Mr. Larrabee this plan has not been approved by Mr. Bryan, and the "Washington people" are left up in the air.

Both sides are planning for the fight in Minnesota, but the actual work of organization will not be opened for a week or two as it is two months till the state convention.

North Dakota for Johnson

A. J. Reinecke of Grand Forks was in St. Paul yesterday and he declared that a fight would be made in North Dakota to get a Johnson delegation in spite of the Bryan indorsement by the state committee. It has been supposed that North Dakota was foreclosed for Bryan, and that is the judgment of most democrats there. Governor John Burke is thought to be favorable to Johnson, but his influence has been against a fight over the presidency because of its effect on the state campaign.

Things are being done in the eastern state where during the next few days an effort will be made to rally the Bryan opposition around the name name of John A. Johnson. Without an actual candidate in the field against Bryan, there had seemed little hope for them.

STATE PRESS

The Banana Belt in Fact

It was formerly a joke about the northwest's being in the banana belt. It may apply as a joke to Nebraska still, but it is a very serious matter when it comes to the northwest. It is a fact that this section of the country is to raise its own bananas. Every one has confidence in Luther Burbank; and his statement that he is going to develop a handy banana that will grow luxuriantly in the northwest, so that the northwest can raise her own banana crop, is of national importance. The tropical fruit trust may be somewhat disturbed by this report but up to last night it had taken no steps in the direction of going out of business.—Minneapolis.

The Fidelity and Deposit Co., of Maryland, has recently been examined by the insurance departments of Maryland, Minnesota and Virginia. The report gives the condition of the company as of December 31st, 1907 as follows:

Total admitted assets ...	$5,793,549.05
Total liabilities except capital	1,491,223.14

Surplus over all liabilities	2,302,325.91
Surplus as regards policy holders	4,302,325.91

The company is commended for its liberal treatment of its policy holders.

Use Licensed Companies

On a fire loss occurring October last in Minneapolis, there were two policies of $1,000 each in companies not authorized to do business in Minnesota. These companies have not paid their proportion of the loss and the insured is unable to collect.

This case emphasizes the wisdom of using only companies that are licensed in this state.

The Merchants National Mutual Fire Insurance Co., of Fargo, N. D., has been relicensed to do business in Minnesota, the impairment of funds having been made good.

The Security Mutual Fire Insurance Co., of Chatfield, Minn., has amended its articles of association so as to permit the establishment of a guaranty fund.

The A. O. U. W. of Minnesota at the session of the Grand Lodge held in St. Paul, February 18-22, increased the rates of all members.

Licensed Companies

The following companies have been licensed to do business in Minnesota The Massachusetts Bonding and Insurance company, capital $500,000; The St. Louis Fire Insurance Co., of St. Louis, Mo., capital $100,000; The Woodmen's Casualty Company of Indianapolis, Ind., capital $100,000; and The Lumber Mutual Fire Insurance Co., of Boston, Mass., with assets of $357,784.22.

The Eagle Fire Insurance Company of New York has reinsured in the North British and Mercantile Insurance Co., of Great Britain.

The Grain Dealers' Mutual Fire Insurance Co., of Minneapolis, has reinsured its entire business with the Security Mutual Fire Insurance Co., of Chatfield, Minn.

The insurance on the Franklin school was placed as follows:

Royal Ins. Co., ...	$1000
Queen Insurance Co.	600
Palatine Insurance Co.	1400
Western of Pittsburg	2200

The representing agents here are Miller and Foote and Geo. Wilde.

A course of free lectures on insurance is being given at the University of Minnesota every Friday afternoon at 4 o'clock. The lecturers are well chosen and the course should be of great interest and benefit to the public.

Receivers have been appointed for the Mutual Reserve life of New York. An examination by the New York Insurance Department showed a deficit of nearly $2,000,000. This company was refused a license by the Minnesota Department in 1901.

A BEAUTIFUL DISPLAY — J. F. Hetler proprietor of the Queen City Greenhouse of this city has a fine display of carnations and Easter lilies which are ready for the market and people of this city would do well to patronize a home institution instead of getting flowers from St. Paul when they can save money by leaving their business at home. Mr. Hetler has a fine lot of flowers, as nice as were ever seen and they are fresher than those shipped in, and will keep longer as they are acclimated. He also has radishes, lettuce and other early vegetables. The people who are howling about new industries for Crookston would do well to patronize those we have, as this is one of the first things that the outside investor investigates. If people are not loyal to the institutions they have they are not apt to be loyal to others. Visit the Queen City Greenhouse and you will consider the time well spent.

Penned and Pilfered

"I stood on the brink of the Grand canyon of Arizona," said a local rail road man the other day. "I was almost spellbound, for when you gaze into that chasm you feel as tho you were in the presence of the Almighty It's so vast that it frightens you. Just while I was in that mood a party of women came from the big hotel and paused to look into the canyon.

" 'Oh!' spoke up one of them shrilly, 'but weren't those pancakees we had for breakfast about the best you ever ate?"

"I hastened away," said the railroad man, "before I heard any more."

When the days get sort o' warmish an' the eaves begin to leak, when you feel within your buzzom things you cannot seem to speak, when your flannels sort o' prickle, then the Muse begins to sing, and it fills you with a hankerin' to dash off some verse on spring. It's a singular sensation that just kind o' grows and grows; starts a buzzin' round your wish bone an' goes tinglin' to your toes, bubbles over long the edges; makes you want to shout, by jing! Only way there seems to stop it is to dash off some verse on spring.

A central Kansas editor says: "We attended church some time ago and listened to a very good sermon as sermons go. We enjoyed the singing and stood up with brethren and sisters while they sang the good old hymn, 'Shall We Know Each Other There?' While the hymn was being sung, we glanced about and counted about a dozen members of the congregation of the church who do not speak to each other when they meet on the street or elsewhere. The thought occurred to us why should 'they know each other there' when they seemingly don't know each other here?"

STATE BOARD MEETS TODAY

DRAINAGE BOARD WILL LET SEVERAL LARGE DITCH CONTRACTS

MAYOR OF KELLIHER WILL GET IN THE GAME FOR BENEFIT OF HOME TOWN

From Thursday's Daily—

Mayor Wm. Lennon of Kelliher spent last evening in the city enroute to St. Paul where today he will attend the meeting of the state drainage board which will open bids for the construction of a large number of state ditches. Mayor Lennon is particularly interested in the construction of what is known as state ditch number 52 which is a deepening of and extension of what is known as the Shotley Brook state ditch and runs into the Upper Red Lake from Brooks While Mayor McLennon is not a regular contractor, if there are no other bids he will put one in himself because the construction of the ditch means a great deal to that section of the country.

The surveyor estimates an excavation of about 13,000 cubic yards and while the job would not be a large one comparatively, it would mean the drainage of a large area of territory and the land drained and made available for settlement would be of an immensely rich character, and would be ideal for diversified farming, an industry that is to be encouraged in that section of the state in the future more than ever before.

SONS FOUND HIS BODY

ZAKRIS PEARSON HUNTS WOLVES IN BRUSH WITH COCKED GUN

TWIG STRIKES HAMMER—BLOWS OFF TOP OF HIS HEAD

Zakris Pearson living in Poppleton twelve miles east of Hallock, met with horrible death Monday morning.

Mr. Pearson got up in the morning and put on the kitchen fire, after which he went to the barn to look after the stock. When he came back to the house his wife was preparing breakfast, and he told her while he was out looking after the stock he heard the wolves howling close by, and while she was preparing breakfast he would take his gun and see if he could get a shot at them.

He took his gun and went out. He did not return as soon as expected and she sent the boys out to look for him. In the new fallen snow it was an easy matter to follow his tracks.

They came to a thick clump of brush and found their father lying dead with half of his head shot off.

Upon investigation it was found that his death was purely accidental. It appears that he must have been in close pursuit of his game as his foot prints showed that he tip toed and cautiously parted the thick brush with his left hand carrying the gun in his right hand cocked ready for use. In this crouching position he moved forward, carrying the gun rather close to the ground, when in some way a twig caught the trigger and the gun was discharged the charge striking the deceased in the side of the face and tearing away part of the head causing instant death. All indications point to an accidental death. Even the bark was found on the trigger and the twigfrom which it was scrapped.

The deceased was 59 years old. He came from Sweden to this county in 1893 and located on a farm near Lancaster, where he had lived ever since and prospered to such an extent that he leaves his family in the best of circumstances financially. He is survived by his wife, three sons and three daughters.

BOOSTING ROADS AND DRAINAGE

MAYOR "BILL" LENNON HERE LAST NIGHT BOOSTS KELLIHER COUNTRY

William Lennon mayor of Kelliher and well known in this city spent a few hours here last night enroute to St. Paul where he will bid upon some drainage work that is to be done in his locality by the state.

Things up Kelliher way are booming acording to Mr. Lennon a number of new settlers are coming in and road building and drainage are being pushed on all sides.

Mr. Lennon is interested in having the new Kelliher-Shotley ditch built and goes to St. Paul to bid upon this work. Mr. Lennon is interested in seeing the north country drained as well as good roads built; in securing this contract Mr. Lennon expects to be in a position to give a large number of laborers work during the coming summer and eventually have completed one of the best roads leading into Kelliher from the Shotley country.

At the same time the ditch is built the dirt taken from the ditch will be used to build a road along side the ditch.

HOW THE GRAIN CROPS ARE GROWN

Press Bulletin No. 69—By A. J. McGuire, Northeast Experiment Station, Grand Rapids, Minn.

The wheat crop that yielded 17 bushels per acre was grown on a field that had been in potatoes in 1906, in fodder corn in 1905, and in clover in 1904. It was manured lightly for the fodder corn and the potatoes.

This is a four-year rotation: Clover fodder corn, potatoes, wheat. 1907 was the fourth year of rotation and will begin over again this coming spring, clover having been seeded with the wheat.

When the field is grown to wheat again in 1911 a much larger yield is expected as the soil was in a low state of fertility when the rotation was begun, and this rotation is expected to make the soil a more fertile and productive soil each succeeding year due to being frequently manured to the clover that is grown and to the cultivation in the corn and potato crop.

The ground was not plowed after the potato crop. A spring tooth harrow was used in preparing the seed bed, the soil being a sandy loam and easily worked.

The seed was sown with a grain drill, 1 1-3 bushels per ocre.

Wheat is recommended to be grown only on a small scale in this section of the state, for milling purposes where there is a flour mill, or to be fed on the farm.

Oats: The twenty acres oats yielding 35½ bushels per acre was grown on different fields and under different rotations. The first rotation was oats, barley, clover, fodder corn. This is also a four-year rotation, each field being in clover once every four years and manured every fourth year.

In the second rotation there are two fields, each in oats two years, followed with clover two years.

This affords comparison with the first rotation where oats is grown on the same field only once in four years, where the field is manured and a cultivated crop grown every fourth year.

The third rotation is on two fields: Oats, clover pasture two years, fodder corn.

1907 was the first year oats was grown in these different rotations so comparisons in yield of the different fields is not made.

The first rotation is considered the best, and from which the largest yield is expected. This kind of rotation in which a cultivated crop and a grass crop is alternated with a grain crop gives best results for different reasons. The fertility of the soil is kept more uniform, the crop is less subject to disease than when grown continuously on the same field and the intervention of the grass crop and cultivated crop tends to keep out weeds.

Oats is one of the best yielding and best paying grain crops to grow in this section of the state.

Over 30 varieties have been grown on the Experiment Farm and of these the Improved Ligowo has proved best and is now entirely grown for the field crop.

Barley: Barley is grown principally for hog feed and takes the place of corn for fattening hogs in this section of the state.

One field of barley is grown in the rotation with oats, as explained above Another field is grown in another four-year rotation with clover peas and roots. The barley follows the root crop and in this rotation promises to do exceptionally well.

Peas: The growing of peas as a field crop has been something of an experiment, but the results have been quite satisfactory, giving an average yield of 15 bushels per acre the three past years. They are grown in the above rotation with barley, clover and roots.

They are sown early in the spring 3 1-2 bushels per acre if sown alone, 3 bushels if sown with oats, using ½ bushel oats.

In harvesting they are cut with a mower and forked into piles, as each swath is cut. They are left in the piles until thrashed, turning if need be when rained upon. They should be cut before dead ripe, otherwise much will be lost by shelling. They cure nicely in the pile. As barley they are used for hog feed and produce a very choice quality of meat.

NAME YOUR FARM

SOME GOOD SUGGESTIONS OFFERED FOR THE FARMER OF POLK COUNTY

For many years men engaged in stock raising on a large scale have used a name for their farm and the custom has been extended to smaller farms and smaller stock raisers until now many have names individualizing them. The custom is a good one and should be encouraged and extended. Many farmers use printed stationery reading something like this

O. A. MELLUM,

Farmer.

This is all right and helpful, as it appears on a letter head or an envelope, but it could easily be improved upon by adding a farm name and then read something like this:

O. A. MELLUM,

owner of

SUNNY SIDE FARM

Ulen, Minn.

It is common practice in business to name stores, banks, hotels, etc. Why not farms? It adds to their importance. Select a name and use printed stationery. If you are a shipper of hogs or poultry use the name of your farm as well as your own on shipping tags.

The cost of stationery printed is no greater than the cost of the plain kind. To the Elysian Enterprise we are indebted for the following as a list of suggested names for farms. Look them over and see if you find one that suits and if not choose another yourself. Then let us show you how nicely it will look on letter heads and envelopes:

ADVANCE GUARD IS ARRIVING

MANY FAMILIES COMING TO THE VALLEY FROM THE MIDDLE STATES

BRINGING STOCK AND MACHINERY AND WILL PAY ATTENTION TO COWS

From Thursday's Daily—

Judging from the arrival of imigrants during the past two weeks in the vicinity of Crokston the present spring will witness the biggest influx of settlers that has been recorded in this section in many years. In the immediate vicinity of Crookston farmers have arrived with stock and machoinery from points in Iowa, Illinois, Indiana and Missouri during the past week, and a gratifying feature is that all have a good bunch of dairy cows and propose to make dairying a feature of their farming.

The land men have done more business during the past winter than during any preceeding winter for the past ten years, as till the snow came within the past week, land could be shown to as good advantage as at any other season of the year.

Large land owners who have been holding for a number of years are also making an effort to get renters on their farms, and there have been several arrivals from the middle states who propose to work large areas on shares for a flat cash rental

In addition to the newcomers for this immediate vicinity there is also a movement of new comers on all the branch line and from present indications there will be more land tilled in the Red River Valley the coming year than for many years past.

SAW-MILL MAY RUN DAYS

AN EMPLOYE WAS ORDERED TO REPORT IN THIS CITY

It looks as tho the sawmill of the Crookston Lumber Co., may yet run this season. One of the old employes returned last evening and stated that he had been ordered to report here by the company. This looks as tho the company intended to run days at least this coming season and this employe stated to a representative of the Journal that he was certain that the mill would run days at least the coming summer, tho he was not of the opinion that the mill would run a double shift.

Even a day shift would be a big thing for Crookston and it is the general belief that the mill will run.

From this time till spring opens the road and bridge committee will be kept busy looking after the work that is asked for the coming summer. The present trip is one of the hardest they will have as the 35 mile drive is not a very pleasant one, tho the weather the present winter makes the work easier than it would be ordinarily.

SUFFICIENT POWER FOR NEW THIEF RIVER FALLS ELECTRIC LINE CAN BE SECURED

COMMITTEE HAS STARTED OUT TO SELECT A SUITABLE ROUTE

From Friday's Daily—

The stockholders in the recently incorporated railroad company which is to build a line from Thief River Falls into the country northeast of here, held a meeting Monday evening Milton Forder, Robert McGinn and L. M. Hoag, the committee appointed to look up a suitable water power to furnish electric power for the new road reported that a dam could be built across the Red Lake river two miles south of town that would furnish a twelve foot head, or four miles south of town one could be built that would furnish a 17 foot head. Very little land would be injured by over flow, and the cost of building a dam would not be as great as there was a good foundation. A sufficient amount of power could be secured to not only run the propesed electric line but to also furnish power for the city's electric light plant.

Today the committee appointed to select the right-of-way—D. P. O'Neill, Math Barzen and Olaf Ramstad—start to work. They will go into the country northeast of here and select several routes. It is the intention to build the line into the timber country northeast of Thief River Falls and it is quite likely that the end of the road will be some point on the Rainy River. The committee expects to be absent for about ten days

MILL WILL CUT UP REMNANTS

It is certain that the Crookston Lumber company will run its mills in this city during the coming summer so long as to clear the river of the logs on hand. This will represent about two months' work. It is not positive that work with the saws will be discontinued at that time. Now, it appears that it will not run on account of low prices in lumber market, money stringency, freight rates by steam road. It is probable that this covers the position of the Grand Forks Lumber Co., for the coming season.

May Be a Law Suit

Wylie correspondence in the St. Hilaire Spectator:

Roadmaster Gibson, of the Great Northern railway came down on a special Monday and proceeded on the overland route to Ferdinand Gother to see and find out why the latter broke up fenced in the abandoned road bed and right-of-way of the G. N. formerly known as the Crookston Wylie and St. Hilaire T line. It is the concise opinion of everybody along this line that Mr. Gother did the proper thing as long as Jim Hill pulled up the iron and ties and left it in such a condition that it is a veritable paradise for noxious weeds to do their best—and they generally do it—and the farmers along this line reap the benefit—of the noxious weeds. If it is the power of the railroad commissioners, they should see that the road bed and right-of-way be turned over to the original owners or that Jim Hill be compelled to lay steel over the line in question—between Wylie and Shirley.

CASE GOES TO DISTRICT COURT

DR. JOHN FAWCETT HELD IN SUM OF $2,000 AFTER WAIVING EXAMINATION

CASE AGAINST PHYSICIAN WILL COME UP AT MARCH TERM OF DISTRICT COURT

From Friday's Daily—

Dr. John Fawcett was held to the district court in $2,000 bonds at Grand Forks yesterday by Judge R. J. Purcell. Two important witnesses of the state, Dr. O'Keefe and William Marble, were shut off from testifying by the court's ruling but the defense decided to waive examination without having the state put in any further evidence. It is said that one reason why the defense decided to waive was that State's Attorney Wineman had intimated that in case the justice failed to hold Dr. Fawcett for performing an illegal operation he would file an information charging Dr. Fawcett with murder in the second degree and would bring the matter directly before the district court, which is now in session.

Dr. Fawcett furnished the $2,000 bond required and was released from custody.

Testimony Excluded

Judge Purcell held that the disclosures made to Dr. O'Keefe by Lillie Schmochel were confidential and it is clearly the law that a physician cannot submit as evidence anything told him by a patient unless the patient consented to give him permission to do so and the statement is an ante mortem declaration.

The court held that the disclosures made by Miss Schmochel to William Marble were not admissable as evidence because hearsay evidence. Marble testified at the coroner's inquest that Miss Schmochel told him before her death that Dr. Faawcett had performed the illegal operation and charged her $75.

Will be Tried this Term

The object of the attorney for the defense in having a preliminary hearing was said to have been to gain whatever advantage was possible. The case will be tried at the March term of the district court and will come up the last of the month. Attorney F. B. Feetham intimated to State's Atorney Wineman yesterday that a speedy trial was desired.

ARE TAKING ALLOTMENTS

RED LAKE INDIANS WANT TO BREAK UP THEIR TRIBAL RELATIONS

HAVE TAKEN ALLOTMENTS UNDER TERMS OF STEENERSON BILL

Reports from the Red Lake Indian reservation are to the effect that the Indians up there are all filling allotments for land with the Indian agent under the provisions of the Steenerson bill. It is not just clear whether or not the pine allotments will be approved by the secretary of the interior, but it seems to be the general desire of the Indians to take their allotments and cut the tribal relations of the Red Lake band.

There are about 300,000,000 feet of standing pine on the reservation and this is so distributed that it can be divided nearly equal among the members of the tribe. Those who are taking pine allotments are figuring upon logging the same in the near future and thus provide a means of employment for themselves and families.

P. Moylan of the town of North whose wife and children are members of the Red Lake band, was up to the lake recently and made selections. Nearly every Indian on the reservation has now made an allotment and a committee of five has been appointed and sent to Washington to confer with the department of the interior.

OPEN DOOR IS THREATENED.

Manchurian Banks Are Causing Trouble to Japanese.

Mukden, March 6.—Japan has been compelled to vacate or buy all of the Russian banks throughout Manchuria seized during the war, and consequently has lost prestige with the Chinese. At Harbin flour milled from Chinese wheat is underselling American flour and the American trade is threatened.

The commands of the viceroy are readily obeyed and foreign influence has been reduced so that foreign encroachment is impossible. This creates a barrier against Russia and suits Japan, but lifts the influence of that nation.

It is believed that the only effective means of preserving the open door will be the purchase by China of the South Manchurian railway.

TRIED TO END LIFE

HERMAN GASS USED POCKET KNIFE BUT WITHOUT SUCCESS

SLASHED THROAT BUT DID NOT SUCCEED IN REACHING KINGDOM COME

From Friday's Daily—

Yesterday afternoon about five o'clock Herman Gass tried to commit suicide by slashing his throat with a jack knife. He is a well known resident of the city and his attempt to end his life is a great surprise to his many friends in the city.

He has no relatives in the city and there is no known reason for his rash act.

He arrived in the city yesterday morning from Moorhead where he had been working for a wholesale liquor house. He was employed in Crookston for seven years, being a year ago, one of the workmen employed by Tom Harris. He had been drinking heavily before arrival and during the afternoon was wandering in mind attracting attention of the hotelmen. He was watched as he retired and was heard to mutter "The d——n knife is not sharp enough." Whereupon the police burst into his room.

The knife is a common quarter pocket knife. He tried the big blade first and then, finding it not sharp enough for his purpose tried the small blade. Interrupting him at the opportune moment the police took the knife from him and transferred him to a hospital.

SENATOR STEPHENS RECEIVES LETTER FROM FRIEND IN WASHINGTON

APPROPRIATION FOR STATE NORMAL, AGRICULTURAL AND MECHANICAL SCHOOLS

Senator A. D. Stephens received from Assistant Secretary Hays of the United State Department of Agriculture today the following letter. Senator Stephens wide felt activity as of this state and in conection with this betterment of farming and agricultural conditions thruout the country, incorporated in this bill, now begins to win the recognition in high places it has so energetically sought. This bill is particularly effective on the State Experimental farms and farming schools near this city.

Department of Agriculture, Washington, D. C., Office of Assistant Secretary. March 3, 1908.—My Dear Senator: I hand you herewith a copy of the re-introduced Davis bill which now includes an appropriation for State normal schools as well as for agricultural and mechanical schools. Incorporating this normal school bill is a good thing as it will make our normal schools much more practical and much better in touch with the rural school teachers needs and will give to the support of the bill 200 normal schools and 50 State departments of public instruction.

The Davis bill has gained a permanent place in the American mind, and those at all informed in the matter feel assured that it will remain intact as a proposition to be favorably acted up at the latest within a few years. Its prospects for passing this session are good. I feel sure you can easily put your bill through next session.

Very truly yours,

—W. M. Hays,
Assistant Secretary.

BILL NOT TO ALLOW ENTRIES

STEENERSON CONSIDERS SETTLERS' DEMAND FOR RE-OPENING INDIAN LANDS

PREPARES BILL TO ALLOW ENTRIES NOTWITHSTANDING DRAINAGE PREPARATIONS

Washington, D. C., March 7.—Representative Halvor Steenerson yesterday wired the Commercial Clubs of Beaudette and Spooner:

The demand of the settlers for the revocation of withdrawal of ceded Indian lands and restoration of right to make entries and final proofs is just and proper and I have prepared a bill which I this day introduced allowing entries and proofs on these lands to be made without delay of regard to proposition for drainage works.

The activity of the congressman from this district in this particular arises from a general convention held at Beaudette last week which protested against this move of the Interior Department in the removal of the lands from entry. Attorney C. R. Middleton, formerly of this city was chairman of that convention. On other features of the law the convention resolved:

That the cost of drainage ($2.50 to $3 per acre) could not be met by the usual homesteader.

That law prohibited proving up until drainage works were completed which might take ten years (a measure in an impending bill).

That drainage is not wanted at all as it would subject the moss covered land when once dry to destructive conflagration.

That the state can take care of the necessary drainage.

It was also urged at this convention that the estimated pine reserves be disposed of that settlers might get the high and dry location on which they generally occur.

Among the speakers were Albert Berg, president of the Spooner Commercial club and mayor of that town; C. R. Middleton, George E. Erickson, Harry Curry, H. P. Imsdahl and W. B. Bliven of Pitt, Editor Huss of Spooner and Editor Dahlquist of Beaudette besides a number of other people who spoke to cease drainage as proposed.

INDORSEMENT OF JOHNSON

TEXT OF RESOLUTION FATHERED BY MARTIN O'BRIEN OF CROOKSTON

IDEAL NOMINEE FOR THE PRESIDENT OF THE UNITED STATES

From Saturday's Daily—

As reported exclusively in the columns of the Journal yesterday the democratic state central committee meeting in St. Paul, late yesterday adopted the resolution introduced by Martin O'Brien of Crookston indorsing Governor John A. Johnson as an ideal nominee for the presidency of the United States. The resolution was received with loud applause, is as follows:

Governor John A. Johnson has twice brought victory to the democracy of Minnesota. During his incumbency of the office of governor more reform has been instituted and more remedial legislation adopted than during any equal period of time in the history of our state.

He has been controlled only by the public interest. His alert mentality restless energy and sound judgment united with his unimpeachable integrity, make him the embodiment of the best spirit of the west, an ideal American citizen.

Confidently believing that his nomination as the candidate of the party for the presidency will bring to our support the electoral vote of all the states within the Mississippi valley and thus secure a national triumph, we respectfully present to the democracy of the nation the name of Honorable John A. Johnson as candidate for the presidency of the United States, and recommend to the democrats of Minnesota that they cause his name to be presented to the national convention at Denver for nomination.

St. Paul, Minn, March 6.—Chairman Frank Day called the meeting of the Democratic state central committee to order in the main dining room of the Merchants hotel, shortly before noon yesterday.

Chairman Day said that while there were differences of opinion, harmony would be the outcome of the meeting.

The first act of the proxy committee, which might be considered anti-Bryan, was the throwing out of the proxy held by James Manahan. His proxy was from Itasca county, and was one originally held by Hudson.

Martin O'Brien delegate from Crookston offered the Johnson presidential resolution.

Debate Spirited

The O'Brien resolution at once started a debate which was exceedingly spirited. Everybody wanted to say something and Chairman Day said they all would get a chance. The Bryan men claimed that it was without the province of this committee to adopt such a resolution.

O'Brien Talks

O'Brien the delegate who introduced the resolution was chairman of the state Populist party in 1896 and he said in support of his resolution that if Johnson was nominated he not alone carry Minnesota, but Wisconsin North Dakota and Iowa.

The resolution indorsing Johnson passed by a vote of 68 to 23.

It was resolved to hold the convention to elect delegates to the national convention at St. Paul on May 14.

Before the committee meeting the Bryan faction met and decided upon a meeting to be held late this afternoon, for the purpose of organizing the state. It was their announced purpose of setting the Bryan ball rolling at this meeting.

SPARRING FOR VANTAGE POINTS

LOCAL WATERWORKS PEOPLE MAKE MOVE TO ENJOIN CITY

Much interest was centered in the district court room today, when the application of the Crookston Water Works Power and Light Co., came before Judge Watts asking a temporary injunction against the city of Crookston restraining its officers from enforcing the ordinance recently passed reducing the meter rates. There does not seem at this time any disposition on either side to go into the details of the case but rather leave the matter to be threshed out when the case comes to trial. Most of the time today was taken up by the attorneys on both sides sparring for points presumably to be used in the trial. At the time of going to press no decision had been arrived at.

LAPSED POLICY CAUSES TROUBLE

NEW YORK LIFE DEFENDANT IN ACTION TO COLLECT A POLICY

A LEGAL BATTLE IS NECESSARY TO SETTLE THE CONTROVERSY

From Tuesday's Daily—

Mrs. Zan Farley of Crookston has brought action against the New York Life for $1000 claiming that that amount is due her on a policy taken by her husband in that company. Mr. Farley sometime before his death lapsed his policy after he had made a loan upon it.

Before his death he endeavored to have the policy renewed according to the provisions of the company and sent in back premiums. The old line companies require a health certificate along with a renewal of lapsed policies and Mr. Farley did not send this.

The insurance company retained the money on back premium however and lately returned it. Mrs. Farley's attorneys claim the company is liable, but the company refuses to pay the claim.

A NEW STORE FOR MAPLE LAKE

SODA FOUNTAIN AND DANCING HALL TO BE BUILT IN CONNECTION

Word comes from a reliable party who resides in another city that there will be some substantial improvements at Maple Lake the coming summer.

A new store building will be erected on the property Fred Hall formerly owned adjoining the B. O. Anderson property. In addition to a general line in the store, a small soda fountain will be installed. In the same locality, and perhaps included in the store building a commodious dance hall will be provided for and it is planned to make this one of the busiest sections of the Maple Lake resort. The details of the new improvements will be published in the Journal later on.

BUSINESS IS PICKING UP

The train on the Halstad line this morning arrived with the biggest grist of passengers seen thus far this spring. Every available seat was taken and some of the passengers were standing. These people are all doing business with the Crookston merchants today and it means hundreds of dollars to the city.

It might be well for the Crookston business men to know that the Journal has a bigger circulation in that territory than all other dailies in the state combined. In fact this territory is almost exclusivvely the Journal's. Can there be any doubt but what big returns would be received from an advertisement in the Journal. And the people in that section have the cash to pay for what they want.

FOUR YEARS IN PANAMA

GILLICUDDY FORMER CROOKSTON MAN, AUDITOR ON PANAMA RAILWAY

CONDITIONS ON ISTHMUS—FOOD POORLY COOKED—TEMPORARY HABITAT

From Tuesday's Daily—

J. J. Gillicuddy, visiting J. M. Carroll at 706 N. Main St., city, being a brother of Mrs. J. M. Carroll and on way to Seattle on a visit, has spent four years on the Isthmus of Panama as assistant auditor on the Panama Railway and thru these number of years has witnessed every progress on that greatest project in the world.

Mr. Gillicuddy twenty years ago had the Barnesville-Grand Forks local run and the run north on the St. Vincent line. He has worked on every G. N. division except the Kalispel Leaving here he went to Alaska where he was superintendent of construction on the Alaska Central and in 1904 he went to Panama where he now occupies a high place.

Mr. Gillicuddy left the Isthmus on February 1st last and came by way of New York, St. Paul here. He will return to the city April 25 going back to take up his duties at Panama May 17th.

Progress of Work

Mr. Gillicuddy says Engineer Goethals efficiently furthers the well laid plans and preparations of Mr. Stevens formerly of the Great Northern. The sanitary conditions of the canal zone are almost perfect. Paved roads and expert health executives keep ever active. However United States white employes there intend only temporary abode. The rainy season eight months long with its hot mists and downpour of rain enervates the human system and depresses the mind, compelling abhorrence of work. Malaria he says is not, can never be controlled by the sanitary board. It exists and some times causes the tropic fevers. Advanced stages of these fevers require injections of quinine to save life and the victim on convalescing suffers from horrible ulcers which burst and torture.

Food is Good

The food provided by the government is the best that can be secured and reaches the isthmus under care and in fine condition, but the Jamaica "nigger" cooks spoil the food thru ignorance. Fruits abound about the Isthmus and are the best in the world

There are few men from west and central west there. Most of the employes are from the east and southeast. The best Y. M. C. A. organizations in the world exist there for all employes. Mr. Gillicuddy here presented his card of membership. There are 6,000 whites, 8,000 "dagoes", 35,000 negroes. A negro's efficiency is a fifth of a white's, a dago's a third.

Gigantic Job

More dirt and rock is being taken out than covered by the highest estimates of the most optimistic engineers of the Panama canal and these estimates are being broken in the rainiest seasons of the year. 53 machines are at work. The Americans individually exceed the French. Yet the French only went along the surface avoided rock cuts and took out only the soft dirt portions of the canal prism. The Americans proceed on the opposite plan of attacking the rock first.

Colon on the Pacific is east of Panama on the Atlantic, the canal running southwest and northeast. Estimates of completion run from in the year 1915 to 1920. Mr. Gillicuddy believes in 1917 the first ship will ascend the gigantic locks on its way from ocean to ocean, shortening the trip around the world by 20,000 miles

The Panama Railway

The Panama railway is a 5-foot gage and parallels the canal, running in its bed for 100 feet and crossing it twice. Its present bed is in most places 85 feet below surface of canal water when project is finished. The cars are the same as run on the G. N. Construction is already half finished for bed of railway on higher plane as when canal is finished. The railway has the largest amount of tonnage by five times than any other like trackage in the world. 500 trains a day with seventeen to twenty-five cars pass each way. Mr. Gillicuddy shows maps and photos of the entire project.

He has every faith in the government. Its organization is the highest he has seen and he contemplates the Panama canal as warranted of completion and is confident that whatever move the government will make it will be the best, the most practical.

WARM ELECTION ON AT CASS LAKE

THREATS OF DISORDER HAVE LED STATE GOVERNMENT TO TAKE HAND

Threats of disaster and violation of the law in the village election being held at Cass Lake today have caused the governor and other officers to interest themselves officially.

Governor Johnson wrote Robert E. Dulury sheriff of Cass County, directing him to enforce the law rigidly and at the governor's request, C. Louis Weeks special assistant attorney general is at Cass Lake to conduct any legal action that may become necessary.

The governors action was prompted by reports that the lawless element of Cass Lake had threatened to run the election and exclude the votes of the law abiding citizens and by unlawful means had secured the appointment of their own judges of election.

The complaint as made to the governor was that the keepers of some disorderly saloons and gambling houses and the proprietors of slot machines had been making trouble for the authorities for some time, and had declared they would run this election. It is reported that several persons not entitled to vote had been brought in from the outside.

HOME NEWS

Of Interest to Everyone in Crookston

In every newspaper in the country you will read statements made by people living in out-of-the-way places, who are supposed to have been cured or derived great benefit from some wonderful remedy or "cure-all". But here in Crookston we only publish statements made by Crookston people—the testimony of your friends, neighbors and fellow-townsmen.

Noel Herbert(carpenter, of 338 Hunter St., Crookston, Minn., says: "My back pained terribly and totally unfitted me for any exertion, there being times when I had to be helped about. I at last heard about Doan's Kidney Pills and immediately procured a box at S. A. Wallace's drug store. I started using them and it was not long before I noticed that my back was gradually getting stronger. My trouble son entirely left me and I have not felt a vistage of it since. Doan's Kidney Pills are a most valuable remedy and I give them my endorsement with the hope that others may be convinced of their merit."

The above statement was made by Mr. Herbert in 1898 nearly six years later Dec. 2nd, 1904 he added:

"Doan's Kidney Pills so completely relieved me of kidney trouble six years ago that there has been no return of it. It is a pleasure to again endorse them."

INSTITUTE A GRAND SUCCESS

ATTENDANCE OF FARMERS WAS MUCH LARGER THAN WAS ANTICIPATED

MARKS NEW ERA IN THE PROGRESS AND WEALTH OF THE VALLEY

From Wednesday's Daily—

The farmers' institute held in this city yesterday, more than anything else that ever transpired in this section, demonstrated the fact that the farmers of the Red River Valley have started on a new tack. A large gathering was expected but the crowd taxed the capacity of the city hall and scores had to stand up during the addresses both morning and afternoon. Exact figures could not be obtained, but it is estimated that during the day between 300 and 400 and they came from nearly every township in Polk County and many were here from outside the county.

C. O. Carlson made one of the most interesting talks of the day on dairying and showed how, during the month of January last he had made $167 net profit from 35 cows, a herd which had been worked up during the past years from several cows which brought him from but $18 up to $60 per year gross. He had simply bred from the best and sold off the poorer animals.

The entire gathering was so fruitful and satisfactory and plans were laid for a meeting of farmers in Crookston once a month during the year.

It was the most gratifying gathering of farmers ever held in Crookston and points towards better things in the way of diversified farming in the Red River Valley.

Continuing his discussion of the raising of clover and its value Mr. Hale spoke of elements that go to make a crop—nitrogen which if added by means of fertilizer would cost $25. Nitrogen makes the straw grow and is exhausted most rapidly. Potash and tartaric acid are not exhausted so rapidly. Clover has little microbes on leaves and stems which extract nitrogen from the air and place it in the ground. There is $5,000,000 worth of nitrogen in the air over each acre of earth.

Mr. Hale's father came from the sterile farms of New Hampshire.

The humas is that earth that lies about the roots of plants and gathers nourishment and furnishes it to the plant. Clover sod land will stand drought better and will at the same time stand wet weather better. Rains soak in rapidly but remains. Seeds will germinate better in porous soil. Corn will produce a better stand on clover land. Farmers get better results by planting among corn stalks—discing and harrowing before seeding.

Some farmers sow with other grain in drills. Do not sow too deep however but just as deep as you estimate the top of the moist ground to be. Mr. Hale has not had a partial failure since he has started. 3 quarts in amount with alsac is the proper amount per acre. Don't let stock run on it in fall of year as it will be killed. Mr. Hale cuts clover when it begins to blossom and cuts some every day until haying. There is much damage done to hay because it is not taken in as soon as it is dry enough; rains then injure. Clover can be put in when you can twist no juice out of a clover stalk.

Mr. Schutz on Apple Trees

Mr. Schutz commenced apple tree culture when he first came to Minnesota in 1856. People thought it was impossible to grow apple trees. Only the Hysopo and Transcendants were grown at first, but the horrizon is at present almost unlimited. Mr. Schutz believed apples a crop for the Red River Valley. We have made a mistake buying southern grown trees for they are not suited for this climate. We must have the short root and long stalk for northern conditions.

Farmers should buy 2 years old trees. Large trees are made most attractive to farmers but it is not size but youth and virility that form the main growing reason. Representatives of nurseries are many times a good thing and should be listened to when they conduct themselves with intelligence and courtesy

After a final speech by Mr. Schulz Col. R. A. Wilkinson of St. Paul addressed the meeting with a few remarks on the recovery of this valley of the prestige it for the time partially lost. Senator A. D. Stephens spoke of the prosperity that obtained hereabouts in agriculture and urged some new ideas regarding efforts that should be made in the future for organization of the country producing interests. He believed that if more farmers would pay more attention to getting more profit out of their produce before it left the farm, and pay less attention to the profits of the middle fellow they would make more money and live happier. He attributed a share of the failure among some farmers to absence of mind from farming and too great interest in the profits of the elevators and businesses of the country.

With appropriate songs by the State Farm chorus, the meeting adjourned.

ENGINES REFUSED TO DO BUSINESS

LACK OF WIND PREVENTED A GREAT CONFLAGRATION AT ARGYLE

At 3 o'clock yesterday morning a fire broke out in the Klondyke saloon at Argyle which destroyed the building with contents, and had there been any wind the village would have had the worst conflagration in its history, as none of the three fire engines could be made to work and not a drop of water was turned on the burning buildings. Surrounding property was protected by bucket brigades. Happily there was not a breath of air stirring and the flames shot straight up.

The saloon was operated by C. O. Lezie who carried $1000 insurance which just about covers his loss. The building was owned by the heirs of the T. L. Bennewitz and was insured for $500 which about half covers the loss.

BADGER HAS YOUNG MAYOR

WALTER ANDERSON BUT THREE DAYS OVER 21 WHEN ELECTED MAYOR

BADGER AND GREENBUSH TO EXTEND TELEPHONE THIS SUMMER

From Monday's Daily—

Badger, an incorporated village of eight hundred in Roseau county, is claiming in President Walter Anderson, to have the youngest mayor in the state, if not in the northwest. This gentleman was elected at the last election and was three days over twenty-one when his fellow citizens entrusted him the government of the village at the pools. For some time he has been cashier in the Scandia-American Bank at Badger and is popular thruout that section of the country.

It was a three-cornered fight that first tested the stamina of the rising politician for he was opposed by Erick Carlson and Gilbert J. Brenden, the latter of whom is editor of the Herald-Rustler. The scene at the polls was warm and spirited. From the beginning of the announcement of the various candidates for the leading office the ticket placed in the field was the center of attraction. Mr. Anderson who is a youthful and energetic looking gentleman, conducted his campaign thru the village with all the keenness of a veteran. All the dances, the sleighrides and skating parties found him ever to the front and he was a considerable factor before the election. The old heads of the town however would not concede him his strength and his victory was a surprise to them.

The other officers elected were, Councilmen, H. C. Reed; I. L. Iverson Ben Johnson; Clerk, O. H. Nesseth; Treasurer, T. P. Anderson; Justice, Gilbert J. Brenden and F. W. Swanson; and Constable Wm. Reilly.

A co-operative farmers telephone line with fifty miles of pole line and thirty-five subscribers will be built between Haug and Greenbush and Badger as soon as the frost is out of the ground.

The officers elected were O. E. Haug, president; Axel Liberg, vice president; L. C. Hegstad, secretary; O. W. Rossing, treasurer; and directors, Lewis Larson, B. O. Christianson and T. G. Hegstad.

HIGH TRIBUTE TO P. A. EGAN

"The death of Patrick A. Egan, which occurred early today at Forest Lake, Minn., terminated the most promising careers among the younger business men of St. Paul. Mr. Egan was known as one of the best life insurance men in the west. He was at one time one of the leading athletes of the state, and was founder of the St. Paul Athletic club. He was 38 years of age and is survived by his wife and two sons."

Mr. and Mrs. Cannon left last evening for St. Paul to attend the funeral.

PLAN ORGANIZATION OF AN ILLINOIS SOCIETY

There are a large number of persons residing in this city and vicinity who were born in Illinois or who have lived in that state at some time or other. Some of the former residents of "suckerdom" have lately been contemplating the organization of an Illinois society here, making eligible thereto every one in this vicinity who ever made his home in Illinois. The idea is to have an annual picnic in the summertime and occasional meetings together at other seasons for social benefit. No definite move has been made as yet, but the proposition has found much favor with those to whom it has been mentioned, and it is probable that active steps toward the formation of such a society will be taken this spring.—Warren Register.

PHYSICIAN'S MAD RIDE SAVED LIFE OR DISFIGUREMENT

From Monday's Daily—

Lionel Snelling, one of the well known farmers of Angus, 20 miles north of here, who is also of an inventive turn of mind was terribly burned about the face, eyes and hands yesterday by the explosion of molten brass as he was pouring it from the ladel in which he had melted it, into a small cup.

Without doubt his life was saved by the breakneck race to his home by Dr. F. C. Mitchell of Euclid who was phoned and having his team hitched up preparatory to making another call had his driver run them the entire six miles and 30 minutes from the time he was phoned for he was at the Snelling residence and applied relief measures.

Snelling suffered terrible agony, and the outcome will not be known for a day or two. Dr. Mitchell thinks the eyesight can be saved but is not certain.

It seems that Snelling, with J. F. Montgomery the Angus merchant have been experimenting all winter with a wireless telegraphy outfit which it was proposed to operate between the store at Angus and the Snelling farm, a distance of about three miles. They had the apparatus so it would work short distances and were attempting to improve it at the time of the accident.

It is supposed there was a little water in the bottom of the cup when the molten brass was turned into it, and that this caused the explosion but the cause will never be definitely known.

VETERAN EMPLOYE OF THE G. N. DEAD

The death of Michael J. Farley an old and respected citizen of this city occurred at his home on Front street on Sunday afternoon. Altho he was wounded at Vicksburg and again at Manolia, he was only disabled for a time and was soon back in the ranks doing service. He came to this city in 1881 and entered the employe of the Great Northern which position he has held to within a few days of his death.—Barnesville Record Review.

The creamery is under the management of the same buttermaker this year as last, Mr. Welch, and the popularity gained by him then should rebound to the creamery's advantage this season.

ROADS MAKE SPLENDID RECORD

The most remarkable winter in railroading in the Red River Valley since railroads first penetrated this section is drawing to a close and the records made by the Great Northern and Northern Pacific will probably never be beaten.

On the Great Northern 96 per cent of the passenger trains have arrived either promptly on time or not more than 2 minutes late since the first day of last November, and 93 percent of the freight trains. On the N. P. 95 per cent of the passenger trains have been on time and 94 per cent of the freight trains.

Such a feat has been unheard of before in Northwestern railroading. During the entire winter not a train has been stalled in a snow drift on the Northern Division of the Great Northern or the Red River Valley branch of the Northern Pacific.

ANOTHER VALLEY PIONEER CALLED TO HIS REWARD

After an illness of several weeks duration, Charles F. Umbreit, one of the pioneer settlers of this section of Minnesota, died at his home in Thief River Falls on Monday. The decensed was born in Germany on the 2nd of September, 1837, and at the age of 17 years came to America, first settling at Fort Washington, Wis., where he resided for five years and then removed to Illinois where he resided for 21 years. While in that state he enlisted as a private in company H. 63rd regular Illinois volunteers and served for four years during the Civil War, being honorably discharged at Springfield, Ill., during the month of June, 1865. He was twice married, the last time to Mary E. Marsh. In the early days he came to this section, being one of the first setlers and took a homestead in the town of Excell, Marshall county. In the year 1901 he removed to Thief River Falls. The funeral services were held under the auspices of the Masonic lodge, of which the deceased was a member.

ROBERTSON WRITES TO HIS FAMILY

John L. Robertson former sheriff of Cavalier county, N. D., who has been mysteriously missing since last November when he was last seen in Grand Forks, is alive and well according to information received by his family at Langdon. They received a letter from him this week. They are not however, permitted to divulge his whereabouts on account of a legal entangelment in which Robertson is said to be badly involved by creditors. Langdon people are reasonably certain, however, that Robertson is located somewhere in the Canadian Northwest.

UNWORTHY CITIZEN IS REFUSED PAPERS

In the Traill county district court at Hillsboro Monday with Judge Pollock on the bench, an unusual proceeding took place—the court holding that Christian C. Eiken would make an "undesirable" citizen and on that ground second papers were refused. In the action the government appeared by John C. Sweet assistant U. S. attorney, who objected to the applicant being made a citizen upon the following grounds filed in writing: "The government opposes granting of the petition on the ground that the petitioner is not a person of good moral character. He has been examined by one of the examiners and found to be at times a hard drinker and a gambler. One witness served a 90 day sentence for keeping a gambling house and has served a sentence for blindpigging. His testimony as to residence, character and attachment to the principles of the constitution would, therefore be received with suspicion." The case is but an instance where the government proposes to stop making unworthy citizens.

PREPARING FOR THE COUNTY SEAT FRAY

Local elections are over, winter is drawing to an end, and it becomes imperative that plans for the important campaign of the year be formulated without further delay. While the prospects of success this time of the undertaking, upon which this section of the county has labored for a dozen years past are brighter than ever before, the fact must be apparent to all that if the present eastern section of Polk is to become an independent county there is a vast amount of work to be done before November elections. Times passes rapidly when important business is to be accomplished, and there is none to waste from now on.—Fosston Thirteen Towns.

AGITATION FOR SOUTHEASTERLY COUNTY ROAD

A county road to run in a southeasterly direction for a distance of several miles from Thief River Falls to the intersection of the Smiley and Rocksbury town lines, is a movement recently put on foot by residents of the district effected by such a highway. The plan of the new road is to follow the so-called reservation line for the entire distance, or clear across the town of Rocksbury. Such a road would give people residing south of the Red Lake River in the Eleven Towns an opportunity to reach town over a good road, at least part of the way and would benefit practically all of northern and eastern Rocksbury. At the town election in Rocksbury a petition for such a road was signed by nearly every voter and $200 was appropriated toward the movement, which will also be assisted by the county board to the extent of several hundred dollars if favorably acted upon.

A Beautiful Lesson ....IN PATRIOTISM

Among the best of the addresses to the pupils of the Eugene Field school at their flag raising exercises yesterday were the few remarks delivered in simple and unassuming language by Clerk Ed Peterson of the Crookston City school boadr.

Mr. Peterson asked the little children if they did what their mother's told them. Many of them replied that they did. Then, observing that some did not do so, he asked the little boys, if their mother was in trouble or being hurt, how many would rush to help her even should they die thereby. Every little hand arose and some still remained in the air as Mr. Peterson pursued his remarks.

Well, little children, he continued in substance, America is your mother and you are expected to rush and help her when she is in trouble or being injured. You see here (he pointed to the grayhaired veterans of the Grand Army of the Republic who sat at his side) men who have rushed in and helped the country that is a mother to them as she should be to you; some of them sacrificed their lives, but still their followmen continued to help the grand mother.

Mr. Peterson mentioned that the purposes of the exercises of the day were to instill into the hearts of the little boys and girls sentiments of the grand country that mothered them notwithstanding what racial blood flowed in their veins.

Mrs. T. A. Harris of the Women's Relief Corps spoke of the American flag the addition of the star on July 4th next for the state of Oklahoma recently admitted to the Union. New stars are officially added to the American flag the July 4th following the new state's admission. While Indian Territory and Oklahoma as one state was admitted by Congress in the spring of 1906, a new star was not added to the flag because it was not until last fall that the two civil divisions agreed to unite as one state and enter the Union. She spoke of the tune of "America" as being universal among nations, many national anthems among the great world powers being set to that same music She said she hoped she would witness that day when the nations of the earth would sing together to that grand tune. She said thus would be shown the peace and good will among all mankind.

Judge Montague read to the pupils "The Bivouac of the Dead" and in conclusion said: "Upon you little children, rests the responsibility of conducting this great national government which our forefathers handed over to us to carry on. We educate you and instill into you a love of this country that you may be worthy to further its mighty career." The Judge remarks were of serious weight and the plain words did not fail to gather the attention of the children. He hoped they would value their education.

Jas. Greenhalgh and Judge McLean spoke also for the old soldiers. Mrs. Sargent related the incidents of the living flag at the G. A. R. Encampment in Minneapolis last year. Mr. Hamel spoke of the naming of the school and Carl Reidesel of the school board said he was born in and came from a foreign country, Germany, but he admired the American flag.

The masterly management which the teachers of the Eugene Field school, the Misses Hoard, Hagen, McGuire and Nessel, displayed in the arrangement of their program won recognition and praise on every side. Every part and song selected for the pupils was related to the theme of the occasion.

GETS FORTUNE OF $80,000

S. P. SWEDBURGH ONE OF FIVE CHILDREN TO GET LARGE SUM

SWEDISH CONSUL AT GRAND FORKS LOOKS AFTER CROOKSTONITE'S CLAIM

From Thursday's Daily—

S. P. Swedburgh the well known North Broadway refreshment dealer returned last evening from Grand Forks where he spent yesterday in conference with Swedish Consul Vedlund relative to a property valued at between $60,000 and $80,000 which was left by Olaf Olson, an uncle who left no heirs aside from S. P. Swedburgh of this city and his two brothers and two sisters.

Consul Vedlund has taken the matter up and will push it thru as rapidly as possible.

Olaf Olson lived at Bjorgshire, Helsinglund, Sweden, and in 1890 willed his entire property to the five Swedburgh children. One brother is in South Dakota, and another in Washington so that it may take a few months to get the applications made out by the various consuls, but in the end the money will come, as the Swedburghs are not only the only heirs but were willed the property as well.

This means from $12,000 to $16,000 for S. P. Swedburgh and his many friends in this city will rejoice over his good fortune.

NO FIGHT IN NINTH DISTRICT

BRYANITES DROP EFFORTS FOR NEBRASKAN DELEGATION FROM HERE

COMMITTEEMAN O'BRIEN SAYS JOHNSON BOOM GROWS EVERY DAY

From Thursday's Daily—

Notwithstanding the efforts of the Minnesota Bryan combination for an instructed delegation from this state to Denver for the Nebraskan no action is being taken in the Ninth District as yet to further this plan and none will be initiated it is stated on good authority.

While some of the leading democrats abandon in no way their support of the Nebraskan, they do not recognize in the effects being put forth in the state, any acts originating from him. They believe the movement on in this state is a movement with which the "peerless leader" has nothing to do.

The delegation chosen from this district will probably go favorably inclined to Johnson and will voice whatever plans may seem to be to Mr. Johnson's best interests.

State Committeeman O'Brien stated yesterday that the Johnson boom was growing here as well as elsewhere. He has at hand several clippings from eastern papers sent by friends in the east and also bases his judgment on the movements in the politcial world generally.

Penned and Pilfered

Suits to recover Coney Island property now worth over $100,000,000 were filed in the United States Circuit Court this week by the descendants and heirs of 39 patentees who claim rights to the lands under Indian grants and charters from the old Dutch and English governors.

A certified copy of the original Indian deed shows that the present site of Coney Island then known as "Musechackhue," was sold by the sachems for the following consideration:

"Two guns; 15 els of cloth; three fathoms of wampumpeage; one kettle; two hatchets; two saws; three knives; one long cloth coat; one pair of scissors; two combs; one sword; 30 awls blades."

If they win they will get compound interest with a vengeance.

This is what a rural editor says about young idlers: We are raising too many society fops, cigarette suckers, parlor soldiers and street loafers. When we see a little foppish short dress silly girl, just jumping into her teens, gadding up and down the streets, talking slang, and flirting with the boys, entertaining young jobless bloods in the parlor at night time when she ought to be in her trundle bed beneath her mother's tucked snugly in; when we see knee pants kids and beardless youths loafing up and down the street, who are too trifling to think, and too stuck up to do odd jobs around home, we exclaim: "It's not statutory that we need, but it's parental law."

The woman who was doing her marketing was difficult to please. She had overhauled every comestible in the shop, and insisted on getting the best in stock cheaper than the market price, and now it was a question of eggs. 'Are you quite sure these eggs are fresh?" she asked. "They are, madam." "You will guarantee them?" "I will, madam." "But how am I to know that you know they are fresh?" "My dear lady," said the exhausted shopman, with incisive emphasis, "if you will kindly step to the telephone and ring up our farm, you will hear the hens that laid them still cackling! I'm afraid I can't say any more than that!"

BABY'S EYESIGHT WAS THREATENED

By Terrible Eczema—Head Became a Mass of Itching Rash and Sores—Would Scratch Till Blood Came—Much Money Wasted in Fruitless Treatments—Disease Was Soon

CURED AT SLIGHT COST BY CUTICURA REMEDIES

"Our little girl was two months old when she got a rash on her face and within five days her face and head were all one sore. We used different remedies but it got worse instead of better and we thought she would turn blind and that her ears would fall off. She suffered terribly, and would scratch until the blood came. At night we had to pin her hands down. This went on until she was five months old, then I had her under our family doctor's care, but she continued to grow worse. He said it was eczema. When she was seven months old I started to use Cuticura Soap, Cuticura Ointment, and Cuticura Resolvent, and in three weeks — what a change! I kept using the Cuticura Remedies for two months and our baby was a different girl. You could not see a sign of a sore and she was as fair as a new-born baby, and all for the small cost of a dollar and seventy-five cents where we had spent ten times the money for doctoring. She is now two years old and has not had a sign of the eczema since. Mrs. H. F. Budke, R. F. D. 4, LeSueur, Minn., Apr. 15 and May 2, 1907."

INVESTIGATING THE 16 HOUR LAW

ASST. SUPT. NESTOR WENT SOUTH THIS MORNING ON NORTHERN PACIFIC

John Nestor, Assistant Superintendent, of the Red River branch of the Northern Pacific, went south this morning on local 156, due thru here at about 10 o'clock, for the purpose of examining what effect the sixteen hour law was having on traffic over that road. The law went into effect March 4th.

Last week this same freight on account of the pending expiration of the sixteen hours of employment had to break up its train at Twin Valley set fish stock and other cars on the side track and make a rush for Winnipeg Junction. The Red River branch runs from Grand Forks to Winnipeg Junction, about 100 miles. However the heavy traffic transferred over this line daily combined with much local work makes the time sixteen hours somewhat limited. Mr. Nestor will observe where delay, if any, occurs and what measures may be taken to meet conditions of the law.

The Great Northern, Northern Division, is having no trouble. All its branches out of here are set on a 12 hour schedule at the most and no incidents as above have occurred.
